Loudonville backs experienced but green line questionable

By JOE DIEHL
Sports Editor

The Loudonville Times
The 1962 Loudonville Red Birds hit a brick wall in their rebuilding drive with a disheartening 28-6 defeat at the hands of Fredericktown's Freddie Friday night.

The Birds' green line played good ball for the first three periods but was finally worn down and literally ran over during the final quarter.

Tomorrow's contest with Plymouth's Big Red should be an interesting one, with both teams fairly evenly matched, — both with veteran backfields and inexperienced lines.

The Birds have a veteran backfield in lettermen Jim Arnolt, Les Steele, Ken Stumbaugh and Ken Scheck. Steele is a fast two-year veteran at the fullback position, weighing 160 pounds. Arnolt is the signal caller and Scheck plays half. Both are one-year veterans.

The only experienced linemen are Phil Degg, 165-pound end; Bob Thompson, 170-pound tackle; Jerry Shaffer, 140-pound guard, and Conway Duley, 160-pound center.

All things remaining constant, the Red Birds should turn in a good performance against the Big Red. Despite a relatively light team average — about 165 pounds — they have a strong ground offense; backed by a smooth functioning aerial attack. The defense, though green, has yet to come up with a poor performance.

Loudonville was 5-4-1 last year and lists 53, nine ends, eight tackles, 13 guards, five centers and 18 backs on its roster, of whom 18 are freshmen.

Who plays whom?

Reaching for some straws he had only a few moments before obtained at a dairy bar cost James Martin, 18, Plymouth route 1, a summons for careless operation and a costly collision at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Young Martin told police he reached for the straws and took his eye from the road, whereupon his sedan struck another parked in front of Mary's Beauty shop, where its driver, Katherine K e m p f, wife of C. Earl Kempf, Shelby route 3, was obtaining service.

The right front of Martin's sedan was badly crushed. The Kempf sedan was thrust into a tree and more severely damaged.

Contract offered to Spanish teacher

A Spanish-English teacher was hired by Plymouth Board of Education in special session Tuesday night.

Miss Carol Kratz, a 22-year-old graduate of Ohio university, Athens, this year, was offered a contract to teach three classes of freshman English and two classes of Spanish at $3,900 for the remainder of the school year.

A graduate of Minerva High school in 1958, Miss Kratz has no experience but comes highly recommended, C. Todd Strohmenger, executive head, said.

Mrs. Thomas F. Root, who agreed to teach English to freshmen on a full time basis only because no other teacher could be found, will revert to half-time status. John Stansberry, formerly a teacher of Spanish in the high school, now in the Union-Savannah district, will cease teaching second year Spanish on Saturday mornings.

Frank R. Garber, guidance work five-sixths of the time and mechanical drawing one-sixth of the time.

On formal request by A. L. Paddock, Jr., the board will seek the opinion of Richland County Prosecutor Rex Larson as to the legality and constitutionality of religious education in the schools.

A covering letter will be submitted with the request, which has a suspense date of

Oct. 10, in which the board points out that the classrooms used by the religious education teacher, who reports one day a week and offers instruction to elementary and junior high school pupils, are leased to his employer, the North Richland County Council on Religious Education, a private group.

Cooperation of the village council will be sought in removing a nearly dead elm tree in the high school lawn. The board will offer to pay payroll costs of the board of public affairs in its removal.

The hostess served refreshments to the 10 members present.

Large water loss noted at school after main breaks

Water loss of 328,000 gallons was recorded here Friday before Board of Public Affairs workmen stopped a leak in a six-inch main at Plymouth High school.

The 50-gallon water tower was drained and the clear water was pumped dry before the leakage was halted.

Pumps in the water plant were slightly damaged because they were working against air instead of water and packing had to be replaced.

A bus driver found the leakage when he reported early to take his bus out for pupils. He reported the fact to William Forquer, street supervisor.

High school pupils were dismissed before classes started up for the day. When water pressure elsewhere diminished rapidly, elementary pupils were sent home.

Chest goal up $500 to $3,500

Water in the village and Plymouth route 1 for contributions. There will be no house-to-house solicitation. Each business, however, will be approached individually for its contribution.

This year's goal is $500 more than last year's. Only 85.6 percent of last year's goal was reached. The number of contributions received showed that only one of every six in the community who received pledge cards actually contributed.

