

R. B. Griest dead at 64; taught here

Brother-in-law of Mrs. Kenneth Eichelberry and of William Chronister, R. Byron Griest, 64, Massillon, for two generations an important figure in Ohio music education, died in Massillon Community hospital Jan. 14 at 1:25 a. m.

He was taken ill at his home at the edge of Massillon and drove himself to the hospital.

He was married to the former Juanita Chronister. Griest was choral music director of Walsh college near Canton when he died. He served as director of vocal music in Massillon schools, director of the five choruses of Washington High school there and teacher of vocal music education and theory in Washington High school from 1951 until he retired in September, 1974.

He was organist and choir-master of St. Paul's Lutheran church for 21 years and was organist for five years before he took the combined post. On Nov. 6, 1977, the church, of which he was a member, honored him for 25 years of service.

He founded the Massillon Community Singers in 1977 and directed that chorus of 65 singers.

Griest was a graduate of Wittenberg university, music and bachelor of science in education degrees. He held the master of arts degree in education from Ohio State university.

He was president of the Ohio Music Education association from 1962 to 1964. He was Ohio chairman of the American Choral Directors association from 1964 to 1965 and was chairman of the North Central section from 1968 to 1969.

Choirs of Washington High school directed by him were awarded 52 minor ratings in state-level chorus competition.

Prior to joining the Massillon staff, he taught at Madison Mills, Plymouth, where he met his wife, and South Chardon.

Griest served as a chaplain's assistant during World War II.

His wife survives. So do a daughter, Mrs. Greer G. Rideout, and two sons, Gregory B. and Godfrey B., all of Massillon; a brother, Emil V., Springfield, and three grandsons.

The Rev. Maurice D. White, his minister, conducted services from the church Jan. 17. Burial was in Sunset Hills Burial park, Jackson township, Stark county.

Mrs. Cox dead at 69

Mrs. Vinel Cox, 69, died unexpectedly Sunday in the Dayton Beach, hospital, Dayton Beach, Fla.

The former Leola Hamman, she was born in Shiloh, the daughter of Charlie and Grace Hamman.

She lived in Shiloh for many years before she and her husband moved to Florida. Later they moved to Mooresville, N. C.

She was a 50-year member of Angelus chapter 322, O.E.S. She is survived by one brother, Hubert Hamman, Mansfield.

Four brothers, Albert, Roscoe, Dewey and Lester Hamman, and a sister, Mrs. Schuyler Zackman, died earlier.

Graveside services will be conducted today at 11 a. m. in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Mrs. Roberts dies at 80 at Willard

Mrs. Leo Bradley Roberts, 80, Route 98, died Monday in Willard Area hospital.

Mrs. Gertrude Blais in Steuben Jan. 11, 1899, she lived here most of her life. She was widowed May 14, 1978.

She was a member of First United Methodist church, of the Farm Women's club and of the now defunct Plymouth Grove.

She is survived by four sons, Bradley J., Atticus, George, Plymouth, Theodore, Santa Clara, Cal., and Nelson, Willard; three daughters, Agnes, now Mrs. J. Raymond Willet, Plymouth, route 1, Edna, now Mrs. Charles H. Dick, Plymouth, and Mrs. Doris Ferguson, Shelby; 10 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Her pastor, the Rev. Julian Taggart, will conduct services today at 11 a. m. from McQuate-Serul Funeral home. Burial will be Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

Curpen kin dies at Shelby

Sister of Mrs. Otto Curpen, Mrs. Lillian Mae Andrews, died Sunday night at Crestwood Care Center, Shelby, after a long illness.

She was born here Oct. 10, 1896, but lived in Shelby for the last 60 years.

She taught school for many years. She is also survived by two sons, Robert, Gallion, and George, Shelby; a brother, Horace Willet, Bellevue; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday morning in Shelby by the Rev. James J. Lamada, pastor of First Lutheran church.

Burial was in Oakland cemetery.

CETA cutting back; village not in danger

Just where does Huron county stand with CETA employees?

