What happened and why

Ohio Power Co. at Willard began receiving calls Thursday, Jan. 26, around 5 a. m. that electric service was being lost by many customers over the entire Willard service area.

Employees who were able to get to the service building in Neal Zick road Thursday morning were unable to get through to any of the outages because the roads were either blocked by snowdrifts or stalled vehicles.

It was quite evident that snow plowing equipment would be needed to get a repair crew out to the trouble spots. Thursday, right after lunch, Slessman Excavating Co. was called and asked if they could provide a snow plow. Slessman said they would help as soon as they could.

At 9 a. m. Slessman called and said he was starting to break a route through to Willard from Plymouth.

The repair crew was unable to travel Neal Zick road east from the service building to Route 598, then south in 598 to the railroad crossing south of New Haven. This was the location where two wires were broken and caused the power outage to most of Plymouth. The repair crew arrived at 4 p. m. and began making repairs at once. The repairs were completed and electric service was restored to Plymouth Friday, Jan. 27, at 8:33 p. m.

When the power was restored, the flow of current to Brooks court was interrupted when a fuse blew out. The load on the service to Brooks court was too heavy for the fuse. Household in Brooks court who evacuated their all-electric homes when the outage occurred did not shut off or disconnect any of their appliances, furnaces or other electrical devices. This is what caused the fuse to blow.

When the outage occurred, pumps at the water plant could not be operated because there was insufficient voltage. They were shut down to prevent them from burning up. When this was done, the pumps stopped in the bitter cold weather. Until they could be thawed and put into operation, no water could be pumped from the plant. Service was restored Saturday, Jan. 28, about midnight.

ARC chief chides users of phones during 'Blizzard of 1978'

Some of the shortcomings and our needs in order to provide for any disaster should it occur. We certainly do not expect the kinds of problems which made it difficult, if not completely impossible, to answer the needs of persons in our community the very next day. The partial loss of electricity followed by still a further loss of power to some places and homes was bad enough. Then the telephone system added further to the confusion when they had a fire in the telephone exchange building, leaving only partial usage. Adding to further misery was the water loss on Friday.

In all the calls received at the police department -- I answered calls myself there for several hours while the men were trying to reach people, etc. -- one-third to two-thirds of those calls were unnecessary and from people who panicked or who apparently did not realize what was going on. From people who had access to the TV, heard the forecast of a pending blizzard and who still wanted to drive to work or somewhere. When was the electricity going to be back on? Can I get to Willard, etc? Yet other folks were those giving information or they were concerned about elderly people without possible heat and these were appreciated. Patrolmen at the station weren't relieved from duty and continued having worked for several days through. The same could be said for those on the street crews and others who volunteered their services to help those stranded outside of Plymouth. I know who they were and how tired they must have been and I want to thank them for their efforts on behalf of others whom they tried to help.

What happened and why

Nothing seemed to work right or go right but they were trying and I don't intend to sit around and allow anyone to complain about how the situation was conducted by these individuals. Without communications being adequate, low visibility, impossible conditions. NO ONE should even open his mouth to complain! In many cases it would almost have been suicide to venture further!

Many had alternate methods of heating and took in neighbors and shared their hospitality. Most of those at the Red Cross shelter were those who were fairly new in Plymouth, knew few people or else could not return home close by because of the weather itself. Yet many people found themselves hesitant about asking them for help in with a neighbor with heat and wanted assistance to get elsewhere at the risk of lives.

To further add to the confusion and danger to emergency vehicles was the foot traffic as well as unnecessary vehicles out on streets. There were cases of special needs for children or small infants but overall it takes quite a while for one to either starve or freeze to death if common sense is used. I would hope that in the future people would provide for emergencies to be answered. This past week has been just an example of what can befall a community unprepared. I hope the next time, if there has to be one, that Plymouth will be ready and able to stand alone. If necessary, to care for itself.

John H. Hurchison, Jr., pastor, Plymouth United Methodist church, Plymouth, is chairman of the Flood Relief Committee, American Red Cross.

Here's formula for survival if coal strike doesn't end

By AUNT LIZ
Well, what next? The coal strike? Let us all pray it is resolved. If it is not, we have all had it for a great while.

A few days without electricity can play havoc, but weeks can be disastrous. For several days I have been wracking a small brain trying to think how we will cope with it and I have come up with just a couple of rather feeble thoughts.

