

Fazio suggests new charter

An otherwise routine session of village council Tuesday night was enlivened by a suggestion by Mayor William Fazio that Plymouth change its form of government.

During a discussion on ways and means when the council was lamenting the shortage of money to meet expenses and the cost of improvements, Fazio said a charter form of government, retiring the mayor-mor power to the mayor, council system but according would "save the village about $7,000 a year in salaries alone."

He said if a charter of the right type were adopted, Plymouth could hire a director of services who he said would be both a qualified electrician and a water plant supervisor for about $7,000 annually, reduce salaries of other employees and effect savings of about $7,000 annually, in part by eliminating the board of public affairs.

He offered to present at the next meeting July 2 detailed plans for such a change in government, which would involve calling a charter convention in the village, and was invited by the council, with no commitments, to do so.

JAMES L. ROOSE, OTTAWA, was hired as consulting and designing engineer for the sanitary sewer project with a contract similar to that entered into with the late Carl H. Gerken, Napoleon, whose son, Eugene, is not a licensed engineer and is therefore unable to execute his father's business. Roose will draw five per cent estimate for design for a supervisor on Gerken will be resident inspector.

Mrs. James Reynolds, village treasurer, petitioned the council for a salary raise of $160 annually to $360.

Mayor Fazio thereupon asked the solicitor to bring in an ordinance raising the salaries of councilmen from $120 annually to $220. Whether this can be done so that all councilmen will draw the same pay at the same time is problematical, since a law which went into effect in 1961 provides that four of the council will be elected and will serve simultaneous terms, with two others serving alternate terms.

Resolution requesting assistance of Richland and Huron county commissioners in double seal coating 5,200 lineal feet of pavement in 11 streets were approved unanimously. Estimated cost is $1,987.

STEPS TO REPLACE RE- newal of a one mill cemetery levy and a one mill fire equipment levy on the general election ballot won prompt approval. Each will produce about $3,954 annually.

Mayor Fazio urged the council to purchase a road roller, identical with or similar to one on a loan from a Gallion firm, which he said "is making a big savings to the village in repair of streets." The unit's cost as is amounts to $2,200. A trailer on which to transport it would cost $593. The village needs a new plow, estimated at $800. Fazio recommended the village finance these purchases on time payments over four years, with down payment in cash now about $300. Unfortunately, the council could not find the money.

Police tips lead to arrest of thief

A tip by Plymouth police led authorities to a 37-year-old Swanton man who is being held in Huron county jail on a charge of grand larceny of two wheels and tires from a lime spreader owned by Vern Lesage, New Haven.

He is Robert Grohowski, a laborer on a farm at Celeryville, who has admitted, police say, stripping the wheels from the truck and putting the tires in his car after the wheels were thrown into a canal in the Willard muck area.

Grohowski lives at the John Duff residence in Route 298. He implicated another man, whom police now seek.

County's proposal for building post finds no support

Neither Plymouth nor Shiloh seems immediately ready to accept a plan by the Richland County Regional Planning commission to create a county building inspector.

Village councils in both communities have tabled, for the time being, a proposal which would culminate in an agreement between the villages and the county commissioners to hire a building inspector.

Shelby and Lucas have also demurred. Ontario wants more data. Lexington is ready to accept.

Judge complains of shortage of money

Downward trend in Huron county juvenile court matters noted in 1961 did not continue into 1962, Judge Jan J. Young, Jr., says in his annual report.

Total of cases handled increased from 469 in 1961 to 492 in 1962, an increase of almost five per cent.

Largest increase was in delinquency cases, which increased a little over 18 per cent, from 171 cases in 1961 to 202 cases in 1962. Traffic cases were up about 13.5 per cent, and adult cases about 9.5 per cent. These increases in the most troublesome cases were offset by an almost 18 per cent decrease in dependency and neglect cases and a 55 per cent decrease in special services matters. Dependency and neglect cases fell from 62 in 1961 to 31 in 1962 and special services fell from 36 to 16.

Delinquency rates also increased from 13.48 per thousand and child population in 1961 to 14.99 per thousand in 1962. National statistics are not available for 1962. The national statistics showed a rate of 17 decrease from 18 cases per 1,000 in 1961 to 16.1, a thousand in 1960.