After careful consideration, the board and officers felt that more persons in Plymouth are employed and working full time than last year and are better able to contribute their share.

Failure of offensive line results in feeble attack--

Lethargic Red loses, 22 to 0

You can't win a football game unless you want to win it.

Which Plymouth's Big Red proved conclusively at Crestline Friday night in a Johnny Appleseed conference contest with the Bulldogs, who won an easy 22 to 0 victory.

It was as poor a performance as a Plymouth club has put on in several seasons. During the first half, the Big Red put the ball in play 16 times, gained a net of 13 yards and lost 35 yards on penalties.

The Bulldogs, meanwhile, were running up 147 yards on the ground, 35 in the air, totalling 11 first downs. They were set back 35 by penalty.

CRESTLINE HAD TWO scores by halftime, both in the second period. After an interception of a fourth-down pass by Francis Perman by Earl Hess had stopped the Bulldogs on a sustained drive in the first quarter, Crestline took Phil Fletcher's punt on the Red 45 and got seven yards on the runback. The Bulldogs punched to the Plymouth six, then took a holding penalty. On first down from the visitors' 22, Jon Eckert ran the counter play over his right guard for the touchdown. Perman's pass to Joe Moleno was good for the PAT.

Plymouth showed absolutely nothing after the kickoff and Fletcher punted poorly to the Bulldog 27. Fletcher was consistently outbooted by Perman, not always his fault. Twice he received poor passes from center — one of them actually dribbled on the turf — and never was he able to take his full two step approach because the defense leaked badly.

The Bulldogs moved smartly from their 27 and went to the air twice. Perman hit Moleno on the Red 38 for 10 and then, on third down, dropped one in the big end's lap for the second TD. It carried 25 yards. Moleno took a pass for the PAT.

Crestline actually missed three other scores during the first half because Perman overshot his target slightly. In each instance the receiver was well behind the Red defender and in the open.

THE SCORELESS THIRD period wound up with Red possession on its 28, after a 15-yard penalty for holding which nullified a splendid 19-yard gainer through his left tackle by Fletcher.

Tom Cordrey, Crestline's leading ground gainer, fielded Fletcher's punt on his 39 and dashed 22 yards to the Red 39. The Bulldogs had a touchdown in seven plays, although Plymouth could have obtained possession after a fourth down punt but was offside. On first down, Perman hit Willis Woods in the eye with a big one and Crestline had a safe, and what proved to be insurmountable, lead. A fumble by Hamman of a punt had given the Bulldogs possession.

Even at this point, Crestline's coach declined to insert reserves freely — he said later he didn't want to be scored upon — and at no point did Coach Richard Carpenter make much use of what reserve strength he has. Only three sophomores saw any action and Carpenter used a total of 16 players.

PLYMOUTH MOUNTED what seemed to be an important offensive in the waning moments of the final quarter, largely on the strength of two passes to Fletcher which carried to the Bulldog 24. But the Red took a holding penalty and that was it.

The officiating was nothing to give cause for pride by the four men in black-and-white engaged by the Crestline administration.

Lineups:

Crestline: ends — Moleno, Woods, Schreck; tackles — DeGray, Stover, Krichbaum; guards — Pogram, Pry, Ratliff, Skoronski; center — Schwart; backs — Perman, Hauck, Mason, Cordrey, Rowland, Eckert, Bise.

Plymouth: ends — Arnold, Hess; tackles — R. Foreman, Sammons, Wells; guards — Cunningham, Ruckman, Hall, Bland; centers — Young, Paddock; backs — Hamman, Utiss, R. McQuown, Bowman, Fletcher.

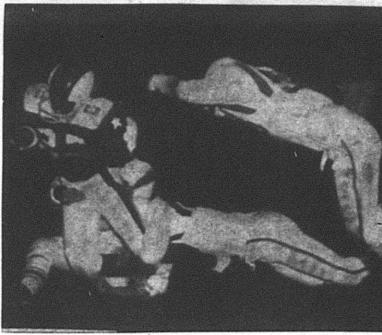

Score by periods:

Tomorrow-GO JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET for '63

of others have started to sag and sigh: new flush and dry rocker panels under the doors to guard against rusting . . . self-adjusting brakes . . . Delcotron generator for longer battery life. If you ever wondered why Chevrolet leads its field, a drive in this '63 should answer all your questions.

