

Jim Moore

He knew he was taking the long chance when he agreed to the operation that substituted an artificial valve where nature failed him. But Jim Moore never complained for his own account and his first thought was always for his family.

He served them — parents, brothers and sister, wife and children — as a Christian gentleman. He served his church and his community with distinction and he leaves behind a good many friends and admirers, all of whom are glad he did not suffer when his time came.

We could do with several dozen more like him.

Nothing doing? A suggestion

Gist of the Water Pollution Control board's meeting with the village delegation last week is "Nothing doing, except maybe".

The protest filed by holders of contiguous property is well within the provisions of law, which allows of no question of whether the plans to develop immediately the property for housing purposes are presently firm and feasible.

The WPCB promises it will re-examine the site to determine if it indeed is suitable for a housing development. We do not see how the WPCB can decide otherwise.

General obligation bond issues appeared on the ballot three times before winning approval. A curious magazine article and the subsequent stampede of public opinion resulted in approval of a bond issue without approval of a system, a cost schedule or a financing plan.

A copy of that general election ballot lies before us. Nowhere does it state that a particular system was called for. Those who may argue that a handbill circulated on the eve of the election committed the council to a certain system are simply talking through their hats. Would the council agree to be bound by such flimsy documentation in connection with, say, the budget?

No intent of a council, anywhere, can be carried out unless the plans implementing that intent are feasible. It appears the present plans are not feasible. The state says so.

Which suggests three reasonable conclusions:

1. The argument of the engineer in seeking the job that he could obtain approval of the plans for siting of the lagoons wasn't worth a nickel. It was wrong for anyone to accept it.
2. The argument that the council is committed to any single system is incorrect. The ballot doesn't say so. No law says the council cannot now opt for another system. Indeed, the whole principle of representative government belies restrictions against the council's exercise of its best judgment.
3. To decide to do anything that involves spending from the public purse, of whatever nature, on the basis of what you read in a magazine or what you hear over a coffee cup, without proper investigation, doesn't make sense. It is wrong for anyone to do otherwise, as we pointed out on the eve of the general election during which sale of the general obligations bonds was approved.

What to do now? Re-design the lagoons as the previous engineer suggested and, we think, they'll probably win approval. This failing, what else but the conventional system?

Ramsey reelected to head Chamber; annual dinner set

Edward O. Ramsey was re-elected president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at the luncheon meeting Thursday.

Also reelected were Dr. P. E. Haver, first vice-president; H. James Root, second vice-president; Mrs. R. Earl McQuate, secretary, and J. Benjamin Smith, treasurer.

Charles F. Karnes was chosen a director for a two-year term. Donald J. Willett is the other director. His term expires in 1964.

The chamber will have its seventh annual banquet Mar. 15 with Rep. John Ashbrook as the guest speaker.

James P. Moore succumbs suddenly

Less than four months after he underwent one of 23 such open heart operations performed in America during 1962, James P. (Jim) Moore, 35, 58 Bell street, died of heart collapse at his home Saturday afternoon.

On Oct. 18 he underwent a four-hour operation an artificial valve in his heart.

He was discharged from a Cleveland hospital shortly before Christmas and had resumed his employment as a transportation technician with the Fate-Root-Heath Co., where he had worked Friday.

His wife reported he went to the basement of their home to change the furnace filter Saturday afternoon. She found him there, collapsed. She should to neighbor.

Mrs. Francis Guthrie, and medical and first aid help was summoned.

Mr. Moore never regained consciousness.

Mrs. Wagner, 78, dies in hospital

Mrs. Nannie M. Wagner, 78, formerly of 20 Spring street, Plymouth, died in Willard Municipal hospital Monday noon.

She was living with a daughter, Mrs. Ray Black, New Haven, prior to her final illness.

Born in Bloomville Mar. 23, 1884, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shivel, she was twice widowed.

She was a member of Plymouth Methodist church.

Two sons, Harold Burdge, Houston, Tex. and Cloyce Burdge St. Petersburg, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. Ruby Woodward, Creston, also survive.

There are six grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Her pastor, the Rev. Harold L. Dague, conducted a funeral service yesterday at 2 p.m. from McQuate Funeral home. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven.

High school and a veteran of service in the U. S. Army, Mr. Moore was a member of the governing council of First Evangelical Lutheran church and a member of Plymouth Lodge 301, F & AM, which conducted memorial services at McQuate Funeral home Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Last rites were conducted Tuesday at 2 p.m. by the Rev. John H. Worth. Burial was in Greenlaw cemetery.

Mr. Moore is survived by his wife, Joan; three daughters, Susan, Cathy and Nancy, all at home; two brothers, G. Thomas, Plymouth, and Robert, Mansfield, a sister, Mrs. L. Ray Windecker, South Bend, Ind., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Phillips Moore, Plymouth.

George France dies

Funeral services were conducted yesterday in Mansfield for George W. France, 44, a former Plymouth resident.

