Water rate at Shiloh going up

Water rates in Shiloh will be raised $1 a month if a proposal by trustees of public affairs is approved by village council.

Councilmen were told Aug. 12 of the intent of the trustees to raise the rates to provide revenue with which to fund the cost of installing the water softening system.

When a commercial rate is computed, the trustees said, they will present a master proposal encompassing all rates.

The council approved transfer of $10,000 from the electric fund to the water fund to meet anticipated water plant costs.

7.8% gas rate hike? ColGas proposes two year contract

A raise in natural gas rates of 7.8 per cent over two years was requested by Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., when village council met Tuesday.

The company is asking for a two year contract instead of the usual four year one. The present contract expires Oct. 31. During the first year, the increase will be 2.8 per cent, which will cost the average customer $137.37 less the average is using 18,000 cu. ft. of gas. The increase during the second year will be five per cent.

Robert B. Simmers of the Mansfield office told the council that the average gas bill is now $42.20 in Plymouth, which has 630 users.

With the new rate, the bill will be $50.50 the first year and $53.11 the second.

Another change in the new contract is that there is a flat "customer charge" of $3.53, which replaces the present minimum charge of $3.50.

The new charge will not include any use of gas, whereas the present minimum charge did allow a minimal use of gas. Until the council has time to study the new contract versus the old one, action was tabled until Aug. 1 at 6 p. m.

Approval was given to a budget for 1979. The general fund receipts are estimated at $134,075.27 with expenses at $174,067, leaving a deficit of $39,991.73. This includes the $15,000 note owed First National Bank of Mansfield, which can most likely be paid off this year, but the council believed it should be included as an expenditure for 1979. Estimated receipts and expenditures in other funds are: Streets, $20,453.27; $19,000 state highway fund, $2,814.14; $1,700; federal revenue sharing receipts $8,000 which will be spent; cemetery, $15,485.69; $13,300; park, $4,465.44; $5,980; water, $44,717.80; $60,740 (this fund will have a deficit of $16,022.20 because of repairs); electric $345,131.94; $336,851.78; sewer $122,391.94; $127,000.

Councilman Edward O. Ramsey reported he talked with an official of the Firelands Electric Cooperative and was told it would be happy to look at the village's distribution system and discuss the possibility of acquiring it.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore, who was absent from the meeting, was to have approached the Ohio Power Co.

Authorization was given to Jack Davis, West High street, to connect his new home to the sewer for health reason because the old line is unusable.

Here's mayor's message on electric system ratio to what he has to protect. The man who owns a $100,000 house obviously has more to protect than the man who owns a $5,000 house and he should be expected to pay for it. But the other man should not be let off scot free.

As I have studied the possibilities of revenues of an income tax in Plymouth, it is clear that the cost of administration, in the first year at least, would add up much of the return. I estimate the cost of an administrator at $15,000, including perquisites, and the acquisition and equipping of space at $3,000.

Clerical and other personnel, I estimate, would cost $6,000. These would be continuing costs.

There are a number of wage earners domiciled here who are paid in other towns, where they are subject to a municipal income tax. I refer to Mansfield, Ontario, Shelby, Gallon, Bucyrus, Willard and Norwalk. It would, I think, be little short of absurd to expect those towns to share those taxes with Plymouth. Yet, under the law, whatever is paid as municipal income tax in one town must be credited against the tax due in the town of domicile. Under these circumstances, a one per cent income tax could not be expected to produce any more than $65,000 a year.

Finally, everyone in Plymouth is justifiably concerned about the growth of Big Brother. Everyone to whom I speak resents, and I think rightfully, that his neighbor may know how much he makes.

I am absolutely certain that the privacy of one's income tax return would not be absolute. Not everyone knows that a copy of each federal income tax return goes to the county auditor. I tell myself I have told by past and present employees of the county auditor details of tax returns, both income and personal property tax returns, of residents of this town. Since I enjoy no special privileges in the county auditor's office, and would of course have no special privileges in a village tax office, I can only conclude that my reactions are the same as any other's: if we can avoid this possibility, by all means do so.

The third possibility is to convert fixed assets to ready capital, so that we may profit by its investment.

The only fixed asset that we own that is of value is the electric distribution system. I have spoken before, most notably in my message of Jan. 1st, of the desirability of liquidating this asset, for eight times its annual revenue or thereabouts, and investing the proceeds in federal treasury notes. This would provide us with about $113,000 annually, of which 22 mills of real estate taxation. Of course, some of this would be taken up by the need to pay for street lighting.

But I think the advantages far outweigh the disadvantages.

What are the advantages?

