

It was hot time in old town, boy blamed for fireworks law

A 19-year-old Plymouth merchant remembers how it was he who started — unintentionally and unwillingly — the ban against sale of firecrackers in Ohio.

The village of Plymouth enacted legislation forbidding the sale of the holiday pyrotechnic devices almost a generation before Ohio adopted a statewide statute.

It started from a careless cigar and an inquisitive boy.

Albert Kirkpatrick was clerk in the drug store operated by Karl Webber then a village councilman.

The west window of the store was stocked with Roman candles, nigger chases, salutes, sky rockets and the whole panoply of Fourth of July fireworks.

KIRKPATRICK ALLOWED the boy to elude his eye and grasp. When he looked up, there was the seven-year-old youngster in the middle of the display. He sped to the window. An ash from Kirkpatrick's cigar ignited the fuse of one of the firecrackers and the whole display went off with a great whoosh, bang and cloud of smoke. The window was blown into the street.

The boy, now as then Thomas J. Webber, son of the proprietor and his successor in the business, was blown into chastisement.

"I caught most of the blame and the punishment for it, I remember," says Webber today, even now a bit sheepishly.

Councilman Samuel H. Bachrach, now deceased, introduced, and Webber seconded a motion to adopt an ordinance prohibiting the sale of firecrackers of any kind within the village limits. The date: July 18, 1920.

Ohio did not adopt legislation forbidding the sale of fireworks until 1941. Plymouth was the first municipal corporation to ban fireworks.

Mrs. Rhine, Hall first winners here; drawing Saturday

The two $25 gift certificates were won by Mrs. J. H. Rhine and A. B. Hall Saturday night in the first of four weekly drawings of the Sidewalk sale.

The tricycles were won by Wilford Postema and Mrs. Jack A. Cutright.

Drawings will be held Saturday and July 13 for the same prizes at 8 p. m. on the Square. The winning ticket holders must be present to collect their prizes.

The main drawing to be held at the end of the Sidewalk sale, July 20, is for a mink stole, a portable television and a portable dishwasher.

Tickets are being given by participating Plymouth merchants for each $1 in sales.

Fetters to oppose Mayor Fazio

LUTHER R. FETTERS
Candidate for mayor
to oppose incumbent

Luther R. Fetters, veteran trustee of public affairs, will oppose Mayor William Fazio for the highest elective post in the village on Nov. 5.

He is circulating nominating petitions now.

Fetters was retired from the Fate-Root-Heath Co. earlier this year after two generations of service in the locomotive division. He is presently chairman of the board of trustees.

His two colleagues, D. Guy Cunningham, Sr., and Karl S. Lindauer, will seek reelection as trustees of public affairs.

Councilman Charles Vanadale, completing a second term on the village governing board, will not seek reelection, he affirmed Monday.

His two-year term expires Dec. 31.

Whether Councilman Donald E. Akers will seek reelection is not settled. Akers has considered running for a post on the board of education.

Mrs. James Reynolds will seek reelection as treasurer.

Veteran clerk Carl V. Ellis has filed for election to a fifth term as clerk. He will be replaced by Gerald Miller, who has never run before.

Fred Buzard dies at New London

Frederick T. Buzard, 68, vice-president of the Fate-Root-Heath Co. with responsibility for the ceramics division, died suddenly at his home, 168 High street, New London, Saturday evening.

He apparently was stricken with heart seizure.

Born at Adario, the son of the late Elmer and Mary Jacobs Buzard, he lived west of Plymouth and attended school there. He lived here until he moved to New London in 1919.

In his youth he was an athlete and played football and baseball on Plymouth teams.

He joined the local firm in January, 1927.

His wife, Ethel, a son, William, New London, and a daughter, Mrs. Ark Gilbert, New London, survive. There are three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Buzard was a member of First Methodist church, New London; of the Blue Lodge and Chapter, Masonic orders; of Norwalk Lodge, BPO Elks; of the American Ceramic society and the Canadian Ceramic society.

