

Big Red in last chance to defeat Ontario

Plymouth meets Ontario for the 16th, and presumably the last, time in a Johnny Applesseed conference contest at Ontario tomorrow night.

The Big Red has never defeated the Warriors. It has a 12 to 12 tie to boast about in 15 previous meetings.

If Plymouth is to defeat Ontario at all, this has to be the year.

Prior to Friday's engagement at Danville, there was little reason to doubt that Plymouth might do it this year.

Now, even in the face of a dismal Ontario record of one victory and four losses, even the diehard Red fan has some misgivings.

CAN THE BIG RED play the game against Ontario that it played in its first four outings?

And will that game be enough for a Class AA school that has some things going for it. One of these is a strong football tradition, brought about when Roger Copeland was the coach, teaching the single wing that he learned at Shelby under Bill Wilkins. Another is numbers. Time and again over the past 15 seasons, Ontario dressed more players than, it seemed, Plymouth had enrolled in the entire school. A third certainly is that Plymouth has never beaten Ontario and the Warriors aren't about to let that occur in the last game between the two schools if they can help it.

Ontario started the 1977 season with a new coach, Dan Gerhart, and a dismal record. He lost the first three games, then won six straight and the JAC crown.

The Warriors have a new coach again this season. His name is John Alteman. Ontario has lost four and won just one, over St. Charles. Its defeats were at the hands of Crestline, Bucyrus, Upper Sandusky and Evergreen.

There are only 10 players of the 12th grade on the Warrior squad. None was a starter last year. And, for once in at least a dozen years, Ontario doesn't have overpowering size.

Consider the backfield: Geoff Eaton, 165, quarterback; Tim Wendling, 157, fullback; Chuck Shatzer, 150, running back; Greg Kanz, 147, wing or slot back.

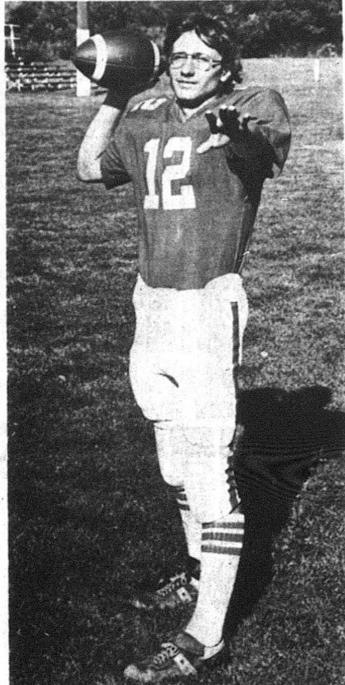

Eaton led the Warriors to their only touchdown in a 26 to 8 loss to Evergreen at Ontario Saturday. The drive of 61 yards required 12 plays, of which Wendling accounted for nine and 30 yards. He gained 88 yards all night.

PLYMOUTH MUST shore up its defensive game and untrack its offense.

Admittedly, to defend against the likes of a Lyons is not an easy task. He simply tore the Red line to ribbons in the second half, and not so convincingly later in the half, because it did not defend well against the Blue Devils' pass rush. Jim Robinson did not get off a pass that he didn't have a rusher on his back, his neck or his heels.

Can Plymouth defeat Ontario? The question is moot. If Plymouth intends to defeat Ontario at all, it must do so tomorrow. Because after tomorrow, there are no tomorrows. Game time is 8 p. m.

For the uninitiated, best route to Warrior stadium is via Route 61 to Shelby, south in Route 61 to Route 314. Cross Route 30 and take left fork directly to stadium, sited in west side of road behind Ontario High school.

Mike Berberick, veteran quarterback, is expected to serve as running back in tomorrow's game at Ontario, particularly if Red running game of Jim Wallace and John Ross bogs down.

Bad snap, bad night

Snap from center went over head of John Ross, No. 35, into end zone in third period at Danville Friday night. He struggled to recover the ball and did so at the one yard line, whence Danville ran home with the second touchdown in 24 to 0 rout of Plymouth.

Mrs. Bailey, 79, buried at Shiloh

Mrs. Maggie H. Bailey, 79, Shiloh, died Saturday in Park West hospital, Knoxville, Tenn., of a lengthy illness.

She was born Apr. 1, 1889, in McClure, Va., and lived in or near Shiloh for 30 years. She was a member of the Church of God there. She had been a house mother for the Methodist children's home in Worthington.

