Train kills man

Vallie J. Eichenlaub, 68, was fatally injured Saturday morning when he drove into the path of an oncoming B & O train at the old state road crossing.

Eichenlaub, driving north, apparently did not see the westbound train. The train's engineer said he saw the pickup truck start across, paying no heed to the train's whistles. The freight train was unable to stop. He was a Greenwich resident and well known here. His wife, Pearl, three sisters and two brothers survive.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon in Greenwich by the Rev. Daniel Hurnichouser, pastor of the Greenwich Church of Christ, and the Rev. Paul Haney, pastor of Shenandoah Christian church. Burial was in Greenwich.

New relief rules

Most citizens are justifiably resentful when public funds are distributed to malingers, ne'er-do-wells and unemployables.

Recent entry into force of a revised law governing eligibility of some citizens for relief or welfare payments is bound, we think, to stir up a good bit more resentment.

As the law now stands, an applicant for welfare payments need not have resided in his county for one calendar year to establish eligibility. One year of residence in Ohio is the only residence requirement.

What is this likely to mean?

There are many who fear it will result in substantial displacement of welfare cases from counties where the average payment is low to others where the payments run high.

They believe that persons displaced from depressed areas settled in the Ohio county most contiguous to their previous place of residence (because their resources would support no further transportation) and subsisted somehow until they were able to meet residence qualifications for welfare.

This is the theory, which has wide support, that "professional welfare" cases are numerous and tend to exceed "legitimate welfare" cases.

At a time when the whole matter of civil rights is under debate, it behooves every citizen to remember some facts:

- 1. It is the fundamental right of every citizen to become indigent, whether by choice or otherwise.
2. This right extends to every citizen regardless of race, color, sex or religion.
3. Statutory or administrative proscriptions which tend to restrict the right of any citizen to change his place of residence of his own will, such as public covenants to prohibit occupancy of territories, areas, or premises by reason of social, political, economic or religious calling or lack of calling, are illegal, unethical and immoral.
4. The official agency established to deal with welfare is required to observe rules laid down by the legislature. Obviously, some leeway must be allowed to permit it to deal with some cases which defy advance description. But, since the agency's records are not open to public inspection save as to their whole cost and number (i.e., you can't find out what's being done for a specific welfare case), the public must generally rely upon the honor and honesty of the agency's management to enforce the rules fairly, firmly and for the benefit of the whole public.
5. Abuses of the rules occur. There is substantial proof of this.
6. Where abuse is proved, the people are entitled to knowledge and to recovery as well as to punishment of the offenders. But abuse must be proved within the rules. It cannot be alleged or proved on the basis that a recipient is or is not white, male, married, illegitimate or born in Kentucky.

This is what the whole civil rights debate is all about. And what it comes down to, in the long run, is this: the fellow next door must not be prohibited from occupancy for any reason other than that he can't afford the frehold.

OES to commence meeting season

Plymouth Chapter, OES, will have its first regular meeting of the season Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the chapter rooms.

Hostesses for the special hour will be Mrs. Lawrence Caplinger and Mrs. Oliver Fairchild. A district line officers meeting will take place Sept. 14 in Bucyrus.

Service academy bids due to Mosher

Young men of 13th Congressional district who wish to attend a United States service academy for the 1964 class are urged by Rep. Charles A. Mosher to write him not later than Sept. 20.

All letters should be directed to his office, 410 Cannon Office Building, Washington, D. C., 20515.

Rep. Mosher will require all potential candidates to participate in the civil service examination to be administered in Elyria and Sandusky on Nov. 9. The testing locations in Elyria and Sandusky will be announced by him later.

In addition to the civil service test, Mr. Mosher will require each candidate to have his high school principal forward his official high school transcript of grades. Each must undergo a thorough physical and eye examination.

Rep. Mosher emphasizes that all final selections will be made on a competitive basis, and not according to political affiliation.

The four service academies are U. S. Military academy, West Point, N. Y.; U. S. Naval academy, Annapolis, Md.; U. S. Air Force academy, Colorado Springs, Colo.; and Merchant Marine academy, Kings Point, N. Y.

Mr. Mosher has one vacancy for the 1964 class at Annapolis. He can name 10 young men to compete for Ohio's 14 vacancies at the Merchant Marine academy. Unfortunately, the 13th district's quota is filled

Village told water tower needs another location

It's better to "get it in writing, preferably with seven copies" village council discovered — the hard way — Tuesday night.

