Bulldogs seeking initial victory here tomorrow

BY J. J. PETTI
 Sports Editor,
 The Crestline Advocate
 Crestline's Bulldogs will be looking for their first grid victory of 1963 at Plymouth tomorrow.

The Bulldogs need a victory after taking two jolting losses at the hands of Marion Catholic (36-0) and Gallon (20-0). Whether they will be able to tame the Big Red is a moot question. Paper statistics fail to show the Bulldogs in a true light.

Against Marion in its opening game, Crestline displayed an offense that failed to move and a defense that could not stop hard-running Marion backs. But talk was that Marion had a "powerhouse" this year, and "things would be rough for any opposition."

Hopes were built that Crestline would be able to beat arch-rival Gallon. But Friday's exhibition failed to produce a winner for the Bulldogs or a convincing game for their fans.

Gallon had a little trouble keeping Crestline away from the goal line and the Bulldogs were able only to penetrate to the Tiger 10.

Crestline lacks veteran players and head coach Ron Isgro, in his first year with the Bulldogs, has had to depend on younger boys who saw little or no action last season.

BILL DEGRAY HAS carried a lion's share of the work in the forward wall and Bill Schreck has proved to be an exceptional backfield defender.

Attack-wise, Crestline lacks the passing threat which marked its teams for the past several years. While the Bulldogs boast two expert passers, neither of them has had a chance to throw a bomb.

QUARTERBACKS DICK Algire and Dan Engard, in passing attempts, have found a lack of good receivers and in most cases a lack of protection.

Crestline should be at full strength for the encounter with Plymouth since there were no serious injuries to the Bulldogs in last week's game.

Man, 22, arrested on morals charge by juvenile court

He pleaded not guilty in Huron county juvenile court and was placed under a cash bond of $1,500.

James P. Martin forfeited $30 in bond in the mayor's court at Willard last week. He was charged with going the wrong way in a one-way alley.

Charles E. Hockenbury forfeited a $15 bond on a speeding charge in the same court.

In Willard county court, Francis L. Briggs was cited for reckless operation by the state patrol. He forfeited bond of $25.

PHS pupils set parade here today

That annual madness called Homecoming began at Plymouth High school yesterday at 7:50 a. m.

A flag-raising ceremony was conducted at that hour. A noise parade begins in front of Plymouth Elementary school today at 6:30 p. m.

Each class will enter the noise contest, to be judged by faculty members and the public, during the parade which will march at 7 p. m., proceeding east in West Broadway to Sandusky street and thence to the school.

Girls' Athletic association will stage a mock football game in the stadium at 7:30 p. m. A bonfire at the high school will be lighted at 8 p. m. and pupils will be dismissed at 8:15 p. m.

HOMECOMING QUEEN Natalie Faust and her court will be presented to the game crowd in the stadium at 7:30 p. m.

Crestline's Bulldogs will furnish the opposition in a Johnny Appleseed conference game at 8 p. m.

Neither team has a victory so far. Only Plymouth has scored any points, 14 in the season's opening with Black River. Crestline led's starting from two thumpings at the hands of Marion Catholic and Gallon.

The queen will be crowned Saturday at 7:30 p. m. prior to the Homecoming dance in the gymnasium at 8 p. m. Admission is 50 cents.

Fazio to seek to oust Moser from BPA job

Charges of incompetency will be filed "in a day or two" against Russell J. Moser, superintendent of light, power and water, under the provisions of Sec. 723.35 of the Revised Code of Ohio. Mayor William Fazio told village council Tuesday night.

Fazio said he will spell out the circumstances to which he alluded Aug. 6 when he handed a letter to the board of public affairs and the council recommending dismissal of both Moser and his assistant, Richard Stover, and appointment of William Forquer as chief of all village services.

Stover has since been dismissed "for economy reasons" by the board.

Forquer asked the council Tuesday night to be placed on a flat hourly rate of $225 an hour. He now draws $4,000 annually as street supervisor.

He argued he is equally skilled as the lineman in the electric department who is now paid $225 hourly. Furthermore, he said, he has worked long hours without request for reimbursement for the past several months, often when his assistant on an hourly rate drew a larger check owing to overtime pay.

