

Not melancholy, this Dane!

Michael Christiansen, center, has a fine German camera with which he recorded Ohio scenes over July 4.

Here he shows two young friends, Eric Akers and Suzie Paddock, how the shutter operates.

Danish visitor likes America, finds cultural level too low

An 18-year-old boy who's anything but melancholy has some fond memories of America, he said here on Independence day, but he has some reservations, too.

Michael Christiansen, whose father is head of the department of trade and commerce in the Danish National government, has just completed a year in Angleton, Tex., High school as an American Field Service exchange pupil.

With 35 other AFS'ers, he visited Shelby over the holiday. They and about 2,500 others are returning to their foreign homes after a year of study in this country. He was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr.

"Of course," young Christiansen said, "I know most things about Texas, because that was where I lived, but in our travels from Houston since we left I do not find that my opinions have changed much."

IN MANY, IF NOT MOST, respects, the United States is a paradise for this winsome — and winning — youth, whose polite, manners, conduct and attitude far belie his years and stamp him a great credit to his family, his country and the program he represents.

But surely, he was asked, if it is the duty of Americans to sell themselves to a doubting world, it is useful to know what it is in the national character that foreigners dislike, so that steps can be taken to correct it. What do foreigners dislike?

The answer comes with obvious reluctance but frankness.

"I found only a few people, a very few, who had ever read such as Shakespeare's 'Hamlet,' or even your great novelists Fenimore Cooper, Hemingway, Dreiser and some others. This shook me (he has a strong command of the 'teen-age vernacular). But what shook me even more is that nobody seems to mind or care that they have not read these things. In my home and my school, we attach great importance to the finer things of life, because if we didn't, what would we have to talk about?"

Could it be that attitudes and circumstances in Texas differ from those in other regions?

"I think so," Christiansen answered. "I often found in Texas, where I made over 40 speeches to clubs and societies during the year, that many people have the idea that Europe and England, in particular, must be terrible places because they are so socialized. I had the feeling that I ought to speak up sometimes, and I did. We are not so bad as Texans think, although I do think that the extreme welfare state we have developed in my country has robbed the young people of initiative. I liked the drive and enthusiasm to succeed that I found in America and I wish I could take it home with me."

IT WOULD BE HARD to find a young American of similar age and experience who knows so much about his or her country as Christiansen manifests about Denmark. "Only nine per cent of our boys and girls go on to what you call high school," he explained. "This is too low and we must do something about it. But ours is essentially an agricultural country, although too many people think we have no industry. We have much industry, but as it is mostly concerned with agriculture, such as packing and canning, people think of it as agriculture."

Denmark's principal exports are bacon, milk and milk products, such as cheese, cream, butter, powdered milk, h. m. some grains, spirits. Its chief customers are the United Kingdom and "the G's in Germany — we feed most of them!"

Has what we know as juvenile delinquency increased in Denmark?

"Oh, yes, it certainly has! The reason for it? Boredom, mostly, I think. Young people don't know what to do with themselves and they become bored very easily. But although I can buy beer as soon as I am old enough to pronounce the word, I can't drink it in a restaurant or cafe until I am 18. And I honestly can say you seldom see anybody, grown-up or juvenile, drunk. Of course it happens, but not as much as I have seen in America."

Do Danish schools teach manners and mores?

"In the elementary schools there is some, what we call school manners. The teachers insist that you address them as 'Sir' and that you keep silent — no one is ever to talk in a Danish school unless he has permission after raising his hand — but after elementary school there is no need. Perhaps the fact that only nine per cent of the pupils get into high school is one reason why discipline is no problem and we get more done."

DANISH PUPILS study foreign languages earlier and longer than American pupils, young Christiansen points out. His strong command of English derives from five years of formal study in the tongue before he came to America, where he acquired a Texas drawl.

And what does he think of Ohio?

"Oh, it's fine to be here, it reminds me of home. All we ever saw of Texas is rice fields and it was flat and hot and dusty. (Angleton is a short distance south of Houston, along the canal giving access to the Gulf of Mexico.) It's nice to see wheat and oats again, and trees!"

AFS pupils are forbidden to drive cars while they are here. Was this a burden?

