

Big Red favored to down Northmor

"They sure pass a lot". This is the scouting report on winless Northmor, which hosts Plymouth's Big Red Saturday at 8 p. m. at Johnsonville.

Best way to get there: Take Route 61 south to Route 314, continue in Route 314 south, across Route 30N and 30S and 42 to Johnsonville, turning left to stadium.

If the forward wall can put on a strong rush against the Northmor passer, and the secondary can cover its zones, the Big Red should be able to contain Northmor, scouts say. But in each of its defeats, Northmor has gained substantial yardage — more than 110 yards in each game — through the air.

COACH RICHARD CARPENTER, who has personally scouted Northmor, plans no important changes in the Big Red strategy for this one.

"It will help our offense if we can get up some momentum. There is nothing like please see page 4

Hallowe'eners to parade Oct. 30

Plymouth's annual Hallowe'en parade and party will be staged Oct. 30 at 7 p. m. in the sSquare.

Verdict upset in Reed's case

Sixth Appellate District, Ohio Court of Appeals, has reversed the ruling of a Huron county jury in the case of Woodrow Reed vs. Bachrach Cattle Co.

On Jan. 13, 1961, the jury in common pleas court awarded Reed $375 damages in a suit seeking $25,000 as a result of an automobile collision Apr. 6, 1959.

The court said the verdict of the jury and judgement of the court are "manifestly against the weight of evidence as to the amount of damages." Reed had filed an appeal for a new trial in Huron county common pleas court but it was overruled June 13.

Court enjoins council from action vs. Moser

A restraining order enjoining village council from any action against Russell J. Moser, superintendent of light, water and power, was served late Tuesday afternoon upon Mayor William Fazio.

Judge Vetter issued the restraining order and temporary injunction on this point of law: Mayor Fazio's charges against Moser were filed with the council Sept. 17 and served upon him Sept. 18. The council was bound by law to conduct a hearing of these charges against Moser at its next regular meeting, Oct. 1. No postponement of the hearing was lawful save by request of the accused. Since this did not occur, the charges in their present form have no legal standing. Paffenbarger told the council Moser's action is not for financial redress, but "only to protect his rights as an employee of the village". Solicitor Joseph F. Dush said the court's order "restrains this council from taking any action at this meeting, and this meeting only." Asked by Councilman Donald E. Akers whether the charges could be heard if re-filed, Dush said he would need study of the law and precedents to give an answer.

A cost of $401. Firemen will perform the labor. Councilman Akers reported the Board of Public Affairs is still trying to obtain an answer from its consulting engineer, Floyd G. Browne & Associates. Marion, a contractor, as to whether the water tower site is suitable for the construction as planned. The contract with Cleveland Bridge & Iron Works, Akers said, call for three test borings. Only two have been executed, Akers reported. He argued a third should be put down at the alternate site, in the rear of the Vincent Cole property in West Broadway.

For Issue No. 1

Issue No. 1 on the general election ballot Nov. 5 concerns a $250 million general obligation bond issue for the purpose of financing new construction, chiefly in the field of education.

This technique of financing is part of Governor Rhodes' program to obtain funds desired for these and other needs without imposing new taxes.

Whether an increase in the price of a pack of cigarettes is to be regarded as a new tax depends on whether you're a cigarette addict. To those who can't do without gaspers, the additional expense may run as high as $7.30 a person a year. Multiply that figure by the number of cigarette smokers in the family and you come up with what it'll cost each family.

Because it is proposed to pay the bonds by collecting an additional cigarette tax.

Governor Romney of Michigan, who's done very well for his state since he took office, is said to have remarked he's not in favor of this method of financing in Ohio.

