Reed to run for reelection as auditor

Kenneth W. Reed, only the third auditor of Huron county in two generations, has changed his mind. After he said he wouldn't seek reelection, and after two candidates of his party — he's a Republican — came forward to declare their intentions to run, Reed now says he'll run again.

The 63-year-old incumbent said his wife's health and the low pay, $13,766 a year, prompted him not to run. But his wife, and a number of others, have urged him to reconsider and his pay has been raised by legislative action in Columbus to about $16,000.

Gilbert B. Roacoe, 54, Norwalk, director of the Huron County Regional Planning commission, announced last week he'll seek the GOP nomination. And the week before, Roy F. Johnson, 35, New London, an accountant, said he'll run.

Deadline to file nominating petitions is June 23. Primary election is June 6.

Brooks named clerk, sewer repair bill set at $48,500

Raymond L. Brooks, 64, is the new clerk-treasurer. His appointment was announced Tuesday night by Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock, who is required by law to name a successor to Miss Anita L. Riedlinger, who has resigned as of Mar. 6.

Brooks will serve her unexpired term, which ends Dec. 31, 1979.

A native of Plymouth, Brooks was graduated by Plymouth High school in 1931. He farmed near here for many years. For 13 years he was clerk of Plymouth township. At the end of December, 1956, he succeeded Claude Sourwine as postmaster.

EUGENE C. GERKEN, sanitary sewer engineer, will have plans and specifications for the necessary repairs to the system ready for council approval Apr. 4.

He told the council the fee is not to exceed $3,000 for the plans. He told the council bids can be received by Apr. 14.

While waiting for court action against the bonding company, the repairs will be financed by a loan from First National Bank of Mansfield. The village does have $32,034.03 left in construction funds from the FHA loan.

Providing the repairs can be done for Gerken's estimated top price of $75,000, there is still about $13,000 in above ground work to be done to repair damages, plus a little over $6,000 in claims for various individuals for damages during the sewer construction.

The village itself has a claim of over $11,000 for damages done to water lines and other village property.

Christiansen files bid for reelection

Judge Richard M. Christiansen has filed petitions for re-election to the probate division, Richland county court of common pleas.

Christiansen says he will campaign for a second six-year term on his record, which includes winning in his first year as judge the backlog of lat filings in estates, trusts and guardianships from over 90 per cent of accounts due to less than one-tenth of one per cent and keeping overdue accounts consistently below one-tenth of one per cent.

His district includes Mansfield and most of northern Richland county. Youngest person ever to serve in the Ohio House, he went there in 1974, having defeated the incumbent, Mrs. M. Joan Douglass, (R-Mansfield). He claims a 99.4 per cent attendance record.

He is serving as a vice-president of the Ohio association of Probate Judges. He and his wife, Helene, live in Harlan road, Millin township, and are active in numerous civic and community organizations.

Brown to seek a third term

Rep. Sherrod Brown (D-Mansfield) will seek a third term as representative to the Ohio General Assembly.

His district includes Mansfield and most of northern Richland county. Youngest person ever to serve in the Ohio House, he went there in 1974, having defeated the incumbent, Mrs. M. Joan Douglass, (R-Mansfield). He claims a 99.4 per cent attendance record.

Hugheses in Canton; married here Jan. 21

The Marion Ray Hugheses, wed here Jan. 21, are living in North Canton, where he is employed by Portage Electric Products, Inc.

She is the former Karen Sue Fenner, daughter of the Leonard Fenners, 259 Riggs street, an alumna of Plymouth High school recently employed at Louisville, Ky.

The Rev. Gerald Cernowski, pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, performed the ceremony in a setting of red carnations lighted by candelabra with red candles on the altar. Mrs. Mary Schodorf was organist.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was attired in white taffeta with chiffon overlay, styled with high neckline, full sleeves covered with sequins and floor-length veil. She carried red roses, pom-pom chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

The bride's older sister, Mrs. James Hook, Louisville, Ky., matron of honor, wore forest green knit with a shoulder length cape of chiffon. She carried a single red rose.

Her fiance, son of Mrs. Lillian Larick, Upper Sandusky, attends Tiffin university. He is employed by Guardian Industries, Upper Sandusky.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Beth Ann Fenner, Karla Fenner and Patricia Edelen, the latter of Louisville, Ky., were attired almost identically. Beth Ann Fenner wore forest green with cap sleeves, Karla Fenner and Miss Edelen in green chiffon knit with shoulder length cape. Each carried a single red rose.

Aaron Fenner, Shelby, was ring bearer. Roberta Ann Hook, daughter of the matron of honor, was flower girl.

Bradley Ream, Plymouth, was best man.

Greeley Ousley, Floyd City, Ky.; William L. Van Wagner, 2nd, Plymouth, and Brian Kirkendall, Salem, ushered.

A reception took place in Ehret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion, where a cake baked by Miss Karla Fenner was served by Mildred Wurm, Carolyn Stevens registered guests.

The bridegroom, son of the Marion Hugheses, 137 West Main street, Shiloh, is also a Plymouth graduate. He holds the bachelor of science degree of Eastern Kentucky university, Richmond, Ky.

Try a snow shovel as gift before gasoline crunch comes

By AUNT LIZ

Do you have a present you must give? Be it a wedding, a birthday, an anniversary or just one you feel like giving, give a nice snow shovel.

