Why no growth?

Why does a small community fail to grow?

The shortage of housing may well be a factor.

But it is not the duty of the body politic to furnish that housing.

And those who think that it is, and who work so hard to induce public spending of public moneys to achieve it, are wrong.

The standing establishment of utilities — water, electricity, sewers, storm drainage and the like — is the property of the whole body politic. The responsibility of the trustees of public affairs in an Ohio village is to appropriate the earnings and/or borrowings of that establishment wisely and economically to the maintenance and perfection of the existing service. Note the emphasis on "existing".

Only when existing services are completely adequate and reasonably perfected is there justification for those trustees to look toward expansion. Subscribers of long standing have a proper prior right to appropriation of revenues, whether earned or borrowed.

In no case is there justification, we think, for the whole body politic to invest in capital improvements which are primarily for the purpose of private gain.

Undeveloped land owned in fee simple by a private person or persons is under no compulsion of development. If the owner or owners, in exercise of an entrepreneurial spirit, should seek to improve the land, they must do so at their own expense.

A public business differs from a private one in many ways. The most important difference is that a publicly-owned utility serves its subscribers with their needs at the lowest possible cost, without reserve for depreciation or earning of profit. More subscribers do not therefore of themselves mean more profit, because there isn't any profit.

And because a publicly-owned utility can't legally or ethically count on a profit, it follows that whenever a land developer wants to improve that land, obviously for his profit, he must pay for all of the improvements himself. Public funds must not be expended to pay for materials, equipment, labor or otherwise in the obtaining of those improvements.

Most villages have well-established rules of what constitutes a street. These rules say that a roadway of a specific width, surface and condition of improvement must be established in accordance with the village's specifications before it may be accepted into the village street system, to be maintained at public expense.

Why, then, should any village legislator even consider departure from this satisfactory technique in the matter of land development?

Small communities will grow when the climate for investment in them is attractive to private and other investors. Housing will be erected when there is a good market for it. It is not the duty of the body politic to create that market and for our part, we shall resist any effort to do so.

LONG IN COMA —

Mrs. Jeffrey dies; first librarian here

Mrs. Harold Jeffrey, 68, died Sept. 4 in Willard Municipal hospital.

She never recovered from a cerebral hemorrhage, with which she was stricken last fall at her home in Canton.

She was a native of Decatur, Ill., where she received her early education. She later attended State Normal university at Normal, Ill., and was a teacher for several years.

Before her marriage she was associated with the American Red Cross in Washington, D. C.

The Jeffreys came to Plymouth in 1920. They later moved to Tecumseh, Mich., and to Canton in 1950. He died in 1946 after they had been married 27 years.

While living here, she was active in Plymouth Chapter,

OES, and was one of the first Girl Scout troop leaders.

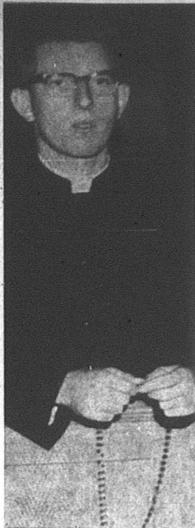

The troop was instrumental in founding the Plymouth library and she served as its first librarian.

After the death of her husband, she joined the children's division of Canton Public Library. Later she was the head librarian for the Marge Youtz branch in Canton, a position she held until her illness.

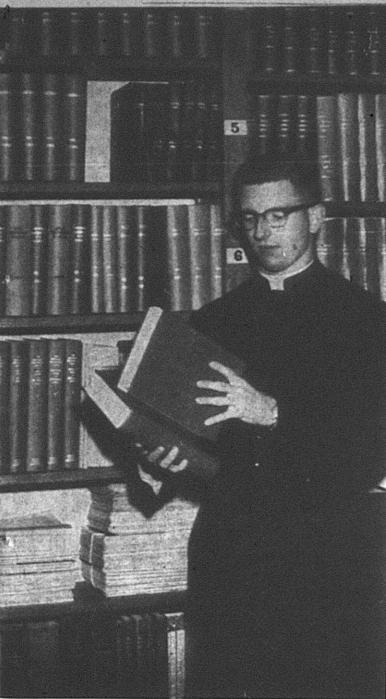

Her only survivor is her brother, Ivan Entler, Plymouth.

A memorial service was conducted Thursday night by the OES chapter, and the final service by the Rev. John H. Worth Friday afternoon from McQuate Funeral home.

Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Frater Fitch to make final vows

By FRATER EDW. BALL

"No horse gets anywhere 'til he is harnessed. No steam or gas drives anything until it is confined. No Niagara is ever turned into light and power until it is tunneled. No life ever grows great until it is focused, dedicated and disciplined."

