

Astronauts' friend

John Fackler buys for NASA

(From THE WEST LIFE, weekly newspaper circulated in Westlake, Bay Village, North Olmsted, Fairview.)

A neighbor of yours, John J. Fackler, a slender man in a smart green sports coat, explains that his job as Chief of NASA's Space Power Systems Procurement Office is purchasing private industry's giant strides in space power research.

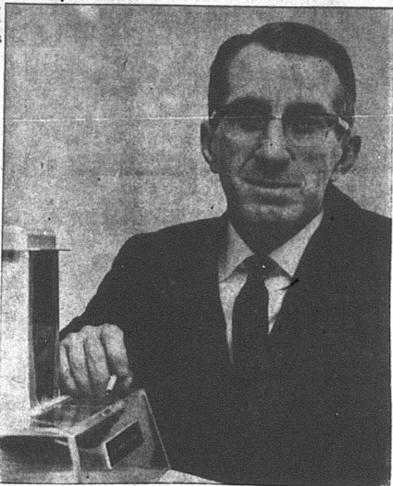

The keen, intellects from which these findings come are employed by such firms as Aerojet General, Pratt & Whitney, Westinghouse, Thompson-Romo Woldridge, General Electric and RCA. These corporations compete for contracts to supply the space vehicles as refractory metals, radiators for turbines, alternators, pumps, ceramic materials which are compatible with liquid metals and coatings for metal surfaces which can withstand high thermal radiation.

Mr. Fackler's goals to buy systems which will provide auxiliary power for bigger and bigger space vehicles to carry larger payloads. These systems will convert nuclear and solar energy into electrical energy. The hope is that the time of the conversion can be extended so that it continues for a year or more.

If the time is lengthened, unmanned satellites can be boosted into orbit for long tests of such things as new materials, radiators, turbines, conditions existing in space, etc. The next step would be a source of adequate power for the men who will explore the moon — an undertaking no longer considered a foolish dream, but rather a project having a "can do" life of the end of the '60's or early in the 1970's.

Mr. Fackler, who has been an army reserve officer for 13 years, came to NASA 1-1/2 years ago with a background of aviation purchasing experience. He had been at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton where, as a civilian, he bought helicopters and fixed wing aircraft.

On another assignment he purchased special purpose flight clothing, such as that worn by astronauts and pilots, while at Olmsted Air Force Base in Middletown, Pa. The anti-o suits he bought for about $400 each were made of cloth and rubber and were designed to maintain pressure for the pilot's comfort and safety. Other purchases included suits for the crews which fight jet aircraft fires. These were made of a material capable of reflecting heat up to 3000 degrees.

When he is not at his conference table conferring with brass hats of the nation's largest firms about such NASA top priority projects as "Snap 0" and Sunflower 1" (steam power plants), John Fackler is "gone fishing" or at home, 3960 W. 213 St., Fairview Park. His wife, Mayetta, keeps the home fires burning at their house in Plymouth, O.

Harry Chronister dies in Columbus

Harry Chronister, 64, 32 Hill street, a retired grocer, died Tuesday afternoon in University hospital, Columbus, where he had been a patient intermittently for some time.

Born Mar. 9, 1899, in Richland county, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benton Chronister.

Two sons, Eugene, in Kansas, and William, Plymouth; three daughters, Mrs. Byron Griest, Massillon, and Mrs. Kenneth Echeberry and Mrs. Donald Baker, Plymouth, and nine grandchildren survive.

His pastor, the Rev. Robert Mace, First Presbyterian church, will conduct funeral services at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow from McQuate Funeral home, where mourners may call today. Burial will be in Greenlawn cemetery.

It must have been weather: courts busy with Plymouthites

Crawford county's common Pleas judge dealt lightly with Mason Reed, 18, Walnut street, accused of larceny by trick by altering a $1 note, which a friend passed at the Texas station here.

Reed received a suspended sentence of 15 days in the jail at Bucyrus, ordered Reed to pay court costs and refund $19 he took from the friend in the transaction.

A 16-year-old Plymouth youth was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way at E. Shelby and Parkwood drive, Shelby, Thursday afternoon after his car collided with another operated by Mrs. Vincent Phelan, 35, 86 Glenwood drive, Shelby.

He is Girard Cashman, Spingmill road.

Police said damage to the Phelan machine approximated $750. Damage to the youth's car was $100.

The young driver will be dealt with by Juvenile Judge Stuart Gramer.