She is survived by twin sons, Dennis B., Shiloh, and Daniel, Ft. Walton Beach, Fla.; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Adams, Knoxville, Tenn., and Mrs. Hershel Horn, Gallon; two brothers, Norman Hale, Shiloh, and Herschel Hale, Tompout, Ky.; 12 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Scott Griffith conducted services from McQuate-Secor Funeral home Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Services here for Lopez girl

Services were conducted from McQuate-Secor Funeral home here Friday at 1 p. m. by the Rev. Lawrence Coleman, Pentecostal Church of God, Mansfield, for 11-month-old Evelyn Lopez, who died in Children's hospital, Columbus, Sept. 26.

The child was born in Mansfield Oct. 4, 1977, to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Lopez, Mansfield. She was the grandchild of the Wayne Endicotts, Plymouth, and of Elias Lopez, Tulsa, Okla., and Mariana Lopez, Las Cruces, N. M. A sister, Tammy, also survives.

Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

Kin of Mrs. Tash, Mrs. Korbas, 73, dies at Shelby

Mother of Mrs. Richard Tash, Trux street, Mrs. Mary Korbas, Shelby, died in Crestwood Care center there Saturday.

She was 83 years old. She was born in Czechoslovakia, she lived in Shelby 53 years. She was a communicant of Most Pure Heart of Mary Roman Catholic church and a member of its Altar & Rosary society.

Her husband, John, died earlier.

She is also survived by seven sons, Stephen, Joseph, Rudy, Paul, Thomas, James and Michael, all of Shelby.

The Rev. John J. Ollivier was celebrant of the funeral mass from the church Monday at 9:30 a. m. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Shelby.

Driver held after collision

A 61-year-old Plymouth driver was summoned Sept. 25 on a charge of driving too closely after a collision in Route 224. James F. Mock was following a car driven by Colin M. Couch, 37, Willard. Couch struck his vehicle to make a left turn and was struck from behind at 3:40 p. m.

Council chides mayor, confirms police chief

A formal reprimand of Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock was voted by five members of village council Tuesday night.

The issue was presented by Councilman Michael Taylor, obviously with the support of the Howard brothers, arguing that the mayor erred in directing the clerk to include in the minutes of Sept. 5 a paragraph relative to a complaint against Councilman David A. Howard because he adjudicated a complaint in mayor's court that involved his brother, Randall A. Howard.

The resolution reprimands the mayor for "willfully and malfeasantly changing or ordering the change of the official minutes of the Sept. 5 meeting of the village council."

In one vote councilmen approved the appointment of W. Robert Seel as police chief. Councilman James L. Jacobs, Sr., was absent.

Seel's probationary six-month period ended Sept. 25. At the Sept. 5 meeting, Mayor Elizabeth Paddock asked for a motion for his appointment, thinking he had served his time. Councilman Ervin Howard pointed out that the date was Sept. 25 and that no action should be taken until that date had passed.

Seel has had the backing of the community for most part during his probationary period and actually had served a probationary six months during the illness and resignation of the late Robert L. Meiser, but the council did not want to accept that period as part of the requirement. Robert Simmers, representative of Columbus Gas of Ohio, which is negotiating a new contract with the village, was sent back with a proposal of a five per cent raise in answer to the 11 per cent raise over a three year period, which was the company's second offer.

If the village and company cannot come to an agreement, the present rate will be in effect until a decision is handed down by the PUCO, which is what the council seemed to think was the best way to get what it wants.

Councilmen G. Thomas Moore, Ervin Howard and Michael Taylor expressed concern for residents living on fixed incomes and older people who require more heat to be comfortable than a younger family, which can more readily stand lower temperatures.

The village will purchase a dump truck from Heisler, Inc., for $19,131.92. It is equipped with a hitch which will accommodate the present village snow plow.

It will be paid from the federal revenue sharing fund, plus $6,000 which will be borrowed from the electric reserve fund and paid back within a year at five per cent interest on the water, sewer and electric funds, which will pay 30 per cent and the street fund 10 per cent.

Two bids were received for Lots 305 and 316 in Birchfield street. One was from Cleland Marvin, who owns adjoining property, for $500 and the other from Mrs. Helen Willer, a native Plymouthite who lives in Willard, for $850.

Taylor had the land appraised at $2,500 and suggested both bids be rejected. He proposed that water rates be raised 25 per cent effective with the next water reading. He told the council that the raise should be about double, but this seemed like too much to impose on users now with electric rates being raised. The increase will bring in an estimated $12,500 annually. He said he hoped that perhaps in two years the water fund could catch up with itself.