"In comparing our local delinquency rates with the national rates, it should be noted that the child population used as a basis for the national figures is that of children from 10 to 18 years of age, while our figure is based on the school census, which includes children from six to 18 years of age."

Young says, "If we assume that the number of children of each age in our school census figures is the same, to get a comparison with the national statistics we would have to reduce our child population figures by one-third, which would increase our rate to 22.49 cases per thousand. This is very substantially above the national average for all courts."

The ratio of boys' cases to girls' cases showed a slight change in 1962, with the percentage of girls' cases dropping from 32.3 to 30.19 per cent. This is still substantially above the national percentage of girls' cases, which is roughly 18.8 per cent. The percentage of girls' traffic cases also declined, from 17.3 per cent in 1961 to 16.1 per cent in 1962.

The national statistics do not show the relative proportions of girls and boys involved in traffic cases.

In order of frequency, the "More important than the bare statistics is the question of what the court is to do about the troubled children who are brought before it," Young said. In the middle of the year there were insufficient funds to provide training and rehabilitation for those disturbances were too severe for admonition and probation. Expenditures for this purpose were being made at a rate more than 50 per cent over the amount budgeted. In 1961, the court spent $37,485.52 for this purpose. The budget for 1962 provided the sum of $40,000, but a large number of children in placement, and the increasing costs of schools which trained delinquent children, for the first six months of the year, expenditures were running at about $5,000 amount.

"Since cash money is more important to the public than the lives and futures of delinquent children, it is necessary for the court to recall most of the children in training schools, regardless of the stage of rehabilitation," Young charged.

By this means, and by arranging to defer charges in a few of the most needy and promising cases, the court brought its expenditures for care and treatment of children back within the budget limitations, so that a little less than $40,000 total was spent during the year, he said.

EXPENDITURES FOR children in training schools was $27,556.22; for maternity homes, $3,173.98; for foster homes $2,492.99; and for detention $2,664.62. Considerable economies were achieved in detention home care by keeping children in the county jail, which is in violation of law, and allowing seriously disturbed children to run at large pending hearing and disposition of their cases.

"It should be pointed out that the moneys expended as shown above do not represent a total cash loss to the public. In addition to its primary function of helping children in Salaries for a bus driver were set at 1,500 annually for full-time performance. This averages $208 hourly.

A DUAL-ROUTING PLAN, by which high school pupils would be collected earlier than usual and lower grade pupils at a later hour with the same transportation, was approved. Maximum one-way travel time will not exceed one hour.

Two former pupils who enlisted in the U. S. Army without completing the high school course now seek the diploma based upon successful completion of an Army test.

State regulations prescribe that only veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict and those called to active duty may obtain the diploma upon proper qualification. No provision is made for drop-outs who enlist.

An inquiry of E. E. Holt, state superintendent of education, will be directed to obtain final action.

Judge complains of money lack--- trouble, and protecting the public from such children, the juvenile court collects support payments from those financially responsible for delinquent children, or children of broken homes. During the year 1962, the court collected $92,541.61. For its services in doing this, there was collected as poundage and paid into general fund of the county the sum of $759.20. Since the collection of this money requires considerable of the court's time, and practically the full-time services of one clerk, the direct expense considerably outweighs the reimbursement. Out of the total collected, $11,312.08, or about 12.25 per cent was paid into the funds of the county, either to reimburse for institutional care of children under the court's jurisdiction, or to reimburse welfare department expenditures. The amount paid over to the county was more than double the amount paid over in 1961, although the total amount collected was less than $11,000 more than was collected in 1962.

"Young said with the full time of the clerks being required for business affairs, the probation officers are required to type their own reports and letters, which should be dictated to and transcribed by a clerk. This valuable professional time that should be devoted to counselling with children and parents is spent in routine clerical work. "However, since the commissioners have repeatedly refused the request of the court for funds for addition clerical help, and their refusal bears the endorsement of the public by the vote on the operating levy at the last election, there is little the court can do, Young charged."