"I couldn't afford a car if I could have one, but it was no problem. When Mahomet can't go to the mountain, the mountain has to go to Mahomet. The girls provided the cars and did the driving. I got used to it."

Is the AFS experience worth recommending to others, perhaps in your family?

"Oh, my yes, it's certainly the best thing that ever happened to me. When I get home I will have another year of high school to make up for what I missed by being in America. Then I have two years of military service to do, that I can't avoid, unless I am not fit. After that I want to study law."

Annual budget of $33,788.16 given OK; mayor would alter Square traffic pattern

The 1964 budget of $33,788.16 was approved and reinvestment of $5,000 of the fire apparatus fund was authorized by Village council July 2.

A request for the annexation of the second half of the VanderBilt development at the west end of the village would be contingent upon a formal request from the property owner.

Mayor William Fazio presented a plan to change the flow of traffic through the square. It will necessitate another traffic light and additional equipment. He told the council he feels the new plan would make pedestrian crossings safer.

Several councilmen questioned the cost of the plan. Fazio said he thinks it can be done for about $500. After costs are investigated, it will be up for further discussion.

Councilman Charles Vansdale inquired if work being done in the village by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., which had been replacing gas lines, will conflict with the proposed sewer lines. Councilman Donald Akers declared utility companies should request permission every time they do work in the village. The Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

made such a request several years ago for work it wished to do and there is the possibility the request covered the present work.

POLICE CHIEF ROBERT L. Meiser requested the council's approval to convert the police radio, at a cost of about $730. Because of the overcrowding on the present band, all police radios are being changed effective in October. The conversion of the radio in the cruiser had already been approved. It cost approximately $40. This request was referred to the finance committee for study.

Luther R. Fetters, president of the board of public affairs, requested permission for the board to dispose of the building on the Hubach property. It was given. Fetters also suggested the council not forget the board members when pay raises for elective offices are discussed. Board members now received $8 a meeting.

At this point, several council members said the clerk deserved a raise more than they or the board.

A report that Mary Fazio had been without work several days last week was aired.

Apparently there have been splits in parts of the water line.

The park board is getting ready to install lavatories. Councilman Clarence O. Cramer, who is a plumber, said the present line is not adequate for the type of installation planned. He strongly recommends a two-inch line to the park or the purchase of another type of lavatory. The present line would have four toilets with one-inch water lines from the one and one-half inch line to the park.

THE YEARLY COMMUNICATION from the Water Pollution Control board to renew the permit to dump sewage into the Huron river, has been received. It was turned over to Solicitor Joseph Dush to be answered with the explanation of the proposed sewerage system is underway.

Mayor Fazio reported he has received a communication from the newly hired engineer saying he will be on the job from Kingston, where he is also installing a lagoon system.

Fazio told the council he is waiting to hear from the school officials regarding the deeding over to the village of the roadway through the school officials regarding the Fate park. The school is waiting for an opinion from the Richland county prosecutor. Fazio says there is "greatly possibility of future building back of the school" and that access is necessary.

Fazio again recommended to the council a change of the village government to the mayor-council type with a charter. He read from the Ohio Code how the change can be made and said 98 cities and 19 villages in the state have already adopted it. No comment was made by any councilman.

J. Victor Stine, 63, dies at Shelby; local women's kin

Brother of Mrs. Roscoe Hutchinson, Mrs. Albert Beeching and Miss Dana Stine, all of Plymouth, J. Victor Stine, 63, 92 South Gamble street, Shelby, died in Memorial hospital there Thursday of a heart attack.

Mr. Stine was a retired employee of the city of Shelby. Prior to 1952, he operated a farm in Plymouth township.

A member of the Evangelical United Brethren church, of the Knights of Pythias and the Golden Age club, he is also survived by his wife, Lois and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Scherer, Shelby route 3, and Mrs. Lloyd Calk, Tiffin.

His pastor, the Rev. Victor Roebuck, conducted a service from Barkdull Funeral home Monday at 2:30 p. m. Burial was in Oakland cemetery in Shelby.

Allen boy beaten at Huron resort

A 15-year-old Plymouth youth was the victim of a beating in a fight near Otto's camp in McKinley street, Huron, Sunday night.