GO CHEVY II for '63-IT'S EXCITING!

GO CORVAIR for '63-IT'S EXCITING!

Hard as it may be to believe, this year's Chevy II is better, better than last year's and better than anything in its class. It combines all the new easy-care features of the big Chevrolet with its own wonderful attributes of parkable size, four- or six-cylinder fuel economy and interiors that'd do justice to cars with twice its price and half its charm.

Change it? Calm yourself, nobody's going to mess with a winner like this one! We did add self-adjusting brakes and a more fully aluminized muffler; interiors and outside trim are refined a bit, but the rest is pure Corvair with all the over-the-road goodness that implies. Oh yes, we changed the taillights so all those people you pass will know you're driving a '63.

New church's stained glass windows result of 22 months of skilled work

Three thousand square feet of stained glass in 140 separate pieces, in 35 colors, costing a good man's salary for 10 years, were until yesterday the responsibility of two young Missourians.

The glass was installed in the north and south windows of the new St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church here by Glennon Gregory, journeyman, and Charles Christopher, apprentice, employees of the fabricator, Emil Frei & Associates, St. Louis, Mo., experts in church windows.

THE WORK, INTERRUPTed only briefly by production problems and a rush call to Cincinnati, where a colleague had been injured, brought to a close a 22-month labor that began with an idea, went to a drawing board, passed through a complicated phase of color and pattern determinational trade and wound up, became a part of inspiration as a brilliant representation of the Holy Trinity in openings measuring roughly 60 x 25 feet on two walls of the triangular edifice.

The north window depicts the hand of Almighty God.

The south window depicts a dove. From the west, the sun is the third symbol of the Holy Trinity.

Designer of the church, Edward Schulz, Cincinnati, roughed out the idea for the representation. Robert Harmon, Arcadia, Mo., an employee of Emil Frei, drew the figures and prepared the initial sketches. These were approved and he produced the colored drawing of the windows.

Then the drawings underwent intricate study and treatment so that the color patterns and the individual sash — there are 70 in each wall — could be accurately planned.

The stained glass was ordered from Germany where the firm was founded in the 19th century. The present St. Louis outfit came to this country about 75 years ago.

Upon receipt at St. Louis, the colored glass was painted by Harmon. While it was still wet, it was placed in an oven or kiln, so that the painted designs could be baked into it.

Then it was assembled into sash, each individual piece of glass gripped by lead partitions, which are then soldered into permanence.

Gregory and his young side were responsible for installing the windows in the sash of the church.

EACH SECTION OF GLASS was placed into a sash in proper relationship to the master design and fastened there with aluminum stripping which clamps the colored glass into place. Then a calcining compound is forced by hand around the glass. The compound never hardens, provides instead a resilient cushion so the glass won't break.

Baseball players in the vicinity of Sandusky and Hoffmann streets needn't worry that long foul balls will puncture the stained glass windows, either. Each sash is fitted with a safety pane of plate glass. There is a two-inch dead air belt between the stained glass and the safety pane.

"I suppose you could shoot a rifle bullet through it," says Glennon, "though why anybody would do that is beyond me. But you can't puncture it with a bee-bee shot, the plate glass won't allow it."

How is it cleaned? "Just dust it now and then on the inside. You don't have to wash it on the outside, because the outside never feels the air."

Result? "We think this church is one very attractive building, one of the nicest we've ever worked on," says Glennon. "We're proud to be a part of it. It'll make a lot of friends for your town and this church, because it's unusual, unique and very beautiful."

The windows prepared by Emil Frei and Associates, St. Louis, and installed by Journeyman Glennon — and he isn't only a journeyman husband, with seven children at home — and Apprentice Christopher, newly married and with about 16 months to go before he picks up his journeyman's ticket, are an important reason why visitors will throng this church.

Mrs. Dick starts 66th year in club work

By ELIZABETH PADDOCK

Mrs. Harry Dick's appearance Monday night before the monthly meeting of The Twentieth Century circle won't be anything new.

She's stood before the group many times over the past 65 years. Now beginning her 66th year of membership, Mrs. Dick will discuss "Clocks".