— Harry Emerson Fosdick

If Harry Emerson Fosdick's equation for greatness is correct, then a young son of Plymouth is well on his way.

For the life of Frater Stephen Madison Fitch, M.S.C., is very much a focused, dedicated and disciplined one.

Frater Fitch is a student for the Catholic priesthood, the first Catholic seminarian from Plymouth. He is a religious, a member of the Society of the Missionaries of the Sacred Heart. For the last three years he has freely bound himself by the three vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. Tomorrow, before God, on whom his whole life is focused, and before the religious community to whom he has dedicated his life, Frater Fitch will again bind himself by these three vows — this time for life.

By the vow of poverty, which Frater Fitch will take, he relinquishes his personal ownership of the goods of this world. In freeing himself of the cares and trials that so often accompany possessions, Frater Fitch can more easily dedicate himself to God, his religious community, and his fellow man.

In taking the vow of chastity, Frater Fitch promises not to enter the married state, but rather to make all peoples his family, and all lands his home.

By the vow of obedience, Frater Fitch pledges to obey the commands of his superiors, whose will he sees as the will of God.

To live a life which Frater Fitch has promised to live, he must indeed have focus, dedication and discipline.

His family, his friends, and his community will look on in spirit, if not personally, as young Fitch turns the Big Corner in his career.

Local man participant in suit against AC&Y

A Plymouth engineer of the Akron, Canton, & Youngstown railroad is among five employees in whose behalf the federal government filed in U. S. District Court at Toledo Friday a suit seeking 2,500 damages on charges of violating the Hours of Service act.

He is J. Bails Kennedy, said by the government to have been worked on the freight train between Akron and Delphos from 8 a. m. on Jan. 24 to 2:05 a. m. on Jan. 25 without time off.

Harland M. Britz, assistant U. S. attorney, said the railroad was operating in sub-zero temperatures, had mechanical trouble, and instead of rotating the crew kept the five men on duty more than the permissible 16 hours. The government through the Interstate Commerce commission seeks $500 for each of the quintet, which also includes W. E. Duggan, Delphos, conductor; R. W. Griffith, Delphos, rotating the crew kept the trainman; C. C. Louth, Delpho, trainman, and L. M. Duggan, Akron, fireman.

$500,000 fire levels three buildings on Stambaugh farm at Celeryville

Fire believed to have started in the blower of a ventilating system destroyed two barns, damaged a third extensively and laid $500,000 in damages at Celeryville early Saturday.

Three buildings on the farm of John F. Stambaugh & Co., containing machinery, records, about 75,000 bushels of newly harvested onions, rolling stock and other equipment, were destroyed in the fire, discovered about 2:05 a. m. by Elicar Garcia, a resident employee of the Stambaugh firm.

Plymouth civil defense unit was the first equipment to arrive at the scene, closely followed by Willard, Plymouth, New Washington and Attica apparatuses.

Fire-extinguishers were able to contain the blaze after they arrived, but the principal buildings were already lost. Twelve housing units, in which live employees of the Stambaugh firm, were protected from the fire because the wind blew from the southwest. Had its force been from the north, firemen said, these dwellings and their occupants would have been in some danger.

GARCIA SAID HE WAS watching late television. "All of a sudden," he said, "it flickered and the power went off." When he looked out the window, he saw the flames. He ran to the house of his brother, the only house equipped with a telephone, and called Willard Fire department and Charles Hanline, Plymouth, manager of

The packing building, measuring 250 by 300 feet, was a total loss. It contained drying equipment, packing equipment, and some farm machinery.

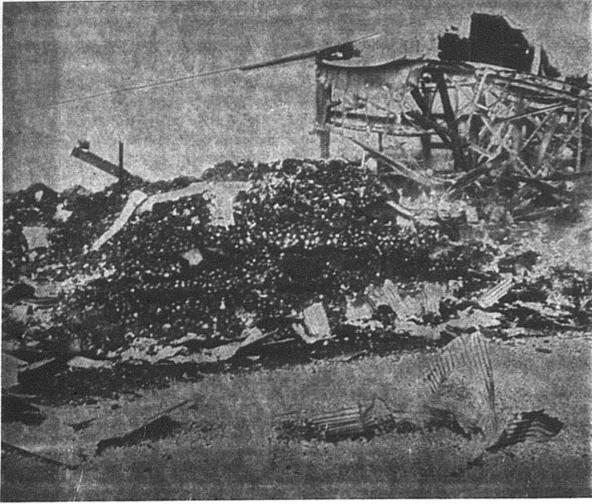

A second building, used for storing onions, measuring 250 by 50 feet, was also lost.

Some of the contents may be salvaged, fire experts say.

