A tough curfew ordinance enforceable throughout the year was adopted by Shiloh's village council Nov. 14. Be thankful

Here is the text of President Carter's Thanksgiving Day proclamation:

"By the President of the United States of America.

"A proclamation. Thanksgiving Day was first celebrated in this land not in a moment of unbridled triumph, but in times of great adversity. The colonies of Massachusetts and Virginia had few material possessions to help them face the dangers of the wilderness. They had no certainty that the harvests for which they gave thanks would be sufficient to carry them through a long winter. Yet they gave thanks to God for what they had and for the hope of this new land.

"In the darkest hour of the American Revolution, when the young Republic faced defeat by the strongest military power on Earth, our forefathers also saw fit to give thanks for their blessings. In the midst of a devastating Civil War, President Lincoln proclaimed a day to express gratitude for our 'singular deliverances and blessings.'

"The ensuing years have multiplied our nation's blessings. We have been delivered from repeated perils, and we have been blessed with abundance beyond the imaginings of those who offered thanks in the chill of approaching winter more than three and one-half centuries ago.

"Succeeding generations have broadened the freedom they cherished and the opportunity they sought, and built a mighty nation on the strong foundations they laid. In this two hundred and fourth year of our independence, we have good reasons for gratitude: for liberty in a world where repression is common, for peace in a world of threats and terror and war, for a bounteous harvest in a world where hunger and despair still stalk much of mankind.

"Like those who came before us, we come to give thanks for our singular deliverances and blessings, in a time of both danger and great promise. May we be thankful in proportion to that which we have received, trusting not in our wealth and comforts but in the strength of our purpose, that all nations might be similarly blessed with liberty and abundance and live in peace.

"Now, therefore, I, Jimmy Carter, President of the United States of America, do proclaim Thursday, the 22nd of November, 1979, as Thanksgiving Day. I ask all Americans to give thanks on that day for the blessings Almighty God has bestowed upon us, and seek to be good stewards of what we have received.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-eighth day of September in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-nine and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and fourth.

Sound and fury but no solution

No cut and dried solution to the village's financial problems was reached during the second town meeting held Thursday night in the school administration building with forty some attending.

Councilman David A. Howard opened the meeting by asking what the people wanted to help the village "climb out of its deficits."

He said the defeat of the income tax could be interpreted several ways and asked if the additional half per cent which would be paid by those who live here but who are paying a straight one per cent to the towns in which they work caused the defeat.

He said he thinks the straight one per cent was probably the best way to use the tax.

Thomas F. Root said he is in favor of the tax and had voted for it but that it should be called a "municipal payroll tax" meaning that it would be paid by those who are carried on various business payrolls in the village.

Supt. John Fazzini pointed out the village has such a low property tax which generates about $14,000 for the general fund but is whittled down at the county level for various charges that by the time it reaches Plymouth, about half of it is gone.

Mrs. Harold W. Ruckman, referring to deficits in the utility funds, suggested that rates be raised so that those using the utilities would be paying their share rather than using an income tax to offset the losses.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore told the people that the electric rates have been raised again, but still they are not so high as Ohio Power's rates to its customers.

Mrs. Moore questioned the selling of the distribution system and her husband answered her by saying that a survey should be made first to determine its value.

Village Administrator James C. Root said that he and councilman Edward O. Ramsey had met with Ohio Power officials last year to see if Ohio Power could set a value on the system and were told the only way such a figure would be forthcoming was when the village actually advertised for bids to sell it.

Howard said he believes that the village should hang on to the system and attempt to make money from it.

Dr. James Holloway agreed with him.

How much should be retained in the electric reserve fund, which stands at $103,000, while the operating and maintenance fund is some $70,000 in the hole, was questioned by H. Lee Welker. His question was unanswered since the reserve fund must be retained at 10 per cent of the value of the system by law.

Fazzini said that the debt-ridden utility funds should be self-supporting and believes that the council when it passed this year's appropriation ordinance did not use the correct figures.

Mrs. Thomas Root forthwith said that Plymouth is one of the few towns without an income tax and it is needed.