It was agreed that the council will honor the lease it has with Mrs. Frank Smith for an option to gain water from a well on her property. Mrs. Smith had asked for increase of the yearly rate, but under the terms of the original lease it cannot be done, so the village will continue to pay $100 a year until 2056 when it officially expires or if the village gives one year written notice it wishes to dissolve it.

Curfew set

Plymouth police will begin tomorrow to enforce the 9 p. m. curfew for those under 18 years.

Allowance will be made for pupils attending school events to reach their homes and be off the streets.

Offenders will be taken to the police station and their parents called to pick them up.

Gerald Caywood dies

Gerald W. Caywood, 59, Plymouth, route 1, died early Saturday in Willard Area hospital of cancer.

Born in New Haven, the elder child of Mark and Grace Caywood, he lived in or near Plymouth most of his life. He was graduated by Plymouth High school in 1937 and thereafter went into business as a butcher and grocer.

His first partner was Daniel Hohler. When World War II broke out, Mr. Caywood joined the Navy. Upon his return, he opened a grocery and meat store and stayed in that business for 28 years before closing it. Thereafter he was employed as a meat cutter by Foodland stores, in Shelby, Upper Sandusky, Sandusky and Plymouth.

Jail sentence suspended

A 20-year-old Plymouth man was sentenced to six months in Huron county jail, which was suspended, and placed on probation for two years on conviction on a reduced charge of attempting to cause physical harm to another.

Charles R. Hicks, Plymouth route 1, was verbally accused of attempting physical harm by means of a deadly weapon, namely, a loaded handgun. In plea bargaining the charge was reduced.

He was a member of First Evangelical Lutheran church and of Richland Lodge 201, F&AM. He belonged to VFW Post 2842, Upper Sandusky, and to Ehret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion, Plymouth, of which he was at least commander.

He is survived by his wife, Janice; two sons, Max, Plymouth, and James D., Bucyrus; a daughter, Kimberly, now Mrs. Kenneth Roethlisberger, Shiloh, his mother, sister, Thelma, now Mrs. Donald Shaver, Plymouth, and four grandchildren.

His minister, the Rev. Ronald Atkins, conducted services from McQuate-Secor Funeral home Monday at 11 a. m. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to his church or to the American Cancer society.

Shiloh okays license transfer

A routine transfer of a liquor license from a husband to his wife will not be opposed by Shiloh's village council.

Everett Pace, proprietor of the Shiloh Inn, has applied to the Ohio Department of Liquor Control to transfer his permit to Freda Pace, his wife.

Councilman Gary Fletcher recommended that a new roof be placed on the Scout hut. Mayor Grady McDonald was empowered to seek quotations.

McDonald and Walter Gelb, chief enforcement officer, division of building regulations, Richland county, inspected a commercial building in the south side of Main street owned by William Frey. Because the building is structurally sound and that the county is powerless to compel improvement of the external appearance of the building. He told the mayor the council can pass ordinances requiring that vacant and run-down buildings be maintained suitably.

Mrs. Robert Boock, clerk-treasurer, told the council its contract with Ammarout Sanitation Service, Willard, expires in January. She suggested bids be received so that service will not be interrupted. Present fee is $1.75 a month.

Big Red upset, 24 to 0

Mistakes expensive: three scores result from missed tackle, bad snap, pass interception

Plymouth made several mistakes at Danville Friday night, but the biggest was made by the bus driver when he turned off Route 3 at Jelloway for the tortuous, seven-mile passage over Route 205 to Danville.

The Big Red shouldn't have showed up.

The Blue Devils took the opening kickoff and on the first play Mike Worley took a pitchout around his left end and scooted 70 yards down the sideline for the first score in a 24 to 0 rout of Plymouth.

The pass for PATs was not good.

Plymouth came back with a drive of 14 plays that ended at the Danville 30.

By this time, the first period was over.

Neither team threatened for the remainder of the half.

Plymouth was forced to punt in its third series of the half. John Ross's kick was touched by Scott Baker at the one and Danville was in trouble. But the Blue Devils punted out, with a boot that carried 41 yards from scrimmage, and Plymouth had time enough left for two plays that netted exactly four yards.

At half time, save for the 70-yard run, the statistics were pretty much even.

Danville with 31 plays had run up six first downs, a net of 114 yards rushing and none passing. It had lost 10 yards in two penalties.

