He formerly served as director of the Norwalk Chamber of Commerce.

He is survived by his wife, nee Edna Bender, whom he married in 1923; a daughter, Jeannette, now Mrs. John Burton, Mansfield; a son, John, Sacramento, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Ann Rossman, Pittsburgh, Pa.; 12 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Wor farm sold

Co-executors of the estate of E. Beryl Miller, his son, William R. Miller, and his daughter, Phyllis M. Sherrick, conveyed the Miller farm in Plymouth East to Christopher Zara. The plot covers 122 acres.

Zara sold his property at 40 1/2 West Main to the James H. Ashmans.

These transactions bring to 11 the number of real estate changes in the Public Square within the past year. Two others are in process of completion.

Police consider charge in crash

A charge of leaving the scene of a collision may be lodged against Terry R. Brown, 19, Plymouth as a result of an incident in Henry road east of Route 598 Sunday at 9:35 a. m.

State highway patrol said Brown was westbound when his car went out of control in loose gravel, veered off the right side of the road and severed a service pole and large bushes owned by Robert D. Sponeller.

Brown's passenger warden, Wendy L. Ayers, 20, Willard.

A 13-year-old Shiloh boy received bruises Thursday afternoon when his bicycle was struck by a car, according to Richland county sheriff's deputies.

The boy was riding in an alley near Main street when he collided with a car operated by Johnny Deskins, High street, Shiloh. There was no summons.

A mailbox owned by James Eckles, Pettit street, Shiloh, was reported stolen. Another, at Happy Hollow Trailer court in Route 61 south of here, was reported struck by a car on Friday.

Village employees can rest more easily since Tuesday night.

A pay raise, the first in two years, is in sight.

The council met in executive session to hear the recommendations of Councilman Ervin Howard and Edward O. Ramsey.

Police Chief W. Robert Seel asked Howard the effective date of the raise retroactively. The answer was it has not been decided. The council must determine what it can afford.

Each will study the proposals and agreed to meet at the next regular meeting a decision will be reached.

That meeting has been changed to July 5 because of the hot weather.

The annual hearing for the budget for 1979 will also be conducted on that date.

Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock told the council she laid Friday the Richland county auditor had only one copy of the village's budget for 1978.

Girls, boys go to States

Carrie Will, representing the auxiliary of Eheret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion, and Sally Von Stein, Garrett-Riest Post 503, Shiloh, left Sunday for a week at Capital university, Bexley, for the annual Girls' State.

Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock was the speaker Monday night for the swearing in of the mayors of the mythical cities.

Gary Holt, a Gregory Gillum, Shiloh, are representing the two Legion posts at Boys' State at Bowling Green State university this week.

44¢ dividend paid by bank

A cash dividend of 44 cents a share for the first half of 1978, an increase of 4.8 percent over the same period in 1977, payable July 1 to shareholders of First National Bank of Mansfield.

The dividend totals $500,084, an increase of $45,462 compared to the same period last year. A total of 2,274 shareholders will participate in the dividend.

and this is the reason the village did not receive its copy with the adjusted tax rates, which are necessary in order to prepare an annual appropriation ordinance.

The mayor was able to obtain the figures and an ordinance will be ready for the next meeting.

Robert Young, East High street, inquired about charges for filling a swimming pool. He was referred to Village Administrator James C. Root to make arrangements to read his water meter before and after filling the pool, which the village had approved several years ago so as to save on excessive sewer charges.

Young also questioned the legality of open burning of papers and garbage in his neighborhood.

Such burning is illegal and can be prosecuted under state law.

Sale of two plots of land owned by the village was discussed, with one getting the green light after it is appraised. It is a lot with 30 foot frontage in Birchfield street.

The other is a 16-foot wide strip at the south side of the village utility building, which the First National Bank of Mansfield would like to purchase to widen its proposed parking lot.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore said he thinks it unwise to sell the land so close to the village building but suggested leasing.

Councilman David Howard said Gerken should call the Sycamore firm to see what causes the delay, since it had told the council the work could start immediately.

He firmly recommended Root be hired as inspector. Root, in turn, said he would not be able to perform his regular duties and serve as inspector at the same time.

The decision will be up to Gerken, since the inspector is paid by him.

The mayor said once application had been received or the position.

David Howard said the village should pay the back bill to the Bachrach Co. in the amount of $3,000, which is actually a claim against County Alderman & Co., Inc.

During the installation in the Baseline road several years ago, the company did that amount of work.

It will be paid from the sewer construction fund with the approval of PFA. Howard, however, questioned the bid of the company of $15,200 for repairs in that area and said he wishes to meet with Bachrach again. He considers the bid almost double that of Gerken's estimate for the work, he said.

The mayor said the village is starting on the sewer work by which a sum of $60,000 at 5 3/4 percent interest will be borrowed from the First National Bank of Mansfield for the sewer repair. It will be written as a yearly loan to be paid in full within five years and renewable each year until then.