About half of the 250 acres planted in onions had been harvested, sources at the farm said. Yield was running about 90 bushels to the acre. This would mean 112,500 bushels of onions lay in the path of the fire.

LEFT: Part of onion crop that may be salvaged. Smell of burnt onions pervaded Richmond and New Haven townships for several days.

Two Shilohans slightly injured in crash

Two Shiloh women were slightly injured and their driver summoned into Huron county court at Willard on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way after they collided with a tractor-trailer rig at New Haven Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Bessie McQuate, 68, 25 East Main street, Shiloh, received an abrasion of the right knee. Mrs. Emma Lutz, 75, High street, Shiloh, received lacerations of the right leg.

Their driver, Ivan L. McQuate, 70, was cited for failure to yield the right-of-way after he collided with the rig operated by Perry L. Curtis, 40, Route 61, New Haven, headed west in Route 224, 110 feet west of Route 61. The McQuates were headed south.

McQuate told state highway patrolmen he sought to depress the brake of his sedan. His foot slipped and he depressed the accelerator instead. His car collided with the rear of the rig.

He will be heard in the court of Judge Robert Wiedemann at Willard Monday at 1:30 p. m.

Bob Roy Jewell, 23, 38 East

Union street Greenwich, was arrested by the state patrol at Routes 20 and 547 Saturday at 9:50 p. m. on a charge of drunken driving. He was cited into Huron county common pleas court.

Big Red overpowers Black River, 14 to 6

Plymouth's Big Red overpowered Black River, 14 to 6, in the season's opener before a crowd of about 450 here Friday night.

Although the Big Red had two touchdowns called back, the contest was more satisfying than satisfactory, marked by 16 penalties and 14 fumbles, on 11 of which possession changed hands.

Black River was surprisingly strong and in John Gonsales showed a sparkling young quarterback who will give inland conference fans some fits before the season is over.

THE PIRATES ELECTED to receive the opening kickoff and kept it for a single play from scrimmage. Young Norman Howard, a sophomore playing his first season of football, and playing it well indeed, recovered Van Meter's fumble at the Pirate-41. But Mike Ruckman returned the fumble four plays later. On third down, Ruckman recovered Walkden's fumble and the Big Red was back in business.

Unable to gain, Plymouth sent Phil Fletcher to punt. It was a short boot carrying only 17 yards from scrimmage. Bud Berkey lost six yards on the first play and Gonsales was smeared by Bob Forsythe for another 12 as he sought to pass. Gonsales fumbled when he was hit and Forsythe pounced on the ball.

Gene Crouse rounded end for the score, on the 16th play of the game, but the red flag was down and Plymouth was socked five yards for illegal procedure. Ruckman got a pair from the 15 and then Fletcher on a reverse went 13 for the score. His rush for the PAT failed.

The Big Red defense performed creditably throughout the first half. Had the offense, chiefly the backfield handoffs and the outside blocking, been executed as capably, the score would have been considerably higher.

At the end of the first period, Black River had fumbled away possession five times and Plymouth twice. The Big Red had paid 30 yards in penalties and the Pirates five. Neither team had a first down and each, was to wind up with only three.

PLYMOUTH HAD POSSESSION for only 14 plays during the second period and gained a net one yard by rushing. The Big Red was not able to complete a pass throughout the game. With only a few seconds on the clock, Fletcher intercepted Gonsales' pass intended for Blessing at the Pirate 38 and went in for the score. But a 15-yard penalty eradicated this advantage and only one play could be executed. Crouse ran 27 yards on this one — 25 yards across field and two yards backwards.

By half time, Plymouth had a net yardage of minus five. Black River was nine yards worse.

After an exchange of punts midway in the third period, Black River found itself in the hole because of a clipping penalty. With possession on its 13, Black River gained 15 yards and a first down by penalty. Blessing was forced to punt, showing once again good foot and a weakness in the Plymouth defense. Only one boot, whether kickoff or punt, was cleanly handled by the Big Red during the entire game.

With possession on the Pirate 37, Crouse rounded end on third down for 16 yards, Fletcher hit left off the reverse for 17 and then Ruckman banged off tackle, veered inside right tackle and then shot straight up the middle 30 yards for the score. Fletcher ran the PAT.

BLACK RIVER THREATened in the final quarter on breaks and Plymouth errors. Chief of these came with less than three minutes to play. Bob Young recovered a Pirate fumble at the Plymouth 16. But the Big Red wasn't able to get off a dime and Fletcher's punt was blocked.

Larry Walkden and Gonsales alternated in negotiating the last 16 yards, the key play being Gonsales' rollout right in which he faked the Plymouth left end sufficiently to get outside for the first down on the two.

Gonsales rolled again for the touchdown. The same play for the PAT failed.