Mrs. Ruckman then said that was no reason why Plymouth had to have such a tax.

Frederick E. Ford asked how many villages still maintain an electric distribution system. (Plymouth is one of 13 villages which still buy wholesale from Ohio Power), and what are the costs of running it.

Howard answered him by saying the debt had accumulated over a period of time because rates had not been increased and money taken out of the fund for other expenses. (Ed. note: when the fund adjustment clause was added by Ohio Power to the village's monthly bill, the village did not add it to customers' bills for several years because a previous council did not think it would continue and it did not want to add any unnecessary burden to the electric users.)

Fazzini said the funds will remain in a deficit and the question is to bring in more money or cut services to stay above water. Donald Brooks said the council passed the income tax without asking the people to vote on it. He said if a one per cent tax had been put on the ballot, he thinks it would have passed, and should not have been handled the way it was.

Howard blamed the news media for making the council's action look as though the tax was being "shoved down throats."

D. Douglas Brumbach, former village administrator and councilman, asked Alvin Kroy, the village's income tax director, how much the tax would bring in.

He said that the figures he had obtained just on withholding money on various payrolls showed the amount would be about $60,000. This does not account for individuals who would also be paying the tax.

Thomas F. Root said that those who work here but live out of town should be paying their share for village services.

William D. Hill favored the tax being put on the ballot.

Paul Fazzini said it is not fair that those who live here but work out of town be exempt from the tax.

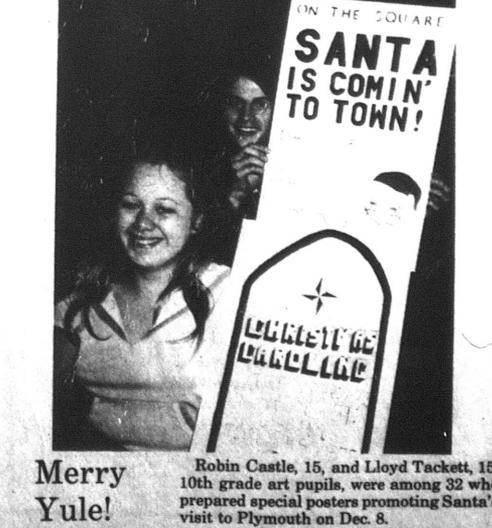

Mrs. Ruckman said many would benefit from the tax without paying it because they would be exempt for pensions, welfare aid and social security.

Welker said that so far no one can answer why the money is needed and feels the utilities should be self-supporting.

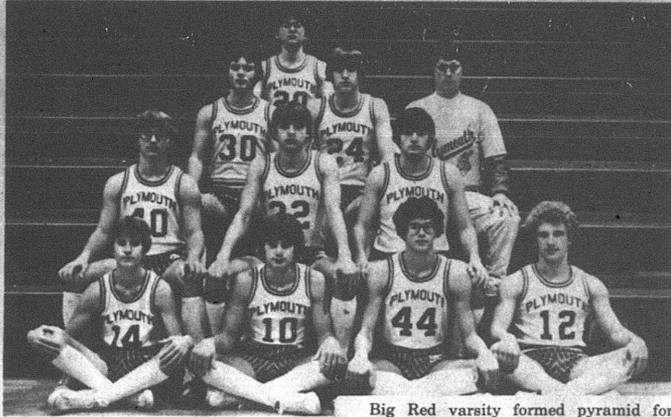

Moore asked if the people would support a simple one per cent tax.

Donald Brooks asked why a poll cannot be taken. He said, "You can't get people to a meeting, not even the whole council." He referred to the fact that Councilmen Mrs. Allan Raymond, Howard and Moore were present while Councilmen Edward O. Ramsey, Michael R. Taylor and Ervin Howard were not.

The meeting ended with mixed emotions about disposing of the distribution system or trying for the tax.