He died of a heart attack at his home Monday morning. As a young boy he lived here, while his father was employed by the Fate-Root-Heath Co.

He is survived by his wife, Helen, a daughter, Gloria; two sons, Richard and George, Jr., who lives in San Bernardino, Cal.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest France; two sisters, Mrs. Harold Reader and Mrs. Fred Zimmerman, and a brother, Carl, all of Mansfield.

SPROWLES BOY WINS THIRD TIME

Two PHS pupils win in essay contests

For the third consecutive year, Richard Sprowles, son of Mrs. Ruth Sprowles, 122 West Broadway, and Lincoln Sprowles, 2 East Main street, has won the Richland county prize for the best essay among high school boys of his grade sponsored by the American Legion.

Title of the essay this year was "How I Can Preserve the American Democracy".

He was the winner among 11th grade boys in the county. His essay will be sent to compete among district winners.

Last year, as state winner, he got a free trip to Washington.

D. C. Barbara Williams, 10th grader, won among girls of her class in the county.

She is the daughter of the Delmar Williamses, Shiloh route 2.

Four other Plymouth High school pupils won honorable mention for their essays. These were Marianne Akers, 12th grade girls; James Hamman, 12th grade boys; Christine Scott Ougham 11th grade girls; and Scott Smith, 10th grade boys.

No ninth grade pupils of Plymouth schools competed.

Firemen to get small salary

Volunteer firemen will be paid a nominal annual salary so they can be covered by workmen's compensation insurance, village council ruled Tuesday night.

Firemen are presently paid for monthly drill and for actual time spent at fire-fighting.

Firemen will receive a salary of $1 a year each, in addition to pay already set forth by ordinance. Clerk Carl V. Ellis told the council he had been instructed by the state commission to proceed in this fashion.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR A new police cruiser developed a debate between Police Chief Robert L. Meiser, who seeks a vehicle with 348 horsepower, and some councilmen, who said a vehicle of lesser horsepower would serve the village's purpose if the police department will abstain from hot pursuit of traffic offenders outside the village. Meiser retorted that vehicles of lesser horsepower aren't sturdy enough to carry the equipment of the police cruiser. Specifications of several types of vehicles will be given further study for presentation at the next meeting.

Nine Eagles in 25 years, Scout troop set to observe anniversary of BSA in USA

Plymouth's Boy Scout troop is quietly observing the 53rd anniversary of Boy Scouting, with two new Eagle scouts to add to its roster of 25 years of continuous activity.

Gregory Cashman, son of the Earl C. Cashmans and Arthur L. Paddock, 3rd, son of the Arthur L. Paddocks, Jr., will be among Eagle Scouts at the Johnny Appleseed council recognition dinner in Mansfield tonight.

Plymouth's last Eagle was James W. Fetters, who received his badge in 1960. Earl Hankammer, Jr., made it in 1959. Former members of Troop 1 who hold Scouting's highest award are Paul Scott, Birmingham, Mich. the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Scott; Gordon Seabolt, Kent, the son of Mrs. Charles Seabolt; P. S. Thomas, Shelby, son of Mrs. P. W. Thomas, and Kenneth Eichelberry, son of the Robert Eichelberrys. The late John R. Hampton, son of the Richard Hamptons was also an Eagle.

THE TROOP RECEIVED its present charter in a candlelight service in the First Evangelical Lutheran church Apr. 24, 1938. Morris H. Oldham, Plymouth High school science instructor, was the Scoutmaster. The troop was then sponsored by Ehret-Parrel Post, American Legion. J. Elden Nimmons, Frank Weck and George Pickens were chosen as the troop committee.

Original Scouts of this troop were William Fetters, Ray Ford, Carl France, Spencer Heath, Vance Hoffman, Joseph Hunter and Richard Moore.

Scoutmasters since that time include Don Einsel, who took over the troop in 1940 and served until 1941; Fred Ford, 1948; Robert MacMichael, James Davis, Paul Mumford, Joseph Huzovich, William Trauger and Ishmel Hale.

Frederick E. Ford is the present Scoutmaster. Last week 19 Scouts were registered when the troop was re-chartered.

Gordon Brown is chairman of the troop committee, with James Root, Don Vanderpool, Earl C. Cashman, A. L. Paddock, Jr., Earl Hankammer, Sr., and Donald P. Markley members.

WHERE DO BOY SCOUTS come from? Usually from the Cub Scout pack. They work their way up with the help of interested parents and devoted den mothers.

After several attempts, Cub Scouting came to Plymouth in November, 1952. Roy Carter was the Cubmaster with Markley his assistant and Mrs. Markley and Mrs. Joseph D. Huzovich den mothers.

The original Cubs were Everett Ekstein, Richard Lewis, Bentham Shaver, Dan Carter, James Stevens, James Markley and James Robertson. James Fetters and James Caywood soon joined the Pack.

M. J. Coon, former superintendent of the Plymouth schools, George Stevens, Robert Lewis and Donald Shaver served as the first committee.

