

The negative side

President Kennedy intends to establish a new federal department at the cabinet level by executive order. Both the House and the Senate will conduct hearings and their favorable vote will see inception of the Department of Urban Affairs.

We hope this will not occur.

It seems to us this is an effort to accomplish at the federal level what the states evidently ought to do for themselves — afford urban areas a greater authority in the conduct of state affairs, by reason of their preponderance of population. Re-apportionment is overdue in most of the 50 states. We see no reason why the cities of any given state ought not to share in its expenditures in proportion to their populations and problems. Where the states fail to do their duty, it should not befall the federal government to do it for them. If a city is in difficulty — and there are few that are not — it should resolve its problems on its own initiative, within the framework of its own legislative and electoral establishment. Why, indeed, should the resident of Hornell, N. Y., for example, be required to pay to solve the problems of the city of Santa Fe, N. M.?

Yet that's what it adds up to. The president wishes to establish another federal department, at God-knows-how-much expense, and force 14 states, among which Ohio, which annually pay more into the federal treasury than they get out of it, to pay the bill for solving problems in the other 36 states.

Certainly, some of the cities which need help are parts of those 14 states that pay their own freight and have a right to share in it. But ought they to get a greater share than what they're getting now? Have they exhausted the possibilities of help at the local and state level?

It always costs money to raise and disburse funds through a higher headquarters. The federal government is pinched for money right now. It makes no sense to spend money we have not got for services we don't need to solve problems which can be solved with machinery already at hand if we will but use it.

Establishment of a new federal department is no solution for re-apportionment that's overdue. Tell your Congressman to vote against the president's proposal.

Mrs. Seaman, 57, victim of cancer in Shelby hospital

Mother of Mrs. Harold R. Sloan, 295 West Broadway, Mrs. Grace G. Seaman, 57, Shiloh route 1, died of cancer in Shelby Memorial hospital Friday morning.

She was ill a long time. Born in Richland county May 30, 1904, she lived near Shiloh all her life. A member of Mt. Hope Lutheran church there, she taught in its Sunday school for 30 years.

Her husband, Lester B.; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Heifner, Shelby, and Mrs. Wayne McLaughlin, West Salem; a son, L. Dean, Greenwich; her mother, Mrs. Florence Mellick, Mansfield; four brothers, Chester Mellick, Greenwich, Arthur and Fred Mellick, Ganges, and George Mellick, Mansfield, and three sisters, Mrs. Della Fair, Shelby; Mrs. Eva Garrett, Cleveland; and Mrs. Mildred Tullis, Albuquerque, N. M., also survive.

Her pastor, the Rev. James H. Nichols, conducted last rites Sunday at 2 p.m. from the church. Interment was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Shiloh.

Mrs. Roof's mother dies in rest home

Mother of Mrs. H. James Roof, Mrs. Alice Jones Jorgensen, 82, died in Lakewood late Jan. 31, after a long illness.

She was the wife of J. Carl Jorgensen and the sister of Arthur M. Jones, Lakewood, and Mrs. Olive B. Amos, Seven Hills.

She was a member of Ann Rutledge Chapter 453, OES, which conducted Eastern Star services from Klanke Funeral home, Lakewood, Sunday at 8 p.m.

A funeral service was conducted Monday at 1:30 p.m.

Rish to succeed to post left by Mrs. Christian

C. David Rish, fourth candidate in a field of five seeking election to Plymouth Board of Education last November, will be appointed by the board to succeed Mrs. Miles Christian. The Advertiser learned authoritatively this week.

Rish is a Shiloh farmer and maintenance employee of a Mansfield shopping center. His wife, Jean, is secretary to Principal John Fazzini of Shiloh Junior High school.

He served the unexpired term of Gerald Stanley, who resigned because he was leaving the district. A candidate for election to a full term, Rish polled 440 votes, 26 less than the next lowest, Edwin S. Beeching.

Mrs. Christian's term will expire Dec. 31, 1964. Rish's selection, came after

Mrs. Nellie Scott succumbs at Lodi

Mrs. Nellie Scott, 79, died in Lodi Saturday night after a long period of failing health. Born in Crawford county, she was the widow of Russell Scott, a grocer in Plymouth and Lodi before he died in 1946.

