

Susan Diane Root, only daughter of the Thomas F. Roots, 118 Plymouth street, has the role of Sue Smith, which brought Ruby Keeler tap-dancing back to Broadway in 1972, in "No, No, Nanette", which will play in Towne & Country theatre, Norwalk, tomorrow through Sunday and July 21 and 22 at 8 p. m. The young man is R. Lee Laycock, Norwalk, who plays the role of Jimmy Smith, a Bible salesman.

4-way stop at Rt. 162 urged

Another endorsement to a plan to require the Ohio Department of Transportation to install a four-way stop sign at Peru Center road and Route 162 in Steuben was recorded last week when Huron county commissioners agreed to the proposal.

Bennett Nelson, who lives in Holiday Lakes, represents the Greenfield Parent-Teacher association. Greenfield school lies east of the intersection.

Nelson wrote to ODOT stating traffic is heavy and tends to increase because of new construction in Willard. He noted that a low underpass of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad in Route 61 forces many trucks to detour. A number of vehicles en route to the county land fill also pass through the intersection. A number of school buses use the intersection when schools are in session, Nelson said.

He suggested a flashing light as a minimum improvement and that the road's grade condition be altered.

Louis A. Karl succumbs at 59

Brother of Robert Karl, Plymouth route 1, Louis A. Karl, 59, Tiro route 1, died Friday in Cleveland Clinic hospital.

He was ill a month. Born in Crawford county, he lived almost all of his life in or near North Auburn.

He was engaged in farming. He was president of New Washington Equity Co. A veteran of World War II, he was a communicant of Our Mother of Sorrows Roman Catholic church at North Auburn and a member of its Holy Name society.

He is also survived by his wife, Meta, two sons, Thomas and Michael, North Auburn; two daughters, Louise, now Mrs. Thomas Eggers, Columbus, and Ruth, Farmington; two brothers, Benson and Edward, both of Tiro; three sisters, Kathryn, now Mrs. Robert Forster, Tiro; Mary Ellen, now Mrs. Lee Creft, Toledo, and Margaret, now Mrs. Leo Lang, in California, and one grandchild.

The Rev. John Laudick was celebrant of the funeral mass from the church Monday at 10:30 a. m. Burial in the parish cemetery was by Secor Funeral Home, New Washington.

Driver held after crash in Willard

A 46-year-old Plymouth driver was held at Willard July 3 after his car slid into the rear of another at Tiffin street and Myrtle avenue.

The driver of the car and four passengers in the second car were treated and released at Willard area hospital.

Duane Blossman was charged with failure to keep an assured safe distance.

His car was westbound on Tiffin street. Slesman sought to stop behind the car driven by Howard E. Willenslegel, 53, Castalia, who had five passengers in his car. Willenslegel halted for the traffic signal at the intersection when Slesman's car struck it from behind.

Willenslegel, his wife, Peggy S. Besima Kintler, 67, Livonia, Mich., and Betty McLaughlin, 57, and James McLaughlin, 57, both of Castalia, complained of injuries and were treated.

The fifth passenger, Ruth Jones, 59, Livonia, Mich., was not hurt.

Sell the electric system?

Mayor urges council to do so to raise funds

Sale of the electric distribution system was urged upon village council by Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock Monday night.

Councilmen G. Thomas Moore and Edward O. Ramsey agreed.

The former said it is the best way to come up with ready money to finance the system's needs. If the system is sold, the money would be invested and likely to bring in more in interest than an income tax would produce.

Councilmen agreed that an additional levy would most likely fail, as have two three mill levies for the police department in the last few years.

No action was taken on the budget but it must be approved during the regular meeting Tuesday. Ramsey is to work with Clerk-Treasurer Raymond Brooks to recheck the figures for accuracy.

James C. Root, village administrator, said he believes the water tower can wait a year on repairs.

He said the main priorities now are the zeolite and cleaning of the wells. One of the buildings purchased from the Bachrach Co. two years ago is being advertised for sale. Bids will be received Aug. 23 for the building in the east side of New street.

The mayor was criticized by the council for giving approval to have the electric rates computed by Theodore A. Kosta. She explained he had done this for the village twice in the past, and he was the only one she knew of.