With 28 seconds on the clock, Plymouth was unable to gain with the kickoff and Fletcher's punt to Gonsales at the 50 wound up at the Plymouth 35. Gonsales went to the air, a tactic he had used with some success earlier in the evening, and although he completed one pass, it was for a net loss and Black River died there.

ALTHOUGH IT WAS NOT a satisfactory performance, the exhibition was not without some bright spots. Among these:

1. The Plymouth inner defense showed well. Its pass defense had better improve.

2. Crouse will make a strong running back with experience. Regrettably, he will be over the age limit next year.

3. Plymouth's squad is well conditioned. There was only one slight injury and Plymouth won the game as much on condition as anything else.

4. Howard shows signs of being a capable end.

Ex-leacher here heard bell again!

One who answered the school bell in Plymouth Elementary school wasn't there again this year.

But she thought about it! Mrs. Velma Funk, formerly of 86 West Broadway, now living at 748 Fordham road, Palm Bay, Fla., was for a number of years a teacher in the school. Now in uncertain health, she noted the beginning of classes for the 1963-64 term and wished she were on hand.

Aunt Liz says it's easy for 260

Every day brings a new problem. Don't let it get you in a ditch. There is always a way out and a simple solution.

Should you find that you have invited 260 people to dinner next Saturday night, there is a menu already tested. It was served to the guests of the First Lady's young step-sister before her coming out ball last month in Newport, R. I.

It probably was the most lavish dinner of the year. But the meal itself was quite simple.

Deadline listed for show entries

Entries for the Plymouth Garden club flower show Saturday are to be in place between 8:30 and 10:30 a. m. in the basement of First Presbyterian church.

The show will be open to the public, after the judging, from 1 p. m. until 8:30 p. m. Persons entering the horticultural classes are asked to bring their own containers.

Club members won five first places, six second and two thirds Friday in the Willard club's show.

Mrs. Harold Ross's religious arrangement of a madonna with tall purple flowers against a black velvet background took a blue ribbon. Her dried arrangement was a second.

Mrs. Thomas DeWitt was first with an arrangement of purple and lavender flowers in its class and her marigolds won third place.

Mrs. Duane Hunter's coffee cup arrangement placed second and she won blue ribbons for her King David gladioli and miniature zinnias.

Roses of Mrs. D. G. Cunningham were second and third in their classes. Mrs. Roy Hatch's Personality rose won a red ribbon. So did her Peace rose. She placed second in dahlias over six inches.

There is another little thing not to overlook, it gave business to hundreds who might have had a diet of bread and water that weekend. This is what was served. Assorted hot and cold hors d'oeuvres. Vichyoisaise and cheese sticks. Breast of chicken supreme with wild rice. Tomatoes stuffed with string beans Almondine rolls. Orange sherbert balls with Mandarin Orange slices. Petit Fours. Demi-tasse.

A FEW CHANGES CAN

be made. The opening course could be tasty carrot sticks, olives of various colors and crunchy celery. If you happen to like anchovies and other squirmy little tidbits, serve them. I don't. And there is one rule I follow faithfully, serve what you like, don't force your guests to eat what you don't like, they probably don't either.

That is why my young man was not brought up on spinach like other children. After being splattered with it several times, I realized he didn't like it either, so I gave up.

The second course is merely a dressed up starchy potato soup, which is economical and nourishing. Chop chives finely and sprinkle on top. It's ready for a party.

As for the chicken, it must be in season and fried chicken is always mouth-watering. This version is done with gentleness. Start with halves, skin them, salt and pepper them, dredge lightly in flour and d saute in butter over a medium heat until they are browned and cooked through.

Wild rice is quite scarce and after that dinner in Newport, there probably isn't enough left in the whole country for yours. So use the ordinary kind and perk it up with curry, cheese or saffron. They're all good.

The beans which go in the tomatoes are the same ones someone always brings to a covered dish dinner. Just cook them with seasoning and throw in silvered almonds. It should look pretty and probably be a good thing thing to remember for the holidays which are coming.

The dessert is self-explanatory. For the little cakes, whip up a white cake and bake in a large shallow pan. You can have a marvelous time with the little gadget which swirls on decorations. Get out a yard stick and figure how many small squares you can get in each direction, then center a little design in each one.

With such a dinner, there is absolutely no reason why you can't sit down with your 260 guests and enjoy yourself. You might as well, because it will take weeks to wash all those dishes.

The hospital beat

David Cole entered Madison hospital, Mansfield, over the weekend.

Mrs. Quincy Vanderpool was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Sunday.

Roy J. Johnson, Sr., is a patient in Room 201, Flower hospital, Toledo, where he has undergone surgery.

Mrs. Jerome McMahon and Henry Van Loo were admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Aug. 3.