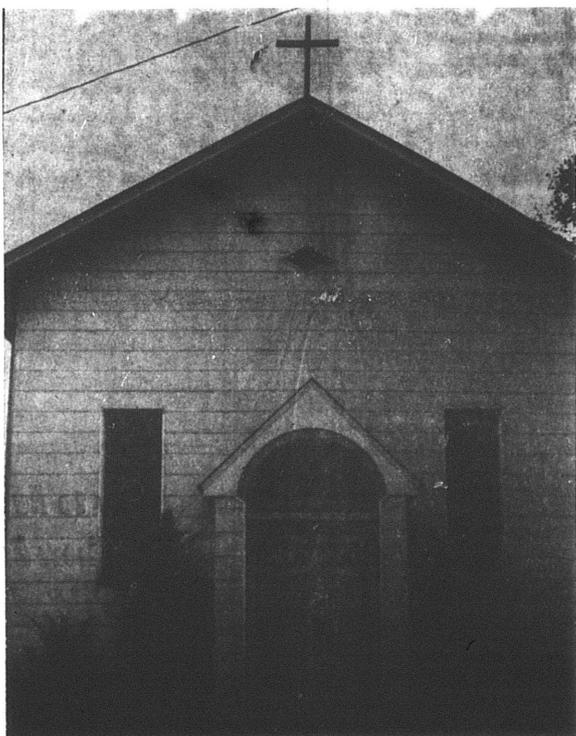

We question whether it's any of his business, what we do in Ohio, yet we doubt that he objects to the purpose of the borrowing. He is said to have observed that $250 million in bonds will cost nearly $500 million in principal and interest before the bonds are retired.

Some who call themselves educators are miffed with the Ohio governor. They are understood to be ready to oppose Issue No. 1 on the, to us, tenuous grounds that the principal sum is too little to do the job that is required.

They would do well to remember some facts:

1. Nobody has said the $250 million is the final amount to be raised for the specific purposes intended.
2. Approval of the issue does not mean the state is prevented from raising additional funds for this purpose, by this or other means, should the need be demonstrated.
3. Refusal to approve this issue will retard the development of education by at least a year.
4. Approval of the issue does not prevent forces in education from approach of the General Assembly at another time, perhaps next year, to obtain additional funds, if they are needed.
5. The first time to remonstrate against a proposal publicly is when the matter is presented for consideration by the Assembly.
6. Arguments favoring or opposing any issue carry less weight when they seem to have been initiated and executed on higher call.
7. There is nothing to prevent the state from funding the bond issue at a later date, when the fiscal position of Ohio is a bit stronger, to reduce the interest burden.
8. Like the recently ratified, nuclear testing treaty, which wasn't and isn't perfect but was the best that could be negotiated under the circumstances, Issue No. 1 is the result of a compromise, a compromise that may not be the very best, but is far better than nothing. The mood of the Ohio elector in 1962 was overwhelmingly expressed at the polls: not so much that he was in favor of Mr. Rhodes' program as that he was dead set against the methods of his predecessor, methods of financing in particular, financing that ran the state in the hole and seriously impaired its credit. It takes time to climb out of that hole, as any responsible person knows, and every educator who has a hand in disbursing public funds ought to know.

We believe Issue No. 1 is entitled to the approval of every thinking citizen.

THIS OLD LANDMARK in Trux Street, formerly St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, will be razed before month is out.

Open house set at high school

Plymouth High school have its annual open house for parents Wednesday.

Parents will meet in the auditorium at 7:30 p. m. to be greeted by C. Todd Strohmenger, executive head of the school district, and Wayne H. Strine, high school principal.

The newly formed high school chorus directed by Jeffrey Risner will present a short program, after which parents are invited to visit classrooms. Short class periods are being arranged to allow each parent to meet with every teacher of his child.

APPROVAL WAS GIVEN

to a proposal that dirt at 95 cents a load be hauled by the street department from Carl Montgomery's gravel bank to the village dump to fill it to the level required by the village's agreement with Eugene Beeching, its owner.

A plat submitted by Postmaster Raymond L. Brooks by which 12 lots will be opened for new building on his site in West Broadway was approved, subject to "compliance with sewer arrangements when they are finally worked out".