For its part, in 29 plays, Plymouth had scored six first downs, with a net of 60 yards rushing and 10 yards passing, on one completion in five tries. It had lost 30 yards in two penalties.

A tragic mistake in the first series of the second half cost the Big Red a second touchdown.

Unable to gain with the second half kickoff, Plymouth sent Ross to punt. The snap sailed over his head and skittered around in the end zone before bouncing out to the one, where the Big Red recovered.

But it was Danville's ball and the Blue Devils did then what Plymouth had been afraid it would do during the first half: it ran Lyle Lyons. He carried only nine times in the first two periods. But this time he bulled in from the line. The pass for PATs was again a failure.

Plymouth made its best effort of the night in the next series. In 11 plays the Big Red advanced to the Danville seven, thanks to some splendid running by Mike Berberick, by now relieved by Jim Robinson at quarterback and installed as a running back. One of his efforts was a neat 24-yard gainer. On fourth down, Robinson sent him up the middle but the effort fell short. From the seven, Danville launched a magnificent effort that produced the third touchdown in 22 plays. Lyons carried on 15 of them and he went in for the touchdown at 8:06 of the fourth period from two yards away. The pass for PATs was again not good.

Plymouth struck back, but on the seventh play, Robinson's pass was intercepted at the Danville 47, whence Jim Wallace had taken it with a splendid screen pass from Robinson that carried 21 yards.

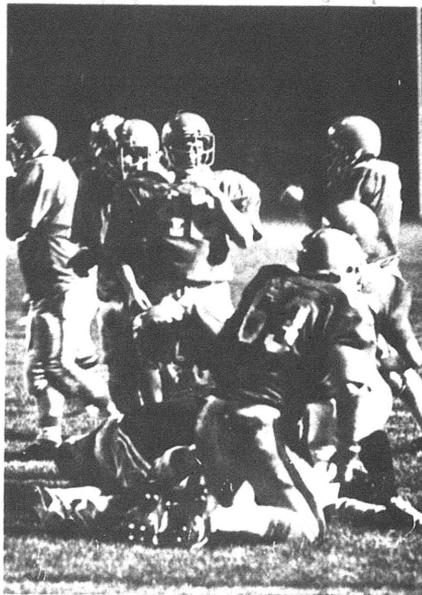

Danville wasted no time. In six plays, with Lyons on the bench for one of them because he strained his leg, the Blue Devils had their final touchdown. Ted Bratton bucked home from the one.

The rest of the game was all Plymouth with an aerial attack that brought the Big Red to the Danville 12 before running out of downs. The Blue Devils then ran out the clock. Plymouth was simply unable to establish its running game. Its pass protection was shoddy. Robinson performed minor miracles even ingetting the ball off. And in Lyons, the Blue Devils have a premier fullback, a big boy who can get yardage. Danville was a much under-rated team, so far as Plymouth was concerned, but the real problem is this: was Danville that good, or Plymouth that bad?

Beck records fastest time on park course

Doug Graham, Colonel Crawford, set a new record in Mary Fete park Sept. 26 as the Eagles defeated Plymouth's cross country, 23 to 33.

Graham's time was 14:23, 18 seconds under the previous record set by Jeff Seidel of South Central on Sept. 12.

Mike Beck, Plymouth, set a new team course record of 15:04, 21 seconds better than the team record set by Mike McClain on Sept. 12.

Summary:
Graham (C), first, 14:23;
Sherman (C), second, 14:30; Michaels (C), third, 14:54; Beck (P), fourth, 15:04; Schrader (P), fifth, 15:19; Hedrick (C), sixth, 15:28; Kennard (P), seventh, 15:39; McClain (P), eighth, 16:14; Smith (P), ninth, 16:25; Nease (P), 10th, 16:37; Newman (C), 11th, 17:45.

drink and quietly slept through the whole dinner. Next to me, and I was not sure what I should do about her. And since no one was doing anything, I didn't either. About the time we left, she came to. That is where we made a big mistake, we left too early. The party was really getting going, but you know who wanted to get a head start back to Ohio. So we started out. The first 30 miles or so were great, then we hit fog, great patches of it, and if you know what Route 80 is like in bright sunlight, you can imagine what it is like in the dark of the night.

After driving a couple of hours, and by then it was 1 a. m., we came to a stopping-off place loaded with moose.

The State of Pennsylvania takes its football very seriously and there was not a room to be had.