Markley followed Carter as Cubmaster with Norman E. McQuown, David E. Cook, Warren Hollenbaugh, Wallace Redden, A. L. Paddock, Jr., James C. Davis, George Lesho and Franklin W. McCormick taking their turn. McCormick is now beginning his second year.

Other officers chosen Thursday night for the year are James Humphries, assistant Cubmaster; Dr. P. E. Haver, secretary, and Robert Hunter, treasurer.

The new committee will be John T. Dieke, who had served as secretary for 10 years, R. Harold Mack, Eldon Burkett and Thomas F. Root.

The pack now has 35 Cubs and five den mothers, Mrs. James Donnenwirth, Mrs. Root, Mrs. Mack, Mrs. Donald Ray, Mrs. Byron Ream and Mrs. William Fazio.

These achievements were earned by the Cubs and presented to them by the Cubmaster during Thursday's pack meeting. Greg had served as secretary for 10 years, R. Harold Mack, Eldon Burkett, two silver arrows under Wolf and assistant denner; Gary Farnwall, Wolf and assistant denner; Steven Kleer, Wolf and denner; Edward Mellett, Wolf; Steven Ray, Wolf with one gold and two silver arrows; Tom Smith, Wolf and denner; James Humphries, Wolf with silver and gold arrows and the one year pin.

Also, Richard Gullett, silver arrow under Wolf and denner; Mike and Donnie Ryan, Wolf, and Brad Ream, Keeper of the Buckskin.

John B. Root weds Donna Applegate

John Becker Root, second son of the John F. Roots, took Miss Donna Jean Applegate, sister of Mrs. F. Ellsworth Ford, as his bride Saturday evening amidst bouquets of white and pink carnations lighted by candelabra set in ferns in Mt. Zion Lutheran church near Lucas.

The Rev. Robert Linder read the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul K. Applegate of Lucas.

A prelude of organ music was played by Miss Ina A. Balliet.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau-de-soie designed with a fitted bodice and a wide neckline from which long tapered sleeves extended to her wrist. The semi bell-shaped skirt and cummerbund were accented with reembrodered Alencon lace. A separate chapel train fell into folds from a bow at the center of her back waistline.

Her bouffant silk veil of illusion was attached to a small peau-de-soie pillbox.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses, stephanotis with ivy, combined with golden garnet roses tied with white satin shower ribbons.

HER SISTER, MRS. WILLIAM E. McBRIDE, Mansfield, was her matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Frederick E. Ford, Plymouth, and a friend, Miss Margie Kauf, Bellville, were bridesmaids.

They wore gowns of iridescent, Adriatic blue silk organza over tafetta. The short skirts were bell-shaped with a flat bow at the waist in front. The bodices were designed with wide necklines and three-quarter-length sleeves. They wore small matching pillbox hats with a small bow at the back.

Their teardrop bouquets were arranged with small blue iris and golden garnet roses.

H. James Shutt, Maple Heights, a school chum, was Mr. Root's best man. His brothers, Louis and Lawrence, ushered.

THE BRIDE'S MOTHER chose a wool crepe dress in a soft light blue shade. The full skirt was fashioned with gored, a short jacket covered the bodice. She wore a small blue-grey feathered hat and a corsage of a purple throated orchid.

Mrs. Root wore silk shantung in American Beauty design with a pleated skirt, a fitted bodice with a scooped neckline, and elbow-length sleeves. She wore a small matching hat and an orchid at her shoulder.

The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Alton Becker, wore a deep blue print and a mall navy blue hat. Her corsage was of red roses.

The bridal party received guests in the church room.

Mrs. W. Lawrence Cornell, who wore a blue sheath, and Mrs. Frank D. Boensch, Dayton assisted the guests at the bride's table, which held a tiered cake decorated with tiny white and yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Louis F. Root served from the punch bowl with Mrs. Ronald Holden, Mansfield. Mrs. James H. McNenny, Cleveland, was at the guest book.

The young couple are on a wedding trip to Florida. They will be at home at 30 South Linden Road, Mansfield, upon their return.

The new Mrs. Root is a graduate of Lucas High school and Wittenberg college, Springfield, where she was a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

Mr. Root, a Plymouth High school graduate, holds his degree from Ashland college. A member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, he is an accountant in the Fate-Root-Heath Co.

Engagement of their daughter, Ruth Ann, a beautician in Betha Gay Beauty shop here, to Pvt. Earl Lang, Jr., son of the Earl Langs, Sr., Willard, is announced by the Lloyd Coders, Willard.

Classmates at Willard High school until 1961, when they were graduated, the young couple has set no date for the wedding. Now at Ft. Gordon, Ga., he is being assigned to European duty.

Presbyterian ...

Members of the Westminster Fellowship, First Presbyterian church were hosts Sunday night to the Methodist Youth Fellowship.

A traffic safety film was shown by the State Highway patrol with an accompanying discussion on the hazards of unsafe driving.