One of the most valuable things we can own is an electric can opener. Most houses have one, but best you look and see if you have a hand operated one in a drawer. With that and a little collection of canned goods, you can eat. Grand, if you cook with electricity rather than gas, you will eat it all cold, but it is food.

Every house should have a small supply of candles and it is nice if you have some kerosene lamps. Right now we are sticking to the candles and flashlights that have worked very well so far. And one other thing, for the non-smokers, be sure you have a supply of matches. You can strike them here and there. Even for an old smoker, it is hard to light candles with a cigarette lighter.

Magazines and newspapers will be collected Feb. 18 by Church Women United to benefit the Upstairs Store.

Donors may leave the papers in a truck parked in the lot of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

And should we have to go through another white tornado or hurricane, have stuff for your kids to do to keep them out of your hair. Stash away coloring books and crayons and paper so they can create small masterpieces. Some of them are very frangible and years later they will enjoy seeing their little works of art and you can remember back to what a lousy time it was. There are enough daylight hours to take care of this fun. It is those long nights. This may sound like pure corn, but it is a time when you can teach your kids some of the old songs you grew up with. I remember when ours were quite young. We made a point of teaching them all the rousers of the universities. The one they really sang with gusto was "I'm a Rambling Wreck from Georgia Tech." They loved it and we would get in the car and sing like mad, which is very tricky for a mother who simply cannot carry a tune.

Mothers simply must provide things to keep kids amused, and do not laugh at this idea.

You know, when summer comes, you will make all sorts of things and some you will make purposely to give away as gifts. Fix up a box of fancy little jars that are left over from this and that. Put some tin foil in it, some glue, and go through Christmas cards and birthday cards that are most likely around and put them in. You need a pair of scissors. So when the winds hit and there you are without any of necessities, bring it out and let them decorate. Come summer, you will have the best collection of fancy jars you have ever seen, and the children will be plain pleased.

There is one more large hint: keep a large jug of water in the refrigerator. Even if it goes off, and the water is non-existent, you have some.

My little hints, hopefully, will take away the latest American ailment that really hit here: cabin fever. It was called strincrazy away back. This is what has happened to a perfectly good nation: take away its TV and its chance to get out and go gossip, and the whole countryside falls apart. I cannot understand this at all, which makes me a real meatball in society. I really welcome a couple of days alone without people coming to the door or telephoning. We always have washings to do, matching up socks, which never seem to equal out. Somehow I can keep busy.

We always have washings to do, matching up socks, which never seem to equal out. Somehow I can keep busy.

Crestview's fouls win

Plymouth takes 12th straight loss, 65-59

Crestview outscored Plymouth in the final eight minutes here Friday and won a Johnny Appleseed conference game, 65 to 59.

The Big Red won the game from the floor, 48 to 44, but lost it at the foul line, 21 to 11.

Oops!

This is Jay Adams, not Steve Endicott. Adams is a letter winner who competes in the unlimited class. The Advertiser regrets this mistake.

The last period. Crestview drew first blood on a field goal by Brian Stimmell, who was to wind up with 24 points to lead the Cougars, at 7:04 of the fourth quarter. Flane Baker countered with a bucket and that was the last look that Plymouth had at victory. The Cougars went to work with two successive field goals, by Stimmell and Terry Chronister, whereupon Plymouth called for time out. Stimmell shot a pair of free throws before Baker scored again, making it 52 to 48.

With just under a minute left, Randy Adams connected from the corner to draw the Big Red to within two at 58 to 56. But the Cougars made the next four points on free throws, two by Ron Rider and two by Jeff Stoffer. With a six point lead, the Cougars gave up a free throw to Baker and it was all over. A final bucket by Chronister was superfluous.

Plymouth played as well as it can play. Its shooting was little short of sensational. Its record for field goals was 24 of 44, or 54.5 per cent. The Cougars went 22 for 42, or 52.3 per cent.

So it was at the foul line that Plymouth was beaten. The Big Red missed half of 22 tries, Crestview nine of 30.

Crestview had 30 opportunities and converted 21 of them. Two Plymouth players, Adams and Greg Mumea, hit the bench early because they collected five personal fouls.

The officiating, by Jim Miller, Mansfield, and Jim Reed, Shelby, was more than competent. They called 22 personals against Plymouth and 21 against Crestview. Gary Eberts of the Cougars retired early because of too many fouls.

Baker had a fine night with 28 points, including 11 of 18 from the field and six of nine from the penalty line.