1. The village could divest itself of a substantial amount of overhead. By this I refer to some employees, some substantial expenses such as workman's compensation and unemployment insurance, hospitalization and retirement on other employees, who would be reduced to part-time status, and probably to the village administrator.

2. It is difficult, as the council has several times been informed by me, to recruit skilled personnel willing to live and work in the village to perform the several functions of the electric department. A RATE OF PAY THAT THIS COUNCIL, AND ITS PREDECESSORS, HAVE SO FAR INDICATED A WILLINGNESS TO MEET. Time and again, I recruited skilled personnel, only to be told, when I pressed them, they would not live in Plymouth. Mostly this was because they were home owners in nearby communities.

3. As we stand now, whenever the village makes a mistake, the subscriber to electric service has no recourse. The village is sovereign and you can't sue the king. If a private utility were to operate the electric service, this situation would not prevail.

4. The village would not be compelled, for whatever reason, to decide among the merits of one citizen-consumer from another. I confess that I have spent many sleepless nights wondering whether I did the right thing when I ordered the utilities' clerk to grant or not to grant an extension to a delinquent subscriber.

5. We can dispense with some personnel to prepare billings and receive payments for water and sewer charges. Perhaps we could raise the salary of the clerk-treasurer to recompense him for such labors.

6. Most importantly, the question of whether to raise rates, or to lower them, would be left in the hands of professionals, rather than in the hands of people like you and me who, if I am any judge, seem prone to make decisions based on emotion, personal friendships and other considerations of a political nature completely divorced from the economic consideration that should prevail in a question of rates.

What are the disadvantages?

1. There is the possibility that in five years the desirability of owning a municipal distribution system may advance to such an extent that it would be foolish for us to sell out now.

For better or for ill, the village system as it stands affords some graduates of our high school an opportunity to live and work at home, and to settle with their families.

3. The freeloader will continue to prosper. By these I mean the several village departments, the Plymouth Midget League, and the state highway department, as well as the street lighting expense.

4. There is always the possibility, which is beyond the realm of my imagination, that the village could buy the power from the supplier, deliver it to the consumer, and still, with all things considered, and I mean all things, charge a rate that would provide the village with a reasonable reserve and pay its expenses, which rate would be substantially lower, over the long pull, than that of the private utility.

Accordingly, as I think you will see, it is wise to suggest that the village take prompt steps to sell the electric distribution system and to proceed as I have suggested. It was for this reason that, on Jan. 3, when I appointed Mr. Moore to be chairman of the electric committee, I requested an immediate inventory of all of our electric department assets be taken.

Rules set for girls in contest

Girls 16 and above, still enrolled in high school or having just graduated, are invited to compete for the title of queen of Plymouth Fire department.

Applications must reside in the Plymouth fire district.

A cash award will be presented to the winner on Aug. 5, after the annual parade during the Firemen's Festival.

First queen was Jamie Jacobs, who went on to become first runner-up for queen of the Northwest Fireman's association spring meeting.

Auxiliary of the fire department is collecting funds and food to support the festival.

All profits of the festival are paid into a special fund that is used to purchase equipment and services that cannot be funded by tax money.

Last year the fire department acquired two portable radios and chargers, contributed toward the cost of coats, boots and helmets and bought a new fiberglass pike pole.

Newsy notes . . .

Mrs. Robert L. McIntire returned Saturday from Brooklyn Heights, N. Y., where she spent the week visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Piercedici.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a slipper-length gown of organza over tulle, fashioned with Queen Anne collar and double caplet sleeves draping to the back of the Empire waist. Venice lace accented the neckline and the flounce of the full skirt that formed the chapel-length train of the gown. A veil of illusion was gathered to a Venice lace cap.

For something old, carrying out a family tradition, the bride carried a prayer book that was her great-great-great-grandmother's.

Her flowers were a cascade of yellow roses, gypsophila, stephanotis and ivy arranged on the century-old prayer book. A college roommate of the bride, Mrs. Gary Wirth, San Francisco, Cal., was matron of honor. The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Roger Frey; Mrs. William Richeson; Mrs. William Pflanz and the Misses Linda and Sandy Cappelli, the bride's sisters, were bridesmaids. The heat pump. An energy-saving idea a lot of people are comfortable with. Even Uncle Sam.

The heat pump is a device that heats and cools your home. When it cools, it works like any air conditioner. But when it heats, it works more efficiently than any other electric heating system around. It captures the heat that exists in outside air, even on cold days. As a result, you can heat your home using up to one-third less electricity than other electric heating systems. This more-for-your-money, energy-saving feature has made the heat pump very popular with a lot of people. Including the federal government, whose energy agencies recommend it over other types of electric heat. Actually, we don't sell heat pumps. But, the way we figure it, every bit of electric energy that can be saved these days helps all of us.