His pastor, the Rev. Orland Ruby, conducted a funeral service from Eastman Funeral home, New London, Tuesday at 2 p. m. Burial was in Grove Street cemetery there.

Shiloh council composes rates with school board

Shiloh village council and Plymouth Board of Education met jointly June 26 to discuss water and sewer charges to be levied by the village.

They agreed on the charge of $100 a quarter for water with a filing of $200 to be made for the first half of 1963. Last year the school board paid only $84 for water use.

Executive Head C. Todd Strohmeier and Solicitor Robert Ross will draft on an agreement on a new sewer charge.

The council voted to pay off $27,890 on the $50,000 note owed the First National Bank of Mansfield. The money was received from special assessments for sewer lines in the village to pay off the special assessment note issued by the bank to the village.

About 45 per cent of the special assessments were paid in cash. The balance will be charged to the property owners through taxes and paid off over a long period of time.

Water?

Because of a shortage of water, the American Consul General in Hong Kong, British Crown Colony, has called off the annual Independence day reception planned for today.

Having attended many such bashes at consulates, consulates general, legations and embassies maintained by our government abroad, we frankly are mystified: we never saw anybody at any of them drinking water.

Raising kids in independence

Independence day used to be a holiday for children, above all else.

Who among the older generations does not recall firecrackers and sky rockets, Roman candles and sparklers, and a stuff called punk, that smoldered with a thin wisp of smoke until you blew on it, whereupon it glowed sufficiently to light the fuse of a one-inch salute?

Because so many children were injured, always painfully, often permanently, by uncontrolled use of firecrackers, the sale of pyrotechnics of any sort was banned. It is as well that this was done. Now the young people lose an arm or a leg or get their eyes put out when the car uspets while they're speeding hell-bent for the beach, the pool, the drive-in in the next county, or the dance hall.

Ohioans are not without some expert advice when it comes to raising children. One such expert is Western Reserve university's celebrated Dr. Benjamin Spock, who wrote what is probably, next to the Holy Bible, the all-time best seller in America. If there's anything a child between the ages of one minute and 16 years does or doesn't do that Spock overlooked, it isn't important.

Another is Huron county's own Don J. Young, Jr., probate and juvenile judge, who holds high office in the Association of Juvenile Judges. He deals with the seamy and sordid side of youth, it's true, in that well-behaved boys and girls never come before his court for judgment. But he's an expert, all the same. And like many experts, he asserts the principal need is more funds to deal with disturbed children.

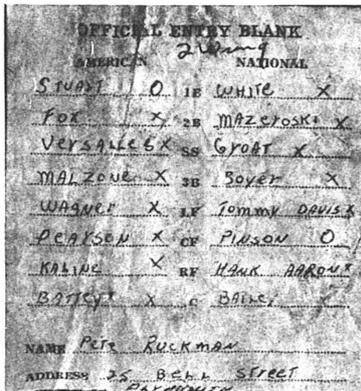

A third is a practical social scientist who hasn't much fame of an international character, although he was born in Vienna and had worked elsewhere before he came to Huron county.

His counsel for dealing with children, whether well-behaved or delinquent, male or female, rich or poor, sick or well, is the best and soundest advice we ever heard.

His name is Dr. Alfons Klobber. His advice to parents: "Klobber first and ask questions afterwards."

Perhaps the increase of juvenile delinquency noted by the Huron county judge, and his colleague in Richland county, wouldn't be so large if more parents were to read the good doctor's book. And judge, too!

A free copy may be had by calling at The Spectator office.