A member of First Evangelical Lutheran church, Plymouth, and of Lodi Chapter 137, OES, and Riverdale Rebekah Lodge 596, Lodi, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Donald Tubbs, Medina; a son, Correll E. Lodi, grocer and bowling lanes proprietor; a sister, Mrs. Lucy Pugh, Plymouth, now in an Ontario nursing home, and a brother, Clyde Morrow, Shelby.

The Rev. Harry Boyer, pastor of St. Mathew Lutheran church, Medina, conducted last rites Tuesday at 1 p.m. from Elliott Funeral home, Lodi.

Weather too cold, but so are funds!

Winter and lack of funds are holding the Plymouth cemetery board at a standstill.

At the regular monthly meeting Jan. 30, all the three members, with Councilman C. O. Cramer and sexton Lyle Biddinger, could do was suggest what they would like to do when it's possible to do it.

Estimated expenses for 1962 come to $7,247.72. The one-mill levy for operation of Greenlawn will provide $3,974.26, if everyone pays his taxes. The difference must be made up from the general fund, controlled by the council.

Biddinger reported the 1961 recession also hit the sale of cemetery lots, which dropped considerably from $2,000 in 1960 to $900 in 1961. Twenty per cent of the purchase price of each lot is deposited in the perpetual care trust fund, which is now at about $8,000. Only the interest on this money may be used in the upkeep of the cemetery.

The three trustees, Sam Fenner, J. Harold Cashman and Charles Lookbaugh, hope that funds will be forthcoming from the council this spring to seal the existing road. They estimate that it will cost roughly $3,000.

OFG to show council how rates are figured

Ohio Fuel Gas Co. wheeled its heavy artillery into action before village council Tuesday night in an effort to break a five-month deadlock over a new cost and service contract.

John, Cottrell, manager of the Mansfield district, joined Cloyce V. Messenger, Shelby, manager, in negotiations that produced some heat and some light over an hour's time, plus these commitments:

1. Council's gas rate committee will meet with Ohio Fuel Gas negotiators in special session Tuesday at 7 p.m.

2. Ohio Fuel Gas will present details of the amount of its investment in Plymouth, cost per consumer and of how it arrived at a rate quotation of 75.5 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas for the second cost level in its proposed contract.

The second step is obviously something new in Ohio Fuel Gas negotiations. The company has not been much disposed to reveal the details of its investment anywhere. Whether its offer to any community lay within the maximum 6.8 per cent of profit allowed by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has customarily been left to the PUCO to determine if the offer were questioned. The company has not heretofore considered justification at the small local level necessary to its program.

The five-month delay and the recalcitrance of the council to consider terms which Ohio Fuel regards as essential to its operations apparently prompted the company to reveal the basis and method by which it computed its offer of Sept. 20, 1961, to renew the contract.

THE COUNCIL WILL watch carefully developments of yesterday's fourth meeting of the area utility rate negotiation committee at Mansfield. The meeting's announced intent was to produce a form ordinance for use by any community, by which it could avail itself of the services of a public utilities rate consultant in any negotiations with a supplier.

Mayor William Fazio said he thinks it is time for the village "to get down to serious business with Ohio Fuel if this area committee doesn't come up with something that'll be useful to us."

Appointment of a new street supervisor was put off after Mayor Fazio said his plans had struck a snag. He said some members of the committee opposed his choice. Councilman Donald E. Akers then suggested the posts of cemetery sexton and street supervisor be combined, with more compensation to the incumbent sexton.

Board of Public Affairs wants to increase the pay of its clerk, who is also clerk of the village. Under state law, the compensation of an elected officer may not be raised during his incumbency. Where the elective office is combined with an appointed one, the council inquired, may the compensation of the appointive office be increased without jeopardizing under this law?

Absenteeism caused by illness forces closing of local schools

High absenteeism because of illness forced Plymouth schools to close Monday afternoon for the remainder of the week.

Supt. Maynard J. Coon conferred with the Richland County health commissioner, Dr. Harry Waanes, Monday, to report 277 pupils of an enrollment of slightly over 1,200 absent from classes because of illness. While they were conferring, the absentee rate went up three per cent when children who had already reported for classes went home because they were too ill to continue.

There were 106 absent from Plymouth Elementary school, 100 from Shiloh Junior High and Elementary schools and 71 from Plymouth High school.

All night activities for the week were cancelled. This included a freshman basketball game with Buckeye Central scheduled to be played here Monday at 4 p.m., a Richland County league game with Union to have been played Tuesday night and a March of Dimes benefit double header to have been played last night.