Relying on an informal opinion by Funk Construction Co., New London, that subsoil at the site of the second water tower would be sufficient to support the $85,000 structure, the council approved plans of the board of public affairs to erect the facility, advertised for and received bids and awarded a contract.

Now the contractor, Chicago Bridge & Iron Works, finds the sub-soil is not satisfactory.

Result: a new site will be required. The village has spent $4,000 for about two acres of land that, so far as immediate use is concerned, has no value. There is a possibility it could be used as an extension of Greenlawn cemetery, but the need for more space here is not now pressing.

WHETHER THE VILLAGE may recover for damages, against either the Funk firm or the engineers, Floyd G. Brown and Associates, Marion, is a moot question. Contract will be examined to determine if there is any liability.

Perhaps, the council opined, the new tower can be erected in the open space at the edge of Pioneer's Rest, the ancient cemetery.

But from now on, the council said emphatically, verbal or informal opinions won't be accepted from anybody. The rule is "Put it in writing or the village won't act."

Mayor William Fazio said he thought all opinions were given in good faith but acknowledged it "is poor policy not to get them in writing."

SPOONERS IN GREENLAWN cemetery having resisted orders to leave the burial grounds, resulting in one disorderly conduct conviction in mayor's court, Mayor William Fazio asked the council to approve an ordinance limiting visiting hours there. There developed a long dispute over the exact hour of darkness, a discussion in which several councilmen lofted witticisms reflecting upon young love, the spring season, and such, but unanimous agreement that an ordinance is necessary was reached. The solicitor will draft one for consideration at the next meeting.

Edward O. Ramsey, president of Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and J. Benjamin Smith, its treasurer, appeared to urge the council to take steps to encourage a housing development for 28 homes in West Broadway.

Ramsey commented by reading an essay titled "What's Wrong With Plymouth?" He said chiefly it is that it does not progress, mostly because there is no housing for new families.

He supported expenditure of village funds to extend water and sewer to the allotment planned by Postmaster Raymond L. Brooks.

Councilmen Donald E. Akers and Charles Vansdale said the developer of new housing should pay for improvements, cost of which he can recover when the lots are sold.

It was her 88th birthday. She was a resident of Shelby, where she was a member of the United Church of Christ.

Keiser sells agency at Greenwich

Sale of Keiser Chevrolet in Greenwich to Clyde Bacon was announced last week by Sylbert Keiser.

The dealership has been owned by Keiser 10 years. He began working for the garage in 1934, when it was owned by the late Charles A. Crum. In 1945 he and Mr. Crum became partners until the latter sold his interest because of ill health.

Bacon has worked for the garage since 1938 when he moved to Greenwich. Previously he had been a General Motors employee in the Cleveland area.

Pupils who plan to attend the three catechetical classes are invited with their parents to meet with the Rev. John H. Worth at the church Sunday at 7 p. m.

New members will be received during the regular worship service Sunday.

BELOW: MIKE RUCK-man, junior with two letters behind him, is big gun at fullback. He is perhaps fastest back on the squad, a bearcat on defense and handy in other backfield posts.

Big Red rated slight favorite over Black River in opener

The Big Red opens its 16th season of 11-man football in Mary Fate park tomorrow at 8 p. m., hosting the Black River Pirates, the team that was, then wasn't, now is, for the time being at least.

Defeat of an operating levy in Black River district forced the board of education to discontinue football. The coach, Jack Purtell, an Ashland college graduate, resigned to enter private business.

Then schools which had binding contracts with Black River called the board's hand and football was re-instituted for this year only. Pat Gallagher, a Baldwin-Wal-

Squirrel season opens tomorrow

Earliest squirrel season in many years opens tomorrow at daybreak.

New hunting licenses must be obtained before hunters may enter the field, game authorities say.

Just how good are chances for a bag limit? "Pretty fair," say some experts. "There's a good supply of food but the woods are kind of dry. This should mean it'll be a little hard to find the squirrels, but there ought to be quite a few of them."

lace graduate, is the coach. THE PIRATES WERE anything-but last season and signs in pre-season drills indicate they aren't much better this year.

Hardly a better opponent for this first outing by the Red could be chosen. Because the Plymouth eleven has a long way to go.

"We're green," says Coach Richard Carpenter, in his second season at the helm of the Plymouth club. "We don't have great speed but we've got some size to make up for lack of depth. We ought to win some games if we can avoid making mistakes. If we can win this first one, it'll help a lot in setting our boys down."