There was the possibility that the new rates could have been programmed in the present billing machine. Root pointed out, however, that the rates would be in the machine, and there would not be a chart which could be seen.

Root's bill of $600 is being disputed. Councilman Ervin Howard asked Solicitor Robert A. McKown if the mayor had acted illegally in ordering the work to be done. McKown said she had not long as the amount was less than $2,500, which is required by law to be advertised for bids.

A complaint was heard from Mr. and Mrs. John Foley, Brooks court, who said they will not allow their lawn during the sewer repairs. They said the damages so far during the sewer construction have cost them several thousand dollars and that they are considering suing the bonding company.

Village council met an hour before its regular meeting July 5 in an executive work session to discuss personnel and the pending salary raise to village employees.

Afterwards Councilman Michael Taylor said the council is still attempting to determine how the village can finance such a raise but hopefully would manage it.

Sanitary Sewer Engineer Eugene C. Gerken told the council it would be wiser to allow Needles & Associates, Sycamore, to do all the repair work, rather than have the Bachrach Co. do the part affecting its property.

The Bachrach bid was only $1,000 less than what Needles had bid for the work. Gerken said the village would not be ahead because Needles would be able to claim that amount as "lost profit" on his contract.

Councilman David A. Howard disputed the damage the Bachrach Co. claims was done to its property. Gerken explained that during the excavation work, when the sewer line was installed, a bank in the north side of East Main street was disturbed and damage was caused.

Councilman James L. Jacobus Sr. said he agrees that some damage was caused but also agreed with Howard that the claim seems excessive.

The council hired William Moore as sewer inspector, thus making him directly responsible to the council. William C. Enderby had also applied for the job and Kenneth Eichelberger indicated he was interested in it.

Moore's salary will be paid from the sewer construction fund at an hourly rate, which was not determined.

Because the budget was not ready, the hearing was delayed for a week.

Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine reported the fire house needs its roof and walls repaired.

Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock appointed Taylor to the fire committee.

Councilman Ervin Howard soundly criticized the trustees of Greenlaw cemetery. He is the cemetery committee member but has not attended any of the monthly board meetings.

He said that vases have been broken and flowers mowed down because of carelessness and that graves have not been properly lined up.

David Howard said it is the council's duty to see that the board does its job. Councilman G. Thomas Moore pointed out that the board has complete authority over the cemetery and the council should not try to take it away from it. The mayor appointed Jacobs to serve with Ervin Howard on the cemetery committee.

It was agreed the council will not collect a $200 bill from the Boosters club, which had been sent for power and additional work at the high school for the carnival. Village Administrator James C. Root said the bill was sent at the suggestion of Ervin Howard because the carnival company was to pay half of it. Howard denied he had said this.

Police Chief Robert Seel pointed out the police department had received 40 man hours during the week of the carnival.

Taylor reported he had Street 305 in Birchfield street appraised by Mrs. Stanley G. Gordon, local realtor. She valued the 50 x 125-foot lot which the village owns at $2,500. It will be advertised for sale.

David Howard refused to accept the mayor's monthly report and check to the clerk-treasurer. He said each council member should have a copy of her signed report. He said the Revised Code requires this. Stanley G. O'Brien only reference in the whole code to a mayor's report, does not make such a stipulation. In the past only one copy has been prepared and given to the clerk for the village files.

June's court brought in $7,000 in fines, $10,000 in interest and $36 in costs that must be forwarded to the state treasurer.

PJVS sets '79 budget in red ink

A deficit budget of $3,380,831, $86,763 more than anticipated receipts, was approved by the board of education of Pioneer Joint Vocational school district July 5.

Salary increases and the cost of operating the new addition added to the increases of inflation are the main reasons for the deficit, the board said.

Instruction costs for 1979 are estimated at $1,560,405, an increase of $35,225 over 1978 figures. General fund receipts are pegged thus:

Real and personal property taxes, $1,450,000; state foundation fund, $1,065,010; miscellaneous, $5,000.

