

GenTelCo gets raise in rates

For the 901 customers of General Telephone Co. of Ohio served by the Plymouth exchange, a rate increase will take effect next month.

And it will be a stiff one. Residential subscribers with a one-party service will henceforth pay $9.90 a month, an increase of $2.25 or just under 30 per cent.

Those with a two-party service will pay $8.90, an increase of $2.05 a month.

Those with a four-party service will pay $8.25, also an increase of $2.05 a month.

And those on a multi-party service will pay $8.00, an increase of $2.05 a month.

Business subscribers with a one-party service will pay $19.30, an increase of $4.35 a month.

Business subscribers with a two-party service will pay $17.25, an increase of $3.90 a month.

And those on a multi-party service will pay $16.35, a month more, or $16.35.

Shiloh sees '77 deficit

Cost of maintaining law and order is advancing, says the village council at Shiloh, and to pay for it means the village has to go into red ink.

A budget for 1977 calling for disbursements of $34,108 from the general fund is approved July 14. These are $5,264 more than during 1976. And receipts are expected to drop substantially, from $29,336 this year to $21,335 next year.

So the deficit will be an anticipated $12,773.

Loss of Comprehensive Employment and Training act funds is the main reason why law enforcement costs have risen so sharply. The former police chief, Kenneth Roethlisberger, was paid from CETA funds. When he resigned, the village was told a freeze on hiring would be required until a replacement could be paid from CETA funds.

Estimate of police costs next year is $15,000. July 1974 a total outlay was $5,897.

Residents who cannot reach the police department have telephoned the county sheriff in indignation. Mayor Grady McDonald acknowledged. He said the cause of this is that a police warning system has not functioned properly. He said repairs will be undertaken.

County engineer's department will repair Delaware street at a cost of $3,356, the council ruled. This estimate was lower than that of a private company.

Three arrested in bar fight

Three young men were arrested late Saturday after four bartenders and two police officers broke through the bar door in the Willard jail overnight. They posted 10 per cent of the $500 bond each and were freed.

They are Ellis and Jimmy Beverly and Walter Stover.

Lynch sued

Eldon W. Lynch, who lives in Cheesman road, has a double indignity. His dog was run over by a motorcycle.

Now the driver and passenger of the vehicle seek damages of $10,000 in Crawford county common pleas court.

They are Roger and Carol James, New Washington.

A Plymouth route 1 man is plaintiff in Crawford county common pleas court in a suit seeking $37,500 in damages alleged to have been received when his motorcycle was struck by a car in Scott Road 50 near New Washington Sept. 11, 1974.

James A. Enderby alleges in his petition that James Harold Montgomery, Willard, negligently turned into the path of his motorcycle after Enderby had signalled he intended to overtake the defendant's car.

Enderby seeks judgment of $12,500 against the defendant and of $25,000 against his insurer, Progressive Casualty Insurance Co., Cleveland.

Village seeks approval of 'beneficial occupancy'

Beneficial occupancy of the sanitary sewer system was requested by formal action Tuesday night.

Village council asked Solicitor Robert A. McKown to prepare a formal resolution requesting Eugene C. Gerken, sanitary sewer engineer, to ask the Farmers Home administration and the American Finance Insurance Co., surety for the defaulted sewer contractor, Quentin Alderman Co., Inc., to allow the village to tap those sewers that have tested satisfactorily. This is what "beneficial occupancy" means.

The resolution came about when the village's newest councilman, Duane Keene, said Gerken is taking the village for a ride.

He referred to constant delays in repairs needed to have the system totally acceptable.

Councilman Toy Patton agreed the time required to do so is excessive. Gerken will be present at the Aug. 3 meeting to accept the resolution.

Four illegal sewer taps in Brooks court came to the attention of the council during the meeting. At least two were made by Leonard Fenner and Harry Forquer, who said the contractor told them they were authorized, so with no further questions, they made the taps. Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach suggested making one a test case in court. Patton said no.

Meanwhile, they have complained bitterly that authorized tap-ins are being made by contractors the only way to determine if the alley exists, then voted against the motion. Councilman John Hubert V. Akers abstained.

Keene, Brumbach and Patton carried the motion.