No one is quite sure. A hastily called meeting Monday for county officials and the commissioners was organized after one of the commissioners was called Jan. 17 to Columbus, where it was explained that some CETA funds will be non-existent and a number of jobs eliminated.

Thomas Carabin, who was the spokesman for the commissioners, told the gathering Monday there are four options open to solve the problem: transfer a CETA employee to the regular payroll of the municipality or the department in which such an employee is now working, assist any employee in finding other employment, transfer where possible any employee from Title VI, which is being eliminated, to Title II, or terminate the employee.

If the latter is the final solution, such employees will receive a 30-day notice of termination.

If they cannot find other employment, they will be eligible for unemployment compensation.

Several persons at the meeting said this was a useless move because now the employees are being paid for work, whereas if terminated would be receiving money for not working.

Carabin said voluntary cutbacks are being requested first. If they are not forthcoming, the commissioners will have to make the decision of where the cuts are to be made.

During 1978 Huron county received $1.5 million to fund

Titles II and VI. This sum is to be drastically cut under the new federal budget.

The commissioners expect to issue a statement today explaining the cutbacks more fully and what the results are likely to be. Edward Still, county administrator, said that at the meeting in Columbus, none of the officials of the Ohio Office of Manpower Development could fully answer any questions put to them.

Carabin said that Huron county has made good use of the CETA funds allotted to it and was "not as badly off as some of the larger counties".

PLYMOUTH ALSO HAS made good use of the funds.

Administrator James C. Root has three men working in the village departments and hopes that by spring there will be three more, when the weather will permit more outdoor work to be done.

Last year Root had six CETA employees and was able to help them find permanent employment.

Police Chief W. Robert Seel has one patrolman and two dispatchers under the program.

One patrolman was absorbed on the police payroll last year and one dispatcher found permanent employment in 1977.

All the Plymouth CETA workers fall under Title II, which will not be affected.

Marriages increase by 2.7%

For the first time since 1973 the probate court of Huron county noticed an increase in marriage licenses issued.

The 1978 total was 557, according to figures released by Judge Thomas E. Hendinger, which compare to 542 in 1977.

The highest year ever for marriage licenses was 1973 with 598. As a contrast, 306 marriage licenses were issued a century ago in 1878.

In the year just past the probate court had 358 new estates opened and 316 closed, leaving 266 current estates still open in the court.

This contrasts with only 57 estates opened in the probate court in 1878, a century ago. The court also had 42 guardianships and testamentary trusts opened in 1978 and 96 closed, with 98 current cases pending at the end of 1978.

The court also completed 30 adoptions and had 10 pending at the end of 1978.

The probate court also handles miscellaneous matters such as changes of name, delayed registration of births and mental illness and mental retardation cases.

The earliest records of the probate court date from 1815, when Huron county's court system began operation.

Mrs. Holborn dies at 68 in Florida

Mother of Mrs. Marvin Beebe, Mrs. Gordon Holborn, 68, Mansfield, died unexpectedly Sunday in Lake Tansasskee, Fla., where she and her husband were spending the winter months.

She was born Cora Hawk in Willard.

She is also survived by two grandchildren.

A brother, Fred Hawk, died in 1979, and another, Charles Hawk, Pt. Clinton, died Sept. 29, 1978.

Funeral services will be conducted today at 1 p. m. from Finefrock Funeral home, Mansfield, by the Rev. Julian Taggart, pastor of First Presbyterian church, Plymouth.

Burial will be in Mansfield.

Best way to game

Saturday's game with Lucas High school will be played in Madison South Junior High school, just inside the city limits of Mansfield.

Best route to the gymnasium:

Proceed east on Route 603 (Dunktown), turning south in Ganges Five Points road to Route 13. Continue south to Route 30. Turn east toward Woodster and continue to Route 42 exit. Take south ramp, turning right (south) in Route 42 and continue to school.

Game time and ticket prices are unchanged. Reserve game will begin at 6:45 p. m. Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for pupils.