James P. Martin, 19, Plymouth route 1, was charged by the state patrol for failure to stay on the right side of the road after his car struck a guy wire in Townline road and veered of the road. He was treated for bruises at Willard Municipal hospital and released.

Dudley Strimple, Shiloh, paid $15 and costs on a charge of failure to yield in Huron county court last week.

Foreclosure proceedings have been launched by the Home Savings and Loan Co., Norwalk, against Joseph and Grace Milano in Huron County Common Pleas court.

A midnight hunt for bull frogs proved costly for Mansfield and Marion youths.

Roger Norris, Marion, and Robert Shulte, Mansfield, were arrested about 11 p. m. Saturday by Police Chief Robert L. Meiser at the pond on the Foster Leapley farm in Uppdye road.

They were charged with trespassing and fined $10 and court costs each in Shelby Municipal court Monday morning.

Karl D. Keip, Shiloh, paid a fine of $11 and costs in the same court on a speeding charge.

En route to Plymouth from a church baseball game in Shelby, 16-year-old Gary Cheesman lost control of the pick-up truck he was driving and hit a utility pole in Route 61 a few miles north of Shelby Friday night.

He was treated in Shelby Memorial hospital for a cut ankle. His young brother, George, riding also in the truck, was not injured.

He has been cited by the state patrol for speed in excess of road conditions.

A two-car collision Sunday noon sent Ben Hicks and his 10-year-old son, Larry, Shiloh, to Willard Municipal hospital for treatment of injuries.

The Hicks' car was struck by one driven by Henry Hale, Greenwich, in the Rome-Greenwich road.

Late Sunday afternoon, Kevin Howell, six years old, ran into the path of the car driven by Burton Tuttle, Plymouth route 1. The mishap occurred in front of the Howell home in County road 102.

The child, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Howell, was treated at Willard Municipal hospital.

Another mishap occurred Sunday afternoon when David Kegley, 13, Greenwich, rode his bicycle into the path of a car driven by Ella J. Asept, New Haven.

Mrs. Salvatore J. Glorioso, 39, Nichols avenue, was cited by state highway patrolmen for failure to halt within an assured clear distance Monday at 11:15 a. m. after she collided with Louis Caudill, 24, Mansfield, who had halted behind Mrs. Helen King, 26, Plymouth route 1, in Route 224 at Ft. Ball road, New Haven township.

Mrs. Glorioso thrust Caudill's machine into Mrs. King's car as Mrs. King sought to turn east into Ft. Ball road.

Substantial damage resulted to the Glorioso car, some damage to Caudill's car, slight damage to Mrs. King's car.

Mrs. Glorioso was on an errand of mercy — her son Michael is hospitalized because he broke both wrists in a fall.

Surprise mock attack staged here

"There were some Bugs in it, but we didn't do too badly after we got going."

Thus Civilian Defense Director James C. Davis described Friday the surprise alert called Thursday evening.

Herbert Napka, Huron county civil defense director, arranged the alert. About 40 Boy Scouts, volunteers from Tiffin, Postoria and Fremont, participated in the alert, chiefly as "coached casualties".

Napka handed a sealed envelope to Mayor William Fazio. The alarm was sounded. Only a few Plymouth residents were "in" on the plan.

Traffic was congested from the Public Square to the village line north of the Square. Scores of travelers dismounted from their transportation to see what was going on. A few of the flighty ones panicked when they saw "patients" lying in disarray, "blood" marking their faces.

Each victim had specific injuries. Each was to be collected and treated within minimum time or he was considered "dead". Some of the injured were removed to Plymouth Elementary school by McQuate's ambulance, some by the fire department emergency vehicle.

Four were removed to the McQuate Funeral home in lieu of a morgue.

Napka said he thought the practice was "fair" and promised another later.

No Latin teacher available, subject likely to be dropped

Latin will probably be dropped from the curriculum of Plymouth High school because "there is no hope of finding a Latin teacher." Executive head C. Todd Strohmenger told the board of education July 24.

He said it might be wise to replace Latin with a modern language, French or German.

"I'm afraid it will be like this year after year, and it is not good to change teachers each year," he said.

The board told him to look for a French teacher, firstly, and a German teacher thereafter.

Should Latin be dropped from the curriculum, second year Latin would be taught this year only by Miss Jeanette Hamilton, an elementary teacher at Shiloh, so the Crawford county's compulsi will have completed two years in the language.

A qualified guidance counselor is not available either, Strohmenger told the board. "I do have two possibilities," he said. One has completed his course work at Ohio State but has not written his master's thesis, thus he is not officially qualified for the position.