Other general fund expenditures are estimated thus: Administration, $408,707; coordinate activities, $17,380; libraries, $33,500; transportation of pupils, $14,000; other $1,811,418 over 1978 figures. $466,000; operation of school plant, $391,900; maintenance of school plant, $65,960; capital outlay of $100,000; general fund transfers, $95,000.

An operating levy of 42/100 mill expires on Dec. 31.

Strike averted Board accepts four recommendations of impasse arbitration panel

A strike by teachers in Plymouth Local School district was averted Monday night when its board of education accepted four of six recommendations in a majority report of arbitrators.

From July 1, the base salary for a teacher with a baccalaureate degree and no experience is raised from $8,750 to $9,350. Other teachers will receive commensurate increases.

Sick leave will be accorded at the rate of 15 days a year. A total of 170 days may be accumulated. Extra-duty salary scale will be advanced seven per cent.

Full hospitalization and medical insurance coverage for each employee is assured, up to $70 monthly for a family plan and $28 monthly for a single plan.

Two of the recommendations in the majority report, filed by James M. Mancini, chairman, and Kenneth G. Cole, the teachers' appointee, were turned down by the board.

These are that the three days of annual personal leave, without reason, be allowed and that the board contribute $25 a credit hour for up to six hours of credit a year undertaken by each teacher working toward an advanced degree.

After a closed-door session, the board emerged to announce what it would do. But it did not identify the issues. Member Donald M. Eichelberger merely referred to the number and the board voted unanimously. It was voted after Supt. John Fazzini was closeted with Karl Pfaff, 3rd, new president of Plymouth Education association, that the press was allowed to see the report.

This was a sign that the teachers will go along with the board's decision. They will wait until another time to press their demands for other fringe benefits.

These increases and the pressures of inflation will result in a deficit budget for 1979.

In a brief hearing, the board approved a budget calling for expenditures of $1,793,644, compared with receipts of $1,747,728.5. The difference is $45,915.48.

Main reasons: carry-over balance at year's end is drastically lower ($160,500.69 in 1978 vs. $39,928.52 in 1979), outlay for professional staff is substantially higher ($971,800 in 1978 vs. $1,059,846 in 1979).

THREE TEACHERS resigned and two were hired.

David Bore, elementary and junior high school counselor, resigned. He said he wishes to pursue other facets of professional development.

Richard Krize, instrumental music teacher, quit. He did not say why. Band rehearsals are suspended until a new director is hired.

Lotta M. Stone, intensive education teacher, will join the Richland county staff.

Barbara L. Schamadan, Mansfield, recent graduate of Wittenberg university, Springfield, was hired to teach learning disability classes.

Deborah L. Poling, Norwalk route 2, a Jun graduate of Ohio university at Athens, will teach elementary classes and coach.

Mrs. David Simpson resigned as girls' athletic director. Fazzini was obviously nettled. "It makes it very difficult to continue girls' athletics when two female physical education teachers refuse to coach," Mrs. Simpson, now in a new position, resigned as girls' track and field coach earlier because she said she needed the time to attend to duties as athletic director.

Clairence Justice, Thomas Amund and Larry Wallace were hired on one year contracts as chaperones.

Purchase of two school buses, totalling $36,906.82, was authorized. State funds will pay $24,324 of the bill, so local outlay is only $12,584.82.

Chassis will be supplied by Abers Garage, Inc., Ashland. Bodies will be furnished by Superior Bus Sales, Inc., Lexington.

Progress toward establishment of a new athletic league is being made, Fazzini said. But only three schools have so far indicated any solid interest in it. These are Crestview, Lucas and Plymouth.

A constitution will be adopted in November, Fazzini said. A committee has been appointed to choose a name for the conference.

One unit of intensive education will be dropped. This is the unit that will be transferred to Pioneer Joint Vocational school, to be dealt with by Lotta Stone.

Fazzini expressed concern that decreases in pupil enrollment will be so severe that state foundation fund losses will be heavy.

Festival set by firemen for Aug. 5, 6

Firemen's association of Plymouth will stage its annual festival and barbecue Aug. 5 and 6. Richard Roll, president of the association, is general chairman. Parade chairman is Kenneth Eichelberger.

It will form at Plymouth High school at 3 p. m. on Aug. 5 and march south in Sandusky street to the Public Square, turning east into Trux street.

