

Schools opened Tuesday and doubtless there are scores of parents who breathed a sigh of relief. One infers they're glad to get rid of the little rascals who've been underfoot since early June. And it wasn't such a warm summer, so there weren't many days when you could fob them off on the life guards at the pool. Besides, the pool costs money. And despite a splendid park, mothers simply won't send their children there.

It is this attitude that we are moved to speak of today.

Any teacher worth his salt will tell you that education is a three-way street. At one end of the street is the teacher, a professional, trained to deal with children of a special age group, anxious to achieve the goals set for him by his supervisors, by the state department of education, and by the community. At the other end of the street is the pupil, either a male or a female, assigned to the teacher to be taught. If there is no effort by the pupil, if the teacher does not evoke effort, the time and money spent on the child's education aren't worth the candle. In the middle of the street is the parent, the father and mother, in some cases only the mother, in fewer cases, only the father.

What is the parent's role?

Despite what you may hear or read elsewhere, and despite the changes that have swept over our society during the past two decades (the perfection of television, the working mother, cheaper money, the growth of credit, the fractionation of the school curriculum so that one is not surprised to hear of a course in how to count nose hairs), the real role of the parent is this:

1. Give the child a home. Make him feel loved, wanted, a member of the family even as if he were a stockholder in a business. Consult him as to his desires and needs, give in to him on matters that hardly count, stand firm on those matters that are apt to develop his character.
2. A child can't go to school on an empty stomach. A good breakfast is essential to a good education.
3. Dress the child suitably for the climate. Ignore the preferences of his peer group; they don't amount to a hill of beans. Dress the child in accordance with family means and pay closest attention to health and comfort, not aesthetics or fashion.
4. Encourage the child to share his school experiences with the whole family. The evening meal is a perfect time to do this. Some children do not volunteer to share their experiences. Of these questions must be asked and answers expected.
5. Limit the child's access to distractions, whether excessive play, excessive television, excessive social activity, especially excessive personal use of transportation. A special time and place should be set aside so that the child may complete his obligations to his subject, his teacher, his class and himself with relative peace.
6. A parent should make himself available to assist the child with work that is obviously baffling to him. If the family resources are exhausted, and the hour is not late, resort may be had to the telephone. There are scores of folks, not all of them teachers, who'd be tickled to death to be asked to help.
7. Praise the child when he does well. When he does not do well, find out why. The first place to find out is in the teacher's room. A simple telephone call to the school will produce an appointment with the teacher and, if necessary, his supervisor, to discuss what can be done to improve the child's performance.
8. Support the child when he thinks he's right. Chastise him when he's wrong. Don't take sides against the teacher until the teacher has had a chance to explain his side. The teacher-pupil relationship is an extremely delicate thing. A good one is worth diamonds. A bad one will produce a prison sentence.
9. We don't have any patent on rules. These rules worked with our children, each of whom has been a great credit to his parents, and each of whom is undertaking to raise a new family by the same rules.

Church appeals for blankets

Plymouth United Methodist church school teachers/helpers will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the parsonage. Church school superintendent is Mrs. Fred Port. Christian education work area chairman is Mrs. John H. Huchinson, Jr.

Flat Rock Children's home, a mission project of the East Ohio Conference of the United Methodist church; located in the Mansfield district, will stage a bring and buy and picnic on the grounds Saturday from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m., sponsored by the Flat Rock auxiliary, whose members are from United Methodist churches of the district and conference. Those attending are asked to bring items for the sale and to encourage the purchase of other useful items. The picnic will be at noon.

Flat Rock Children's home serves as a home for school children with family problems and difficulties who have been made wards of the courts and placed in home environment for a limited period of time. While there, they receive counseling, attend local schools, work either in the home or at farm related jobs and learn to get along with themselves and others.

Work day project at Plymouth set for Saturday has been postponed until Sept. 16 at 8 a. m. Plans are to replace the roof over the utility room at the parsonage.

Sunday will be the first blanket Sunday for the United Methodist church schools in Plymouth and Shiloh. Members are asked to pin dollars to a blanket placed near the front of the auditorium, which will be turned over to CROP for distribution in emergency situations. Each $4 obtained will purchase one blanket for CROP. Blanket Sundays will continue through Sept. 24 on Rally Sunday.

House sold

The Ronald McVickers have purchased the Nimmons property in North street and moved in last week. He is a music teacher in Willard schools.