Absence of two big players, principal of whom is Bob Foreman, who had a summer job, prevented Carpenter from making all the progress he had hoped for.

Injury to Co-Capt. Phil Fletcher, whose ailing back is again painful, has prompted the Plymouth coach to rely on other, less experienced hands, in his position.

As matters stand at press time, Carpenter is likely to send a starting outfit consisting of Eric Akers, a green hand, at quarterback; Mike Ruckman at fullback; Gene Crouse and Fletcher or Bill Goth at halfback; Chip Paddock at center; Larry Bland and Bob Forsythe at guards, Co-Capt. Bob Young and Foreman at tackles and Norman Howard and Jim Kurtz at ends. Ruckman, Fletcher, Paddock, Bland, Forsythe, Young and Foreman are the only lettermen.

The Big Red marching band, directed by Harold Hughes in his first season here, will march before the game and during the halftime recess.

It's coq au vin from Aunt Liz today

This is a big week for most families.

School has started. Mothers of football players can sleep a little longer. No early, early breakfasts to prepare before the crack-of-dawn practices.

Nevertheless, breakfast is still with us. Last year we started a new program. For years no one in our house bothered to begin the day with a good substantial meal. It was no way to start the day.

So, we had "surprises" each morning. I must admit that after two weeks, there wasn't anything left to prepare which was different. By then we had gone through all the varieties of easy-to-prepare hot rolls, bacon, sausage and eggs. Finally, out of desperation, after deep thought, I decided why eat the accepted breakfast fare. Now on chilly mornings, we have hot soup. Bacon-and-cheese sandwiches are good, too.

BY NOW THE STRUGGLE of school clothes should be complete, and the battle of the hemline ends in a draw. Years ago a friend of my grandmother told me that elbows and knees should never show because they are simply ugly. She was very right. But tell that to your 14-year-old daughter!

Even sheep show a little more individuality than high school sophomores. We were the same way once. We wore uniforms of skirts, sweaters, matching anklets, dirty saddle shoes, snappbrims and camel hair coats.

The only difference, though, was that we knitted our own sweaters. None of us would have been caught dead in a "store" sweater. Somehow we found time to knit, over the bridge table, while waiting for our rides to school in the morning, while we listened to the radio at night instead of doing homework.

Sons are just as bad as daughters when it comes to school wardrobes. After surveying six sweaters which have been laboriously washed by hand in the kitchen sink, you hear, "Hey, Mom, I need a new sweater."

When one can only wear one sweater at a time, comfortably, this gives rise to a problem which requires deep thought. Maybe another sweater is due him to make up for the fact that he can't wear mom's blouses which his sister can . . . and does. The only things which are safe from her greedy little eyes are skirts.

For once a large waistline has a redeeming feature.

For those families who do not have these interesting problems, fall is a lovely time of year.

It is the time that low-flying pheasants swoop in front of your car on the back roads, the leaves come tumbling down for you to rake and its cool enough to really cook.

TREAT YOUR FAMILY to something special like coq au vin, which is father's pet recipe at the moment.

Start with four tender chicken breasts, an aluminum skillet, two tablespoons of butter and two of oil. Heat them until a drop of water will dance in it. Brown chicken over a high flame. Remove it to a large pot. Brown a small minced onion and a medium-sized minced carrot in the mixture. Put it in the pot. Add two bay leaves, 1/2 teaspoon of black pepper, salt, sweet basil, parsley, thyme, and oregano. Cover with dry white wine and simmer for 20 minutes, or until about a third of the mixture has disappeared. Remove the chicken to a hot platter. Strain the mixture. Thicken it with a paste made of two tablespoons of butter and two of flour and spoon it on the chicken. Meanwhile someone else has made the salad, fixed a vegetable dish, heated the rolls and baked a coconut cream pie for dessert. This is one of the quickest meals we know how to do in our house. And it's good, too!

When does it get dark? Spooners can't use cemetery

MAYOR FAZIO SAID HE is in complete agreement with Ramsey's program but asserted "the village hasn't committed itself on storm sewers, water services, sewers or anything else." He said under existing rules here the developer must submit plans which must in turn be approved both by the council and by the state health department.

Representatives of the Richland and Huron county health departments, John Adamescu and Roger Dixon, were present to explain requirements in the village. The gist of what they said was this: septic tanks are wholly unsatisfactory except for farm dwellings but no country rules apply within the village boundaries.

At this point Mr. and Mrs. Roy Evans, who live in West Broadway immediately opposite the Brooks development, protested any action that will tend to increase the flow of storm waters onto their properties.