He ended his report on a wispish note. 1962 carried more than double its recommended load, so it is impossible, without giving up all semblance of trying to function as a proper juvenile court, to replace one of the probation officers with a clerk, even though this would be the most economical way to handle the matter.

"Actually, on a short-term cash basis, the most economical way to handle the problem of troubled children would be to eliminate the juvenile courts entirely, and also all of the state services for delinquent and disturbed children. The public should be gratified to know that strong and active steps are being taken toward this end by various state organizations. They stand a good chance of being successful within the next four to six years."

STOP AND THINK

History may repeat itself soon. You can't deny the briefing of all in what happened 100 years ago as carried in stories of chaotic-idiotic conditions that plagued a new nation. Is there a sinister motive for such stories week after week? Are we a strong nation as we would want others to believe? Or only human tools at the mercy of diabolic ventriloquists?

OMNIPOTENT: Back up, Uncle Bill, remember how they stood by 2,000 years ago and let a widely-known atrocity occur? It seems people differ but little today. I realize certain puerile characters want to belittle you for doing exactly what I want done. Their logic has simply flown to some seventh heaven. They would do well to take paper and pen and write 100 times or more "Hollow Mockery". They might get the point.

PROF. STUMBLE: Good heavens, Uncle Bill, why not just go out and throw your money away? I have checked and your reader public is not enough to flag a hand car.

JUDGE AMBI: Stumble, I may have to call you into my chambers and get the truth as to why old Unc irritates you. Many laws have arrived since the days of ancient Rome. Laws are used mostly to spite people. Principles of laws remain hidden, until explained by a competent judge, as was the case recently. Those interested, if not asleep at the switch, would sense one certain Ohio law is basically wrong as it certainly deprives good, upright citizens of privileges. In fact, it penalizes them.

ASTROLOGIST: All who doubt Uncle's sanity just remember to read him in The Advertiser. You will soon learn that lines can be switched around. Those who seek shall find. No competent jury system will convict poor old Unc for people developing their mental acuity.

COLLEGE-MINDED: Regardless of your future choice of seat of learning, you can go to CORNELL'S in Plymouth, a fine restaurant, that doesn't toot its own horn.

Patience — confidence — faith — in grass roots

Three new coaches get posts in Appleseed loop

Big Red grid fans will see some new football this season, for no other reason than that the teachers of the game have aged.

Crestline and Loudonville have new coaches.

Ron Isgro, Louisville, replaces Joe Spilewski at Crestline. Isgro has coaching experience at Perry High school, Massillon, and has served three seasons with the Bowling Green Falcons as frosh coach.

Herb Hartman, formerly asstant coach at Capital university, is the new head mentor of the Loudonville Redbirds.

Lexington plans no interscholastic contests this year, but it has engaged a new coach, one the school board said "this was the man we wanted out of 50 who applied." He is Robert A. Carter, now assistant coach at Groveport High school near Columbus, one of Woody Hayes' charges at Ohio State until he was seriously injured.

Old Timer says NL'ers too healthy, should win

The annual extravaganza that is the All-Star game has been dimmed somewhat by injuries to some of the better players in the American league.

Mickey Mantle was a sure thing for center field. Vic Davalillo might have been his replacement. Both are out and the job will probably go, not necessarily by default, to Al-ice Pearson, the dandy little Los Angeles middle gardener.

Manager Ralph Houk will need to consider his pitching selections carefully, because some of the hurlers he might otherwise choose are laid up with sore wings. Chuck Estrada, one. Pete Ramos is another. Frank Lary is a third.

INDEED, THE AL MAY BE hard put to field a representative team, what with genuine injuries to limbs and temporary ailments to batting averages. Norm Siebern is barely hitting his weight. Jim Gentile is in a similar fix. The first base job may even go by default to Joe Pepitone of the Yankees. Tony Kubek's sore leg will keep him from contention. His batting average hasn't been so high, either.

Roger Maris is getting such stiff competition from Al Kaline, surely a champion in anybody's book that Maris may not even make the squad. Rocky Colavito is having a miserable season and certainly won't get the first call in left field.