Plymouth meets South Central here tomorrow

South Central's Trojans come here tomorrow determined to win over Plymouth.

And Plymouth is equally determined that its neighbor won't succeed. So it shapes up as a good, stiff Class A football game.

The Trojans, under a new coach, haven't played a game this season. But they've been impressive in scrimmages.

Plymouth has played one game, which it won. For one half of that contest, the Big Red showed hardly anything. Fortunately, in the second half, its offense established itself and produced four scores.

Barn burns, van destroyed

Disaster hit the Plymouth fire department Monday afternoon. A barn in Beelman street, belonging to Martin Neesley was lost.

The van belonging to Robert Waldruft parked in back of the fire house was totally destroyed when a fire vehicle rolled into it while the department was on the fire call.

Whether to sell electric system discussed but not decided

A motion to advertise for bids to sell the electric distribution system was rescinded Tuesday night after it had been discussed beforehand and after the motion. Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock said the council apparently did not see eye to eye on attempting to sell it and it should be studied further.

Mayor's memorandum

MEMORANDUM TO: The Village Council REFERENCE: Sec. 733.34, ORC

At a time when there is widespread criticism of the criminal justice system, it is necessary, in my judgment, to call attention not only to gross violations of discretion but to others, so long as they reflect on the integrity of the system.

On July 24 last, there was heard in the mayor's court by the president pro tempore of the council, in my absence, the case of the Village of Plymouth v. Donald A. Dalton, Willard route 2. The charge was a misdemeanor, to the effect that the accused did on July 18 follow too closely a vehicle operated by Randall Howard in Sandusky street at Parkwood drive, resulting in a collision.

Randall Howard is the brother of the president pro tempore of the village. This fact was not disclosed to the accused.

It would have made small difference in the ethics of the matter if disclosure had been made and the case had proceeded to its conclusion, which was that Dalton pleaded no contest and was fined $50 and court costs.

It is plain that there was a conflict of interest. Although Sec. 733.35 of the Revised Code gives the mayor authority to file charges against delinquent officers of the village when the mayor has reason to believe that official has been guilty of bribery, misfeasance, malfeasance, nonfeasance, gross immorality, or habitual drunkenness, I choose not to do more than to record this incident, to call it to the attention of the village council, and to offer the prayer that such conduct will not again occur.

Councilmen G. Thomas Moore and Edward O. Ramsey were the main spokesmen to put it up for bid. Moore made the motion. Councilman David A. Howard said the "other side of the coin", meaning how the system could be put into a more efficient operation and hold its own financially, should be studied. Councilman Michael Taylor agreed with him but would be in favor of receiving bids for it to determine just what it is worth.

Red wins opener, 27-0

Second half rally produces four scores

Plymouth's defense was too much for a game but outmanned Seneca East eleven here Friday night and the Big Red handed Mike McFarren victory No. 1 in his fifth season as head coach.

The score was 27 to 0. Plymouth scored all of its points in the second half, its offense unable to gain through the Tiger defenses with any consistency during the first 24 minutes.

After that period, Seneca East had slightly the better of it on the ground -- 58 yards to 51 -- and Plymouth had an edge through the air -- 10 to zero.

The Big Red struck with its first possession of the third period.

Seneca East has no punter to speak of -- the Tigers kicked four times for an average of slightly over 18 yards a boot -- and he got only 16 yards after Seneca East racked up one first down with the kick-off. Here Plymouth set to work. Capt. Jim Wallace ripped off the last 33 yards with 5:49 on the clock.

John Ross carried three times in succession, getting seven, five and five yards. Wallace hit left tackle for 11, Ross got six through right tackle and then Wallace went for broke, bursting through his right tackle, reversing his field twice and reaching the end zone. The holder fumbled the pass from center and the place kick for PAT never got off the ground.

PLYMOUTH WAS BACK in the end zone with the next possession. Seneca East punted on fourth and 17 and Plymouth took over at the Tiger 47. Ross got seven. Wallace ran for 17, only to see the ball set back because Plymouth was clipping, then Wallace fell for a loss of two. Mike Berberick, the quarterback, rolled out to his right for 31 yards and a first down at the Tiger 17. He rolled out to the other side on the next play and picked up 13 yards, good for first down at the four. Then he burst home, with 36 seconds left in the quarter. Berberick ran the PATs and Plymouth held a 14 to 0 lead.