After Forquer departed, the council resolved to offer him $4,500 annually, since he stipulated an answer to his request must be forthcoming by yesterday.

FAZIO AGAIN URGED the appointment of Forquer as chief of village services, saying he is more qualified than any other employee.

Councilman Donald E. Akers said he feels Forquer may lack experience as an electrician, whereupon Fazio argued Forquer has served in an electrician's capacity for the village for a period of three years all told, albeit sporadically.

Both Akers and Councilman Willard W. Wirth said they feel the question of whom to employ is a matter within the powers and purview of the board of public affairs and observed the council "has enough problems of its own without getting into that."

To this Fazio responded, "I can't get anywhere with the board of public affairs without the support of the council." He has already been told by the board that it regards his recommendations as an unwarranted interference.

Complaints that a young dispatcher employed by the police department has misrepresented his authority and made use of the police cruiser were investigated by him, Fazio said, and he found the charges are untrue. The vehicle has on occasion been driven by the dispatcher when the police officer was not available. He has been warned to discontinue the practice, Fazio said.

ARTHUR BURRAS, North Fairfield, a surveyor, presented a plat for 10 building lots in allotment of Raymond L. Brooks in West Broadway. The council will meet in special session today at 7:30 p. m. to determine specifications for sewers, water services and streets that will be incorporated into a resolution accepting the conditionally.

"Don't set your standards so high, as Willard has done, so that it is prohibitive for any builder to put up a new development," he urged.

A request by Fazio that expense be allowed for him and Forquer to attend the annual convention of the Ohio Municipal League at Dayton Sept. 25 through 27 was disallowed. The village will pay the expenses of Fazio and Clerk Carl V. Ellis only. Forquer may attend if he takes annual leave.

A CONTRACT FORMALLY engaging James Roose, Ottawa, as sanitary sewer engineer was entered into. The contract affirms Roose will collect no more than 10 per cent of costs for his services. But the village obligated to hire the resident engineer. Current rates are $5.25 an hour.

Roose will be here Monday at 7:30 p. m. with the council in special session to discuss sewer plans.

A mutual fire assistance contract with New Washington was renewed for three years, to expire Sept. 20, 1966.

Schools get reprieve in non-teacher pact adjustment order by General Assembly

Religious classes may be taught in public school buildings during school hours, Plymouth Board of Education ruled Sept. 11.

Its inquiry to the state department of education asking if the extra 15 minutes over the five-hour daily minimum instruction can be accumulated during the week and used for the special class was answered by Glenn Rich, director of elementary and secondary education. He said it is legally permissible so long as pupils have five hours a day averaged through the week.

His letter, however, answered only the question on the time element. He carefully avoided committing himself on how the extra time may be used and added a post script to his letter. In this he said he hopes the board understands what problems it faces with religious training in the public schools.

Letters to parents concerning religious instruction are already mailed. Participation is on a voluntary basis. If less than 50 per cent of any class is signed for the class, it will not be taught in that grade.

Last year only elementary pupils had enough pupils for it.

RAISES FOR BUS DRIVERS and a new state law which says non-teaching school employees may work only a 40-hour week without being paid for overtime threw a monkey wrench into the board's plannirg and policy making.

A delegation of Shiloh bus drivers appeared to say they are unhappy. The new system of dual routing is increasing their hours and the new salary schedule is decreasing their pay. They are also driving more miles a day.

They now are averaging $165 an hour. Last year they averaged $2.

The dual system is successful, they admitted, but it is "a tight schedule". The drivers said they feel they are driving too fast at times in order to meet time deadlines on the routes.

The board asked the drivers to wait for an answer until the next meeting, set for Sept. 25, when the transportation report will be complete. By then it will know where it stands financially and how much of an increase can be afforded. The board said it feels the drivers are entitled to raises.

Plymouth is one of few school districts in Ohio which operates within reasonable limits of the state allowance for transportation expense. Last year the district exceeded by only a few hundred dollars the allowance granted by the state for this purpose. Under the dual routing system, the district is entitled to larger state contributions toward

NEXT BOMBHELL to drop on the board was the 40-hour week law. This hits the custodians. Their contracts are based on a 54-hour week and salaries are set accordingly.