Lucas earlier defeated Plymouth here, 60 to 51.

Nasby rises again, now as radio man!

A competing firm is seeking funds to construct an FM radio station in Shelby to service the Shelby-Willard-Plymouth area.

The Petroleum V. Nasby Corp., 118 Plymouth street, was organized by Thomas L. Root, eldest son of the Thomas F. Roots of that address.

He is the incorporator. The company was organized under Ohio law Aug. 11, 1978, "for the purpose of obtaining the license for and operating an FM broadcast station licensed to the community of Shelby or the communities of Shelby and Willard."

Statutory agent is his only sister, Mrs. Susan Root Morlok, 118 Plymouth street.

A private placement memorandum offering shares of stock at $200 each has been circulated among specially selected persons believed to be able to sustain a substantial investment. Stated value of the shares is $2 each.

Seventy-five shares have been sold so far. Of these, 30, or $6,000 worth, have been sold to Joanne L. Root, 118 Plymouth street, mother of the incorporator and of the statutory agent; 10 have been sold to Thomas L. Root for $3,000 and 30 have been sold to Edward A. Hunter, Toledo, for $60, or $2 a share. Hunter is the president of the corporation. Mrs. Root is a director.

Investment is limited to no more than 15 persons who may purchase no less than 10 shares each. It is proposed that Mrs. Morlok as program director will be paid not more than $10,000 a year. Hunter will draw $12,000 a year as station director.

The memorandum clearly states the proposed station will program music popular to most persons within the listening area and will emphasize local news, public affairs and local high school sports programming. It acknowledges that other stations offer intense competition.

Under "risk factors," the company states "there is considerable competition within the proposed service area for advertising revenue. There are at least eight broadcast stations within a 20-mile radius and, one other broadcast station has an auxiliary studio located in Shelby. Furthermore, two local daily newspapers . . . enjoy widespread circulation."

While the company believes that the proposed station will attract listeners and advertising revenue by filling a currently unmet need in the area, there can be no assurance that the proposed station will attract listeners or advertisers in sufficient numbers to successfully compete.

Additionally, the memorandum acknowledges that it seeks from the Federal Communications Commission a license to operate a station identical to that which has been petitioned for by Harry Wilbur, Oberlin. It argues that its claim to the license is superior to that of Wilbur because its officers live in the service area (and Wilbur does not propose to do so) and its stock will be owned 20 per cent by women.

When the stock is finally sold, and the financing arranged (the memorandum proposes a funding of $49,000 for mechanical equipment and $40,000 as a start-up cost reserve), Hunter and Mrs. Root will own 4.6 per cent of the stock.

Mrs. Hunter and Thomas L. Root were also directors until the end of last year. Her term expired Dec. 31. He resigned but agreed to continue until a new director is elected by shareholders.

Although he hasn't seen much varsity action this season, Chris Brown, an 11th grader, is looked upon as a "developing talent for next year". Which is why he sees so much action with reserve team. Plymouth seeks to improve on 3-and-10 record.

The Voice of The Advertiser -

Business begets business

It is a pleasure to extend congratulations to our business colleague, Charles E. Pritchard, on the grand opening of new and enlarged premises.

In 25 years, there have been 41 full-time businesses that folded up, and only nine new ones to replace them.

One of them was a pharmacy. Mr. Pritchard is the second in that incumbency.

Health care is important to all of us, of every age, and a town without a pharmacy (and a doctor, and a dentist) is hardly worth living in. We here are fortunate that we now, after a long hiatus, have all three.

None of these people was recruited by or with public funds. Each of them came here because private persons bestirred themselves to encourage them to do so. Two of them have made substantial cash investment in the community in which they chose to work and live.

Which should speak well for the community.

And while we're about it, we wish to publicly acknowledge the presence of our friend, Dr. James Holloway, who has opened a practice of dentistry after a long and tortuous period of remodeling. We are confident that our friends and neighbors will accord to him the same courtesy they expect from him.