Adams contributed 10. Only five Plymouth players managed to score. Crestview had two other players in double figures, Eberts and Chronister, each with 10.

Fifth graders win 17th straight

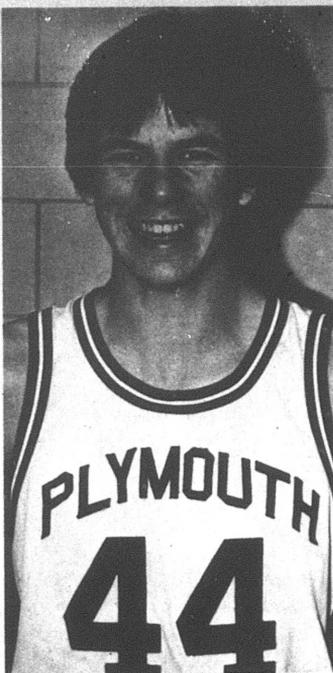

Fifth grade Vikings continue to win. They racked up their 16th and 17th consecutive victories during the Great Blizzard.

They defeated Norwalk St. Paul's, 44 to 6, with Steve Hall, a third grader, scoring 10. Nolen Robinson and Tim Scott had eight apiece.

Yankess were the Vikings' victims in league play Saturday, 34 to 4. Scott scored 14.

Six graders defeated St. Paul's 54 to 10. Scott Keiffer scored 14, Jim Ingram and Mike McKenzie eight apiece.

St. Peter's downed the sixth graders in league play Saturday, 38 to 24. Wes Johnson and Rodney Hampton scored six each.

Greg Mumea, No. 44, has won starting role in this, his last year. Proving that patience, persistence and perseverance pay! He's eldest in family of Ronald D. Mumea, North street.

Redbirds win on home floor

Loudonville overpowered Plymouth in a make-up game there Feb. 1 by outscoring the Big Red 14 to 3 in the last half of the second period.

The score was 63 to 54. It was 18 to 16 with 46 left in the second quarter. The Redbirds went on a rampage. Eight of their 14 points were racked up by Andy Grassman, who concluded his play for the night with 16.

With a comfortable lead of 32 to 19 at the half, the Redbirds allowed Plymouth to break loose in the third period, when the visitors scored 18 points, against only 10 by the Redbirds. But Plymouth was not able to narrow the gap to less than five. With four seconds left in the third period, Plymouth lagged by 42 to 37 and with 7:28 left in the game it trailed by 44 to 39. Thereafter the Redbirds had the game well under control.

Coach Keith Diebler got scoring from 13 players, including 13 from Ron Schuller, mostly on garbage shots, and eight from George Brown, who injected some life into the Big Red attack when he came onto the floor in the second half. Flane Baker scored 12, eight of them on inbounds plays.

Plymouth shot well enough to win a dozen games. Its record from the floor was 22 of 48. The Big Red tried 18 free throws and missed eight. Loudonville, on its home floor, was undeniably superior. The Redbirds put up 68 shots and made 30 of them. They missed only one of four free throws. Plymouth took down 19 rebounds and made 19 turnovers. The Redbirds bagged 24 cartons and turned the ball over only 11 times.

It is in those statistics that a victory was made.

"I am a firm believer in the people. If given the truth, they can be depended upon to meet any national crisis."

Abraham Lincoln said those words over 100 years ago. But his message still applies to our current energy struggle, and our country's need to assure an adequate supply of electricity for the future.

While we may have enough power plant capacity to squeeze through the 70's, the truth is, America doesn't have enough for the 80's.

The demand for electricity grew 7% during the past year. And it's projected to grow an average of 5.7% a year for the next ten. Which amounts to a total increase of 74% by 1988.

And that increase could be even greater if the availability of gas and oil is diminished.

But where is that electricity going to come from? Present power plants can't supply it.

We have to start building power plants to head off this disaster. And now.

Because power plants don't happen overnight. It can take 10 years to get one built.

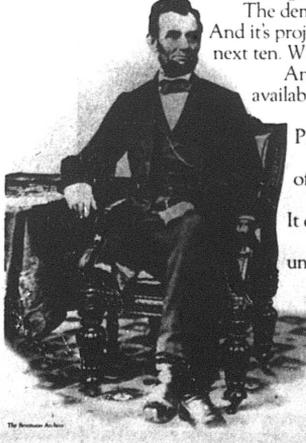

The solution is not simple. All of us will undoubtedly have to make some sacrifices.