Strohmenger will check with the state office to determine if reimbursement under Title V would be forthcoming should the board hire this candidate. The other candidate lives in New York state and he is also to be interviewed.

Mrs. Mary Frances Jones was hired to teach home economics in place of Mrs. Harold R. Davenport, Jr., who resigned.

Her contract calls for 11 months of teaching at a yearly salary of $5,338.66.

Mrs. Joy is a native of Kipton and graduated from Camden High school, now part of the Firelands district. She received a bachelor of science degree from McMurray college, Jacksonville, Ill., and has taught two years in Illinois.

Her husband is an electronics engineer and will be working in this area for several years.

Hugh Maxwell, Mansfield, was hired at $4,502 a year to teach mathematics, in place of Jordan Holthous, resigned.

A 1961 graduate of Ohio State university, he has a major in speech and lacks a few credits for a major in mathematics. This is his first teaching position.

He has been on the staff of Friendly house in Mansfield for several years and in charge of its summer camp, Hidden Hollow.

While attending the university, he worked four years in a Columbus library, at the state school for the blind, and as a summer camp counselor. Because of his wide background, the board gave him credit for two years' experience on the salary schedule.

He will be assigned extra curricular work in dramatics. A contract was authorized for Harold A. Hughes as instrumental music instructor, pending his release from the Bloomville district.

He received his bachelor of science degree from Bowling Green State university in 1960 and has been at Bloomville three years. He wishes to make a change this year because he is mainly interested in instrumental rather than instrumental and vocal music.

His contract at $7,024.44 yearly will be for 11 months, so the band may take part in more community summer activities.

Clerk of the board, Mrs. Kenneth Myers, was authorized to borrow money to meet the August payroll if needed. Her office has been moved to the Plymouth 04 Elementary building to make more room available to Mrs. Wilbur Shields, secretary to the executive head.

Joyce Stoodt bride of Wisconsinite

Miss Joyce Stoodt became the bride of Douglas Beak in an afternoon ceremony July 21 in First Evangelical Lutheran church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stoodt, Shelby route 3. Mr. Beak is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Beak, Genoa City, Wis.

Max Caywood played a prelude of nuptial music before the ceremony, performed by the Rev. John H. Worth.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of white embroidered cotton made by her mother. The bodice was fashioned with a wide V neckline and short scalloped sleeves. A finger-tip veil fell from a tiara of tiny pearls and crystals. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Her only attendant, Miss Janice Kahler of Kenton, wore a similarly designed gown in blue batiste. Her headpiece was a matching bow with a short veil and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The bridegroom's cousin, Charles Keeley, was his best man. Ushers were Robert Boehm and Harold Kautz, both brothers-in-law of Mr. Beak.

A wedding reception followed at the Hazel Grove Grange.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Niagara Falls. They will make their home in Napa, Hawaii, where Mr. Beak is serving in the U. S. Navy.

The bride is a graduate of Plymouth High school and Elkhart university, Elkhart, Ind.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Badger High school, Lake Geneva, Wis.

Bachrach farm set as site of contest among plowmen

Bachrach Cattle Co. farm in Route 603 east of Plymouth will be the scene Wednesday of the county and area plowing matches sponsored by the Huron Soil and Water Conservation district.

County matches will begin at 10:30 a. m. Area matches will begin at 1:30 p. m.

William Gill, extension agricultural engineer, will discuss proper plow adjustment between matches. Farm machinery dealers will display and demonstrate tillage machinery during the day.

Contestants in the area matches will be the winners of the Huron, Erie, Lorain, Medina and Summit county plowing matches. Winner of the area match will compete in the state match at New Knoxville Sept. 12.

Young farmers groups of Willard and South Central vocational agriculture departments have arranged to lay out contest plots, conduct the plowing matches and serve lunch.

Tedd Dawson visits NASA agency

A 1963 graduate of Plymouth High school was among 100 high school seniors representing the 50 states who visited Goddard Space Flight center, near Bartow, W. Va., recently.

Fingerlings sown in farm ponds for next season

Fingerling large-mouth black bass and bluegill sunfish from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife service was delivered last week for 51 newly constructed or enlarged farm ponds or lakes in the Ashland-Crawford - Delaware - Knox-Richland - Wyandot county area, reports Roger F. Cooper, manager of the federal fish hatchery at Hebron on Buckeye lake, to Freeman Swank, board chairman of the Richland Soil and Water Conservation district.