His assailant, John Raymond Browning, 18, 737 Clark street, Willard, arrested by Huron police on a charge of assault filed by the boy's mother, Mrs. Beulah Allen, 25 1/2 East Main street, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to seven days in the Erie jail by Mayor Pat Gifford at Huron Sunday night.

Police said they were called to the scene at 6:29 p. m. and told that Sidney Ray Allen and Browning were involved in the fight. Young Allen received cuts of the mouth, lost four teeth, and was admitted to Sandusky Memorial hospital with a cerebral concussion.

Market robbed

Larry's Market, Delphi, was broken into between 1 and 4 a. m. Sunday.

Money was taken from the cash register and two cigar boxes. One box contained $25 but $50 in loose change.

The theft was discovered by the night patrol of the Huron county sheriff's office when it made a routine check. Entry into the grocery was gained by breaking a window in a back door leading to a store room.

Frater Fitch going on last lap of religious work in Shelby

Einsel is his father.

Frater Stephen Madison Fitch, M. S. C., a missionary of the Sacred Heart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Fitch, 108 North street, Plymouth, recently completed his three-year course in philosophy at Sacred Heart seminary, Shelby.

Lewis Moore, 16, dies suddenly of hemorrhage

Found unconscious on the floor of the bathroom of his home at 59 Portner street early Monday morning, Lewis Moore, 16, died in Willard Municipal hospital without regaining consciousness.

He was found by his brother, Harold, who heard the window breaking, apparently as the youth fell.

The boy was recovering from pelvic injuries received when the village snow plow ran over him last winter.

Death was apparently caused by cerebral hemorrhage. Young Moore would have been a 12th grader in Plymouth High school this fall.

his ordination to the Catholic priesthood in 1967.

After attending Plymouth Elementary school, Frater Fitch entered the Sacred Heart Mission seminary, Geneva, Ill., in preparation for his priestly career. After four years of high school and one year of college at the Geneva seminary, he entered Sacred Heart Novitiate in Youngstown in 1959, for a year of spiritual training. Youngstown was the scene of his profession of the three vows of poverty, chastity, and obedience as a missionary of the Sacred Heart a year later.

He was then transferred to Sacred Heart seminary, Shelby, where he began his philosophy.

Besides his scholastic achievements, Frater Fitch has held the post of sacristan, book binder, and librarian during his three years at the Shelby seminary.

The oldest of three children, Frater Fitch has two sisters who are also engaged in higher studies. Ruth Ann Fitch, who will receive her bachelor of science degree from the university of Detroit in June, and Nina Fitch, who will begin studies at Loyola University,

Score for week: 2 new businesses

A new business opens this week in Plymouth and an established one has changed ownership.

Miss Nancy Cole, who had been associated with Miss Cule, Mrs. William Clark has opened a beauty salon in her home north of the village in Route 61.

She completed her cosmetology training last month at the E. and M. Beauty school, Mansfield. The former Norma Lou Clark, she is the daughter of Donald J. Ford, rural mail carrier of the Plymouth postoffice.

Mellott, Mrs. Reynolds win second drawings

M. E. Mellott and Mrs. Reynolds were the winners of the two $25 gift certificates in the weekly drawing Saturday night on the Square.

Mrs. Reynolds' mother, Mrs. James H. Rhine, won last week.

Mellott's name was called first and he was present to collect his prize. Mrs. Harry Sillman's name was called next and after a five-minute wait, the name of J. Thompson, Shiloh, was called.

When he did not appear, the name of Earl Francis, also of Shiloh, was drawn. Mr. Francis was not present either.

On the fourth try, Mrs. Reynolds' name was called.

She also won one of the tricycles. The other went to Mrs. Harry Seaman, Shiloh.

Sandra Dague, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Dague, won the swing set.

Another drawing for similar prizes will be conducted Saturday at 8 p. m. on the Square.

All tickets will be put back in the barrels for the final drawing at the close of the annual Sidewalk Sale, July 20.

A milk stole, a portable television and a portable dishwasher will be given away at 8 p. m. that night. Holders of winning tickets must be present to collect their prizes.

If you want what you want when you WANT IT... then WANT ADS are for you!