But working together, we can do the job.

As Mr. Lincoln also said, "The occasion is piled high with difficulty, and we must rise high with the occasion."

And that's the truth, too.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the following: the fire departments of Plymouth and Willard, the U. S. Army, neighbors who plowed our drive, St. Joseph's church, Ecumenical Council of Churches of Plymouth, fellow CEBers, friends from Willard, Plymouth, Attica, Greenwich and New Haven areas and my family. Without your help, prayers and caring, it would not have been possible for me to get to the Medical College hospital in Toledo.

May each day of your life know the warmth of the rising sun, the fresh, crisp rush of the wind and the noisy joy of the seagull's flight for many years to come.

Clyde Phillips (Skybird) 9p

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank all of my neighbors, also a special thanks to Duane Slessman and Neil F. Slessman for rescuing and taking me into their home after I was stranded in the blizzard for 10 hours in my truck. Also thanks to Tony Marrone and Chuck Podgurski for taking me home Friday evening on their snowmobiles. Also thanks to the Willard police and everyone who helped in the rescue. It was greatly appreciated. Thanks and God bless each and every one.

Billy Schrader and family. 9p

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot adequately express my sincere gratitude and thanks to all of the people who were concerned for my safety and welfare during the recent blizzard. Special thanks to "Buzz", the call man on the CB, for helping my blessed family, Marvin, Shirley, Mike and Vicky, to get in contact with the rescue workers who so courageously braved those terrible winds, ice and snowdrifts to get to my door and take me to my children's home. Also, a very special thank you to the young man who has plowed out my driveway numerous times this winter. I love you all, and may God bless each and every one of you.

Teacher wed at Mansfield

Foreign language teacher in Plymouth High school, Amy Elizabeth Robinson was married Saturday to James Alan Collins in the home of his parents, the Richard Collinses, Mansfield.

The bride is the daughter of the Harold Robinsons, Mansfield. She has lately resided at 18 West Broadway.

The Rev. Dale L. Hammond, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Ann M. Beardsley, Plymouth, the bride's roommate here, was maid of honor. Richard L. Collins, Jr., the bridegroom's brother, was best man. The bride's brother, David B. Robinson, ushered.

A reception took place in the Collins home. The couple will visit Williamsburg, Va., later in the season. They will live in Mansfield.

The bride is an alumna of Mansfield Senior High school and of Western College for Women, Oxford, which is now part of Miami university. She is a candidate for the advanced degree of Middlebury college, Middlebury, Vt., in June.

The bridegroom was graduated by Ona riot high school and by Purdue university, West Lafayette, Ind. He is a computer analyst with North Electric Inc., Gallon.

More things are sold through the Yellow Pages than any other buying guide.

If you think the Yellow Pages is just a listing, think again.

It contains all sorts of information that can be extremely helpful no matter what you're shopping for.

Like, does the place take credit cards?

What are their hours? Etc. Etc. Etc. Maybe that's why more people read the Yellow Pages last year than just about any book published.

Curl up with it the next time you're shopping for something.

in the Counties of Richland, Crawford and Huron, Ohio, will be received by the undersigned officer at the Office of the Clerk, Administration Office, Office Building, 365 Sandusky Street, Plymouth, Ohio 44865, until 12:00 o'clock, Noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the 23rd day of February, 1978, at which time the bids will be opened and read publicly. Bids for the bonds, which were authorized by legislation enacted on December 21, 1977, shall be sealed and endorsed "Bid for $1,500,000 School Improvement Bonds", and each bid shall be made only for all or none of such bonds.

It is contemplated that the bond issuing authority will meet at 7:30 o'clock, p. m., on the 23rd day of February, 1978, to consider the bids and make an award.

The bonds will be dated the first day of February, 1978 will be in the denomination of $5,000 each, and will draw annually on the first days of June and December of each year, beginning June 1, 1978, at the rate of five and three-quarters per centum (5-3/4%) per annum. Anyone desiring to bid may present a bid for said bonds based upon their bearing a different single rate of interest, but not in excess of one percentum (8%) per annum, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one percent or a multiple thereof. Split rate bids and bids with supplemental coupons will not be considered.

The bonds mature $50,000 on December 1 each of the years from 1979 to 2001, inclusive.