Re-scheduling of the contests has been arranged thus: Freshman game with Buckeye Central, here, Feb. 16, 4 p.m.

Freshman game with Crestline, here, Feb. 19, 4 p.m. March of Dimes benefit double header, featuring Plymouth and Butler faculties, here Thursday at 7 p.m.

Richland County league game with Union, Saturday. Re-scheduling also threw a monkey wrench into plans for the annual Richland County tournament drawing, which was to have been conducted tomorrow.

Butler's cancellation of classroom sessions Monday and subsequent cancellation of the Butler basketball contest means it won't be possible to know which of the two top teams in the league — Butler or Union — will be first in the tourney.

It is obvious Butler and Union will be seeded. But it is important to both schools and to the other four teams — Savannah, Lucas, Bellville and Plymouth — to know in which bracket these teams will play.

A lecture on Soviet Russia to have been presented Tuesday at 9:30 a.m., by John D. Shraef 2nd, Charleston, Mich., was also cancelled.

George Becker, 75, succumbs at Stow

Brother of Alton Becker, George L. Becker, 75, died Jan. 31 at his home in Stow. He was ill a long time.

A native of Plymouth, he lived in Akron many years before moving to Stow 12 years ago.

At one time he was general manager of Kern & Sherman Plumbing & Heating Co., Akron.

He was a subscriber to The Advertiser for 54 consecutive years.

His wife, Ethel, a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Ritchie, Stow; a son, George L. Jr., Akron; two brothers, Arthur and Roscoe, Warren, and a sister, Mrs. Ernest Schmidt, Geneva, also survive.

The Rev. Theodore Cord conducted a funeral service Friday at 2 p.m. from Gregory Funeral home, Stow. Burial was in Darrowville cemetery.

This week

Today is Thursday, Feb. 8, the 39th day of the year, with 284 more days to follow in 1962.

Sunrise is at 7:02 a.m.

Sunset is at 5:27 p.m.

Moon sets at 10:03 p.m.

This week, a year ago:

Mrs. Robert G. Driver, 56, New Haven, died suddenly in Willard Municipal hospital.

Norris Baker, 49, Shiloh, died in Crile hospital, Cleveland.

Raymond Riedinger sold his 573-acre farm in Base Line road to Nursery Lawn Co. of Ohio for use as a sod growing establishment.

Jerry Daron netted 20 points as Plymouth downed Butler, 57 to 49 to clinch its third Richland County league cage title.

Sandra Bloom set Feb. 11 for her wedding to William Sheaffer, Shelby route 3.

Churches should schedule activities on Thursday nights, Maynard J. Coon, executive head of Plymouth schools, said. The schools will keep that night free of school activity.

This week, five years ago: Roul W. Eckstein succeeded Mrs. L. Benjamin Smith as deputy motor vehicle registrar.

Larry Wagers' last-second basket led Shiloh to a 59 to 57 win over Plymouth.

Miss Phyllis Willet set Feb.

16 for her marriage to John J. Klemm.

Miss June Seely set Feb. 9 for her marriage to James E. Rhine at Washington, D.C.

Re-hiring of Willie Barnett as street commissioner was declined by the village council.

This week, 10 years ago: Boys should enroll in home economics and girls in industrial arts, Supt. Maynard J. Coon told the board of education.

Board of Public Affairs approved a raise in electric rates: for the first 30 kilowatt hours consumed, an increase of one-fourth cent to five cents; for the next 60 kilowatt hours, a boost of two-tenths cent to four cents.

Lucas ousted Plymouth from the Richland county tourney, 54 to 59. Plymouth players: Bettac, Dick, Wilson, Meiser, Rhine, Root and Roger Hampton.

Mrs. D. L. Smith quit as operator for Northern Ohio Telephone Co. to join employ of Wilkins AF Station, Shelby.

Mrs. Reed White was released from Cleveland clinic. Mrs. W. L. Chaffield entered 18 dolls in a Cleveland exhibit and won six blue ribbons.