Condemnation proceedings will be launched against Mrs. Mabel Mathews, owner of partial interest in the Bittering property north of Plymouth where the village seeks to install sanitary sewer lagoons. The village has already purchased from her sisters their shares of the property. An agreement to pay Mrs. Mathews at the same rate as her sisters were paid was tentatively worked out with her attorney, but she declines to execute the contract.

P-TA to discuss vandals Monday

"Vandalism" will be the subject of a talk given by a member of the Richland county juvenile court Monday at 7:30 p. m. before the Shiloh P-TA.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. George Ridenour, Mrs. Jane Beard, Mrs. Adrian Kennard, Mrs. Joseph Irwin and Mrs. Harold Company.

School board balks on bus purchasing

Central purchasing of school buses by a state agency may or may not be economical, but Plymouth Board of Education disapproves of it.

A formal resolution to this effect was unanimously approved Oct. 9.

Instructions of the state department of education to local boards required compliance by Oct. 25 with data respecting the number and size of buses needed during the next school year.

"In order to be assured of state assistance in school bus purchase, the board of education is forced to agree to purchase an expensive piece of equipment of presently unknown quality, unknown price and through procedures and circumstances not yet formulated," the resolution says. "This is forced delegation of board responsibility for efficient expenditure of funds. Although quantity purchase is a sound financial procedure in most cases, such basic principles of good transportation as standardization of equipment, specifications to meet local conditions and the economy of above-minimum specifications may be sacrificed for the sake of lower initial cost. . . . This board strongly objects to giving blanket approval of a procedure which is not yet formulated, to the inadequacy of the appropriation item in House Bill 711 and to recognizing the state control board as a group which can dictate to the state department of education the terms by which it can expend monies appropriated by the legislature."

MISS CABOL K. R. A. T. Z., Spanish and English teacher, resigned, effective Oct. 15. She plans to be married.

Mrs. Gloria Obregon, holder of a baccalaureate degree from the University of Havana, Cuba, now undertaking graduate study in Akron university, was engaged to replace Miss Kratz at $4,000 annually.

A refugee of the Castro regime, Mrs. Obregon is a widow with two small children. Athlete Director William Flaherty told the board the coaching staff is displeased with the organization of the proposed athletic board of control because it delegates "too much power outside the coaching staff." He recommended the cheerleader program be assigned to the athletic department and said it is important for the department to be able to control how much money may be spent on cheerleader uniforms.

Despite the reservations, the athletic board of control will commence its duties Nov. 15. Recommendations for nominations of members will be substituted at the next meeting of the school board Oct. 25.

Richard Carpenter was assigned as junior high baseball coach. Flaherty will continue to coach varsity baseball. David Sage and Carpenter will coach junior high basketball.

All coaches believe another football supervisor is needed, to overcome parental objection to participation in football by younger boys whom they believe are subject to more injury if they compete with larger players. Another reserve coach could be the school to establish a freshman team, Flaherty said.

Whether vending machines will be installed in the high school will be decided at the first meeting in November, after school personnel and local businessmen are afforded an opportunity to express views as to their needs and suitability.

Mrs. Fred Mellick seriously ill

Mrs. Fred Mellick of Ganges is seriously ill, after surgery last week in Shelby Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Swartz were callers Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roney, who now live near Mansfield.

Congregation of the Methodist church honored Mr. and Mrs. John Bryan with a fellowship supper Sunday evening. About 50 presented them with a gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Kennard and small son were in Columbus Tuesday to visit a specialist for observation and tests for the boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fidler spent Sunday with their daughter at Apple Creek.

Mrs. Lovetta Adams and Mrs. Ruth Copeland were hostesses when the Past Matrons met Friday night. It was principally a farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. John Bryan, who are leaving soon to live in Newark. A gift was presented. About 18 past matrons and patrons were present.