The bonds are issued for the purpose of remodeling, improving and adding to buildings for school purposes, furnishing and equipping buildings for school purposes and improving school sites.

The bonds are payable, without deduction for the services of issuer's paying agent, at the legal depository of the issuer, presently the Plymouth, Ohio, office of First National Bank of Mansfield, Mansfield, Ohio, and unless paid from other sources, are to be paid by the levy of ad valorem taxes, which taxes are unlimited as to amount or rate, subject to the provisions of Chapter IX of the federal Bankruptcy Act and other laws affecting creditors' rights.

The proceedings for authorization and issuance of the Bonds have been taken under the supervision of Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Bond Counsel, whose approving opinion will be furnished at the cost of the successful bidder to the successful bidder at the time the Bonds are delivered to it and will be printed on the Bonds.

Said Bond Counsel assumes no responsibility for, and expresses and will express no opinion as to, the accuracy, completeness or fairness of any statements in any reports, financial information, offering or disclosure documents or other information relating to the Issuer or the Bonds that may be prepared or made available by the issuer or others to the bidder or for the Bonds or others. The issuer will pay the cost of printing the Bonds. A complete transcript of proceedings will be furnished by the issuer, together with a certificate that no litigation is pending or threatened at the time of the delivery to restrain or enjoin the issuance or delivery or to contest the validity of the Bonds or the power to issue them or the levy or collection of taxes for their payment.

CUSIP numbers will be printed on the bonds if available and requested by the successful bidder. Any delay, error or omission with respect thereto shall not constitute cause for the successful bidder to refuse to accept delivery of and pay for the bonds. Any CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of the numbers shall be the responsibility of the successful bidder.

The bids will promptly be considered, and the bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate for calculating the total interest to be stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom any premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of the highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check or certified check payable to the issuer, or any combination thereof, aggregating one percent of the par amount of the bonds, upon the condition that, if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for the bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the issuer unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.

In the event that, prior to their delivery, the interest on the bonds should by act of Congress or otherwise become subject to Federal income taxes, or any act of Congress should provide that the interest on the bonds shall be taxable at a future date for Federal income tax purposes, whether directly or indirectly, the successful bidder may refuse to accept delivery and in such event his bid security shall be returned without interest.

The bonds shall be delivered for payment within the State of Ohio to the successful bidder or to a bank designated by the successful bidder without charge. If delivered at a place outside of the State of Ohio, the successful bidder shall pay the expense of delivery at that place. The expense of delivery within the State of Ohio shall not be considered in determining the highest bidder.

Before making tender of the bonds at the place of delivery, the issuer shall give written notice to the successful bidder not later than the fifth business day before the proposed date of the fact that the bonds are to be delivered, together with a litigation certificate and approving opinion will be available for delivery and giving the date and hour for the tender at the place of delivery, provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent the making of a mutually agreeable arrangement for the delivery of the bonds either at the place fixed for delivery or elsewhere.

If such arrangement has not been given by the issuer or waived by the successful bidder and the bonds, transcript, no-litigation certificate and approving opinion are not available for delivery to the successful bidder at such place of delivery on or before 12 o'clock noon of the 30th calendar day after the day fixed for the receipt of bids, and the successful bidder shall not be held liable for any of his obligations, he shall have the right thereafter, and so long as no such tender by the issuer shall yet have been made, to cancel the contract of purchase. Any such right shall be exercised by delivering written notice of such cancellation to the undersigned or to the office of the undersigned during business hours. Such bidder shall thereupon be entitled to the return of the deposit which accompanied his bid and it shall be returned to him immediately.

The bids will promptly be considered, and the bonds will be sold to the highest bidder offering the lowest interest rate at not less than par and accrued interest. The lowest interest rate for calculating the total interest to be stated maturity at the rate bid and deducting therefrom any premium bid. If each of two or more bids is the highest bid offering the lowest interest rate, the bonds will be awarded on such one of the highest bids as is chosen by lot. All bids must be accompanied by cash, bank cashier's or official's check or certified check payable to the issuer, or any combination thereof, aggregating one percent of the par amount of the bonds, upon the condition that, if the bid is accepted, the bidder will receive and pay for the bonds in accordance with the terms and provisions of this notice. No bank bidding for the bonds shall file its own cashier's or official's check, nor a check certified by it. Such security shall be held by the issuer unused pending delivery of the bonds and forfeited as full liquidated damages in the event of default by the successful bidder.