Business begets business. Good business begets better business. A long time ago, over wassail, in our living room, we got an organization started that did good for Plymouth business (and make no mistake about it: every one of us has a substantial investment in the business community! How else to explain the great expense to which the electric and water systems have been put to service that community, expense that may never be entirely recovered by higher commercial power and sewer rates?) and we think another ought to get going. Limited wholly to business people and dedicated completely to the expansion of retail business in this community.

1,168 pupils enrolled in PJVS

Enrollment in Pioneer Joint Vocational school amounts to 1,168 pupils, of whom 504 will be graduated in June. There are 664 enrolled in the 11th grade.

Enrollments from other districts:

Buckeye Central, 74; Bucyrus, 39; Colone Crawford, 36; Crestline, 91; Crestview, 118; Gallion, 58; Leitchfield, 94; Lucas, 42; Northmor, 27; Ontario, 86; Shelby, 229; Willard, 129; Wynford, 17.

The tax levy to support Pioneer Joint Vocational school amounts to $2.30. State valuation of Plymouth Local School district is $23,326,952. Richland county auditor pays $53,051.57.

Pioneer Joint Vocational school district from taxes paid by Plymouth Local School district. The money covers operating expenses and payments on bond issues.

Board of education of Pioneer district was told by the superintendent, Gale Leimbach, on Jan. 15 that renewal of $2,300 million operating levy in November is vital and an additional one-half mill levy may be requested.

Wrestlers win title in Bucyrus Invitational

Big Red wrestlers won first place in the annual Bucyrus Invitational tournament Saturday, outscoring Wyanford, Edison, Reserves, Bucyrus and Buckeye Central, in that order.

Plymouth produced six champions, including Mike Messer for the third straight year, albeit in different weight classes.

Pete Daron won the championship in the 112-lb. class for the second consecutive year.

Gary Blankenship had four pins and was named outstanding wrestler of the tournament. Mike Stima also recorded four pins.

Burglary! Schuller steals 19 rebounds, Red upsets Roughriders although Crestview will be tough at home and Loudounville doesn't exactly roll over when it comes to Plymouth.

Plymouth was charged with 17 turnovers, Western Reserve with 12. Thanks to Schuller, the Big Red outscored the Roughriders, 40 to 32. Plymouth had a slightly poorer record from the foul line, where it went eight for 17, against six of 10 for the host club.

Those two points of difference, and the fact that Plymouth scored two more field goals in the last half, produced the victory.

Plymouth's field goal shooting record was 58 per cent.

The Big Red pulled this off because it did for four quarters what it had not done save in one instance for the whole first part of the season: it stayed close together in the first half and got its act together in the last 16 minutes.

The Roughriders managed to build a slight lead in the first two periods. They went to the locker room at halftime sitting on a slight 29 to 25 advantage.

But then Plymouth went to work.

Thanks to Ream, who wound up with 23 points, and Schuller's rebounding, Plymouth finished the third period in a tie at 43.

So, when the buzzer sounded for the final period, it was all even, just as it was at the first buzzer. At this point, poise and sticking to the game plan would tell which team would win.

Plymouth stuck to its game plan and got some excellent shooting from Ream and Schuller and the latter screened Western Reserve's big pivot man, Darrel Timbs, out of the action and Plymouth outscored the Roughriders, 13 to 7, to win going away.

Schuller, who's not a big boy by any means but jumps well, took down 19 rebounds. And he scored 19 points.

It was not a great artistic triumph for the Big Red but it snapped a nine game losing skein and gave Plymouth players some hope of respectability. None of the remaining opponents is unbeatable.

by Brent Yates, who bagged eight field goals, most of them from close in, and wound up with 16.

It was only in the final period, when Plymouth began to find the range against lesser Lexington players, that the Big Red managed to outscore the Purple and Gold.

Jeff Ream, who led all scorers with 20 points, netted 11 of his total in the final eight minutes. He had a miserable first half, during which he fired 12 shots at the basket and made two.