The bicycle races will be the same day, beginning at 10 a. m. in front of the fire station. Barbecued chicken will be served behind the fire station on both days from noon until 7 p. m. Sandwiches and other foods will be available during the whole festival.

Ohio Power seeks raise of 20%

Ohio Power Co. filed July 30 an application with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio seeking a $123.5-million rate increase.

This increase would raise the company's revenues by about 20 per cent, and would apply to all residential, commercial and industrial rates throughout the company's 53-county service area, which includes non-incorporated areas of Plymouth, New Haven, Cass and Bloomington townships.

Charles A. Heller, executive vice president and chief operating officer of Ohio Power, stated that the increase is necessary if the company is to continue providing adequate and reliable electric power to its 600,000 customers.

Optimism rises at Banner

Field testing of a new process by which coal fines -- dust and chips normally considered waste products in mining -- are restructured into solids for use as steam coal, stoker coal and fire-place logs is in full swing, Banner Industries, Inc., parent company of Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., reports.

It expects the process to produce revenues in the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, 1979.

The testing is going forward at Greenville, Ind., where Banner owns a coal mine. Kirby Nesbitt, Shiloh, is in charge of the work.

This salad makes a seventh wonder!

By AUNT LIZ
Making lists is a good rainy day sport.

Most of us stick to grocery lists and half the time forget to take them when we shop. And is there anything worse than getting home and discovering that you forgot the ONE thing you really went for?

There are other lists which are really more fun.

I did not know until I read it in the New York Times that in 1974 the United States Travel Service published two lists of natural and man-made wonders in our country. There are just seven on each list.

On the first list there are the Grand Canyon, Yellowstone, Niagara Falls, Mt. McKinley, California's sequoias and redwoods, Hawaii's volcanoes and the Everglades.

On the man-made list there are the Golden Gate bridge, Mt. Rushmore, Houston's Astrodome, the Statue of Liberty, Hoover dam, Disney World in Florida and St. Louis's Gateway arch.

Since I have only seen the trees in the first list, I must take the Travel Service's word for the rest.

Of the second list, even though I have not ever been to Houston, I cannot picture the Astrodome being that great. I have been to St. Louis, though, and the arch didn't look that fascinating.

This year the Travel

Service tried to make a new survey and hardly anyone answered it, so it went down the drain, but the Times did its own, with staff members taking part.

Theirs is much better, really. More realistic. For the natural wonders they come up with the Grand Canyon, the coast of Maine, Yosemite, Crater lake, Sequoia National park, San Francisco bay and Niagara Falls.

Their man-made wonders, I really agree with. Try those and see what you think: the New York skyline, the Golden Gate bridge and cable cars in San Francisco, Las Vegas at night, the Lincoln Memorial, the Denver & Rio Grande narrow gauge railroad in Colorado and the "Stack" in Los Angeles, where a bunch of freeways interchange. It is scary to drive over.

Next time you have a bunch of people to entertain, sit them down with a pencil and paper to make such lists, and they may Miss Myers named to dean's list

Carole Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Myers, Plymouth route 1, with a 4.0 grade-point average, was named to the Dean's List at Ashland college for the spring semester.

Miss Myers, a May graduate, will reach home economics in Monroeville High school in the fall.

likely will come close to these two.

It kind of helps if you have seen some of these places.

I would add the beach at Camp Lejeune in North Carolina, which not everyone gets to see. It is kind of private and you have to almost sell your soul to get on it and join up. It is truly magnificent.

The Disney things are truly great, but they still cannot compete with my memories as a little girl of the toy department in Marshall Field's in Chicago, where my mother would leave me to browse when she shopped.

If you can't get to any of these places this summer, you can manage a ride to Zanesville. That Y bridge will fascinate your kids. It is also a real wonder.

And for those of us who aren't even going that far, but are pinned to a kitchen, you can bring a little wonderment to the table.

This will make a nice supper with a salad. Open a can of cheddar cheese soup, put out six eggs so they are room temperature. Separate them.

While the soup is heating, heat the yolks until thick. Stir them into the soup. Beat the whites until stiff and fold them in to the rest. Pour it all into a quart and half casserole or souffle dish and bake at 300 for just over an hour until it is set. It will serve four nicely.