10 Plymouthites go to CE banquet

To celebrate the 82nd birthday of the Christian Endeavor movement, 10 Plymouthites joined 140 other active and alumni members at Ganges Community church Saturday for a banquet.

They were the Richard Hamptons and their daughter, Patricia; Susan Beynolds; Mrs. Mary Conrad, the David Sames and their daughter Nancy Jane, and the Harold Sames.

Rudy Knapp, Hillton Community church, president of the county CE organization, was toastmaster. The Rev. Clarence Kopp, Prescott Avenue Evangelical United Brethren church, was principal speaker.

COLD

When it turns real winter cold you need extra warmth to stay comfortable. Outside, this warmth may be provided by a hat, a coat, or a pair of ear muffs.

Inside, your gas furnace keeps you pleasantly warm.

COLDER

Of course, the colder it gets the more warmth you need — and the more natural gas you will use in your home. As a result, your gas bills may be higher during these cold months.

Keiths foreclosed for failure to pay $18,083 debt to Beer

A mortgage foreclosure action was filed in Richland County common pleas court against Keith Super Dollar Market, 1904 Lexington avenue, Mansfield, by its former owner, Chester L. Beer.

The super market was sold to Russell and Ruby Keith, 656 Clifton boulevard, on July 31, 1961.

In the petition Beer claimed that the Keiths owe $18,083 plus interest.

He asked for foreclosure of the mortgage, plus marshaling of all liens against the property.

The market is now closed. Mr. and Mrs. Keith, Shiloh residents before moving to Mansfield, owned and operated the grocery now operated by William Spring.

Twenty members and friends of the Luther League enjoyed a bowling party at Willard Sunday afternoon. The affair had previously been postponed because of weather and road conditions.

About 25 friends and relatives were guests Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kranz. The occasion was a bridal shower for Miss Sue Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker, Shiloh route 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Yost moved to their farm south of Shiloh over the weekend. Mr. Yost is employed by Ohio Edison Co. and Mrs. Yost is a teacher in Madison schools.

Mr. Yost is a former teacher of vocational agriculture in Plymouth school system. During a sale of farm machinery Saturday on the Foster Reynolds farm north of Ganges, fire was discovered in the barn. Shiloh Volunteer Fire department was called. It found faulty wiring to be the cause. No damage was done.

The fire department was also called about midnight the same day to the tenant house on the Swartz farm. The chimney burned out but did no damage.

A tentative agreement on a sewer service and water charges for Shiloh schools was reached at a joint special meeting of the Plymouth Board of Education and Shiloh's village council Jan. 29.

The new agreement calls for a three year contract with $1,800 a year set up for the sewer service charge and $200 a year for the water charge.

The council had asked $1,900 a year for the sewer and $500 a year for the water department, which faces replacing the 100,000-gallon elevated water storage tank because of holes in the metal. Water lines also need repairing. Board of Public Affairs is considering raising the water rates, which now are $1.50 a family a month.

Clerk John J. Bryan disclosed the Board of Education also has an assessment of $2.10 a front foot for 1,516.15 feet of property in Shiloh, totaling $3,184.65 for construction of the sewer system.

Miss Cheryl Darlene Owens of Shiloh became the bride of Earl Duane Fife, Greenwich, in a quiet ceremony Friday evening before the altar of Shenandoah Christian church. The Rev. Delbert Flora, Ashland, read the vows.

Miss Gloria Owens, sister of the bride, and John Hocker of Greenwich attended the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Owens, Shiloh. Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Fife, Greenwich, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The immediate families witnessed the ceremony and were guests later at the Fife home.

The young couple plan to live on a farm near Greenwich.

The bride is an office employee of Willard Municipal hospital. Mr. Fife is engaged in farming and associated with his father in the Fife & Son well drilling firm.

The Lester Seamans attended the 25th wedding anniversary of the Leo Fairs in Adversary Jan. 27.

Shiloh Pals 4-H club met Jan. 15 and elected Mary Noble president. Other officers are Linda Peters, vice-president; Joyce Fulk, secretary; Carolyn Seymour, treasurer; Sara Kranz, reporter; Brenda Fulk, health chairman; Jean Sloan, junior leader; Sue Burer and Anna Lee Fulk, recreation leaders.

Engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Kathryn Howell and Howard Keiser are announced by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Howell, Shiloh route 2, her parents.

Mr. Keiser, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Keiser, Shelby, is a 1959 graduate of Shelby High school, employed by the General Motors Corp. at Ontario.

Miss Howell is a 1962 graduate of Plymouth High school, employed by the State of Ohio, Division of Aid for the Aged, in Norwalk. An early spring wedding is planned.

Shiloh Fair Lasses have organized for their second year with the following officers:

Roxanne Spring, president; Connie Ballitch, vice-president; Ginger Pry, secretary; Vicki Gilger, treasurer; Candace Owens and Sandra Lasser, recreation leaders; Linda Seaman, health chairman; Kathy Bisel, news reporter.