A charter member of the circle, she is an accomplished pianist, has contributed to the musical programs through the years, and has delved into various topics as her share of the programs.

At the Dec. 5, 1898, meeting she read selections from Alfred, Lord Tennyson, one of the "best sellers" of the day. On Sept. 30, 1901, she discussed the Pan-American Exposition. In 1904 her topic was "Social Conditions of the South." Through the years the subjects have varied from a map talk on Canada, on Russia in 1944, the Congressional library in 1899, and on Nome Alaska, in 1952.

Born and raised in Plymouth, she was graduated from Plymouth High school in 1895 and spent a year studying music at the College of Wooster. For many years she was the musician for First Presbyterian church, which she has always attended. She is the author of an historical booklet published on its 125th anniversary.

Mrs. Dick is the granddaughter of Samuel H. Trauger and his wife, Susannah Mautz, who came to this community in 1835 in a covered wagon. The Traugers married in Bucks county, Pa., in 1825. With his wife and small children he crossed 600 miles of sparsely settled territory to come to Ohio.

THE TRAUGER FARM southwest of the village, which was their home for 43 years, was the blue ribbon winner three times in contests for the best farm in Richland county.

Samuel Trauger, Jr., her father, was four years old when the family came west. As he grew up, he learned carpentry and became a school teacher. In May, 1860, he went west to Denver, Colo., where he worked at his two occupations for four years. Ready to settle down, he married Sarah E. Hutchinson May 13, 1875.

The bride's family came from England and settled between Shelby and Plymouth. Mrs. Dick is their only daughter. She married Harry Dick, whom she had gone to school with and known all her life, on Aug. 15, 1912. They became the parents of three sons and a daughter. Now Mrs. Dick is a grandmother to a teenage girl and a boy.

THE GRANDFATHER clock in her dining room has always been in the family. It was a wedding gift to her grandmother, Trauger, who brought the works and face over the prairie trails wrapped in a feathered. The wooden case was later made here.

Fashioned by skilled clockmakers in 1790, it was made to last and is still faithfully ticking away the minutes without loss. The face is painted with dainty flowers. The hands were made as symbols. The minute hand, representing man, is shaped as a pointed sword. The hour hand, perhaps because of strength of time, is woman and a scissor design is embodied in it.

As young Grace Trauger and later as a matron, Mrs. Dick has always cherished the close circle of her friends.

"I think it is the only club which had the same president 27 years. Laelawka Waite helped organize it and she was good at it," she reminisces.

The circle began as the Nineteenth Century club in 1896, when the "club" movement was sweeping the countryside. It was during the 1901-02 season that members changed it to fit the new century.

Mrs. Dick has held her share of offices and committees in the circle and continued her church activities, where she taught Sunday school classes for many years. She was an ardent member of the Plymouth Garden club and helped to make its flower shows the successes they were.

the Tourist club joined forces at Christmastide and decorated a tree on the plot of ground where the watertower stands. When there were local dances, she could beat out a tempo to keep toots flying through the air.

So, on Monday night, when Mrs. Dick begins her part of the program, members will listen attentively. As one member says, "she always is good and knows what she is talking about . . ."

She ought to, she's got 66 years of experience.

"Fun With Music" was the theme when Shiloh Community Grange met Sept. 19.

A short musical program was presented. A vocal trio, "Roses Are Red" was sung by Cindy, Barbara and Mike Wagner, piano solo, Miss Miller, violin, Elmer Rish, Miss Miller's contribution of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was a piano solo by Connie Ballou.

The program committee consisted of Mrs. Janet Miller, Mrs. C. D. Rich, Mrs. Thomas Krantz and Mrs. Ruth Wagner. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Arnold, Mrs. Stella Arnold and Mrs. Floyd H. McQuate.

A program was conducted by the leader, Mrs. W. W. Pittenger, when the Loyall Daughters met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Ronald R. Howard. Mrs. Fred Dawson was co-hostess. There were 15 present.

John Selick, High street, was taken Thursday to Crile Veteran's hospital at Brecksville. He is reported to be very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Wayne Hamman and family returned home early Sunday morning after a 10-day hunting trip at Sinclair, Wyo. Mr. Hamman, Mrs. Hamman and their son, Jesse Hugh, each bagged one antelope and one deer.