Evans said he has "worked for a long time to get a 12-inch tile installed so that the water goes back to the fields, and the tile from the Brooks property isn't big enough to accommodate the flow. To put 28 new houses there would be a nightmare."

In view of Evans' objections, Adamescu said, Richland county health authorities will study carefully any installations of sanitary sewer services in the Brooks allotment.

Evans told Fazio, in answer to a question, that five others, neighbors in West Broadway, are associated with him in the protest and he is not able to say now whether an easement for a drainage line across their properties would be granted to accommodate Brooks.

COUNCILMEN AKERS, John T. Dick and Clarence O. Cramer were appointed to study the contract submitted by James Roose, sanitary sewer engineer, before action is taken by the council as a whole.

Clerk Carl V. Ellis waxed indignant when a supplemental appropriation ordinance was submitted. He asserted "No one tells me when they spend any money and I'm tired of it." He pounded the table for emphasis. He complained specifically that purchases are being made without purchase orders being first issued by him.

Although some employees were eliminated three weeks ago in what it said was an effort to cut expenses, the board of public affairs proposed a pay raise for the electrician's helper, who now gets $3,744 annually. It was approved with reluctance.

State of Ohio will contribute $250 to the cost of the new snow plow, the council was informed.

Three boys hurt when roadster flips near Shiloh

A 10-year-old Shiloh driver and two passengers were injured Thursday at 2:50 p. m. when the sports model foreign car in which they were riding overturned in Breneman road, one tenth of a mile south of Noble road.

John Butner, 15, son of Dr. and Mrs. Butner, received abrasions, a fractured rib and possible internal injuries. He was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital by his father, who brought his son, the Gundrum boy, and a second passenger, Barry Foster, 14, son of the Harry Fosters, to the hospital. Young Foster had abrasions of the left hand and both knees.

Young Gundrum told police he was headed south in Breneman road, failed to round a curve, went off the left side of the road and regained the roadway, where the vehicle overturned and halted upside down.

Doctor asks balm from Bachrach Co. for frozen ears!

A Wadsworth doctor has filed an $11,157 damage suit against the Bachrach Co. and Albert L. Chandler, Plymouth.

He is Dr. Harry N. Pappas, who claims he suffered frost-bitten ears when he got out of his car Jan. 23 in 20 below zero weather to see how much damage was done to it when the Bachrach truck hit it.

The suit filed in Medina county common pleas court last week asks $200 for medical expenses, $850 in lost earnings, $107 for towing and renting another car and the remainder for damages.

His petition claims the truck driven by Chandler, rammed into the rear of his car in Route 224 near Wadsworth.

The hospital beat

Jeffrey Adams, 13-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Adams, was released Friday from Willard Municipal hospital. He was treated for burns on his chin and chest received when he overturned a cup of hot coffee.

Mrs. Geraldine Lindsay was a patient in the same hospital two days last week. LeRoy Brumback was a patient for four days for observation and treatment of an ear infection.

Truck found burned

Keith Dawson's feed grinder was found on a farm near Shiloh Saturday.

The $25,000 vehicle was burned and said to be a total loss.

Sheriff's deputies are said to be tracing several leads.

The vehicle was found by Clifford Stumba, Shiloh route 2, on a farm off Kastor road.

Norwalkians see how farm pond aids

The E. B. Miller farm in Plymouth East road was the scene of the Norwalk Kiwanis club meeting Aug. 23.

The club's agricultural committee with County Agent John Wells arranged the outing to show a typical farm pond and its many uses for recreation and food.

Thomas Stockdale, extension wildlife and fish expert, told the club 15,000 ponds now exist in Ohio. He discussed construction and management of the ponds.

The Kiwanis tried the facilities with fishing contests and a steak fry.

All-Jersey milk . . . a naturally better drink any time

Morning, noon and night, there's no better drink for children than All-Jersey milk. World preferred for extra-rich flavor, All-Jersey supplies more protein, calcium and phosphorus than any other natural milk, of the same cream content.

It provides these essential nutrients in a form more easily assimilated than the same elements in other foods. Naturally rich in vitamins, All-Jersey contains an extra-liberal amount of energy units.

While some beverages dull the appetite and are not helpful to teeth, All-Jersey actually builds stronger teeth, muscles, bones and tissue. With meals or snacks, serve extra-nutritious All-Jersey milk. Costs no more than ordinary milk.