The law effective Sept. 16 clearly states no contract may be diminished or reduced. Salaries may not be lowered to match working time. Result is that custodians get a raise from $1.57 to $2.12 an hour without asking for it.

This upsets their housekeeping chores in the schools, the board was told. All cleaning will have to be done in less time. No custodian can be assigned to extra-curricular duties. The schools cannot afford to pay overtime nor to hire more full-time help.

The problem is being solved by hiring part-time workers at Shiloh and Plymouth and by finding persons to shovel snow on an hourly basis. This is the most economical way out, Executive Head C. Todd Strohmeier said.

Glenn Moore will be hired in Plymouth, Marion Hughes will be offered the Shiloh post, provided he resigns as village marshal. The board said it believes he cannot perform both assignments satisfactorily.

Both will work 20 hours a week.

MRS. EARL C. CASHMAN, librarian, was placed on full-time contract at $4,770 annually. She is needed for three study hall periods. This will allow her more time for library duties.

One Guy Flora was given a one-year contract at $4,602 annually. Having completed summer courses, she is now qualified to teach girls' physical education.

A contract with the Village of Shiloh to pay an annual $400 water charge for the schools there was approved. The school calendar was amended to cancel the Nov. 1 teachers' meeting in favor of an Oct. 18 meeting at Mansfield.

Efforts will be made to induce Mrs. Maude Ferrell to erect a link fence on property owned by her which abuts the school premises at Shiloh. The board will then seek to purchase one foot of land and fence from her with proceeds of the bond issue which financed construction of the elementary school.

The board will henceforth meet in Plymouth Elementary school twice a month, on the second and fourth Wednesdays at 8 p. m.

(Ed. Note: Opinion by Ohio's attorney-general rendered Saturday is to effect contracts need not be revised if contractors had in fact an understanding when contract was negotiated that a work schedule in excess of 40 hours would be in force. This apparently was the case when Plymouth school district entered into a contract with custodians of the several schools. For time being, evidently, custodians may work more than 40 hours. New contracts must, however, conform to the new law.)

The position has been filled by John Bryan, who has resigned.

Whoever is elected may be appointed by council to complete Mr. Bryan's term.

A write-in campaign will be required for mayor, the board of public affairs members and one councilman.

Only one candidate, Charles Strickland, is seeking the two council posts.

Only one contest for Shiloh voters is for Cas' township trustee. Incumbent Wood Arnold is opposed by Verl Malone.

A. C. Henry had his petitions as candidate for mayor nullified by the Richland county board of elections because he certified 25 signatures, whereas 26 were affixed. He is expected to be a write-in candidate for the post.

One councilman says the Shiloh Chamber of Commerce should take the lead in calling a meeting of citizens to get write-in candidates for the posts open and to find out whether the candidates if elected Nov. 5 will serve.

All-Jersey milk builds strong bones naturally

Those prehistoric monsters must have had something mighty potent in their daily diets. So these millions of years later it's fun to stare at what's left. It's a mighty safe bet they took in a good supply of calcium and phosphorus.

All-Jersey milk, from 100% Jersey herds, supplies more calcium and phosphorus than any other natural milk. And its calcium and phosphorus are better assimilated by growing children than the same minerals in other foods.

Jersey milk is world-famous for extra quality. All-Jersey milk has been awarded Parents Magazine's Seal of Commendation. Why not give your children All-Jersey's extra bone-building power? Costs no more than ordinary milk.

Plymouth chose the wrong game of football to play against in the wrong team on the wrong night at North Robinson Saturday.

Result: Colonel Crawford thumped the Big Red, 36 to 0. The local entry threw up a strong defense for a running game against a team that can't run worth a nickel. It threw up absolutely no defense for a passing attack against a team with a good passer and some good receivers. Plymouth fans and its coach simply threw up, period.

The cardinal sin of football, the one mistake that shows a player either doesn't know the game or care to play it, led to the first three touchdowns.