WINNING ENTRY by flip man. He'll attend all-tar coin at Mack's Foodland was test Tuesday. Cited by H. W. (Pete) Ruck-

Two new Eagle Scouts

During a Court of Honor in Shelby Monday night Gregory Cashman and Arthur Paddock, 3rd became Plymouth's ninth and 10th Eagle Scouts. Members of Plymouth Troop 411, they came up through the ranks from the Cub Pack. After receiving their badges and "pinning" their mothers, they lined up thus: Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., her Eagle Scout, Mr. Cashman, and troop leader Frederick E. Ford. Donald Markley, district committeeman, presented the coveted badges.

Reds win title in first half of PML

Coach Fred Buzard's perennially strong Reds captured the first half of the 1963 Plymouth Midget league race with seven wins and a single loss.

Indians and Cub were tied for second, with three victories and four losses. Yanks brought up the rear, with only two wins.

PML All-Stars will play Willard All-Stars in PML stadium today at 2 p. m.

Ponies wallop Greenwich, 28 to 3

O hear, says Old Timer, of John Chung, greatest gridder that never was!

The greatest football player who ever lived may have been Red Grange, Tom Harmon or Bronko Nagurski. It might even have been Jim Brown or Ernie Davis.

But the greatest football player who NEVER LIVED was John Chung. The 205-lb. fullback went to a college that never existed.

Johnny Chung never roamed a real gridiron. He roamed the vast expanses of the imaginary.

PHS club off pace in RCL standings

Plymouth High school's entry in the Richland County Baseball league was 3½ games off pace at the conclusion of play last week.

The Big Red had won two and lost four. Union Hoff Market leads the loop with a 5-0 record.

Plymouth played Lexington No. 2 at Liberty field, Mansfield, Monday night.

ination of one Morris Newberger, a New Yorker, whose brilliant hoax was first uncovered by the late Caswell Adams of the New York Herald Tribune and later recalled by the paper's then sports editor, Bob Cooke.

The witty Newberger almost landed his mythical fullback on the All-American squad and his non-existent team in the top ten in 1941 by the simple move of picking up a phone and calling the New York papers.

Newberger called his college "Plainfield State" because it sounded real and legitimate and he knew any place in New Jersey was too far for the big town scribes to check personally. A few top writers in the city suggested Newberger bring his gridiron terror to Toots Shor's for some football writers' meeting but Morris hastily assured them that Chung ate nothing but rice. It must have been the source of his power for the Chinaman averaged 93-16 yards per carry, highest in the nation.

Plainfield chalked up six consecutive wins. State romped over Scott, Chesterton, Rox, Randolph, Tech, Ingersoll and Benson, and if Adams hadn't halted the winning streak it would have trimmed Appalachian and Harmony U., which was to be its homecoming game.

The Newberger hoax was a just one of the many fakes of the decade but not the only one. News rooms around the nation have always been besieged with people who like to embarrass newspapermen, especially sportswriters.

Broadcasters were also victimized. One did a show for an oil company. He announced scores at the end of his show. This broadcaster announced so many totally mythical scores on his Saturday night program that he sometimes had to go off the air with no time left for the legitimate ones.

Football is so full of paper that a 140-pound, bespectacled asthma-sufferer nearly got a scholarship by mail by running off phony clippings of his football and basketball prowess and sending them into the athletic departments of several universities. He even had schools out-bidding each other for him.

No one saw Johnny Chung but when tears fall at the playing of the alma mater and the coach gives the good old pep talk, news roms around the country raise a toast to Johnny Chung, the man who did more with less than any athlete in the game. LSU's Chinese Bandits were not a patch on the Chinese bandits who roamed the sports pages in the happier days.

Being a periodic, but irregular, presentation of human interest stories that come to the staff's attention yet seem for one reason or another not suitable for treatment elsewhere in the paper.

An almost firm policy against the publishing of contributed poetry is broken this week because Miss Virginia Fenner, now living in a rest home at Hudson, dug up a family heirloom.

The poem which follows, she says, "has circulated about our family for several years. My sister-in-law, Mrs. Marian Fenner of Cleveland, has added some more to it."