J. A. BRENNAN, center, delivers fingerling bass and little bluegills to Chester Hampton, Lynn McCammon and Paul Walker at Bellville.

Included in this shipment were fish for Sam Burgett, Chester Hampton, James Lewis, Carroll Lifer, Mac McQuade, Warren Pittenger, Warren Rupp, Paul Walker, David Westfield, and Damon Zellner, cooperators with the District.

The fingerling fish are measured out according to weight, since the bass weigh about 215 a pound, and the bluegill 402 a pound. The shipment by special aerated tank truck totalled 8,700 bass, and 42,000 bluegill, or at current stocking rates of 200 bass and 1,000 bluegill an acre, sufficient to stock 43.5 acres of fishing waters.

The order was placed by the board as a special service to SWCD cooperators. So far 74 ponds have been stocked in Richland county since 1948. Cooper's report cited indiscriminate stocking and unbalanced fishing as the chief causes of poor fishing in farm ponds. He cautioned farmers not to harvest the newly stocked bass until the second summer, since they do not reproduce the first year.

The bluegill, by contrast, may be taken the first year. Pond owners are usually surprised by the rapid growth of the fingerling fish. It is not uncommon for bass to reach 10 inches, or a bluegill six inches by the first winter. Authorities recommend that 12 bluegill be removed for each bass harvested. Most farm ponds are under-fished. COOPER CONCLUDED HIS report by pointing out that farm pond or lake construction is now contributing a sizeable acreage each year of surface water facilities in fishing and recreation for the people of Central Ohio. Since authorities recommend 500 or more manhours of hook and line fishing per acre per year to properly harvest the fish crop, the current shipment represents fishing which totals 21,750 manhours (or 2718 eight-hour man-days) of recreation.

Waines' kin dies

Daughter-in-law of Mose Waines, Sr., Mrs. Mary Ritter Waines, 48, died unexpectedly July 24 in Parma hospital, where she was a patient only a day.

She was a resident of Hincley. Her husband, Mose; two daughters, her mother, three sisters and three grandchildren survive.

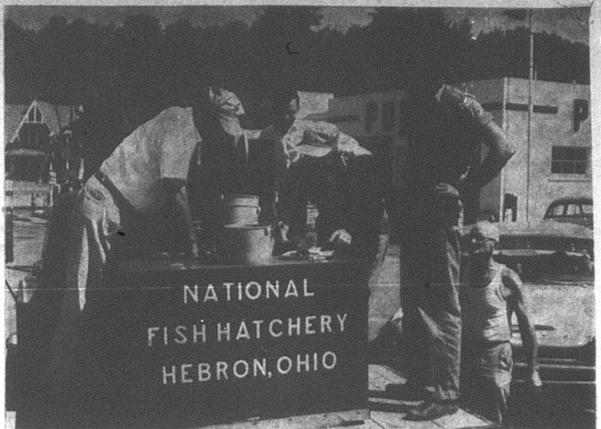

Funeral services were conducted Friday in North Royalton with burial in the cemetery there.

Beelers sell out

The Charles Beelers have sold their house in Maple street to Samuel Layne, Willard. The Beelers will move to Norwalk.

Work has been started on the revaluation of property in the Huron county side of Plymouth.

It is being done by the United Appraisal Co. of Cleveland and East Hartford, Conn. Most of the dwellings have been checked. On Friday work was begun on commercial properties.

Seven lettermen to report to Big Red coach Aug. 16

Co-Capt. Phil Fletcher and Bob Young will head a contingent of seven lettermen who'll report to Coach Richard Carpenter Aug. 16 as Plymouth High school's 1963 football club undertakes its first drills.

A 10-game slate opens here with Black River on Sept. 6.

Five others with limited experience on the reserve squad will be seeking berths on the Viking eleven.

Carpenter anticipates a squad of 28 or 30 candidates. Lettermen besides Fletcher and Young are Larry Bland, Bob Foreman, a tackle; a guard; Bob Forsythe, a tackle; Chip Paddock, a center, and Mike Ruckman, a back.

Experienced players include Tom Rish, an end; Bob Berger, an end; Dave McQuown, tackle, and Dick Foreman, also a tackle.

Co-Capt. Jimmy Hamman at quarterback and to develop replacements for the departed ends, Allen Arnold and Earl Hess, and for Gary Utiss, Walt Hall, Bruce Wells and DeWitt Cunningham in the line.

Plans now are that Ruckman will get first shot at Hamman's job, with Paddock in Reserve.