This was the careless fumble, as distinguished from the bobble that comes when the ball carrier is racked up.

On the 15th play of the contest, the first fumble occurred at the Colonel Crawford 37. It rolled loose to the home 46, where the Eagles recovered.

Rule 1, Page 1, of the high school quarterbacking book says, "When you recover a fumble in the other team's territory, or near midfield, pass on the first play."

Such instructions were sent in from the bench and Glen Culbertson hit Doug Regula for 54 yards and the TD. Plymouth, was completely floundered. There was 6:57 left on the first period clock. A pass for the PAT went awry.

PLYMOUTH TRIES HARD to hand the Eagles another touchdown. The ensuing kickoff was fumbled at the Plymouth 33 and Colonel Crawford recovered.

In seven plays the Eagles penetrated to the Plymouth nine, where Billy Goth intercepted Culbertson's toss and ran it out eight yards.

Half way through the second period the Eagles had another score. Phil Fletcher punted 32 yards to the Colonel Crawford 11, where a fine runback resulted in a 24-yard gain. A 15-yard penalty against Plymouth for personal foul and four running plays gave the Eagles possession at the Big Red nine. A five yard penalty sent Colonel Crawford back to the 14 and Gene Crouse smeared Culbertson back to the 20. On Fourth down, Dick Wilson sought to ruck right end, was hemmed in, all but stopped, then allowed to wriggle loose for the TD. Burgin's rush for the PAT was not good.

The redoubtable Fletcher committed the next sin. He fumbled at the Plymouth 40 on second down after the kickoff. Colonel Crawford recovered at the Red 30 and in five plays Culbertson passed to Regula over Akers for 13 yards and the third TD. Culbertson passed to Dave Pfahler for the PAT.

The remainder of the half was played deep in Plymouth territory, thanks to an interception of a pass from Fletcher intended for Jim Kurtz. PLYMOUTH HELD THE Eagles on more or less even terms in the third period but never got possession in Eagle territory.

After a 15-yard penalty against Colonel Crawford set the Eagles back to the home 39, Culbertson calmly passed to Regula on the look-in pattern for 56 yards and the fourth score. The fourth period was only three plays old and there was 11:02 on the clock.

Plymouth tried three passes, only one of which was high enough to catch, in the next series and when Fletcher went back to punt, he was off line. So was the pass from center, which sailed over his head. He danced a gavotte while seeking to punt, stubbed his toe and stood helplessly while an Eagle defender recovered.

It took Culbertson two plays to score, the TD coming on an 18-yard toss to Jim Gould after a pass for Rehm fell incomplete. Culbertson hit Rehm for the PAT and that was it.

PLYMOUTH SHOWED A strong running attack in the first period, notably in end shotgun formation.

There was hope the Big Red might come back after it got down by two scores.

But then it became increasingly clear that some fundamental faults in this team would prevent such a pleasant occurrence.

On some of these Coach Richard Carpenter, who absorbed his second-worst beating since assuming the helm of the Plymouth team, will be working this week.

The pass defense is non-existent. Some improvement is mandatory and doubtless will be installed.

The inside running game is the inside running game is so name. Fletcher runs outside fairly well, but he is the only ball carrier, seemingly, led scrimmage with Findlay college.

REED COMPLETED TWO of four passes for 53 yards and two scores.

Hamman, inserted as third string quarterback in the final period, ran once for five yards and passed once for the PAT after the final Beaver score in a 38 to 8 rout of Alma.

Hamman made a brief appearance in the defensive secondary and was credited with one tackle after the Alma ball carrier had galloped 20 yards.

Reed, Hamman play at Bluffton

Two ex-PHS gridders will be in Bluffton college uniforms at Tiffin Saturday when the Beavers seek to do what no other Bluffton outfit has ever done — lick Heidelberg.

Dayton (Hub) Reed is sharing quarterback duties with Paul Etter. Coach Kenny Mast says each man has his specialty and he expects to call on each in his turn.