They have come in handy in the past and will continue to do so. They may not look like a very pretty gift, but they will certainly outlast and be used probably more than some fancy little things you could have given.

Companies make such things in the summer for winter sales. In the winter they are busy making things for summer sales. It seems that the largest factory making shovels thought best it make a few more this winter than it did last year, so it put out 2.5 million versus just two million the year before. Then it went on strike. So comes the big snow in the eastern states and all stores are sold out of snow shovels, and no more were available.

It is dumb things like this that kind of keeps your sense of humor going when those white flakes are pouring down. Last year we had two brand new shovels snatched because we were so trusting as to leave them out in plain sight. I firmly suspect that kids took them and hopefully they did use them to help people or make a little for themselves. But, I kind of wonder what the parents thought -- if they did -- of where their kids got the shovels. At least we have contributed to the economy and perhaps created a few jobs.

According to a weather expert whom I read about last week, we have until the end of this month to go with complete miserableness, then some nice warm air will float in from Japan. So there is hope.

But what kind of hope? What with the power thing the way it is and the fact we haven't even begun to pay for gasoline as we should, which is hard for me to understand. Some experts in this field have said that our government is really protecting all of us from the prices we should be paying and that the European countries have been more realistic and are charging the right price while they have cut their oil consumption. Ours has simply gone upward. No one is conserving. I kind of would not like to be around the day it really hits.

Once there was a little village that tried to do the same thing. While everyone else was paying an extra charge for producing power, the little village said it will all go away and meanwhile we will help our people who cannot afford it and battle the storm. The storm has really battled that little village. Can you imagine a little village beginning a year with something like $106 in its electric fund to start a new year? The dumbest housewife configure that one out. The only way out is to hit oil in your back yard. The countryside does have its problems, but there is a way to forget them. I got too shook about them and what people do and do not do.

You solve it all by playing games. Various people have various games they play. These can be all sorts of things. My pet game is approaching our kitchen stove and saying, "You will do what I want. Sometimes it does, but not always."

You go marketing and come home with a couple of things that your kitchen may not have which you can check through on this recipe. Then you stare at your stove and say, "get going."

Saute half an onion, chopped, in some butter. Add a half cup of dry white wine and one and half cups of chicken broth and some salt and pepper. Bring this all to a boil. Add a cup of raw rice (not the minute stuff), stir for a few minutes, then cover the pan and reduce the heat really low and cook for maybe 15 minutes.

Take off the stove and fold in a half cup of grated cheese. The type or flavor does not matter, whatever you like.

Girl born to Taylors

A 7 lb. 10 oz. daughter, Mindy Nicole, their second child, was born in Willard Area hospital Friday to the Larry Taylors, 110 Plymouth street. Mother is the former Mary Lee Miller. The William R. Millers are the maternal grandparents, the John B. Taylors the paternal grandparents. The child's brother is Adam.

Minutemen shoot Big Red down, 70-52

Lexington gave Plymouth a lesson in shooting and rebounding there Friday night and by doing so sent the Big Red to its 13th straight consecutive Johnny Applesseed conference defeat.

The score was 70 to 52. The Minutemen closed their 1977-78 season with a 16-and-2 record, beaten only by Loudonville and Ashland, and their league record at 13-and-1. They are the undisputed champions of the conference.

Plymouth made a game of it for a short time. After eight minutes the score was 14 to 9 and Lexington was already beginning to show its superiority. A zone defense thrown up by the Big Red plagued the Purple and Gled early on, but when Wes Lammon began to sink his sensational shots from the corners, the Big Red's handwriting was written on the wall.

Lexington padded its lead in the second period, outscoring Plymouth by four. Both teams shot exceptionally well in the first half -- Lexington went 13 for 30 and Plymouth nine for 20.

Girls wallop Crestview, 50 to 28

Plymouth girls gave their school a Valentine's gift by whipping Crestview Feb. 14. The score was 50 to 28.

Linda Osborn scored 18, Peggy Lewis 13, Kathy Brown 12.

Crestview out rebounded Plymouth, 43 to 42. Where the Big Red was superior was in its shooting. Plymouth shot 42 per cent, Crestview only 23 per cent. And Plymouth missed only five of 15 free throws, as compared to three of seven by the Cougars.

Colts victors

Clear Fork led all the way in walloping Plymouth, 78 to 47, in a make-up game at Bellville Saturday night.

It was the close of the regular season for the Big Red, which for the first time since it joined the Johnny Applesseed conference failed to win a league game. Plymouth wound up 3-and-15 overall and 0-and-10 in the league.

The Colts employed superior height and great floor play to win. They out rebounded Plymouth by 46 to 32 and made fewer turnovers, 15 to 12. And, as usual, on their home floor, they shot better than their opponents. The Colts bagged 36 of 74 shots from the field, just under 50 per cent, and held Plymouth to only 17 of 52. Clear Fork was perfect from the foul line, with six of six. Plymouth connected on 13 of 18.

Doug Ute and Bruce Harter were the chief wrongdoers, so far as Plymouth was concerned. Ute fired 10 shots at the bucket and made eight of them and Harter connect-

CARD OF THANKS
To The Plymouth Volunteer Firemen: We cannot find words for an adequate expression of our thanks for your prompt response to our call, your concern for the members of our family, the efficiency of your operations in extinguishing the fire and the way you carefully avoided any unnecessary breakage inside the house. Plymouth is extremely fortunate to have such a fine group of men -- and we thank them most sincerely.
