School bond issue returned to ballot for June primary

The 4.22-mill school building bond issue defeated on Nov. 2 by 50 votes will be reannounced in June, Plymouth Board of Education voted unanimously Monday night.

Two members, Frank R. Garber, hospitalized at Willard, and the Rev. Arthur Hamman, were absent.

There was no discussion. Mayor Grady McDonald of Shiloh, where the building will be erected if the issue to raise $920,000 wins approval, sat silently in the front row of spectators.

A passion of 34 adults living in the Willow Road subdivision and in Plymouth Village apartment complex protested the granting of a liquor license to an establishment proposing to occupy premises owned by R. Harold Mack in Sandusky street.

The board referred the petition to its legal adviser, the Richland county prosecutor, to determine if it may take formal action. It has not been formally notified by the state liquor control board that its opinions are welcome.

Petitioners are James C. Davis, James C. Root, Dixie Root, Norman B. and Beulah McQuown, Frederick and Anna M. Ford, Ivan F. and Ruth E. Hawk, William L. and Ruth L. Moore, Marjorie E. and John F. Root, Clyde V. and Christine L. Eldridge, Henrietta McGinnis, Marilyn Davis; Also, Fred L. and Beatrice H. Buzard, M. Eldora Willford, Plymouth Village Associates, Wilma C. Dean, Charles W. and Ethel M. Vanasdale, Martha J. Clark, Elda M. and Arthur E. Brumback, Mary V. Shelley, Hazel C. Smith, Sandy Murray and Frederick Lewis.

ADVISERS TO THE Class of 1978, headed by Robert James, asked the board in writing to approve conducting the annual Junior-Senior prom off the school premises.

Miss Janeane Cunningham, an adviser, who is also president of Plymouth Education association, the teachers' organization, spoke for the move.

David Howard and R. Harold Mack joined Mrs. Roger Pugh, president of the board, in misgivings about the change, which the letter said was for two purposes: to avoid spiraling costs of decorating the school gymnasium and to develop a better responsibility among pupils by the challenge of an affair off the school premises.

Supt. John Fazzini said the board adopted a policy of conducting the prom only on school premises in 1965, after there had been parental protests.

Miss Cunningham said "The board approved us as advisers to the class and now it won't stand behind us when we make a recommendation." Both Howard and Mack quickly asserted the board's right and duty to review all

Water billings 'too high', customers complain to council

Extremely high water bills for the third quarter reading in the area of Maple and North streets were strenuously objected to by several residents before village council Tuesday night.

Wayne E. Strine, North street, said his bill was three times the amount it had ever been. Mrs. Sam Layne, Larry Bailey, and Mrs. Edward Powers, all of Maple street, also said their bills had soared. Councilman James L. Jacobs, Sr., said the meters are not being read properly. Councilman Hubert V.

Akers suggested going back on the utility records and adjusting the bills to the average usage per quarter.

Strine said he does not think the village ought to start such a practice. Councilman James L. Jacobs, Sr., said the meters are not being read properly. Councilman Hubert V.

The mayor said she talked during the afternoon with Glenn Carter, Division 3, Department of Transportation, Ashland, who said the department recommends school crossings where there is a standard traffic light. The main complaint is that the crossing in front of the village hall at the corner of Spring and Sandusky streets is not adequately marked. The mayor said a change could be made to have the children cross at the traffic light.

The mayor said she would the village cannot reduce the speed limit to less than 25 miles an hour in the area without permission from the director of the state department.

51 children join group at Shiloh

Adrian and Emily Kennard and Inez Kilgore, Plymouth, have started a Good News Kids club in Shiloh. The club meets Tuesday from 6:30 p. m. to 8 p. m. at the Kennard home. Members learn Bible verses and see movies and learn many songs. Mr. Kennard said the club is non-denominational and it's just a way to get smaller children interested in going to church. Bringing a Bible, or going to any church on Sunday or bringing a friend to the meeting always gets a point. Anyone bringing the most friends to the meeting will receive a small gift. Approximately 51 children attended the meeting last week.

Friends of Kids chooses officers

Mrs. Charles E. Pritchard is chairman and Dr. Allan Raymond vice-chairman of Friends of Kids, successor to Plymouth Elementary Mothers' club. Mrs. Bill Collins is secretary.