Dixie Baker to be wed to John Hart

Miss Dixie Baker will become the bride of John Hart Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in First Evangelical Lutheran church.

The Rev. Ronald Akins will perform the ceremony.

A 1970 alumna of Plymouth High school, she is the daughter of the late Maurice Bakers, Plymouth route 1.

Her fiancé, a teacher in Plymouth Local School district, is the son of the Ralph Harts, Shelby.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. James Russell will move to Danville, Ky., the end of this month. Their home in Parsel road has been bought by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burke, Pittsburg, Pa.

Salvatore J. Glorioso was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party, at his home Sunday night. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Glorioso, Mrs. Angie White, Mrs. Wade McKown, Michael Glorioso, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glorioso, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ernesberger, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sutter, Mrs. Connie Bender and Mrs. Tommy Fletcher, Mansfield; Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Sutter, Shelby, and Mr. and Mrs. William Heyinger, New Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence O. Cramer were honored guests Saturday at the wedding of Denise Ruth Lockley and Ernesto Obregon. He is the son of Mrs. Hugh Schiebley, Mansfield. She is the former Mrs. Gloria Obregon, who taught Spanish classes for several years in the Plymouth High school.

The ceremony was performed in the woods of Gracehaven farms near Bellville.

Beginning Sunday members of the auxiliary of the Plymouth Fire department will be soliciting for foods and help for the annual festival.

Harold V. Ruckman, Lakeland, Fla., is spending the summer with his daughter and son-in-law, the Roy W. Carters, Another daughter, Mrs. Joanne Powell, and her son, Andrew, Barrow, Fla., will leave this weekend after spending two weeks here. A second daughter, Mrs. Juanita Odson, and her son, Thomas, and his family, Houston, Tex., Friday after a two week visit. The Carters' daughter, Mrs. Daniel Cowan, and her children, left for their home in Houston, Tex., yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlow Welling, Waldron, Mich., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Culver.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerold Crox and their infant daughter, Nicole, Utica, Mich., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Frakes.

Gregory Cashman, Williamsburg, Va., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Cashman.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Miller have moved into their new home in Plymouth East road and the Kenneth Hawks have moved from Scott road to Preston road.

Mr. and Mrs. H. James Root were among the guests Saturday at the wedding of Jack Williams and Shirley McCarthy in the Church of the Savior, Cleveland Hts. The bridegroom is the son of old friends of the Roots.

Ann and Emily Eckstein, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Royal W. Eckstein, Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., left Saturday after visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Royal W. Eckstein, Sr., and their uncle, Everett Eckstein, for several weeks.

Barbara Elliott, daughter of the John Elliotts, Flushing, Mich., is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Condon. Her father brought her here and spent the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fazzini with the Burton Stahls, Mansfield, and the Jeffrey Halls, Fremont, spent the weekend in Clarkburg, W. Va., visiting their parents.

Strike averted

Fazzini expressed concern that decreases in pupil enrollment will be so severe that state foundation fund losses will be heavy.

He said Mennonite families will build a new school, probably in the eastern part of the district, and 30 pupils in grades one through eight will withdraw from the public schools. Other losses, chiefly that the baby boom is over, will result in a total enrollment of about 1,385 pupils, he said, compared with a peak of 1,530.

Ohio Power seeks raise of 20%

of electricity a month would see his bill increase from the present $12.42 to $15.83.

Examples of the effect on other customers' bills show:

One using 500 kwh monthly would see his bill increase from $20.95 to $26.28.

Another using 750 kwh would see an increase from $29.45 a month to $36.73, and,

Still another, using 1000 kwh monthly, would see his bill increase from $37.40 to $46.35.

"The filing of this request for a rate increase," said Heller, "is another example that inflation continues to be one of the major problems facing our nation, adversely affecting the economic well-being of all of us."

Two factors have increased customers' bills since the current rates went into effect: higher fuel costs and increased usage of electricity. The higher fuel charges included in the company's rates are reviewed twice annually by the PUCO.

The company's residential customers, on average, are using 16 percent more electricity today than they did in 1973.