As was to be expected, Lexington outshot the visitors on its home floor. The Minutemen fired for field goal 57 times and were successful 31 times. They missed only two of nine free throws. For its part, Plymouth shot 52 times and scored with 17. At the free throw line, Plymouth had 19 opportunities and converted 11 of them.

Plymouth outscored Lexington, 34 to 33. But the Big Red sinned too much. It was charged with 23 turnovers, Lexington with just eight.

This is not the Lexington team of yore. It lacks the great height that the Minutemen have displayed in past seasons and it doesn't have the talent. But it is a pretty good ball club, much too good for Plymouth, and may yet be heard from in the conference.

It's not easy to stamp out inflation.

Inflation has increased the cost of everything from postage stamps and clothing to food and housing.

And there's no way we can escape it either. The cost of coal, transmission lines, borrowed money and all the things it takes to keep the electricity coming, have gone up two to four hundred percent in the last decade.

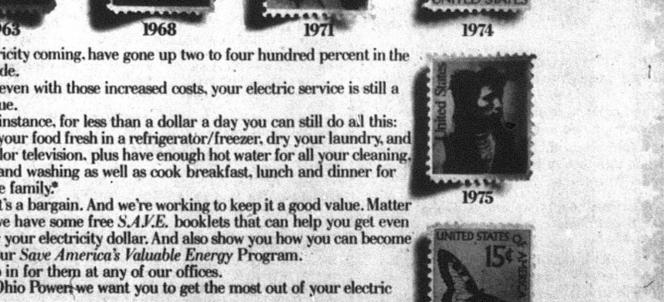

Yet, even with those increased costs, your electric service is still a good value.

For instance, for less than a dollar a day you can still do all this: keep all your food fresh in a refrigerator/freezer, dry your laundry, and watch color television, plus have enough hot water for all your cleaning, bathing and washing as well as cook breakfast, lunch and dinner for the entire family.

That's a bargain. And we're working to keep it a good value. Matter of fact, we have some free S.A.V.E. booklets that can help you get even more for your electricity dollar. And also show you how you can become part of our Save America's Valuable Energy Program.

Stop in for them at any of our offices.

At Ohio Power we want you to get the most out of your electric service.

Fire ladies . . .

Election of officers and finalization of plans for a St. Valentine's dance will be on the agenda when Plymouth Fire Ladies meet Monday at 7 p. m. at the fire house.

Two days a month...
Counsel available to senior citizens

A legal counselor is available for consultation with senior citizens who attend the regular luncheons in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Menus for the coming week:
Tomorrow: Salisbury steak, parsleyed potatoes, pickled beets, butterscotch pudding, bread with margarine, milk.

Tuesday: Macaroni and cheese, deviled egg, Harvard beets, gelatin with lettuce and carrots, bread with margarine, milk.

Wednesday: Meat loaf, baked potato, three bean salad, butterscotch pudding, bread with margarine, milk.
Thursday: Barbecued wiener, French fried potatoes, green beans, peaches, bread with margarine, milk.

Mrs. W. H. Walker at 687-1474 will take reservations. When schools are closed because of inclement weather, no luncheon will be served.

Busy Fingers . . .

Busy Fingers 4-H club met

Jan. 15 at the home of Barbara and Darrin Kensingler.

Officers for the coming year were elected. These are Barbara Kensingler, president; Randy Myers, vice-president; Darrin Kensingler, secretary and news reporter; Andrew Knaus, treasurer; Eric Rath, recreation leader; Jennifer Rath, health chairman and recreation leader.

Members were given enrollment blanks. Projects were discussed.

Next meeting will be Feb. 19 at 7 p. m. at the home of Andrew Knaus. Parents are invited to attend this meeting.

Anyone interested in joining a 4-H club, may call Mrs. Nancy Knaus or Barbara Kensingler.

11 brs., 9 baths, $650,000 as is, but only a one-car garage!