The casual fan may not have noticed. But the GM of every major league baseball club likes to win on Saturdays. He likes to win on other days, but most especially on Saturdays. And even more especially when the game is played in the afternoon. Although the boob tube has made great inroads in coverage of major league baseball, particularly on Saturdays, it's still a fact that most fans get the greater share of knowledge of their favorites by reading the Sunday journals. All of which, please note, are morning newspapers, published shortly after midnight on Sunday. Circulation of Sunday newspapers is substantially greater than those issued on weekdays. This explains why when the GM's club wins on Saturday, he obtains the most exposure to prospective customers on Sunday, when in most instances — the exception is Houston — the games are played in the afternoon, often are doubleheaders, and afford the working fan a chance to see his favorites in action. Consult the records over a long period and you'll find the White Fords, the Warren Spahns, the Bob Fellers and the Allie Reynolds are nominated to hurl on Saturdays as much as any other day. WE ARE CHALLENGED: BE STRONG OR BE SPLIT

"First we will take Eastern Europe, then the mass of Asia, then we will encircle the United States. We will not have to attack it will fall like an over-ripe fruit into our hands." — LENIN Communism is relentless. Its tactics vary. Its aim does not. The tally sheet of tyranny is testimony to that.
Look back but fifteen years. The world's lone Communist country was Soviet Russia, 170 million people and 8 million square miles. Today the Soviet empire dominates 18 million square miles and 800 million people. Communism, driving ruthlessly, has become master of one-fourth the globe, one-third of mankind. Look ahead. Listen to today's prophets:
"The Communists will destroy capitalism..."
"... the day will come when we will bury you."
"... your children will live in a Communist society."
Communism pursues its basic plan with iron purpose. That plan is to split us from our freedoms. Split us from the world and among ourselves. Split the inner strength of our democratic process. That strength is your power as a free individual. How you use it will decide both the nation's future and your own. Communism cannot be met by armed or economic force alone. It is an idea. It must be mastered by superior ideas.
You will find such ideas in the new Report of the President's Commission on National Goals. It is a guidebook for the nation during the critical decade ahead, programs for action in the 'Sixties. You are the nation. Make your personal actions count. Make our national goals your personal goals by knowing the challenges — and knowing how to meet them.
Begin by getting a copy of the Report, titled "Goals For Americans," at your bookstore. Choose hardcover, $1 paperback, or send for the free digest below. Both President Kennedy and President Eisenhower urge you to read, think and act upon it now. Remember that we will never become an "over-ripe fruit" ready for the plucking so long as we realize that FREEDOM IS NOT A GIFT BUT A TASK.

Mavis Francis wed at Willard

Attired in a gown of I Do taffeta with Sabrina neckline and long, tapered sleeves of Chantilly lace, fashioned with Basque bodice sprinkled with iridescent sequins and pearls, Miss Mavis Irene Francis, Shiloh, became the bride of Wayne Harding Hammond in the Evangelical Union Brethren church at Willard June 29 at 2:30 p. m.

The pastor, the Rev. Harry S. Adams, read the vows in a setting of white gladioli mixed with blue carnations.

Miss Bonnie Westbrook sang The Lord's Prayer, Weldon Ayres sang "I Love You Truly" and "True Love" and they sang together "Wedding Prayer". Mrs. Virginia Lydy was organist.

DAUGHTER OF THE Burt Francis, 53 Pett street, Shiloh, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her skirt was caught up with lace roses, its back cascading in layers of Chantilly lace and flowing into a chapel-length train. Her bouffant, elbow-length veil fell from a crown of crystal and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, clustered about a white orchid.

A school chum, Mrs. Janice Bowman, Shelby, was matron of honor, attired in a blue sheath gown of brocade with scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The taffeta overskirt with unpressed pleats featured a side bow.

Save for white instead of blue shoes, the maid of honor, Miss Connie Maye, Shiloh, and the bridesmaids, Mrs. Wanda Phillips, Shiloh, and Miss Sarah Swanson, Willard, were attired similarly as the matron of honor. All wore crushed cabbage roses of matching color, from which fell circular veils.

The bride's sister, Robin, was flower girl, in an exquisite lace, over taffeta, with scalloped bodice. She carried blue daisies.

Claude Hammond, Jr., was ring bearer.