New girls in the club this year are Brenda Bernhardt, Kathy Bisel, Fay Bond, Phyllis Deskins, Betty Hunter, Janet Owens and Donna Swind. Advisers are Mrs.

Union's Indians showed Plymouth how roundball ought to be played at Savannah Tuesday night.

The Indians simply made monkeys of the Big Red and walked off with a 69 to 37 decision. At one point, in the third period, Union had a 35-point lead.

It was a matter of superior fire power and control of the boards. Plymouth bagged only 10 rebounds all night. In the first half, Plymouth shot 17 per cent of its field goals, Union 47 per cent. Larry Farmer, big senior, had the best night of his Union career with a 19-point performance.

For Plymouth, Phil Fletcher and Jimmy Hamman got into double figures. It would have been better had they gotten into bed at about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and stayed there all night.

STILL, MOST FANS WERE agreed that a team can play its own game and beat Union on its own floor. This has been done several times this season. That Plymouth failed to lick the Indians suggests that not all of the reasons are set forth in the firepower-and-boards theory. Plymouth didn't play its game. Dave Myers had another bad night, his third in a row.

Mitchell to speak here

The Rev. Dr. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of First English Lutheran church at Mansfield, will deliver the commencement address during graduation exercises in Mary Fate park May 29 at 6:30 p.m. C. Todd Strohmenger, executive head of Plymouth schools, announces.

In event of inclement weather, the exercises will be conducted in the auditorium, with admission limited to ticket holders.

Firemen to receive small salaries

Unanimous approval was given a resolution compelling the street department for removal of snow about the Public Square. Street Supervisor William Forquer said the new backhoe rig, purchased by the city and by the board of public affairs jointly, as a cost of $5,320, is the reason why the work was done swiftly.

IN OTHER ROUTINE BUSINESS the council:

1. Was told by Mayor William Fazio he will hereafter require all offenders in his court to post bond. One offender, he reported, has gone to Florida without paying a $100 fine.

2. Heard Councilman Clarence O. Cramer report he acquired a permit to install flush tanks in Mary Fate park, at a cost of $10.

3. Was told by Shelby office of Ohio Fuel Gas Co. that adjusted base price of natural gas is slightly lower than what is called for in the contract, but not low enough to result in reducing rates.

4. Authorized transmittal of a bill for $47.50 for cutting weeds on the Joseph Yetzer plot near Mary Fate park to the Huron county auditor, to be collected on the tax bill.

5. Instructed Solicitor Joseph F. Dush to prepare easements across the Russell Kamann property, since the alley adjoining Lofand street will be closed on his petition, and to prepare a formal opinion indicating whether payment of an annual salary, of whatever amount, to volunteer firemen will entail establishment of a firemen's pension system, at great expense to the village.

WINTER WOES by Purson

While driving his car, Mr. Prale, Hit a cop on his beat near the jail. The cop said "You jerk! Your wipers don't work! Pretty soon you'll be walking... on ball!"

The National Safety council says: "Be sure your wiper blades are in good, live condition, and have arm pressure of one ounce per inch of blade length to sweep snow and sleet off instead of sliding over it." Dead blades may make dead drivers. Check defroster, too. You must see a hazard to avoid it.

WE ARE CHALLENGED: BE STRONG OR BE SPLIT

"First we will take Eastern Europe, then the mass of Asia, then we will encircle the United States. We will not have to attack. It will fall like an over-ripe fruit into our hands." - LENIN Communism is relentless. Its tactics vary. Its aim does not. The lofty sheet of tyranny is testimony to that.

Talk back but fifteen years. The world's lone Communist country was Soviet Russia, 170 million people and 8 million square miles. Today the Soviet empire dominates 18 million square miles and 800 million people. Communism, driving ruthlessly, has become master of one-fourth the globe, one-third of mankind.

Look ahead. Listen to today's prophets:
"The Communists will destroy capitalism..."
"...the day will come when we will bury you."
"...your children will live in a Communist society."
Communism pursues its basic plan with iron purpose. That plan is to split us from our freedoms. Split us from the world and among ourselves. Split the inner strength of our democratic process.

That strength is your power as a free individual. How you use it will decide both the nation's future and your own. Communism cannot be met by armed or economic force alone. It is an idea. It must be mastered by superior ideas.

You will find such ideas in the new Report of the President's Commission on National Goals. It is a guidebook for the nation during the critical decade ahead, programs for action in the 'Sixties. You are the nation. Make your personal actions count. Make our national goals your personal goals by knowing the challenges - and knowing how to meet them.