Mrs. West given probation

A sentence of four-to-25 years in the women's prison at Marysville was handed out to Mrs. Virginia West in Huron county Nov. 8, but she won't serve it.

Mrs. West's pregnant, Judge Robert W. Smith on recommendation of his advisers and of her attorney, Robert A. McKown, who said the woman is scarred by severe family difficulties and the horrible death of her father, put her on five years of probation, stipulating continuing medical and psychological care.

Mrs. West pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the death of Robert Dean Taylor, her five-year-old son, in law, who succumbed to injuries in September, 1975, after he was found badly beaten in the Wests mobile home at New Haven.

The probation officer, Ronald Balas, recommended probation so long as Mrs. West's access to minor children is limited.

Will Shiloh raise water service rate?

Shilohans are staring at a sharp increase in the cost of living.

Their village council was told Nov. 10 that water rates, now pegged at $3.30 a household a month, a rate set in 1958, must be adjusted upward to raise enough money to fund a new water plant.

Shoup, Ohio Environmental Protection agency, Bowling Green, told the council the sewer system is almost as bad as the water system. Mayor Grady McDonald acknowledged there have been some problems. He said the water plant, which was built in 1936, was put under strain when the sewer plant was installed in 1968.

McDonald told Shoup the council has studied recommendations of Richland Engineering to replace the water plant at slightly more than $307,000 and finds them too expensive.

Edward King, who accompanied Shoup, told the council it should consider joining with Greenwell and Plymouth to hire a Class III water plant operator. He said a realistic salary would be $14, Ivan Hawk's car turned in front of the bus, driven by Floyd Hill, 33, Gallon. Kimberly Crosby, 16, Crestline, one of three passengers in the bus, was admitted to Crestline Memorial hospital.

Big Red defense halts Seneca East in finale, 27-6

Plymouth's stout defense held Seneca East for 44 minutes in the biting cold here Friday night and its offense produced more than enough to win the final game of the season. The score was 27 to 6. The Tigers penetrated Plymouth territory only five times all night and managed to score only because they recovered a Big Red fumble two yards from the goal line. Glenn Siesel, certainly one of the better backs Plymouth has seen all year, scored on the second play from a yard away. Plymouth had stopped a long drive by the visitors from Seneca county by holding for downs at its seven. On the first play, cold and numb hands bobbed the ball and Seneca East recovered. But by this time the game was out of reach. The clock read 3:12 of the fourth period when the Tigers scored, ending a dismal season that produced a single victory, a tie with South Central and eight defeats. THE BIG RED WENT TO work the third time it obtained possession. Mike Messer, who was to score the first touchdown with 1:15 left in the quarter, ripped off 12 from the Tiger 46, where he had in a play earlier recovered a fumble. Co-Capt. Jim Cunningham got 20 yards around right end. Tom Miller hit Randy Howard for nine yards, Charley Mack squeezed out two and then Messer bolted home from three yards away. Jim Wallace botched the PAT. Seneca East had managed a single first down to this point and it was to collect just one more before the half. This came in a series that ended in a punt from the Tiger 25. The boot carried 28 yards to the Plymouth 47. A roughing of the kicker penalty gave Plymouth a life at the Tiger 37, but on fourth down Kevin Finnegan opted to run the ball instead of kick and the Big Red fell short of first down. Not that it mattered so much, because Plymouth was by this time sitting on a 13-point lead, fashioned on a 37-yard drive in three plays after receiving a punt. Miller passed 28 yards to the split end, Marty McKenzie, at the Tiger nine. Cunningham

Seven unite to perform skits, patter

"Big Boulder and the Falling Pebbles", a group of junior high pupils, performs skits, patter and mimicry, largely pantomiming the music of the '50s and early '60s. Aided and encouraged by their parents, members are Ralph Butler as "Big Boulder", Lucy Will as "Juicy Lucy", Michele Baker as "Hoste Tossle", James Jamerson as "Pee Wee", Steve Mowry as "Fred", Scott Harris as "Red", and Steve Tackett as "Raspurin". "Big Boulder and the Falling Pebbles" was an idea originally to be presented at a local Halloween party, but members became so interested in their project and had so much fun doing it, they decided to offer their services to senior citizens in resthomes as well as any organization wishing to have a unique program. Performances have been given at Crestwood and Heritage Rest homes in Shelby. Golden Agers were pleased with the group, which gives its services free of charge. "Big Boulder and the Falling Pebbles" perform only on weekends. Anyone interested in having this entertaining group perform may call Mrs. Keith Mowry in Shelby or Mrs. David Jamerson in Plymouth.