Jacobs complained about the regularity of bar room brawls every Saturday night. Ray said something should be done about the liquor.

The mayor said the village still has an ordinance that orders the closing of all places that sell intoxicating liquor at midnight until 6 a. m. unless they can be considered a hotel or a restaurant. She asked if the council wishes to enforce this ordinance. McKown said it was up to her as the mayor to enforce it and that it stood first before any hours allowed on liquor permits.

During the recent Plymouth-Shiloh booster carnival, the mayor asked the council to order the liquor in the village to close their bars at midnight, because she did not feel there were enough police officers available to handle disturbances.

She told the council that all three agreed, re-hind the properties in question but does show the other existing alleys in the vicinity.

Another map maker's produced of 1926-27 also did not show the alley.

McKown said both the Richland county auditor and engineer show the alley on their maps. Patton says he has an old map that shows the alley and an existing storm sewer the length of it.

Village Administrator Thomas Baker does not think there is a storm sewer there.

Councilman James L. Jacobs, Sr., agreed a survey be made by contractors to determine if the alley exists, then voted against the motion. Councilman John Hubert V. Akers abstained.

Shiloh holds youth, 17

A 17-year-old Willard youth was taken into custody by force at Shiloh July 14 at 1:20 a. m., suspected of intoxication by alcohol and drugs. He was restrained in the ambulance and taken to Mansfield General hospital.

Shiloh police are filing charges in the county juvenile court.

A white pill found in a search of the youth's car is under analysis.

A 16-year-old Shiloh boy who accompanied the youth is being charged with consuming beer and violation of curfew.

An 11-year-old Shiloh girl was detected soliciting money for the Girl Scouts on Friday. The solicitation was unauthorized. She will be summoned in juvenile court.

Shiloh police arrested Clifford Hill, 26, Farrell street, Shiloh, on July 16 on a charge of breaking and entering. He is accused of entering the Rathskeller on June 11, when $245 was said to have been easily defeated. McKee, Shiloh, was earlier arrested in connection with the same offense.

Girl organizes bike inspection

All bicycle owners in Shiloh are invited to bring their bicycles for a safety check Sunday from 2 to 3 p. m.

Safety check is free. It will occur next to the Shiloh Police station.

Karen Russell, health chairman of the Shilohettes 4-H club, has planned this safety check and will be helped by other members of the club, Margaret Flora, Dianne Russell and Angela Tallman, who are taking the 4-H bicycle activity project this year.

Don Brooks, Plymouth Schwin Cyclery, will also be on hand to help the girls.

The check will include brakes, lights, reflectors, seats, handlebars, bells or horns and wheels.

Since Miss Russell became health chairman, she has been running a number of club, community and personal activities. Later this month she will be competing in the county health queen contest.

Each 4-H meeting Miss Russell gives a special health tip. In June the club toured Shelby Memorial hospital and Clancy's in Shelby. She has helped with Cancer, March of Dimes and community fund drives. She walked the 20 miles in the Mansfield March of Dimes Walk-A-Thon and she has collected 29 pairs of glasses for the Eyes for the Needy project. She has also counted out 2,400 Betty Crocker coupons that she gave to be used for exceptional growth projects.

She has practiced cheerleading, sewing, cooking and ridden her bicycle for personal activities this summer.

Just because there's plenty of coal, doesn't mean there'll be plenty of electricity.

By now almost everyone knows what a great resource America has in its vast coal reserves. And how important it is in making electricity.

But just having the coal doesn't make it electricity.

It has to be mined, first. Then we have to convert that coal into electricity and get it to your homes and factories.

Without facilities to do all that, all the coal in the world wouldn't generate the first kilowatt of electric power. The lights wouldn't burn. And the machines that help us do our jobs wouldn't run.

Unfortunately, the cost of building these facilities has gone up drastically. For instance, building a power plant today costs five times as much as it did 15 years ago. And it was costly, even then.

On top of that, building new facilities takes time. And it takes the cooperation and understanding of the people who will benefit from them.

You might say it's a kind of power partnership between you and us that takes a realistic approach to the needs of today. And tomorrow, too.

Without your help and understanding about the needs and the cost, facilities may never get built.