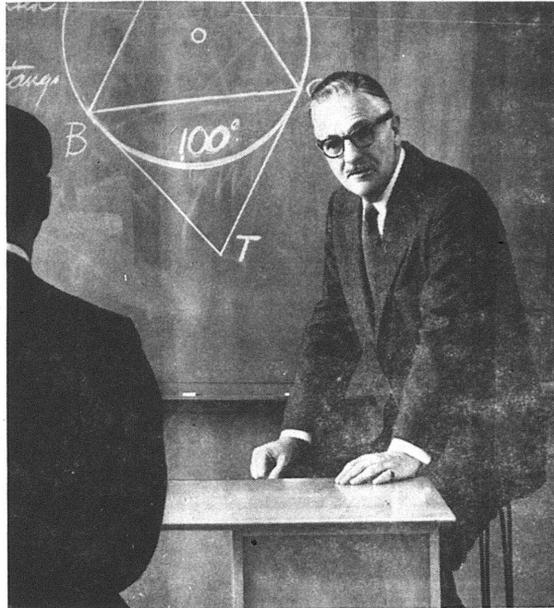

Begin by getting a copy of the Report, titled "Goals For Americans," at your bookstore. Choose hardcover, $1 paperback, or send for the free digest below. Both President Kennedy and President Eisenhower urge you to read, think and act upon it now. # "42 years with chalk on my sleeve"

The story of a man who was a national hero for 42 years and never knew it!

"I've been a schoolteacher for 42 years. Now they're trying to tell me that I'm a hero, too — me, a national hero, for teaching geometry!"

"Lately, there's a lot of talk about education being America's best defense. All of a sudden, we teachers are in the spotlight — 'heroes of America's future security' someone called us the other day. It really makes you stop and think."

"Frankly, I've never felt much like a hero. Certainly there were times when I didn't act like one — times when I almost quit teaching for a job with more money or position. But each time I started to dream about the extra things I'd be able to give my own children, I'd remember the other young folks in our town — the slow child who needed help after class . . . the quick one who needed encouragement to compete for a scholarship . . . the typical student who had to be shown how exciting learning can be. I guess

I knew all along I could never really leave them.

"That's why it's so hard to think about retiring — especially now, when America needs good schooling more than ever. Luckily, I know I'll still be able to play an important part in the fight for better education. You don't have to be a teacher or even a parent to work for revised curricula, higher standards of student achievement or improved status, prestige and training for teachers. People just like you and me are working toward these goals all over the country."

We must have first-rate schools, not only to prepare our children for all branches of higher learning, formal and informal, but also to make them well-informed adult citizens. An educated America is a free America.

Mayor must often rule on law and precedents in his court

A plea of guilty to a misdemeanor not involving a motor vehicle filed in a mayor's court invariably results in conviction, a survey shows.

No record can be found that a mayor has held the affidavit to be insufficient. This is good evidence that village police officers are generally honest and honorable. But there is always the exception. The American system installs the mayor as the watchdog that this does not occur.

When a private citizen lays the accusation, the mayor requires the accuser to be present. The accuser is asked to affirm in open court that he swore to the affidavit, which is true in substance and effect. It is when the accused enters a plea of not guilty that mayors are sorely tested. For it is then that a layman is required to think, rule and act as a judicial officer with some knowledge of the statutes and precedents of law.

Ohio law guarantees the accused inalienable rights. Not every accused knows what his rights are. Neither does the mayor. This is the inherent weakness of the system.

A citizen is arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He pleads not guilty. The warrant was not sworn. This is cause to discharge the prisoner without prejudice. Yet in scores of villages affidavits by citizens are left with the police department, duly signed, not sworn, to be completed by the mayor when he is available.

USUALLY — BUT NOT always — a plea of not guilty to a misdemeanor alleged in a mayor's court results in prosecution by the village solicitor, always an attorney, always an officer of the common pleas court, bound by law and custom to observe and respect the law. Rights of the accused are generally better protected when solicitors are present.

When a jail sentence is envisaged by the ordinance of which violation is alleged, the accused is entitled to a jury trial. A venire of citizen-electors of the village is empaneled to hear the testimony and render a verdict.

The accused may or may not be represented by counsel. Lawyers have a saying "He who acts as his own counsel has a fool for a client." The implication is that even a lawyer would do well to be represented by qualified counsel.

Ohio law requires the mayor, or the president of the council acting in his stead, to enroll on his records the title of the case, its date, the gist of the bill of particulars, names and addresses of who appears, whether there is a demand for a jury trial or if a waiver thereof has been executed, the names and addresses of jurors and witnesses, any exceptions to his rulings, the verdict, details of an order to execute (as to seize property in satisfaction of a judgment), record of any appeal, record of a stay of execution, and a record of the judgment, if any.

Although the law permits the mayor of a village to run a small claims court, most mayors decline to do so. They say it's a considerable bother, makes no friends for the mayor and is an unsatisfactory substitute for the services offered by a county court.

A mayor or president of the council, in his stead, may be challenged for the usual causes. Generally, judges who are lawyers step aside when a challenge alleging personal acquaintance with the accused or the accuser or animosity toward either, is made. Laymen serving as mayors seem loath to do this.

THE WHOLE BURDEN OF the rules of evidence — what is hearsay, what is a conclusion of the witness, what is an opinion not to be accepted as evidence — is hardly within the knowledge of a layman mayor. Yet in hundreds of cases a mayor is required to rule on such questions. Perry Mason and Lawrence Preston of "The Defenders", although widely known, do not equip a mayor to discharge the duties of judge.