Good cook can always 'monkey' with peaches

By AUNT LIZ
 I'll bet there is not a person who may read this who knows the official name of a single monkey living on this earth. The word "monkey" covers them all, so far as I am concerned, but there are people who really know their names and are very disturbed that some of them are vanishing like the whooping cranes. Since the good Lord put them here on earth with all of us, we ought to share the earth with them. There is a reason for everything, somehow. But man being what he is, he doesn't seem to care about any furry friends that make up our world. Not only did our country lose so many good people in Vietnam (where we never should have been in the first place, but we were, and can be proud of our friends who did their part that they never, never should have been asked to do), but the various breeds of monkeys were part of the toll, to the point that some are almost extinct.

There is one really funny sidelight to the problem. They really were smarter than our experts, who devised an acoustical sensing device about the size of a baseball. Its purpose was to react to any sort of disturbances or noises when dropped from a plane in the areas of the Ho Chi Minh trail, where our people wanted to know about any troop concentrations. It was monitored by remote control. The monkeys in the area, being very playful, would find these baseball-like things and begin to play ball, as any right thinking monkey would do. It's fun. Nevertheless, it kind of played havoc, because the tossing of that thing back and forth registered that whole divisions of troops were there. I hate to think of the sums of money that were spent to go out after them, when a bunch of furry kids were having a recreation period. Man is not really too bright, yes? Even a monkey can outfox him. NOW HOUSEWIVES are very different. They cannot be outfoxed, and this should be realized. Just who gets out of bed every morning and must make the big decision of what everyone will eat for the day or week? At least, that is the way it works around here, and it hit me between the eyes the other day that this is a major decision in every house. I should be ashamed that it took 30 years to discover this. So you kind of drag yourself to the coffee pot each morning, and once fortified, start thinking about the day. There are some days you need not have to think if you have leftovers, which makes a happy day. But there are days you must start from scratch. Name me a husband who has this morning problem. They gally get up, gulp down a breakfast and take off for the day, where they happily work and exchange a couple of shady stories, plus more gossip than we do. While they are doing all this, there is time to make something kind of tasty to eat while you listen to it all at the table. You can remember so well when we had kids in school. They kept us supplied with all the local gossip. They heard more than two able-bodied adults did, and I would end the meal with tears rolling down my cheeks because it was so funny.

Those kids knew exactly who was doing what with whom and why, and it probably still exists. So white you are waiting to hear all this juicy news and you have a nice roast going in the oven, get this ready and it can cook while you are eating and will be ready for dessert. Turn the oven down rather low, arrange peach halves round side up on a baking dish. Fill the centers with a mixture of brown sugar and a little soft butter and heat. Serve with vanilla ice cream over them.

Here's more on schools —

Mack said he wants to study whether the change is an educational experience for the pupils. Miss Cunningham said the prom is not an educational experience. Mack said it is.

Howard said he wants to study the question of spiraling costs "versus rental of a place outside town". Principal Richard Horton said tentative plans are to hire a country club room. Howard asked him if the recommendation was made by the advisers or the pupils. Horton insisted it was made by the pupils. Howard said when pupils are not involved in planning and execution of decorations for an affair, there is no involvement. Mrs. Pugh said "we should have more of an idea of where you want to go". The question was referred to the policy committee.

Commencement and baccalaureate service will take place June 7 at 3 p. m., the board ruled. MUSIC DEPARTMENT was authorized to conduct a Christmas concert on Sunday, Dec. 12, in a departure from policy that calls for no school functions on Sundays.

Joseph Rice and Miss Diane Sanford, on written requests by them, were authorized continuing contracts, subject to the approval of the county superintendent.

Kim Hopkins, who lives at 54 Plymouth street, was authorized to sign the 12th grade in Willard, where she is enrolled, at no expense to the board.

The board will meet in executive session Nov. 29 to discuss negotiations with teachers and personnel assignments. Dr. Allan Raymond is the new president of the successor to the Mothers' club. Mrs. Charles E. Pritchard is secretary. Parents who transport pupils to private schools will be paid $70.01 for the year.