Miss Fenner dedicates the poem to the Golden Agers club, "to which I would have belonged but could not get out to the meetings."

There's nothing the matter with me —
I'm as healthy as can be.
I have arthritis in both knees,
My pulse is weak, my blood is thin,

But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.
Sleep is denied me night after night,
But every morning I find I'm all right;
My memory is failing, my head's in a spin,
But I'm awfully well for the hape I am in.
How do I know that my youth is spent —
Well, my "get up and go" has got up and went;
When I was young my slippers were red,
I could kick my toe right over my head.
As I grew older my slippers were blue,
But still I could dance, the whole night thru.
Now that I'm old my slippers are black,
I walk to the store and puff my way back.
I get up each morning and dust off my wits,
Pick up the paper and read the obits,
If my name is missing, I know I'm not dead,
So I get a good breakfast and go back to bed.

Miss Herz bride of Eugene R. Payne

Miss Daryl Elaine Herz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Garrett, Shiloh became the bride of Eugene Richard Payne, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Payne, Shelby Saturday, in a solemn high nuptial mass performed by the Rev. Michael McFadden in Most Pure Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church, Shelby.

Miss Margaret Bilka played a prelude of organ music and accompanied Thomas Horne, who sang several selections.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Garrett, wore an afternoon length gown of ivory satin. It was designed with a low rounded neckline and bracelet length sleeves. Motifs of beaded Alencon lace were applied on the bodice and down the side of the full skirt. The skirt was designed with a side drape. A deep fold encircled the waistline to the back which was buttoned with tiny covered buttons three-quarters its length.

A PILLBOX HAT ACCENTED with pearls held her full shoulder length veil of silk illusion. Her flowers were an arrangement of ivory roses with green leaves on a white prayer book. Long satin streamers fell from it.

Her only attendant was Mrs. Eugene Palmer of New Haven. She wore a short medium blue taffeta designed with a full skirt. The fitted bodice had a V neckline and cap sleeves. She wore a matching blue tiara with a nose veil and carried a bouquet of white carnations with touches of blue, tied with long blue ribbons.

The bridegroom's brother was his best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Delwin Herz, and James Vogel of Willard.

MRS. GARRETT CHOSE A light beige shantung with an overblouse of deeper beige lace with scalloped edge. The skirt was straight and the matching jacket with bracelet length sleeves was cut along straight lines. She wore a small beige hat and carried a green handbag to accent her corsage of peach carnations with dark green leaves.

Mrs. Payne wore a black and white print dress with waist length, collarless jacket and full skirt. She wore a small white hat and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gardy Dickerson, wore a medium blue floral chignon with matching accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

A reception was held at the bride's home. The lace covered table was lighted with small candles surrounded with summer garden flowers of blue and white with baby's breath. The cake was four tiered with small wedding bells on top. It was cut by Mrs. Vogel.

Miss Betty Lynch presided at the coffee service and Miss Rose Briggle, New Washington, at the punch bowl.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in the Seltzer apartments, Shelby.

The new Mrs. Payne is a 1959 graduate of Plymouth high school. She attended Mansfield Business school and is now employed by Shelby Mutual Insurance Co.

Mr. Payne is a member of the Class of 1955, Shelby High school. He has completed his military service, which included a tour of duty on Okinawa, and is now employed by American Machine & Foundry

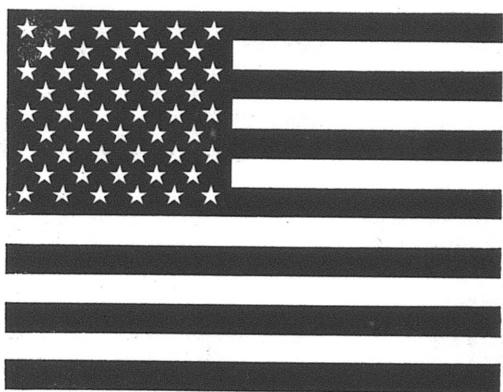

The Richard Hamptons have been spending their annual vacation in a number of short visits including Chicago, Ill. for several days and Washington, D. C., where they spent four. Their daughter, Patricia, spent last week in Forest with the Jack Kins.