On paper, the first unit of the Big Red does not shape up so badly.

"But there's a lot to do between now and the first game," says Carpenter, "and we're certainly going to see what some of these other boys have to offer. We expect some good freshmen and one or two other boys who've never played football before."

COLUMNS

From the beginning of time ere the coming of mankind, columns contained certain significance. Yet many are listing away from an important column, where upon reaching that ultimate destination those remaining in said column will receive no rejection slips. A desirable entry can be made.

THREE MAGI: Unc, never get up on Mt. Storm when a well-intended blue pencil is used.

Just remember Calvin Coolidge's slip of the sentence when slowly banished from the White House for not getting that remarkable phrase completely out of his sound box. It would have been, "I do not choose to run for president in 1928; however, if drafted I will run and serve." He was thus relegated to the Bay State, where no doubt he had his bitter moments.

PHILADELPHIANS: They live in a city comprising many noted lawyers and editors who are indeed learned. It's certainly relevant that they permit no wool to be pulled over their eyes. They seem to say it will be necessary if ever they receive a certain report of many pages that protect their eyes just like when watching an eclipse of the sun: for safety's sake that report should be written on asbestos foolscap.

LOCAL EDITOR: Now, Bill, you can't even impress the Three Blind Mice. Now don't quote me, but there's a great lack of something that should be basic, although I could call attention to several young men in the Cit yof Roses who are well on their way to becoming learned ones.

AMALGAMATION: Patience, perhaps an amateur is practicing alchemy of old.

OMNIPOTENT: Beware, Uncle, remember envy is still the scourge of modern times.

RESERVATIONS: These'll be made later for demimondes.

HEIDY: This may be the name of a collie with a lovable nozzle adored by a tyke who is listed with Jenkins on Myrtle Ave. She will be tickled pink if she can accept from Ol' Unc' a nice collar for her doggie, who is quite photogenic.

DEPT. OF APPRECIATION: To the several railroaders and others who see fit to further his project, Unc' doesn't want a snoutfull, only a few shekels to anoint the magic printing press. Lineage often used in speaking of families. But column inch means lineage also.

UNCLE BILL

"But she's just a baby..."

... about to take on all the responsibilities of womanhood.

In the past few years, the number of marriages between the ages of 15 and 19 has increased overwhelmingly. Too often juvenile marriage statistics are immediately followed, however, by an increase in divorces, too.

You may find yourselves in the position of having a son or daughter who marries very young. The best thing you can do is to try to make the marriage a success. Teach your youngsters, through strong religious Faith, that marriage is a permanent union based on two people united and working together. Faith is a powerful guide for your children and comforter through growing up or growing older. This week go with your children to the Church or Synagogue of your choice.

Dudley Arnold takes bride in New Washington ceremony

Miss Doris Ann Bishop, daughter of the Mr. and Mrs. Clem Bishop, New Washington, became the bride of Dudley Duane Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Arnold, Plymouth, route 1, at 10 a. m. July 29.

The Rev. Frederick Mehlberg, St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church, New Washington, celebrated the nuptial mass.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace and satin with a fitted bodice styled with long sleeves which came to a point on her hands. Four tiers of ruffles made up the full floor-length skirt, which swept into a full chapel train. She wore a necklace of pearls, a gift of the bride groom, and a lace held her veil of English silk illusion. Her bouquet was an arrangement of stephanotis clustered around a lavender orchid atop her prayer book.

Miss Shirley Bishop, her sister, was maid of honor in a dress of mint green satin decorated with white flowers. A crown of yellow roses and green net comprised her headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow tinted carnations.

Miss Nancy Arnold, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Donna Ruth Laubie, bridesmaids, wore dresses matching that of the maid of honor save for their dresses were yellow and they carried green tinted carnation bouquets.

Larry Bishop, brother of the bride, was best man, Ronnie

Bishop, brother of the bride, and Earl Dawson, cousin of the bridegroom, ushered.

Miss Connie Arnold, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Chris Decker, nephew of the bride was ring bearer.

Music for the nuptial mass was provided by Miss Judith Foulke and the men's choir.

A reception for approximately 150 guests took place in the church basement. A luncheon for 40 guests followed.

The couple took a one week trip to Washington, D. C., and are in residence at 509 1/2 W. Mansfield street, New Washington.

The bride chose for her going-away outfit a brown and white striped suit with white accessories and the orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet.

The bride attended Buckeye Central High school and is presently employed by the Timken Roller Bearing Corp. The bridegroom attended Plymouth High school.