Shiloh girl finds India's pastoral economy requires visit to tailor after buying goods

The Shiloh route 1 girl who is Huron county's international farm youth exchange student in India is settled with her first host family in India. Gertrude Kramer's experiences are written to the agricultural extension office in Norwalk. Excerpts follow: "I had a successful attempt to milk a water buffalo in Rajasthan, although I didn't do a complete job. The calves usually take what they want, and then you get what is left. Buffalo milk is very popular in India and it averages seven to eight per cent butterfat. The butter is snow white. The water buffalo are fairly homely critters. "In Baroda I stayed with a young woman my age who is chief instructress at a Gram Sevika (Gram Sa ve Ka) Training center. This is a one-year school to train women village level workers (Gram Sevikas). The curriculum is one of applied home economics. The students live at the school in family units and thus learn by doing. The women are chosen from the villages and they return to teach village women what they have learned by both example and more formal methods. Minoxi (Mi-nox-ee) and I, along with her 15-year-old brother and sometimes also her mother, spent many days going to villages in the area and meeting the people. "Minoxi also helped me select and buy my first sari. When people think of Indian women, perhaps their first thought is about their saris. A sari is a straight piece of material anywhere between five and eight yards in length, six yards being the usual, and 45 inches wide. They are worn with a very fitted short blouse and a full-length petticoat. "We started on our shopping trip about 9:30 a.m. the time the shops opened. We walked down the crowded rather narrow street and entered one of the sari shops. None of the shops had doors or windows but were completely open on the street side. (Since the weather is warm the year around, they do not need to be enclosed.) There were a few board steps to climb before entering the long narrow shop. "We removed our shoes at the entrance and either sat down on low stools or on mattresses covered with white cloth, as preferred. The salesman proceeded to bring many saris from the stacked-up shelves on the three enclosed sides of the shop and to display them on the mattress covering the floor. He was also barefoot and walked among the saris with no danger of soiling them. There were so many to select from — plain ones, printed ones, cotton, nylon or silk ones, with or without a border design, and almost any color imaginable. Because you don't have to worry about size in selecting a sari, your choice is limited only by available funds and the number of saris in the shop. After much deliberation and viewing at least two dozen, I chose a handloom (woven on a hand loom) cotton sari. A border design of gold metallic thread with red threads interwoven, is on both of the long sides. On the end that shows when wearing it is a design about 12 inches wide in the same colors. The color of the sari is a beautiful sage green. "The next step was to acquire material for a blouse and petticoat. From bolts of different colors of cotton, we selected a matching green color for the blouse and matching poplin for the petticoat. Then off to the tailor's to have them made and to be measured, for no patterns are used. To select a style you either draw it on paper, describe it, or choose from some already stitched. Very few ready-made garments are available for women, but tailors are readily available. "Minoxi and I had much fun buying the sari, going to the tailor's, and purchasing a pair of Indian sandals (chappals) for me. Here was an Indian girl who had many interests similar to mine and we covered most of them with good discussions. She spoke excellent English. We had no difficulty communicating. We had become good friends by the time I left for my next host family. Her address is Miss Gertrude Kramer, c/o Mr. Hirmanendu Basu, secretary, Young Farmers' Association of India, 222-A, Ministry of Agriculture, Dr. Rajendra Prasad Rd., New Delhi, India. Echelberry victim of daylight theft Manager of Ulmer Hardware at New Washington only since Jan. 1, Robert Echelberry was the victim of a $592.52 theft Jan. 31. Alone in the store, he went to the basement at about 3:30 p.m. to fetch merchandise for a customer. A money box containing cash and checks in the amount stated disappeared.

Two new 4-H clubs organized

Two 4-H clubs were organized in Shiloh last week.

The Shiloh Fair Lassies is comprised of fourth and fifth grade girls. Advisers for the club are Mrs. G. D. Seymour, Mrs. Dale Owens, and Mrs. C. David Rish. Jeanne Sloan will be a junior leader for the group.

Newly elected officers are Ginger Fry, president; Sandra Laser, vice-president; Roxanne Spring, secretary; Candice Owens, treasurer; Connie Ballitch and Cheryl Strong, recreation leaders; Marie Sexton, news reporter; Mary Ellen Rish, health chairman.

Shiloh Bulldogs is the new boys' club. Malcolm Brook is the adviser. Boys in the fourth to the eighth grade make up the membership. New officers are Clyde Lasch, president; Emmett Bond, vice-president; Jerry Willet, secretary; David Haver, treasurer; Kim Couch and Leo Hess, recreation leaders; Douglas Coffey, news reporter; Martin Heifner, health chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pieratt and small daughter, North Olmstead, were with Dr. and Mrs. C. O. Butler over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Knapp of New London were callers Sunday at the O. F. Pennell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irelan were in Mansfield Sunday evening to attend a supper for the young couples of the Apostolic Christian church in South Diamond street. The affair was held at the home of the pastor, the Rev. Henry Sabo. Music and games served as diversion for the evening.