Gas stations were even closed and we knew we could not leave the place without more gas, but we did find one open, which meant we could drive almost four hours.

We drove and drove and then I come home and read that we were driving through an area where large black bears have become a big problem. That is all we needed, just one in the middle of the road waving like mad for a salami and Swiss cheese sandwich. It seems they are hungry and are coming out of the woods for food.

Finally, about 2:30 a. m., we saw a sign that said lodging. So we turned off and got one room of two that were cancelled out at the last minute.

Never, never try to stay along that road during football season.

We finally made it home with all the various doggie bags I had collected for my favorite hound, then it was time to whip down the road to Columbus.

Can you imagine that the governor invited me to lunch? He could not have picked a more inconvenient day. One does not say no to such an invitation. And I am glad I went.

There were only 10 of us, and a chance to really talk. Governor Rhodes had the head of each department there to answer our questions. We all had the same one: "Where is the money?" It isn't.

I even knew this before I went, but the big idea is you ask for moose. I had the distinct feeling that because we have one political party in power now in Ohio and the national government has another, Ohio is just not going to get very much.

Some may call it pure politics, I simply say it is unfairness. Our national government should be above this sort of thing.

How many of you are sitting on the edges of your chair to know what we had for lunch?

Frankly, we were all too interested in talking with the state guys and hearing what they had to say which might help our communities, that none of us really cared what was served.

It seemed that the caterer had mixed up the dates, and Governor

Rhodes said he was sorry, but we did eat.

After we had been there a short time, and all the various guys appeared, they vanished again. I noticed it, then came the little announcement that the caterer had fallen through. I guess the whole bunch were up and down the street scrounging up fried chicken, cold baked beans and potato salad for lunch.

It could have been better, but at least you cannot say the governor is wasting the tax payers' money with great luxuries like lobster, caviar and shrimp and champagne, and mushrooms and beef fillet.

We were ideal guests, had one small helping and that was it.

Some weeks are simply dull, but when you get one which is simply too filled, it takes a week to recoup. It all started a couple Wednesdays ago when we drove to Toledo to look at a machine. The place where we looked was within a block of the Art Museum so we stopped there. It has been years since we were there, and it is such a joy.

Parents who have kids in junior high and up should go to see it. It is small with just about one of a kind, but each is perfection and there is a mummy that is out of this world. There is no way to know if it is a boy or girl, but it is a darn good looking one.

Years ago a friend and I took a Girl Scout troop up there and I really thought they would be bored to bits. They were not. Try it with your kids. Best of all, it is absolutely free.

Then we sped over Route 80 to New Jersey for a class reunion that was a ball. The classmates gathered together, and anyone who had a name tag without a picture was an ordinary husband or wife, so we just banded together. I met more spouses than classmates and they were fun. One guy who sat next to me at dinner had retired after 30 years as an accountant in an office in Rockefeller Center in New York and is now being a chef in a not too classy eatery, where he says he is trying to tell them there is more to food than what they are serving. He loves it all.

Everyone was in a really good mood that night. One classmate had had a little too much to

'37 alumna heroine

A 1937 alumna of Plymouth High school has received national recognition for an act of heroism on duty as a school crossing guard at Rome, Ga., Nov. 2.

She is Mrs. Agnes Anderson McCready, whose feat was singled out by the National Enquirer, a national tabloid weekly newspaper, in its Oct. 3 issue.

Mrs. McCready noted an 18-wheel tractor-trailer rig moving toward where she was escorting several children, among them

Gretchen Wiseman, eight, across the street. She observed that it was moving too fast for the driver to stop.

"Move," she shouted to the children. All save Gretchen did so. The little girl was terrified and stood in her tracks, directly in the path of the speeding rig.

Mrs. McCready ran alongside the child, grabbed her under her right arm and hurried out of the path of the rig. As she did so, the rig struck a car waiting at the intersection and spun past Mrs. McCready and the little girl.

Larry Vaughn, 31, witnessed the drama from inside his car about 30 feet away.

"I saw this big tractor-trailer bearing down on the little girl. But then, from a dozen feet away, Mrs. McCready ran out in front of its path and scooped up the little girl and away from those big wheels. It missed them by inches."

The rescue came on Mrs. McCready's birthday anniversary.

She was commended by the police chief of Rome and by the city commission.

Her mother, Mrs. Hazel Anderson, was killed in Arkansas as she crossed the road in front of her home to retrieve her mail.