Thirty relatives were guests at a dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Porter. The event honored their son-in-law, Corp. Carl Gibb, USMC, who planned to leave Monday for duty in Japan.

Royal Daughters will meet tomorrow night at the home of Mrs. Walter Porter.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagner and daughter, Cindy, called on relatives here Sunday. Richard Hamman, student in Ohio State university, Columbus, Plant now for Spring, Tulip, crocus, daffodils and other bulbs now on sale at the Celeryville Greenhouse and Gift Shop. 3,10,17,24c was with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamman, over the weekend.

Richard Tallman, a Shiloh barber, has rented the home of Ami Jacobs in West Main street and plans to move his family there in the near future. The Jacobs children who, with their grandmother, have been living in the home here, will go to Plymouth to be with their father.

Starting today Mr. and Mrs. Russell Keith will take over Spring's grocery. The Keiths are living in East Main street in the home formerly owned by the late N. J. McBride.

Forty-second annual meeting of the Richland County Federation of Farm Women's clubs took place Oct. 9 in Franklin Methodist church.

Franklin Art club was the hostess club. There were 63 members and 12 guests present.

County president, Mrs. Nyle Clark, presided.

Franklin Art club, Get-to-Gether club and White Hall club gave short histories of their clubs.

State president, Mrs. Herman Creelius, Huron county, urged all to attend the state meeting near Lima Oct. 16.

Chartering of a bus for the occasion was discussed.

A collection was taken which, with other money from the clubs, will be contributed to the Richland County Society for Crippled Children.

A luncheon prepared by the Franklin Art club was served at noon.

Maids of the Mist club furnished a program by a kitchen band made up of 4-H members dressed for the act. Rome Country club put on a humorous melodrama in pantomime.

Members of the Sunshine club gave two gifts for each month of the year to the member having a birthday on or near a holiday.

Guest speaker, Mrs. James H. Nichols, Shiloh, spoke on "Women Today". This was illustrated by dolls she has collected while living in other countries when her father was an Air Force chaplain.

Get-to-Gether club invited the federation to meet with it in October 1964 in the Methodist church in Shiloh.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl McQuate of Ashland visited Lloyd Domer Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary Hedges of Mansfield was a caller Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. William Crowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Merton Benedict entertained their children and grandchildren Sunday at a dinner which honored the birthdays of their daughter, Mrs. Robert Pennell, Berea, and three of her children.

Mrs. John Elliott and son, Sam, Shelby, were also present for the occasion.

Home Demonstration group met last week with Mrs. Orlo Strohm, who has lately moved to New Washington.

Mrs. Anna Myers, Greensburg, Pa., visited her daughter, Mrs. Marion Seaman, early this week.

Russell McManis, Akron, visited his father, William McManis, in Shelby and friends in Shiloh Sunday. Robert Bushey, student in Ohio Northern university, Ada, was with his parents over the weekend.

Mrs. Hugh Boyce has been at the Cleveland Clinic hospital recently for observation and tests.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wagner of Van Buren spent several days lately with Mr. and Mrs. David Dick. On Sunday, they motored to Schoenbrunn, a pioneer village near New Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Van Sweringen of Findlay visited Mrs. Brad Miller Sunday.

A. W. Firestone has just recently purchased the Carmel Hall property in North Walnut street.

Red favored — success to build confidence in the offense. I hope we can show you something with our offense this week."

Thus Carpenter appraises chances of victory in this non-conference battle.

The defense was as not so sharp against Crestview as it has been previously. Carpenter hopes this was only a temporary ailment, brought about by a touchdown scored on offense when the Big Red received the opening kickoff for the first time this season.

Despite the fact Crestview's Cougars were bigger than the Big Red, and that the turf was hard as bullets because of sustained drought, there were no serious injuries and the Big Red expects to be at full strength, such as it is, for this battle.

Try cake recipe of Mrs. Washington

By AUNT LIZ
There is nothing housewives like better than being asked to jot down a recipe for a friend.