Fred Rader, Ohio State university, Columbus, was with his parents here over the weekend.

Mrs. Bessie Chatlain, Valier, Mont., spent the past week with her sister, Mrs. Hugh Boyce.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Russell were in Columbus Sunday and spent the afternoon with their son, James, a student in Capital university.

Pvt. Robert Seaman was home over the weekend and drove his car back to Ft. Knox.

Robert Brumbach of Cleveland spent the weekend with relatives here. His nephew, Terry Russell, accompanied him home for a few months stay there.

Robert Gundrum, Jr., employed in Chicago, Ill., was with his parents here over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Clark and two sons of Plymouth were visitors Sunday afternoon at the A. C. Henry home.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Stephens moved last week to their newly constructed home at the extreme west end of Main street. Surry Rd. Realty Co. has transferred lot 287 in the northern part of the village to James A. Faulkner and others.

Two new houses built by Victor Coffey and Adrian Kennard, located at the north end of Delaware street, are nearing completion and will probably be ready for occupancy this spring.

A son was born Sunday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Larry Rader of Smithville. The Raders, former residents here, are now the parents of two small sons.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Clevinger, Union City, Ind., celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Monday.

Mr. Clevinger was New York Central station agent here and he and Mrs. Clevinger lived in the home in Mechanic street now occupied by Mrs. Maud Ruckman.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Howard were in Adario Saturday afternoon to attend the Farmers Institute. Rep. John M. Ashbrook talked on "Communism." His definition for communism: "Animal husbandry practiced on humans".

Mr. and Mrs. George Griffith were re-admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Thursday, prior to their removal to a suitable rest home.

Miss Margaret Ann Ratcliffe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ratcliffe, 45 Shepherd road, Mansfield, has pledged Delta Gamma sorority at Purdue university, West Lafayette, Ind. The Ratcliffes are former residents of Shiloh while Mr. Ratcliffe was superintendent of schools here.

About 600 persons enjoyed open house at the new home of Shiloh branch, First National Bank of Mansfield, Saturday.

Representatives from banks in Cleveland, Mansfield, Shelby, Greenwich, Plymouth, Bucyrus, Willard, Sycamore, Moser Safe Co., Mutual Insurance Co., and others were present.

Souvenirs were available and light refreshments served. Mother of Roscoe Haun, Shiloh, Mrs. Jetta G. Haun, 85, Shiloh route 2, died Sunday in a Shelby nursing home.

A daughter, Mrs. Arlo Willet, Shelby, and a sister, Mrs. Connie Snyder, Shelby, also survive.

The Rev. James H. Nichols, pastor of Mt. Hope Lutheran church, conducted a funeral service yesterday at 11 a.m. from McQuate Funeral home, Shiloh. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery.

Tri-State honors go to William Archer

William R. Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Archer, 415 West Broadway, Plymouth, is among students cited for scholastic attainment at Tri-State college, Angola, Ind., according to an announcement by Robert A. Dougherty, acting dean of students.

Archer holds a scholastic record of all A's and B's for the past quarter at Tri-State college.

He is a student in the electrical engineering department.

20th Century ...

Contemporary leaders will be discussed Monday night when the Twentieth Century circle meets at the home of Mrs. Ralph Rogers.

Members will answer the roll call by giving the name of a living leader. They will then hear Mrs. Eldon Nimmons discuss Aga Khan IV and the historical background of Mohammedan traditions. Mrs. Samuel Bachrach has chosen the Indian prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru and Mrs. Carl Y. Ellis will talk on Edward R. Murrow, director of the United States Information Agency.

Grange to plant bushes at school

Three flowering dogwoods and three European sycamores will be planted by Plymouth Grange at Plymouth High school as its community service project. Last year the project was to level and plant grass around the new school addition.

A regular meeting of the Grange will convene on Feb. 16. On Feb. 17 the Grange will be in charge of a food counter at the Howard auction sale.

Progressive euchre parties are being held at the hall on the first and third Saturdays of each month. The next one will be Feb. 17 at 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited.

Best performance of year wins for Plymouth at Fredericktown

Hostler's coaching paid off, says O. T.