'41 class reunites

Ten members of Plymouth High school's Class of 1941 gathered in Galton Saturday night for a dinner reunion.

Annual reunions are ranged by Mrs. Wayne Gebert began in 1960 for those who are able to attend.

We'll give you fourteen good reasons for investing in real estate!

Reason No. 1 - FHA Approved
And neat as a pin! Eight years old, carefully maintained with aluminum siding outside, tasteful decorating on the inside. Three bedrooms, two baths on a 1/2 acre lot. $19,000.
Reason No. 2 - Two Mobile Homes
Convenience living with spacious interiors. Both homes have been nicely cared for and both have especially nice, shady lots with fruit trees. One is priced at $10,000, one at $12,500. Take your choice!
Reason No. 3 - The possibility for a small shop
Exists in this roomy four bedroom, two story home. The den with private entrance on the first floor would lend itself nicely to a small specialty shop. The house has been completely remodeled and has new carpeting on the first floor. Large, pleasant kitchen with dining area. Thirties.

Reason No. 4 - Investment Potential!
Right in the center of Plymouth. A six room house for possible conversion to offices, a small shop or whatever YOU have in mind. Two car garage, too. $15,900.
Reason No. 5 - Elbow room
In this wonderful older brick two story just a short walk from the center of town, in addition to four bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, there are hardwood floors, a new water heater, private wiring, two-year old furnace and an enclosed front porch. So much to offer the active family! Thirties.
Reason No. 6 - A house in the country
And its only five years young! This epic span aluminum sided ranch has three bedrooms, and a big 2 1/2 car garage on a generous 1/2 acre lot in the country. Willard School District. Fifties. Very well constructed home.
Reason No. 7 - Income Properties!
We have four duplex homes which will provide nice incomes for each of their buyers. All four are in good condition and are ready to go to work for you! Prices vary. Call us for details.

Reason No. 8 - Room for the kids to roam
On the three acres that surround this recently remodeled three bedroom home. All the work has been done for you. All new wiring, new aluminum siding, new carpet and Cello insulation. If you've been looking for a home in town with some extra acreage, look no further. Here it is! Twenties.
Reason No. 9 - Well built home in lovely neighborhood
One of Plymouth's nicest areas. This four bedroom home has two baths, hardwood floors, plaster walls and a slate roof. A solidly constructed home priced to sell in the low thirties.
Reason No. 10 - A perfect little creampuff!
Reason No. 10 - A perfect home for beginners. This home would be ideal for a young couple, or a single individual just starting out. Three bedrooms, one bath, fully carpeted, full basement. A little cosmetic work and your investment will pay off in a big way. Let us show you! Mid teens.
Reason No. 11 - The farm you've always wanted
Here it is! A 50 acre working farm, 40 acres tillable, with six outbuildings and a spring-fed pond. The four bedroom farmhouse has a new bathroom and is newly insulated. The owners have been remodeling and it's in good shape! Come, see it! Seventies.

Reason No. 12 - Dutch Colonial with character!
The inviting exterior prepares you for the cozy interior of this cute little three bedroom home, fully carpeted and in apple pie order. One car detached garage, fenced backyard and lots more. Twenties.
Reason No. 13 - "Good Food and Poor Service"
If you've heard this slogan before you probably know it represents one of the area's most popular restaurants. Due to the owner's retirement, it is being offered for sale and would be a great investment opportunity. We'll be happy to give you the details. Call us.
We have many properties available for sale and we're sure one of them is just right for you. Our salespeople will be happy to answer your questions. Call, or stop in! We're looking forward to meeting you!

Multiple Listing

Electronic Realty Associates
Featuring Buyers Protection Plan
Tallentown area. Shop and work in Mansfield. Shelby or nearby from this well maintained three-bedroom home on the Plymouth/Springmill Road. Buyers protection plan against unexpected repairs, but they don't build houses like this any more. Natural gas heat plus insulation keeps heating expenses low. Over 1/2 acre. $34,800.
Plymouth. Immediate possession of this nice three-bedroom home with no money down. Carpet, electric stove, family room. Near downtown and schools. Buyers protection plan, natural gas heat and low heating budget. $24,500.

We need about 120 acres set up for dairy operations. Buyer wants spring possession for Jersey herd. Huron or Ashland counties preferred but the right farm in northern Richland county may be OK.

Beat the spring rush for recreational living. We have several very nice all year or summer homes at Holiday Lakes priced to sell. Four on the lake front.