This sort of thing apparently has been going on for centuries.
We have come across Martha Washington's recipe for her "Great Cake". Probably when she jotted it down for a neighbor, she never dreamed it would be saved a 11 these years. But it has. This is it.

"Take 40 eggs and divide the whites from the yolks and beat them to a froth. Start working 4 pounds of butter to a cream and put the whites of it to a spoon full at a time until it is well worked. Then put 4 pounds sugar finely powdered to it in the same manner. Then put in the yolks of the eggs and 5 pounds of flower and five pounds of fruit. 2 hours will bake it. Add one half an ounce of mace one nutmeg half a pint of wine and some fresh brandy."

It does sound delicious. As soon as we acquire a pan big enough and a flock of chickens of our own, we will test it.

ANOTHER INTERESTING thing we came across this week is the dessert cookbook of home economics teachers across the nation.

These recipes should be fool-proof because their reputations are at stake.

All 1,900 of them look tasty. At one a day, it takes five weeks to polish off the book.
A number of them have several versions, which make one think that home economics teachers take a busman's holiday in their own kitchens and do some experimenting.

One of our favorite teachers, Betty Hastings, has a cheese cake recipe in the book, so we know this one must be good.

Beat an eight ounce package of cream cheese with one-third cup of sugar and two eggs, pour into a graham cracker crust in an eight or nine inch pie tin. Bake for exactly 22 minutes at 350 degrees.

Blend one-half pint of sour cream with one-fourth cup of sugar and one-half teaspoon of vanilla and pour over the top. Bake for eight minutes more.

This really comes under the "quick and economical" recipes. Sometimes it is nicer to brew up something which stays in the oven for hours.

There is a Lemon Angel Torte which a teacher in Oregon and one in Pennsylvania submitted. It is elaborate and is to stay in the oven with no pecking for at least five hours.

This gives you time to sit down at the kitchen table with a cup of coffee and a book.

I consider this method the most outstanding way to do any cooking. Sometimes things have baked a little too hard or too brown using this method, but at the same time it tests your sprinting speed and ability from the table to the oven.

TWO BOOKS I HIGHLY recommend for kitchen reading are "Our Amish Friends" by the College of Wooster professor of German, William Shrieber, and "Lillies of the Field".

Both are beautifully written and pleasant to read. The latter has been made into a prize-winning motion picture, which does my heart good. It is a simple story and after reading it, you have a new lease on life to know there are still some good people in novels.

After years of psychological problems and who is carrying on with whom in the best sellers, which we all read so dutifully to be fashionable, this is a treat. It is also a very short book and doesn't waste time.

The last popular novel which I read, and is now just about to the top of the best seller list, was about as slow moving as the camels in it, who were really much more interesting than the characters. It had a pilot, so much so that I found myself humming (off key, of course), "The Sheik of Araby", which I am quite certain the author did not mean to have me do. His feelings would be very hurt if he knew this.

It might be that he hasn't seen the same sheiks I have.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fortney left last week for Port Arthur, Tex. where they will spend the winter months.

Mr. and Mrs. George Farnwall moved into their new home at 300 West Broadway over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Fetters were hosts at a family dinner Saturday night to welcome home their son, John L. He has received his naval discharge and taken employment with Ohio Bell Laboratories in Columbus. Judy and James Fetters were home from Columbus for the weekend. So was Mrs. John Fetters. Her parents, the Elton Robertsons, were also dinner guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steele and the Lee Steeles of Shelby spend Sunday at the Apple festival in Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. McBeth were guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Bacon in Fostoria Sunday.