By AUNT LIZ
Everyone knows that real estate has simply been booming for the last couple of years. With all the papers we get, it is kind of fun to look at the various ads and compare them.
There is no question that what can sell for perhaps $30,000 would be twice that if it were in an eastern state. Some of the prices of nice, ordinary little houses are shocking.
The other day I came across an ad for a house that

Sir:
I was aghast when I opened The Plymouth Advertiser last Thursday morning and the headline, "Wanted: One darn good idea!" hit me in the eye I read the article, which is a good one. In a paper of good caliber, why must you use slang in a headline? To some of us "darn" is a form of swearing. I was offended.
Sorry, editor.
Sincerely,
Frances Shaarda (Mrs. Tom Shaarda, Jr.)

Support The Arts
Endowment for the Arts

If Red Cross hadn't trained young Lars Aleksen in lifesaving techniques, last summer Adam Gauthier just might have ended up one more drowning statistic. (Adam's alive and well today, thank you, and in the first grade in Maniowoc, Wisconsin.)
We're not asking for medals (Lars is the one who deserves them). But we do need your continued support. Help us. Because the things we do really help in your own neighborhood. And across America. And the world.

Adam Gauthier counted on us.

We're counting on you.

Red Cross. The Good Neighbor.

Give blood! Thursday, Mar. 1 Plymouth High School Noon to 6 p. m.

is absolutely intriguing. It was for house on two acres of property facing the ocean, the Atlantic. It is being sold completely furnished: stylishly furnished, it says. That one statement can lead to all sorts of things: what is stylish and what isn't? Frankly, I like comfortable chairs and some can look great and ruin your back. And there is a footstool in the place? You never know when you may sprain an ankle and need to elevate it. This is just being practical. Anyway the ad goes on to say there are 11 bedrooms. Think of the sheets they will require. Forget the blankets and it is better to sleep without pillows anyway.

But there are only nine bathrooms, so two people must double up. This can cause confusions with toothbrushes. There is another angle right here. Think what it costs to equip all nine with toilet paper.
The rest of the house is quite normal: a living room, a dining room, a wetbar, a sauna, an exercise room (these things are a real must in this day and age). Then it has a pool, which sounds like it is indoor: a finished basement, which any home buyer looks for, oil heat and is fully insulated, which you need today, plus a security and fire alarm system, which are handy to have.
There is also some kind of a guest house. Sounds like a one bedroom affair which could always be rented out.
The whole thing comes to $650,000, which is not too bad really.
There is one catch to it all, and I would not believe what I was reading: there is a one car garage.

It said nothing about an airstrip nor a helicopter pad, but they have got to be included.
Perhaps the person who is selling it only owns one car. It could either be a VW or a large Rolls. I am so tempted to write and find out.

This will never do for us since we are a two car family, and I simply crossed it off my list of places to think about. Someone, no doubt, will buy it because it does sound so lovely, and I'll bet the first thing they do is add one more garage. This is one thing about all of us today, we are simply at least two car families, and why? Public transportation fell down flat. Someone could make a mint by reviving it.

Now that the Sunday afternoon football games have ended, there is a real lull during those hours which need some perking up. This is when you can bring some surprises to those who are sitting there plain staring, hoping against hope that a football player will appear. Just do not tell him there isn't a one in eight, this could cause a great reaction, like "where in h— are those guys, I depend on them."

Instead show this under his nose.

Toast two slices of bread, and spread it with this mixture (it will also come in handy for hungry children from school on a cold afternoon). Cream three-fourths of a stick of butter, juice one orange, then grate the rind. Add it all to the butter and three-fourths of a cup of powdered sugar and cream like mad. This can be done in a blender but is more efficient by hand because you will simply lose too much of it while trying to get it all out. This we have discovered painfully. A few more minutes and a little more stirring does a better job.

If some friends drop in hoping that your TV can produce a game which they cannot get on theirs, give them this. And this, I have not tried because we had no reason to and we did not have all the stuff for it, but it is the recipe from a very well known eating place within 50 miles of here and is tried and people pay cash cash to eat it. It sounds great.