The law says a mayor may not deal with offenses involving juveniles. It is specific that all such cases must be referred to the juvenile court. Nevertheless, hundreds of instances of juvenile offenses are dealt with by mayors, where sentence — if it rightly be called that — extends to no more than a tongue-lashing and a warning not to repeat the offense.

Where no damage has been done save to the feelings and sensitivities of the accuser, perhaps this is not morally wrong. But it is technically wrong.

When the issues are such that prolonged testimony and argument are offered, the absence of a stenographic record prevents the mayor from reference to what has been said, testified to or disputed. The accused may request, at his expense, a court reporter and a record.

If the accused is found guilty, he is found liable for all costs of prosecution, including witnesses' fees. If he is found innocent, all costs are for the account of the village, including costs of a court reporter, which may be substantial. Mayors involved in such cases dislike to rule that the accused is innocent, because village treasuries can't stand such expense. Whether rulings of guilty have been rendered despite convincing evidence to the contrary is a moot point. It is certainly possible.

Being a periodic, but irregular, presentation of human interest stories that come to the staff's attention yet seem for one reason or another not suitable for treatment elsewhere in the paper.

Unreasonable — unreasonable — depending upon how you look at it — winter weather has wrought its havoc far and wide.

The ceiling in The Advertiser's composing room dripped water for three days last week, when that chinook wind melted snow and ice faster than ice-clogged downspouts could conduct the water away. Plumbers and roofers reported a heavy demand for their services.

Yet no hardship is without its blessings. Upper respiratory infections are fewer this season than last. A Cleveland hospital administrator remarked, "Last year at this time we had 'em in the halls and some of 'em in beds, but this year we actually have some vacant rooms."

EDDIE HUNTER, SON OF the Robert Hunters, Plymouth route 1, is nine years old, lacks three front teeth (which are coming) and has a wealth of freckles.

So far, usual, normal, unexciting.

But Eddie has something few boys of his class or type have. It's a personal letter from Lieut. Commander M. Scott Carpenter, the celebrated astronaut, thanking Eddie for his interest in savings stamps (Eddie wrote to Carpenter and asked for some help in getting a word to Jay North, schoolboy star of "Dennis the Menace", who promotes the sale of such stamps) and enclosing a color photograph properly autographed, and a booklet recounting Carpenter's achievements with his spacecraft Aurora 7.

WHEN THE MAN OF THE house is home alone, the darndest things happen!

The telephone at 78 Plymouth street rang about 2:30 p. m. Friday. The editor answered it by saying, in his well-modulated voice, "Yes?" The voice of a prominent lady of the village cracked in the earpiece. She identified herself and referred to an inquiry made by the editor's wife. He noted the gist of the reply on the telephone pad and went back to his reading. Three minutes later, he was interrupted by the telephone again.

"Yes?" he inquired. "Hello, Lover Boy, is Marge there?"

Not having been called "Lover Boy" for almost 20 years, he responded, "No, she's not here right now and I don't think she's likely to be, because there's no Marge at this number. You must have —"

"Oh, excuse me, this is a friendly joke between me and Marge," said the voice, which he thought was the same as that which spoke to him earlier. Investigation by the editor's wife, who thought for a moment there was something she had missed in her spouse over the past 16 years, proved the suspicion was correct. It WAS the same lady, who dialed the editor's number by mistake. At least that's what she told the editor's wife, God's blessing be upon her, and what the editor is telling her husband.

A final note: the first reference to the editor as "Lover Boy" is likely to produce a punch in the nose.

To which the telephone people add: "It's better to answer the telephone by repeating the number or by identifying the household or business, such as Smith residence or Brown's grocery."

Hamman returns, shines with Arnold, Red nips Freddie's

Jimmy Hamman returned to the Plymouth lineup here Friday night and proved how important he is to the Big Red.

For despite another poor, sub-par performance by Dave Myers, Plymouth came on strongly in the final quarter down Fredericktown, 63 to 40, in a Johnny Appleseed conference game.

Despite the fact his left thumb was taped tightly, its movement restricted, Hamman scored 12 points and missed four more when two easy lay-ups rolled off.

And his presence took much of the pressure off Allen Arnold, whose phenomenal fortune produced a total of 19 points, a career record for him, that was more than the margin of victory.

Arnold was hitting from outside and by alert ball-handling and stealing of passes, he drove home for three buckets all alone.

Terry Lucas was high man for the Freddie's, who hung on gamely until the early moments of the fourth period. Fredericktown led by three at 8 to 5 after eight minutes, trailed by a point at 26 to 25 at the half and by two points, at 43 to 41, after 24 minutes.

For whom does bell of pressure toll? It tolls for golfer, who feels it each shot

The difference between the professional and the amateur, all other things being equal, is the degree of pressure he must withstand.