Councilman Michael Taylor said that before an increase of water rates could be undertaken as proposed by Jacobs, who suggested a flat $2 a month on each user, that a thorough study should be made as to what needs to be done.

For sale?
First National Bank of Mansfield offers to buy from village 15 feet of property at south edge of village hall, to permit a larger parking lot, which was undertaken last week.

Miss Metcalfe wed here to Donald L. Brooks, Jr.

Miss Julie Ann Metcalfe became the bride of Donald Lee Brooks, Jr., Friday in an early evening ceremony in First United Presbyterian church.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Metcalfe and he is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, Sr. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Dr. Calvin Winder.

A bouquet of yellow daisies and white gladioli on the altar was lighted by tapers.

Branched candelabra were at each side of the altar rail.

Mrs. Charles H. Dick was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor-length gown of the traditional white in polyester organza, fashioned with a fitted bodice overlaid with Venise lace and small cap sleeves. The full skirt fell in tiers, which were appliqued with lace. It ended in a chapel-length train.

A Juliet cap of Venise lace dotted with seed pearls held her veil.

She wore a cameo pendant, a graduation gift from her aunt, Mrs. Steven Pleanick, Berea, the former Margaret Dawson.

She carried a nosegay of yellow sweetheart roses with baby's breath.

Deanna Cox, Greenwich, was the maid of honor. Bridesmaids were her sisters, Crosbie and Michelle, and the bridegroom's sister, Jamie.

They wore apricot floral printed chiffon gowns. The sleeveless bodices were covered with flowing capes.

Their bouquets were nosegays of yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Charles Laza was the best man. Randy Waddles, David Brooks, the bridegroom's cousin, and Michael Metcalfe, the bride's brother, ushered.

Mrs. Metcalfe wore a gown of apricot colored chiffon and a wrist corsage of dark yellow orchids.

The bridegroom's mother was in pale blue chiffon. A corsage of purple tipped orchids was pinned at the shoulder.

Among the honored guests were Mrs. Walter C. Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Colbert, Newark, the grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. D. Guy Cunningham, Sr., the grandparents of the bridegroom.

The grandmothers wore purple lipped orchid corsages.

A reception followed in Ehret-Farsel Post 447, American Legion.

Assisting at the buffet table were Julie Schreiner and Connie Fidler. The bride's table held a three-tiered cake decorated with peach colored roses. Paula Pritchard and Jean Cunningham cut the cake and served the guests.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Thomas McGee, Willard, registered guests.

The new Mrs. Brooks graduated this month from Plymouth High school. The bridegroom was graduated there in 1977. He is employed by R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., Willard.

Don't get married on or near Father's day!

By AUNT LIZ
Last week was a little traumatic.
Now I realize we should have been a little more careful 32 years ago when we picked a date to be married.
It is simply too darn close to Father's day and brings up some embarrassing questions.
The big one is, "How did you meet each other when we know one comes from New Jersey and the other from Minnesota?"
The answer is simple enough. Where could two characters meet except in the old Union Station in Washington between trains?
One of us claims that I was a "real pick-up". The other says no to that, merely being friendly to a lonely soldier.
Being fairly well brought up and not too worldly about meeting up with strangers, I made the fatal mistake of giving him my address. That did it. So 32 years later we have the same address and telephone number.

Back then we both were about size 10s. What the years have wrought!
Over the years you learn to adapt. You add things to eat which you simply hated before, like broccoli and lobster. I was brought up in a real beef eating family. My father came from Colorado, where they simply had never known a lobster existed. The best my mother could ever do with him was to get tuna fish salad down.
Probably the big thing that really changed both our eating habits was living out of the country. We ate what was available or starved.

Each country has its pet foods. When I was growing up, I must say we ate purely American. But now it is so different. People get around more and it is nothing for any housewife to produce a really good Chinese meal or a really good pasta.
Maybe that is why Americans are slightly overweight. We do eat too well.
NOW THAT SUMMER is almost here and gardens are growing like mad, dig out some of your vegetable recipes.

You can make your favorite lasagna recipe by substituting slices of eggplant for pasta. Slice it, boil it, and you are ready to put together the layers with meat sauce and cheese.
Even without the meat sauce it can be good, but be very generous with the cheese.
Vegetables do need some perking up. This recipe does it with almonds and bacon.
Start with a cup of almonds sauted with about a quarter of a pound of bacon. When they are lightly cooked, remove them. Then, to the bacon drippings, add a pound each of sliced zucchini and eggplant, a large onion cut in wedges, not too big, and cook, but be sure they do not stick to the skillet.

Mix in a tablespoon of flour and two cups of cut-up tomatoes with a teaspoon of minced garlic, a teaspoon and a half of salt, a fourth of a teaspoon please see page 5