Buy some kielbasa. This you must guess at for the amount. Cut it up in bite size pieces and bake it for a short time to get most of the grease out of it.
Then mix together a cup of brown sugar, a cup of catsup (and use a good brand) and a cup of bourbon and a dash of really good mustard. Boil this for about a minute, put the sausage in to marinate and serve.

Mrs. D. B. Faust returned Thursday from visiting the Robert J. Wechters, 2nd, and their new son, Crystal Lake, Ill. She had planned to return sooner, but it took her almost a week to fly out of Chicago's O'Hare airport.
Senior Airman David A. Miller, son of Mrs. Lola M. Miller, Norwalk, has received the Air Force Good Conduct Medal at Minot AFB, N. D.
Airman Miller, a security specialist at Minot, was cited for exemplary conduct during his service career. He is a 1974 graduate of Plymouth High school. His father, Ronald D. Miller, lives in Shiloh route 1.

Brownie and Girl Scouts will begin taking orders for cookies Feb. 3 at 9:30 a. m. and continue through Feb. 17.

Local chairmen for the annual cookie sale are Mrs. Billy Young and Mrs. John H. Hutchison, Jr.

Either may be called to place orders.

Seven varieties of cookies will be offered this year.

They are Trefolis, Van-choc, De-Sid-Dees, Samoas, Tagalongs, Chocolate Mints and Granolas.

The last is a new cookie made from rolled oats, molasses, wheat germ, unbleached flour and sesame seed with no preservatives nor artificial flavorings or coloring.

The cookies are priced at $1.25 a box. Proceeds from the sale are used to maintain the several camping sites, which are available to the Scouts at no cost.

CHURCH NEWS

Methodists ...

A men's study group will meet in Plymouth United Methodist church Sunday from 2:30 to 4 p. m.

Men from the parish churches are invited to meet with Rev. John H. Hutchison, pastor, and Tom Reno, co-teachers for an informative study period. The group will begin this series of study with an overview of the Bible and move through the major sections and divisions of both the Old Testament and New Testament. At each study meeting a time of input will conclude with a short break, followed by a time of questioning and answers.

The study group will meet most Sundays during February and March at the same time in the Plymouth church.

Parish confirmation class for youth in grades six through nine will begin also Sunday, beginning at 6:30 p. m. This study class will meet throughout the winter and spring months to learn about the Christian faith and beliefs and the meaning of church membership. The class will meet in the church school rooms of Plymouth United Methodist church and is open to any youth of the parish community. Complete details may be obtained from the minister by calling 687-6242.

Cyclists set meeting

Bicycle enthusiasts over 18 years old will meet in Plymouth Schwinn Cyclery Wednesday at 6 p.m.

A guest speaker representing Dutchtown Wheelmen, New Washington, will be present.

Twelfth grader Mike Berberick hopes his team will take heart from upset at Collins Saturday and win remaining five games of regular season. And some in tournament, too!

Why don't high school pupils support programs designed expressly for them?

He who has the fastest can write a check for $1 million cold cash and get it honored anywhere.

The OHSAA once again emphasizes, in publishing the rule books for the spring sports of baseball, softball, track and field and tennis, that the sole purpose and intent of the athletic program in the Buckeye State is the edification of the pupil. It said the same thing when it published the rule books for the fall and winter sports, football, cross country, field hockey, soccer, wrestling, swimming, volleyball, basketball and ice hockey.

But the facts are that only a portion of the pupils concerned turn out to the organized games or matches involving teams from their schools. That portion varies from place to place, school to school, time to time, but it seldom exceeds in public schools 20 per cent of the enrollment of the high school. Note the emphasis. Anybody who goes to a high school game of basketball or football these days sees a number of the young, but they are mostly youngsters who're sent there with $1 or 50 cents to obtain a cheap and safe baby sitter. At one game recently, a count was made of all home town youth who attended. The total was 167. Of these, not counting high school pupils who were in the pep band, on the cheerleader squad or on an athletic squad, 18 were high school pupils. The remainder were junior high school or elementary school pupils.