Babe Ruth stood at home plate in Wrigley field, Chicago, in the World Series of 1932 and pointed with two raised fingers, denoting he had two strikes, to the center-field seats. He blasted Charley Bost's next offering into those seats.

The act was, and is still, heralded as the supreme performance under pressure.

It's hard to buy that notion. Babe Ruth's salary went up, hit or miss, win or lose, and Mrs. Ruth and the young Mr. Ruths were in no danger of missing their three squares if he had turned out chump instead of champ.

In this book, the batter with the chips down, the pitcher who has runners on the bases, the kicker when the score is tied, the roundballer when there are only five seconds left and he's trailing by one, know not of pressure in the most acute form.

This has to be reserved for the golfer, on whose every shot may ride a year's income, plus whatever he wins in the clubhouse.

WHICH IS WHY ARNOLD Palmer is so great, and so much feared, when he swings up and holes out in six, seven, or nine.

It is nearly 21 years that a superior performance under pressure was put on by a golfer that few remember any more. The scene was not set for pressure. It was an exhibition by a distinguished greensome and this fellow for the War Bond drive during World War II.

The same George Herman Ruth, retired by now but the whale of a left-handed golfer when he wanted to be, and Bob Hope, who knew then, as now, no peer in his racket, were to play Craig Wood, the blond bomber from Deal, N. J., former National Open champion, and John Montague.

Wood's credentials need not be repeated here. They were gilt-edged then. Hope was a better golfer, perhaps, then than now. Ruth consistently broke 80 and was known to break 70 from time to time.

Montague had served time for some peccadillo or another. He had been deprived of his citizenship rights for that felony. Having served his full sentence, he was free as the birds, which meant he could play the 19th hole with anybody else.

Montague was a competitor. And this day he carried no bag and set of a dozen clubs. No, sir. His tools were a golf bag, from which half of the things had been broken off; a garden hoe, the handle of which was cut down by perhaps 15 inches, and a kid's baseball bat. The foursome had visited the 19th hole before the match got under way, while the crowd, which included deponent, was rushing to pay its five bucks at the gate (alternatively you could show a newly-purchased War Bond) to see this exhibition.

HOPE WAS IN HIS FINEST form at the first tee. His larynx has never been lame. This day it was at full throttle. In no time he had offered a side bet of $500 a man, laying that he and Montague would take Ruth and Wood.

To save time and shorten suspense, it may be reported that on the 18th green Hope and Montague needed a 75-yard pitch-and-run shot to close out the match in front. By now the side bets were $1,000 a man.

Montague's second shot lay in somebody's half print, embedded about halfway, not a handsome lie by any means.

He looked the shot over and seized the hoe. Twice he rattled it back and forth, testing its left and spring. Then he bent to his task. One swing and the ball rose briefly, settled to the right line, struck the green about a dozen feet from the cup and sank dead in the hole.

Wood's ball lay four feet from the pin. Ruth had a 12-footer. Hope needed two puts, blindfolded, to get down. Montague's shot had the real pressure.

There was money riding on the shot, big money. Make no mistake about it, $1,000 was real hay in 1942. While Hope doubtless would have been

Shreve Faculty trips Plymouth

Shreve Faculty defeated Plymouth Faculty 86 to 84, in overtime here Jan. 30 as the feature contest of the annual March of Dimes carnival.

Two former Bluffton college teammates, Abie Mast for Shreve and Dave Sage for Plymouth, and two ex-Ashland college competitors, Marion Zody for Shreve and Ron Hostler of the host club, banged heads for scoring honors. Mast won with 35, Hostler had 33, Sage 39 and Zody 11.

Plymouth sixth graders downed Shiloh, 17 to 15, Joe Fedele getting eight. Shiloh fifth graders, led by Rook's seven-point performance, whipped Plymouth, 11 to 3, and Shiloh's fourth grade licked Plymouth, 12 to 4.

The U.S. Savings Bonds that send you money

Twice a Year

Owners of the H Series of U.S. Savings Bonds receive interest money every six months by Treasury Check. This is why people who want to invest for regular extra income buy H Bonds (just as people saving for a specific goal buy E Bonds that pay all the interest to maturity).
More facts about H Bonds:
* You buy them at full face value.
* H Bonds earn at an average rate of 3 1/2% over their 30 year maturity period * Your money is guaranteed safe by the U.S. Government * You can get your money back if ever you need to, anytime after the first six months, on one month's notice * If your H Bonds are lost or destroyed they will be replaced free * You save more than money.
(Note to owners of E Bonds: You can trade E Bonds, matured or not, for H Bonds, and postpone paying income tax on the accumulated interest. If you're retired, or about to retire, this may be for you.)
Get the details (and order H Bonds) at your Bank.

AMOUNTS OF INTEREST CHECKS YOU GET FROM H BONDS

INTEREST CHECK AMOUNTS
Bond face value	end of 6 mos. (First Check)	end of 12 mos. (Second Check)	end of 18 mos. (Third Check)	end of 24 mos. and every 6 mos. thereafter to maturity (Seventeen Checks)