The Big Red took advantage of a break right after the kickoff. Seneca East fumbled on the first play, Plymouth recovered at the Tiger 16 and after two running plays netted seven yards. Berberick passed to Jim Robinson for 10 yards and the third score. Gary Holt booted the PAT.

By this time McFarren was flooding the field with substitutes.

Late in the game, Seneca East punted 27 yards to the Tiger 47. On fourth down, Ross sought to punt. The snap was poor and the ball bounced on the ground, whereupon Ross wicket up and speared to his left, down the south sideline, for 16 yards and a first down.

OHIO SECOND DOWN, James Jamerson, a ninth grader, danced through right tackle for 25 yards and the final score. Plymouth had covered the 47 yards in six plays. The place kick for PAT was wide.

Statistically, it was clearly a Plymouth victory but the Big Red was sluggish for half of the game. Plymouth had 14 first downs, whereas Seneca East got six. The Tigers picked off one Plymouth pass. The Seneca East passing attack wasn't all that brilliant and Red fans will have to wait until Vance Toney and the Trojans of South Central test Plymouth's aerial defenses.

Ross, Wallace and Berberick were the main mail carriers. Ross with 72 yards, Wallace with 62 and Berberick with 56. The offensive line tore monstrous holes in the Tiger defense in the second half. And since the defensive line is peopled chiefly by those who labor for the offense, it follows that its performance in the first half, in particular, was outstanding. Question is whether Seneca East is a sufficient test for the defense.

Squirrel season starts Friday, prospects good

Ohio squirrel hunters awaiting the opening of the 1978 season tomorrow should find an abundant supply of bushytails in most areas of the state. Field reports indicate the nut crop from hickory, oak, beech and walnut trees is excellent. Squirrel reproduction and survival are dependent on the amount of nuts available.

The 1978 season is open Sept. 8 through Nov. 11 on private lands and from Sept. 8 through Dec. 23 on public hunting areas. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. The daily bag limit is four, with a possession limit of eight after the first day.

Heavily forested areas in east central, southeast and southcentral Ohio will provide the best squirrel hunting; however squirrels are found in all 88 counties.

Here are the counties that should provide the best squirrel hunting in 1978 based on nut crop and squirrel population estimates:
Central Ohio (Wildlife District I) -- Knox, Morrow, Licking and Fairfield.

Northwest Ohio (Wildlife District II) -- Williams, Defiance and Richland.

Northeast Ohio (Wildlife District III) -- Tuscarawas, Ashland, Holmes, Harrison and Carroll.

Southeast Ohio (Wildlife District IV) -- Athens, Gallia and Jackson.

Southwest Ohio (Wildlife District V) -- Butler, Adams, Brown and Darke.

Dennis Laser wed at Greenwich

Dennis Jay Laser was married Saturday at 2 p. m. in Greenwich United Methodist church to Miss Kay Fulton, daughter of the Robert Fultons, Greenwich route 1. He is the son of the Harold Lasers, Plymouth.

The Rev. Austin Keiser performed the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a n Empire gown of dacron polyester organza over taffeta and net. Silken Venise lace trimmed the bodice and shepherd dress sleeves with ruffled cuffs. The top of the flounce and the hem of the gown were trimmed with the same lace. The skirt extended into a chapel-length train. A finger tip veil of illusion fell from a headpiece of Venise lace and seed pearls.

Miss Rozie Fox was maid of honor. Miss Tonda Hall and Miss Lori Fulton, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. The bridegroom's niece, Monica Laser, was flower girl. His nephew, Marco Laser, was ringbearer.

Guests were served by Mrs. Larry Laser, Mrs. Jack Laser and Mrs. Norma Laser, sisters-in-law of the bridegroom, whose sister, Mrs. Joyce Whittier, registered guests. The bride will be graduated by South Central High school in 1979. The bridegroom, a 1975 alumnus of Plymouth High school who attended Pioneer Joint Vocational school, is employed by Evert Bros., Willard. He has served as part-time patrolman in Plymouth, where his mother is a police dispatcher.

Mark Deering was best man. Mark Oney, Buddy Teats, Steven Whisler, nephew of the bridegroom, and Gilbert Fulton, the bride's brother, ushered. A reception took place in the church rooms.