Red opens at Monroeville; to play St. Paul's Tuesday

Plymouth opened its 1979-80 basketball campaign at Monroeville Tuesday night. Its young coach, Keith Diebler, in his third year in the post and with exactly eight victories to show for it, is cautiously optimistic about his team. Nevertheless, he recognizes that it's an uphill fight for Plymouth to be highly competitive this year. On form and on what he saw in the Blackfork Valley conference preview at Lucas Friday night, Diebler rates Crestview as the favorite to win the hardwood title, even as it did the gridiron championship. Plymouth doesn't have much experience. Two seasoned veterans expected to be on the squad this season aren't in school. A player who's the tallest Big Red competitor in several seasons decided not to report. Diebler has some height in the forefront, Randy Neeley, a co-captain with Chris Brown, measures six feet two. He's also a 12th grader. Brad Postema, a 10th grader, matches Neeley's height.

Diebler won't use a center. Marty Carty, a 11th grader, whose late brother was a standout for Plymouth for three seasons, is the third forward in the lineup. Matt Patrick, also an 11th grader, is the fourth starter inside. He stretches to six feet. The fifth player will be either Rob Smith or Scott Harris, each five feet eight and each a 10th grader. Plymouth's bench is green. Only Brown, also a 12th grade, has seen much action. The others are Mike Branham, 12th grader; Steve Tackett, 11th grader; and Steve Mowry, 10th grader.

Mince meat makes good holiday fare

By AUNT LIZ
Remember way back in high school when you had to read a bunch of poetry you thought was for the birds? Well, one Englishman, and I really think it was Lord Tennyson — if I am wrong which I can be after all these years, perhaps all the English teachers will let me know — said something which is so true.
If I can remember it correctly, it goes something like this: "In the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love."
Spring is the season for such things, but when the leaves start to fall, there is a good blast of cold wind, my thoughts go directly to mince-meat.
It is that time of the year. You can do so much with one jar of the prepared stuff. If you are that ambitious, make your own, which I tried just once. It was a mess and a very agreeable. I trust our friendly grocer to stock a nice brand.
Another thing, as far as pie-go, you can buy prepared crust, or make your own like your favorite lard recipe, and this I recommend, because if you are making something really good, then go all the way.
However you do the crust, it must be baked as a single crust first. Once that is done, spread a cup and a half of mince-meat over the bottom. Meanwhile have three eggs beaten with a half cup of sugar and a fourth of a teaspoon of salt. Carefully and slowly blend in one and three quarters cups of milk which has been scalded and one teaspoon of vanilla.

Pour this custard mixture over the mince-meat and sprinkle a little nutmeg on the top.
Bake at 350 degrees for about an hour until the custard is set.
Another version of a pie is to line a pan with the crust, fill it with two cups of mince-meat mixed with one and a half cups of unsweetened apple sauce and a half cup of drained crushed pie apple.
If you are capable of creating a nice lattice topping, do it, otherwise you can simply put a top crust on and poke a bunch of holes in it.
There is nothing like cookies made with mince-meat. And they are so simple. Mix up a fourth of a cup of butter with half cup of brown sugar, cream well, throw in an egg and a cup of mince-meat. Then slowly stir in a cup and a fourth of flour mixed with two teaspoons of baking powder.
Drop from a spoon on a greased cookie sheet and bake at 400 for about 10 to 15 minutes.
They can be prettied up with a small slice of colored cherries on the top. Mince-meat actually does not have to have a meat base. This you can brew up easily and will make one pie.

Get out your food chopper—the coarse blade—throw in a bowl a cup of seeded raisins, three tart apples that are cored and cut (leave the skins on, they do no hurt and save time), a half orange and a fourth of a lemon also with the seeds, but do see that the seeds are removed.
Once this is all properly ground up, add a half cup of cider, heat it all to the boiling point and simmer for 10 minutes.
Then add a cup of brown sugar (use the dark), a half teaspoon of salt, cinnamon, nutmeg and powdered cloves.
Put it all together and simmer another 10 minutes. Then you are ready to put it all in a crust and bake it.
Holiday cooking this year is going to be a little on the skimpy side for most of us. Have you looked at the price of raisins lately or spices?
Newsy notes...