Mrs. Hobart Garrett, who has been in poor health for a number of years, fell in her home Sunday afternoon. She suffered no stroke and no bones were broken. She was taken to Willard Municipal hospital.

Airman 2nd Class Raymond Garrett, stationed at Lockbourne Air Force base, Columbus, spent a three-day leave last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Garrett.

Mrs. David Witchie and daughter, Deborah, returned Saturday after a two-week visit with relatives at Mentor.

Evelyn Shepherd, Shiloh, and Oscar Barnett Willard, have made application for a marriage license at the Huron County courthouse, Norwalk.

At a recent meeting of the Shiloh Civic club, Robert G. White, Mansfield, discussed the organization and objectives of a chamber of commerce.

Ex-Illini star now coaching here: catechitically, in name of God

From Pasadena's famous Rose Bowl through Seoul, Pusan, and the hills of South Korea to Plymouth — this is the unusual road traveled by Frater Thomas Murphy (M.S.C.), Missionary of the Sacred Heart, in his quest to become a Catholic priest.

Yesterday Frater Thomas Murphy, a former Illinois guard and U. S. Army second lieutenant, started teaching Christian doctrine to children of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic parish here. Two of his classmates, Frater Thomas Cain, M.S.C., Cedar Rapids, Ia., and Frater James Remigio, M.S.C., Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., are associated with him.

The three missionary students from Sacred Heart seminary, Shelby, will instruct the first and second grades for their first Holy Communion in late spring and will prepare the third to the eighth grades for their confirmations later this year. This teaching experience is an important part of the missionaries' theological training.

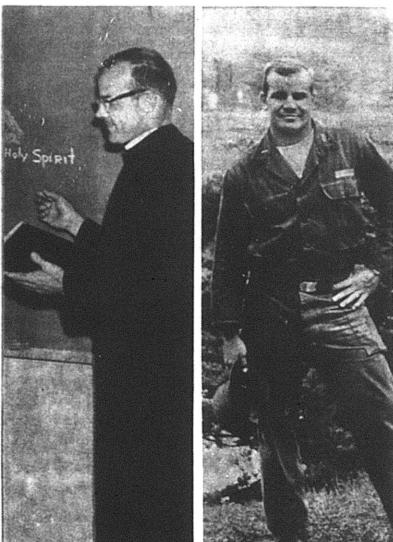

Frater Murphy, who played with the Illini in the 1951 Rose Bowl classic, began his football career in his native Chicago. He played guard at De LaSalle High school, was named to the Chicago high senior year, and received a football scholarship at Champaign.

He captained the freshman team, joined the varsity squad the following year as a guard, a position he played through his high school and college days. It was in his junior year that his football career reached its apex. That year the Fighting Illini took the Big Ten championship and accepted the Rose Bowl invitation, defeating Stanford 40 to 6.

After college Frater Murphy put aside his football gear and donned the uniform of a U. S. Army second lieutenant. He served 18 months with the 24th Infantry in Korea. He entered the Society of the Missionaries of the Sacred Heart in 1958, making his perpetual vows in 1961. He is now engaged in theological studies preparing for the Catholic priesthood.

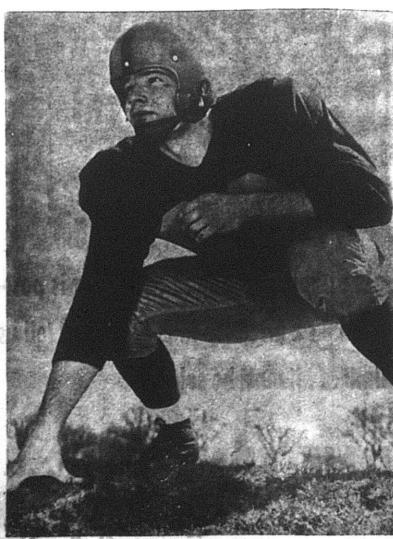

Frater Thomas Cain began his studies for the priesthood at Sacred Heart Mission seminary, Geneva, Ill., in 1952. After high school and a year of college he entered the Society's Novitiate in Youngstown, where he made his temporary vows in 1958. He has been at the Shelby seminary, the site of his perpetual vows, since the fall of 1958.

Frater James Remigio, a graduate of Ursuline High school in Youngstown, entered the society there in 1958.