Jimmy Hamman, just a freshman, has been assigned No. 47 — Reed wears 38 — reported late and has already seen some action in a control-

Here's mummy talk,
by mommy of two

By AUNT LIZ

Now that the nicest time
of the year has arrived, ambition gets the better of me.
There are thousands of interesting things to do all of a sudden.

This feeling of wanting to rush around the countryside can be blamed solely on the world history class.

Just about now, it has polished off pre-historic man.
Matter how poor a museum
history and is getting down beginnings of our written to business with the Egyptians.

I must have been nine or 10 when I saw my first mummy, in Milwaukee. No
matter how poor a museum
may be, if it has a mummy of its own, it's made the grade with every school-ager.

At least this was something you could see with your own eyes, not just a lot of dull paragraphs written with loving care by a historian.

Right now our children
have the chance of a lifetime to see even more. The Toledo Museum of Art has a special loan exhibit of choice pieces found in the tomb of King Tutankhamen.

They belong to Cairo and are here until Oct. 15. It is certain to drive to Toledo than to fly to Cairo, when it comes right down to making a decision to see them.

It's the chance of a lifetime to see such things and they should be seen. They are the little "extras" which you remember years later.

The museum will be open Tuesdays and Thursdays
til 9 p. m. for people like us.
At 7:30 p. m. on those nights
a special film on Egypt is being shown.

EGYPT TREASURES ITS
antiquities and any found immediately become the possessions of the government, so there is little likelihood they will ever reach museums or private collections.
A few get sneaked out but a very few.

Once in the market place in Cairo, I saw a magnificent piece of sculpture which was being sold illegally to whomever had the half million dollars. I've often wondered where it ended up. It was the head of a young girl who had been identified as a princess somewhere along the line.
She was beautiful and in perfect condition. The painted eyes a la (E. Taylor) and blue of her headress were still in vivid shades.

I am ashamed to say that not once did I ever get to the state museum there and we were in Cairo several times.
Each time they were carrying on a revolution and it wasn't safe to venture too far. Soldiers with aimed machine guns are not conducive to sightseeing jaunts.

They didn't daunt our wiggly cocker spaniel nor his two friends any. He led them around the block and they led him back to the hotel door while their mother sort of tiptoed with plain fear. Then I realized that a dog is man's best friend and we were perfectly safe.

EN ROUTE A VISIT TO the Hayes museum in Fremont will take care of any American history classes so they are not slighted.

While you are museumhopping, you might as well go the other direction too.
Cleveland is no slouch either.
It is considered the third finest in the country. The Metropolitan in New York and the National in Washington are the other two.

Cleveland is not above
"borrowing" either. It is planning a special showing next month which will be lovely.
It has gathered from halfway around the globe what you probably never have a chance to see in your lifetimes.

Two Celeryvilleites
injured in crash
in fog in Route 4

Two young Celeryville
women were treated for injuries Tuesday morning in the hospital at Bellevue, where their car struck a dump truck
in Route 4 during a heavy early morning fog.

Driver of the car, Nancy Cok, 19, and her passenger, Joanne Van Zoest, 18, were enroute to Sandusky, where they are taking a course in practical nursing at Providence hospital. Their car ran into the truck driven by Roger F. Moore of Wellington.

All three were were treated for bruises. Miss Van Zoest was also cut and had a sprained ankle.

The highway patrol reported the truck crossed the path of the Cok car, which was northbound. The collision caused the truck to topple over on the car, spilling a load of lime.

Moore has been cited for failure to yield right of way.

Charged with driving while intoxicated, Vernon Gray, 30, Plymouth, lost his right to drive, except to his job for one year in Shelby
Municipal court Monday.

He pleaded "no contest" and was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail.

Lawrence Caplinger, Shelby, by route 3, was fined $10 and costs in the same court on a charge of unsafe operation which resulted in a two-car collision in Shelby last week.

Lummie Reed, 22, has been bound over to the Huron county grand jury on a for-geary charge.

He is alleged to have passed two checks, one for $60 and one for $25, in a Plymouth dry goods store
and in a grocery, signed with the name of Lowell Sexton.

Hospital.

and friends for cards, gifts and personal visits.

Your kindness will be re-