Mrs. P. W. Thomas entertained Mrs. C. W. Siddall and Mrs. John Tschappat of Fairborn and Mrs. L. D. Barks of Shelby at Sunday dinner. During the afternoon they visited Kingwood Center in Mansfield.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Miller, Plymouth, were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wilhelm.

to spend the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McClure, the former Madeline Smith, in Scotia, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Akers were the weekend guests of their son, Richard, for "parents day" of his fraternity at Case Institute of Technology.
Mr. and Mrs. Vedder Puryear have returned from a visit in Centerville, Mich., with her sisters and from Lansing, Ill., where they visited their son, Jack, and his family.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Fetters spent Sunday with the William Fetterses in Mt. Vernon and also visited Baughman park south of there.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rogers have returned from Grand Rapids, Mich., where they visited their daughter and son-in-law, the William Throckmorton.

Mr. and Mrs. Vern LeCount of Goshen, Ind., are guests of their daughter and son-in-law, the Robert Youngs. Last week the Youngs visited the Maynard Reades in Goshen and the Eugene LeCounts in New Paris, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Roberts, with her grandmother, Mrs. Clarence Young, and his aunt, Mrs. Edna Race, of Willard visited Mrs. Edward Ev-

Red overpowers Crestview as offense clicks for first time

Plymouth's Big Red overpowered inexperienced Crestview here Friday night, bagging its second victory of the season with a sound offense and a defense that paid off when the chips were down.

But for two penalties, each of which cost the Cougars 15 yards, it might have been a tie game.

A 74-yard dash for a score late in the third period was nullified at the Plymouth 44 and a try for points after a touchdown went a-glimmering on another occasion.

That run, executed brilliantly by Dick Dewberry, was the only long one of the night. Plymouth outgained Crestview, 185 to 136 on the ground, 6 to 0 in the air.

THE BIG RED STARTED out in unique fashion — it won the toss for the first time this season. The coin was out of the pocket of the sports editor of The Advertiser, which may explain why it worked.

Sam Chronister kicked off to Gene Crouse at the Red 31 and in a relentless drive of 69 yards, Plymouth scored at 3:35 after 18 plays. Phil Fletcher bounded left end for the score from nine yards out. Fletcher ranged in for the PAT.

Crestview took the ensuing kickoff and marched deep into Red territory before Norman Howard intercepted a fourth down pass at the Plymouth 14. Unable to gain, Plymouth punted to the Crestview 30, where a 25-yard runback set the Cougars up for the matching touchdown. Starting from the home 45, Crestview moved 45 yards in 10 plays.

Ed Troxell plunged for the TD from the three. A 15-yard penalty nullified the PAT and in the second attempt, the Cougars fell far short. There were 50 seconds on the clock.

Neither team threatened in the third period, save for Dewberry's long run.

Jimmy Clark recovered the first of two fumbles at the Cougar 47 late in the third quarter and the Big Red moved 53 yards in seven plays for the second TD.

Fletcher's 20-yard jaunt around left end off a fake reverse with a direct snap from center set the big gainer.

On third down, Mike Ruckman cut back over right guard for the touchdown, covering five yards.

Fletcher bucked for the PAT and the Red was home safe.

Clark recovered a second fumble after the kickoff but Crouse handed it back and this break was lost.

With time running out, Plymouth's defense threw the Cougars back to their 23. A punt rolled out at the 50 and Fletcher went to the quarter-back post again.

After the Red ran for a first down at the Cougar 36, Fletcher threw a bomb to Eric Akers who out-did Willie Mays with a circus catch at the nine.

Plymouth hurriedly called time, organized its attack, and with 41 seconds remaining sent Fletcher around left end. He slid out of bounds on the one and then sneaked over for the TD. There were 10 seconds left.

Crouse ran the PAT.

IT WAS A SATISFYING victory for the Big Red, whose offense performed creditably for the first time this season.

The defense was not so good as it has been, but good enough when the chips were down.

The officiating of this contest was outstanding. The quartet from Mt. Vernon performed capably and kept the game well under control.

Ejection of one player by Ron Patrick, the field judge, was in accordance with the rules and satisfied Plymouth's coach and players.