"When he's eligible, I'm sure he'll help us a lot!" That's what Coach Ron Hostler kept saying about Dave Myers, rangy junior, who worked with the Big Red squad from the start of the season while he was overcoming scholastic deficiencies.

How right he was became evident to Fredericktown's Freddees in a Johnny Appleseed conference contest there Friday night.

Myers scored 16 points on seven field goals and a pair of penalty tosses to lead Plymouth to an upset 67 to 58 victory.

The Big Red had to come from behind to do it. And a good deal of the credit must go to Phil Fletcher, who held John Solomon, dusty Freddie star whose sensational jump shot has bewildered Freddie opponents all season, to two field goals in the first half. Solomon wound up with only 17 points, proving another contention of the rookie Plymouth coach: stop Solomon and you can put Fredericktown away.

Down one point after eight minutes, the Big Red went to the dressing room at the half with a one-point lead at 29 to 28 and came out for the third quarter with its shooting eye honed to a fine edge. Plymouth scored 22 in the third period and matched the Freddie output of 16 in the final eight minutes.

Plymouth's effort was an even one. All five starters were in double figures and the Big Red bagged 27 tries from the floor.

READ THE ADVERTISER

Two regularly scheduled basketball games remain. It's time to appraise what's happened with the Big Red's hardwood outfit.

Conclusion, inescapable and inexorable: poor prospects, much inexperience, a big reputation to live up to, a sound job of coaching, good morale, a team that'll do better with more time.

And there isn't a senior among them!

This club should do well in the county tourney, depending on its draw. To beat Union may be more than is in the cards. We feel confident the Big Red can take Butler on another night.

In Hostler's first season, he has done a sound job. He approached his task with a positive attitude, never seemed discouraged or downhearted, stuck to his concept of the game, taught what he knew and welded these inexperienced lads into a pretty fair outfit.

His record — and it could be 8-10 by this time next week — would have been better but for some funny bounces of the ball. It could have been 10-5 if eight balls thrown at the basket on eight separate occasions had dropped in instead of out.

This ball club will go far in another season. With some help from somewhere (and it certainly can't be the reserve squad, which hasn't won a game yet and doesn't have any height, which is what this team needs most for 1962-63) the next Hostler-coached outfit here could be a team of destiny.

Coach Bill Flaherty has had miserable luck with the jayvees. But he also had weak material. Some of the candidates have improved with use, but they were admittedly green to start with and have been slow to jell. Since there isn't a big player among them, it's doubtful the reserves will furnish any immediate help to Hostler next year.

Whether the freshman team, which hasn't a bad record considering its inexperience and lack of poise, notably on big floors, can produce some help in a couple of seasons is debatable. At least three players seem to have the equipment that will be of use to Hostler by 1963-64, and one of them may grow enough through the summer to give that help next year.

Gas Co. to reveal basis of figuring proposed new rate

Solicitor Joseph F. Dush will render an opinion. If it is unfavorable, it is the intention of the board to raise the pay of the assistant clerk. Since she is the wife of the clerk, the same purpose would be served.
 George BeVier will accept the board's offer to buy two acres of land in Riggs avenue on which to erect a new water tower. Soundings by Funk Construction Co., New London, have shown the sub-soil to be suitable for such construction.

Councilman Clarence O.
 Cramer reported he had been "under quite some pressure to hire a full-time radio department" for the police department. He and Councilman Donald H. Levering said they think finances of the village will not permit such action now and abandonment of Carl Booth for the new post was again tabled.

Lutherans ...

The Rev. Richard Faust, Lucas, who will describe the development of a mission congregation after the congregational covered dish dinner in First Evangelical Lutheran church Thursday.

He was formerly a mission pastor at Vermillion-on-the-Lake.

Hostesses will be the Lydia circle, ULCW. Guests are asked to bring a covered dish and table service.

On Sunday the Rev. John H. Worth and Karl S. Lindauer will attend at First English
 Lutheran church, Mansfield,

Brother,
it's been cold out here!

This bird knows the weather. It has been cold outside — in some places about as cold as it ever gets.

What weathermen called a "fantastic" polar air mass invaded Ohio early in January and turned the state into a virtual ice box. Record below zero temperatures were common in many communities.

Because of the severe cold, you possibly have used more gas than normally to heat your home. Your gas bill could be higher than usual.

Your gas company delivered record volumes of natural gas to homes.

As a result, there has been warmth and comfort in hundreds of thousands of Ohio homes, even when the weather outside challenged the hardiest of birds.