Various devices are resorted to to attract the pupils. Tickets for pupils are cheaper than those for adults. Access to these tickets when the team is winning and the gymnasium is small for an encounter with a top team is made easier for pupils. A cheerleader squad is organized to exhort these faithful. Our observation during 19 games so far this season is that the cheerleaders, for the most part comely, winsome girls who are spectacularly attired, obviously at considerable expense to somebody, edit nobody but themselves. Because except for the universal cheer that starts "Two bits, four bits, six bits..." nobody cheers. Nobody to speak of anyway. Some athletes have privately expressed the view they'd be better off without them. One coach recently said he didn't want the responsibility of watching out for them on the bus.

Which may or may not be a wholesome attitude. The fact is he prevailed.

All of which leads to the question why?

A knowledgeable observer who dealt with this sort of thing six days a week said only this week: "It's just not cool to attend the local game. Perhaps if the team were winning, it might be cool. But the team is not winning. When I was in school, if I didn't attend the games on Fridays and Saturdays, I was simply out of it on Mondays. I had nothing to talk about and consequently nobody to talk to."

Next question: what is cool?

"What's cool is to hop in the car on Friday or Saturday night and go to Mansfield or Sandusky and get some beer and drink it and then go to a movie, preferably one rated R."

Next question: Is reference made to high school pupils, all of whom, or most of whom, are under the drinking age?

"You've got to be kidding! I'm not sure we're on the same wave length... of course I'm talking about high school pupils. And when I say drinking beer, I mean just that!"

Next question: how does one change this situation?

"That's like the question of which came first, the chicken or the egg? What do we do? Do we build up the program and then expect to attract the pupils? Or do we need out of the pupils and deal only with those who are, by family background and experience, oriented to the kind of program that we all grew up with?"

Final question: what's your answer?

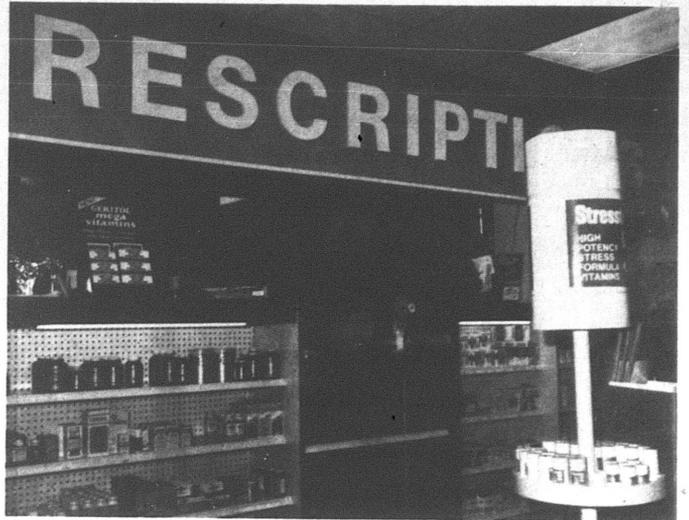

"I've got to be going now."

It's obvious that one reason why pupils can't or don't attend games is that they can't afford it. It's as important to have home town support on the road as it is at home, perhaps more so. Pupils can't or don't have the transportation to get from Podunk to Blisterville. They don't want to ask an adult. Their parents are often too busy, especially on Friday nights, which are shopping nights. Many of them don't have cars. Some of them have parents who won't let them drive with other juveniles.

At a time when a number of schools are considering or are in the midst of changing their athletic affiliations for the reason or another (Mansfield and Maumee because it's too expensive to take the bus to Findlay, Fremont, Elyria, Lorain, Maion, Sandusky, Coshocton, Wooster, New Philadelphia, Dover, et al; Plymouth and Crestview because they're outmatched by bigger schools in the Johnny Appleseed conference), it's important to consider distance. Because support of the team varies inversely as distance. Because a Plymouth fan is unlikely to drive the tortuous route to Danville to see the Big Red play unless 1) the team is undefeated 2) his son or daughter is directly involved as player or cheerleader or 3) a relative is coaching the team.