From where we sit, the AL may begin the game at Lakefront stadium in Cleveland with Earl Battey or Elston Howard catching, Pepitone at first base, Nelson Fox at second, Aparicio at short, Brooks Robinson at third, Wagner, Pearson and Kaline in the outfield.

On paper, at least, even with Frank Robinson in a slump, the NL seems superior. Robby would share outfield duties with Tommy Davis in left and the peerless Mays in center.

ST. LOUIS HAPPENS TO have three-fourths of the best infield in the majors with Kenny Boyer at first, Dick Groat at short and Bill White at first. Mazeroski may get the second base job.

This leaves the catcher's post. The old timer could probably fill the job without much loss to the efficiency of the club, but Ed Bailey of Strawberry Plain, Tenn., will be the likely choice.

We like the NL by four runs.

Stoops, Strine sail in USS Kitty Hawk in review for JFK

Private 1st Class James D. Stoops, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Stoops, 12 Petit street, Shiloh, and Airman Apprentice William E. Strine, USN, son of the Wayne H. Strine, 145 Maple street, participated in operations aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Kitty Hawk on June 6, when President Kennedy visited the ship to view a demonstration of naval power.

The Kitty Hawk was among several ships engaged in the massive demonstration off the coast of California for the chief executive. The carrier recently resumed operations after a six-week import repair period in San Diego, Cal.

The ship is scheduled to deploy to the Far East for duty with the Seventh Fleet late in July.

Take place in the office of Clerk Car V. Ellis at 1 p. m. on July 1.

The first capital improvement expenditure by the village in 12 years will be launched July 12 when bids will be opened for the second water tower, estimated to cost about $80,000.

Beatrice Buurma weds Columbus man in Celeryville service

Miss Beatrice L. Buurma became the bride of James L. Graham in a candlelight ceremony Friday at 7:30 p. m. The couple exchanged their vows and rings before the Rev. George B. Ebberts in Celeryville Christian Reformed church.

Baskets of blue delphinium with pink and white gladioli were on either side of the altar, lighted by candleabra.

Mrs. Esther Stanfield played a prelude of organ music and accompanied Miss Senetta Moll, who sang, "I'll Walk Beside You", "Golden Days of Promise" and "Father, Son and Holy Ghost".

The bride's uncle, Anco Buurma, escorted the bride to the altar. Her mother gave her in marriage.

SHE WORE A GOWN OF silk organza fashioned with an Alencon lace bolero. The scooped neckline extended into short sleeves. A large butterfly bow fell from the middle of the back with long streamers. Her flowing skirt was designed with a full chapel train in the back.

A floral cluster pillbox held a bouffant veil of imported silk English illusion. Her bridal bouquet was an early American cascade arrangement of white delphinium and gypsophila with a touch of blue and pink delphinium ivy.

Her only jewelry was a pearl and diamond pendant, a gift of the bridegroom. For something old, she carried a lace handkerchief which her mother carried at her wedding. It was made by Mrs. Steven Cok, Sr., of Celeryville.

The bride's cousin, Mrs. Donald McClintock of Lima, was her matron of honor.

Her six bridesmaids were Mrs. Ronald Baker, Mrs. Joe Runkle, Mrs. Thomas Weaver, Mrs. Gene Miller and the Misses Nancy Cok and Susa Graham. The latter is the sister of the bridegroom.

THEY WORE FLOOR LENGTH gowns of jewel pink silk organza fashioned with a scooped neckline and short sleeves. A set-in midriff of matching pink print accented the controlled bell skirt. The floor length pleated panel back was also edged with the print.

Their head dresses were matching floral clusters with pouf veils.

Mrs. McClintock carried an early American cascade of blue, pink and white delphinium with gypsophila and ivy.

The bridesmaids' bouquets were garden cascades of blue and pink delphinium with ivy. Richard Hollingshead of Columbus was best man. Ushers and groomsmen were Charles Nigh, Keith Moll, Thomas Weaver, Fred Buurma, Donald Moll and Charles Pennington.

The bride's mother chose a beige lace with matching accessories.

The bridegroom's mother wore a rose beige lace dress with brown accents. Both mothers wore corsages of pink glamelias.

A reception was held in Willard High school for 200 guests. Mrs. John Danhoff cut the please see page 8