The Fred Lewises arrived last week from a three-week vacation in San Diego, Cal., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Forden, and her brother and sister-in-law, the Paul Fordens. Another brother, Robert, who is stationed at Wisby Island, Wash., was also home while they were there. They met William Strine, who is serving in the USS Kitty Hawk, and he took them on a tour of the carrier and later had dinner with them.

Gerald Jerry Willet, son of the J. Raymond Willets, entered Willard Municipal hospital Monday to have adenoids removed.

THE NEW 50-STAR U.S. FLAG

HIGHER EARNING U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

This year a new 50-star flag flies over our country—symbol of an ever-growing America that values freedom and peace. But freedom and peace cost money. Money to help make peace lasting. Money saved by individuals to keep our economy strong. U.S. Savings Bonds help provide this money. And today, Bonds are better than ever; E Bonds mature 14 months faster than before, and pay 3 1/2% interest to maturity. They keep on earning for years after maturity. To build a brighter future for yourself and to help keep America strong and peaceful—buy U.S. Savings Bonds. They're better than ever.

A way to save that pays you more than interest

U.S. Savings Bonds pay you more than interest because they do more than earn money.

It's a matter of what happens to your Bond dollars. Deposited in the U.S. Treasury, they strengthen our economy at home.

At the same time, they help Uncle Sam take the side of freedom wherever possible in the world. And the opportunities to do so continue to grow.

By standing up for freedom elsewhere in the world, we insure our own personal freedoms. We make it that much surer that we'll be able to enjoy the things we're saving for.

All in all, it makes a pretty substantial return on your savings dollar—one that begins the moment you plunk down $18.75 for a $25 U.S. Savings Bond.

Under communism, the party decides what to print. Under freedom, the people decide what to read. One way to keep our press free is to keep financially strong—as individuals and as a nation.

U.S. Savings Bonds pay a unique return. Most Americans agree that the most important part today is not measurable in dollars and cents.

All-Jersey milk
builds strong bones naturally!
Those prehistoric monsters must have had something mighty potent in their daily diets. So these millions of years later it's fun to stare at what's left. It's a mighty safe bet they took in a good supply of calcium and phosphorus.
All-Jersey milk, from 100% Jersey herds, supplies more calcium and phosphorus than any other natural milk. And its calcium and phosphorus are better assimilated by growing children than the same minerals in other foods.
Jersey milk is world-famous for extra quality. All-Jersey milk has been awarded Parents Magazine's Seal of Commendation. Why not give your children All-Jersey's extra bone-building power? Costs no more than ordinary milk.

TRAINS

Two or more things in tandem since the beginning of time have been considered as trains, be it camel trains, wagon or what have you. Trains of thought seem like RAILROAD trains for efficiency's sake should be in proper classification. Or in human deportment a better effect will be had for good when a train of thought is rebuilt after switching out that which is of no earthly good. Get the point?

Your spiritual train will be far better, a paralyzing influence will be less severe. Especially when your lifeline train has reached a certain where your make-up will indeed find a prompt inspection just before a transition is effected. That all-seeing car inspector is ready to card you as a reject.

MASTER MECHANIC ETERNAL GRADE: Why involve me, Uncle. Get along and say you are willing to pay $5 each to three worthwhile switchers who can realign those deliberately confusing sections of "Rapid Readers" of last week. Several passes should do the trick. Send your revised cutting list to Uncle Bill and get a voucher in return. Please do not run through any switches, read all safety rules. Laughing is simply folly

POINTS IN INTELLIGENT THINKING: It's manners and good upbringing that seem to be the deciding factors for a sweepstake winner in a Miss America contest, not over exposure of epidermis alone.