Mrs. Francis chose a blue-on-white printed jersey, with which she wore white carnations. Mrs. Hammond wore pink linen with white carnations.

Paul Painter, Willard, was best man. Walter Frederick, Jr., Daniel Young, Philip Bruner and Larry Coats, all of Willard, ushered.

"Seat belts make the critical difference,"
says THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

This arrow represents the critical distance between life and death, health and injury.

When your car stops short in a collision—or even in a panic stop—your body shoots forward. Seat belts can save you by maintaining the critical distance between your head and the nearest obstruction: windshield, dash or back of the front seat.

The National Safety Council says that seat belts in every car, used at all times by driver and passengers, could save at least 5,000 lives a year, reduce serious auto injuries 1/3.

The use of seat belts is also endorsed by the American Medical Association, the U. S. Public Health Service and the American College of Surgeons.

Shiloh teacher takes bride in Monroeville church rites

William Gerald Eberly, teacher in Shiloh Junior High school, took Miss Carol Ann Crawford of Norwalk as his bride in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, Monroeville, Saturday at 10 a. m.

The Rev. George Schmit, pastor, performed the ceremony in a setting of white gladioli and carnations.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert E. Crawford, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of silk organza over taffeta, designed with Basque bodice which featured a sculpted neckline edged in Chantilly lace and shirred cap sleeves. Appliqued garlands of Chantilly lace marked the skirt. A large bow at the back was the beginning of a chapel train.

Her bouffant veil fell from a cap of lace formed into the shape of pearls, edged with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis clustered about a white orchid. She wore a single strand of pearls.

MISS JOAN SCHAAPFSA, Norwalk, was maid of honor. Mrs. Timothy Payette, Toledo; Mrs. William Lee, Findlay; Miss Karen Sue Smith, Sandusky, the bride's cousin, and Miss Linda Usselton, Norwalk, were bridesmaids.

Each was attired in a sheath gown of primrose pink silk, organza styled with square neckline, short sleeves and softly-pleated tunic overskirt with a bow at the waistline.

Kenneth Missig, Monroeville, was best man. Carl Schwobel, Bowling Green; Terry Fry, Norwalk; Harold Gates, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, and Ted Crawford, Milan, the bride's cousin, ushered.

After a wedding trip to New England, the Eberlys will live at 170 West Main street, Norwalk.

THE BRIDE IS A 1958 graduate of Norwalk High school and a 1961 graduate of Toledo hospital school of nursing. Recently employed by Crile Veteran's hospital as a registered nurse, she will hereafter be on the staff of Graymont Nursing home, Norwalk.

Mr. Eberly, the son of the Gerald Eberlys, 30 Hollister street, Monroeville, is a 1955 graduate of Monroeville High school. He was graduated from Bowling Green State university in 1962.

Girls' State talk set

Nancy MacMichael will give a report of Girls' State to the auxiliary of Egirl-Parset Post, American Legion, tonight.

She was one of two Plymouth High school pupils to attend the annual session in Columbus last month. Marsha Russell, Shiloh, attended it under the sponsorship of the Garret-Reist post auxiliary.

Newly elected auxiliary officers headed by Mrs. Glenn Hass, president, will be installed during the meeting in the legion hall at 8 p.m.

Seaman due home in September

Pvt. 1st. Class Robert Seaman, who has been serving in the Army in Germany, expects to be home in September.

The hospital beat

All-Jersey milk supplies extra calcium to make your teeth stronger

A temporary tunnel in your youngster's toothline doesn't help appearance. But if enough All-Jersey milk pours through the gap, the permanent tooth that replaces it will be sound as a dollar.

The most important food element for healthy teeth is calcium. All-Jersey milk supplies more calcium than any other natural milk of the same cream content. That's why your child should drink at least a quart of All-Jersey milk daily.

Mothers, remember that while proper mouth hygiene is desirable for sound teeth, proper eating habits are even more important. Start serving extra-nutritious All-Jersey milk. It costs not one cent more than ordinary milk.

Some cars do this on curves... but Tempest has Wide-Track.

Wheels that are farther apart help keep Tempests from leaning all over the place, help them unlock curves. Tired of wallowing and sloshing about? Try our brand.