And coal, which can become electricity, will just stay coal.

Anybody for eggs?

It's not cholesterol, expert says: it's ancestors

By AUNT LIZ
It was back in the 60s sometime when doctors started saying eggs were dangerous.

I remember hearing one on the radio saying that one egg a year was one too many.

The whole thing was over the poor eggs having a lot of cholesterol, which was a reason for a heart attack.

It all really started in 1913, when a Russian fed cholesterol to his laboratory rabbits and discovered that they did develop what is called arterial lesions.

Even our egg eating was cut back because of all this. Now I have read that Dr. Christian N. Barnard, who certainly knows more about hearts than most people, says that heart problems can be laid directly to heredity. He comes right out and has said that a low cholesterol and fat diet is for the birds and only tends to make your life miserable.

This is certainly going to help the some 200,000 chicken farmers this country has and the 270 million hens which would rather lay eggs than do anything else.

They need a little help. In 1945 the per capita average of egg eating was 400, then it dropped to 275 in 1975. That can ruin any business.

It has been blamed on the cholesterol problem and the fact that breakfast eaters stopped eating breakfast, which I suspect, because a breakfast without an egg or two was blah.

Having been well fed all my life, (which really shows), I was taught very early that one must have at least one egg a day, and I brought up our children on that theory.

It doesn't have to be a bare egg. They get used in so many ways, like in meat loaf or French toast. THERE IS NOTHING SO nice as an omelet, and now that growing things are available, you can make a tasty one.

This is for two servings. Slice a medium slice zucchini thinly, then skin and chop up a good size tomato. Chop up four green onions and half a green pepper.

Heat three tablespoons of oil in a skillet and throw in the zucchini first. Cook it for about five minutes, then add the rest. It cooks until the zucchini is crispy but still tender.

In another bowl have four half beaten eggs mixed with a fourth of a cup of milk and a fourth of a cup of chopped up parsley.

Pour this over the vegetables and stir until the bottom is set. Then stop stirring and wait for the top to set.

With all those good fresh things, how could four eggs be dangerous?

If you develop alarming symptoms from these, then there is hardly any point in continuing to live. All the joy is gone, and I think Dr. Barnard is so right when he says your ancestors are to blame for all your problems.

You can cause them out like mad, and they simply will not respond, because they are probably too busy eating eggs easy over in a heavenly mess hall.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in sheer polyorganza featuring a demivaistline outlined with Cluny lace. Lace extended over the bodice and high neckline and cuffs of the long, full bishop sleeves. A slightly full skirt with hem flounce extended into a chapel-length train. A two-tier veil of Illusion edged with riny Venise lace fell from a small Carnot cap.

She carried white gladioli, red rosebuds, baby's breath, and blue forget-me-nots on a white Bible.

The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Larry Smith, Plymouth, matron of honor, and the bride's younger sister, Debbie, Plymouth, Mrs. John Cole, Shelby, the bride's cousin, and Mrs. Donald Strausbaugh, New Washington, bridesmaids, were identically dressed in blue voile gowns styled with square neckline outlined by Cluny lace. The sleeves and full tiered skirts were flounced. They wore white hats trimmed in aquamarine ribbon with red carnation at the back.

Scott David Graham, Fr. Madison, Ia., the bride's godson, was ring bearer.

David Dickson, Massillon, the bridegroom's brother, was best man.

Mr. Smith, Todd Fackler, Plymouth; David A. Howard, Plymouth, and Lawrence J. Root, Plymouth, ushered.

Mrs. Smith chose a light blue floor length gown with sheer fingertip jacket. She wore red and white carnations.

Mrs. Dickson was attired in a blue floor length gown with sheer capri. She also wore red and white carnations.

The bride has attended the school of banking of Ohio university, Athens.

An alumna of Crestview High school, the bridegroom is a graduate of Ashland college and holds the master's degree from Bowling Green State university.

A reception took place in Plymouth Elementary school. Jo Ann Fidler served from the four-tiered wedding cake.

Dawn Dickson registered guests. Miss Elizabeth Fackler, Cindy Dorion and Mrs. Thomas Garrett assisted guests.

After a honeymoon in Cambridge, they will live at 317 West Broadway.
