

YUMW meets today to continue quilting

Young United Methodist Women will conduct the monthly business meeting and program today at 9:30 a. m. in the Methodist parsonage. A year-round project of this group is the quilting of blankets. Smaller blankets were given to the Shiloh and Plymouth United Methodist churches to be used on baby beds in the nurseries. They also quilt blankets to sell or quilt for others. From these proceeds the Young United Methodist Women have purchased items for the nurseries such as crib beds, toys, games and carpeting.

Parish men's study group will meet Sunday from 2:30 to 4 p. m. in the Plymouth church. The group is currently studying the books of the Pentateuch, the major themes and ideas. Men of the parish are welcome.

Confirmation class will meet Sunday from 6:30 to 8 p. m. in the church school rooms at Plymouth. Youth in grades six through nine are studying the meaning and doctrines of the Christian faith. Included in this study is the learning of the Apostles' and Nicene creeds, the books of the Bible and the Ten Commandments.

Plymouth Cadet Girl Scouts meet Monday at 5:30 p. m. in the Plymouth church with their leader, Ann Beardsley. Junior Girl Scouts meet Monday from 6:30 to 8 p. m. in the same place.

Young United Methodist Women will meet at the parsonage Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. to work on the quilting project.

Here's key to headcaches of '79 tags

William R. Miller, 5-9 East Main street, will again be the deputy registrar for sale of motor vehicle tags.

Starting in 1980, sale of license tags and stickers will be staggered between January and February. Because of this fact, a license tag or sticker will cost either more or less than normal, depending on the initial letter of the applicant's surname.

For 1979, all registrants whose surnames begin with the letters A through K must obtain stickers during April. Others must get theirs during May.

Starting Jan. 1, 1980, registrants whose surnames begin with the letters A and B will apply for tags or stickers. Because the period of validity of the 1979 tag or sticker is thus shortened, they will pay $8.50 instead of $11.50.

But those whose names start with letters U through Z won't obtain their tags or stickers until December, 1980, a 18-month period. So when in May, 1979, they apply for registration, they'll pay $17.

Of course, those who reside in Haron county must pay an additional county tax of $5.

The following tables show fees to be collected of registrants during 1979:

Five held at Norwalk after tiff

Four local youths and a North Fairfield were charged with disorderly conduct Saturday after three incidents in Norwalk.

Holly William Tuttle, 20, New Haven, Jimmy D. Beverly, 22, Plymouth, Randall Hall, 22, Shiloh, a Plymouth juvenile and Gary Beverly, 19, North Fairfield, were taken into custody by Norwalk police.

They said the quintet was involved in three incidents beginning at 6:10 p. m., when police were told a driver of a vehicle appeared to be intoxicated at West End Sunoco.

Eight minutes later, Hall allegedly punched Roger W. George, Norwalk a minister of First Church of Christ, three times, in the right eye. Hall is said to have stopped George as he was walking near the intersection of Jefferson and Pleasant streets. George received a small cut and some swelling.

George told police he thinks Hall punched him because George has started a petition at Sheller-Globe to remove Hall's brother as president of Local 1379, UAW. There, George is also employed by Sheller-Globe.

At 7:04 p. m. police received a call that the quintet was causing a disturbance in Harold's Bar. This is where they were arrested.

Girl held after crash

A 17-year-old Plymouth route 1 woman was charged with failure to yield the right of way after a collision Sunday night at Route 103 and Bull Head road, New Haven township.

Barbara S. Garcia is accused by the state highway patrol of turning into Route 103 from Bull Head road, in which she was westbound into the path of a car operated by Antonio Lopez, 29, Willard.

Also, Jeffrey Baldrige, Christopher Brown, Darla Kern, Judy Kissinger, Jeffrey Ousley, Jeffrey Ream, Tina Schriener, Michele Stairs and Jerry Wheeler, 11th graders.

Also, Richard Ernest, Mary Briner, Jacalyn Bivert, Deborah Gibson, Deborah Hamman, Linda Holtz, Jerry Miller, Christine Pitten, Cona Robertson and Timothy Schrader, 10th graders.

Also, Denise Cobb, Steven Mowry, Kerry Reno, Barbara Shaver and Angie Tallman, ninth graders.

Susan Root named to seat on council

Susan D. Root, 28, was chosen Tuesday night to fill the vacated seat of Councilman James L. Jacobs, Sr., who resigned for health reasons Jan. 16.

The Feb. 6 meeting was recessed because the council did not have a new name to present for the empty seat. The motion to approve Miss Root was made by Councilman David A. Howard. If the council had not acted Tuesday night and unless a special meeting was called for today, the naming of a new council member would have fallen to the mayor.

The appointee is the second woman in Plymouth history to become a councilman. Only daughter of the Thomas F. Roots, she is a 1968 alumna of Plymouth High school who attended Wittenberg university, Springfield, Ohio, for several years in Wayne, Pa., before returning to live in Plymouth. Her father is a former councilman.

At the suggestion of Councilman Michael Taylor, it was agreed that the council's final decision regarding the renewal of a gas contract is for one year with no increase in rates.

Taylor said the village has offered a counter proposal of a five per cent increase during a three year contract. The company did not acknowledge but instead remained adamant with its proposal of an 11 per cent increase over a three-year period.

He pointed out that since the gas company is seeking to base its costs on 1978 figures, rather than 1977 ones, on which the Plymouth contract offer was computed, time would elapse while it was being studied by the PUCO, which would mean time gained for the village at the present rates.

Legislation was passed for the village's share of resurfacing Route 98.

Department of Transportation requested $1,650 from the village's state highway fund to do 42,100 of a mile within the corporate limits of the village.

Members walked the council members back at the request and inquired if there were anyway to prevail on the department to help with the resurfacing of West Broadway.

Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock said Division 3, Ashland told her there is no way this could be done because it is not a state route. She said she has tried for several years to have Route 603 extended through the village to Route 598 but to no avail so far.

She said the governor can declare a certain mileage of state routes annually and that another request for a similar check has been made by Representative Marie Tansey.

The decision to go along with DOT was made when Village Administrator James C. Root said it is a "bargain" to have that much work done for so little.

During the discussion of West Broadway, a question of the bridge over the Chessie tracks was broached. The bridge is only safe for small tonnage and probably should be replaced.

Whose responsibility the bridge is, no one knows. Solicitor Robert A. McKown is to check courthouse records to see what can be done.

A report by an army colonel, who was invited by the mayor to spend three weeks here last summer as part of requirements for a master's degree in public administration, triggered a lively discussion.

The colonel, now serving in Germany, found many deficiencies in the village record keeping. Taylor said the report can be of great help to bring all the facilities of the village up to snuff (modification of the ordinance and complete job description were two items specifically mentioned).

He suggested the mayor appoint a committee to study the report and take from it what it thought is necessary. Taylor, Miss Root, Councilman David Howard and the solicitor were chosen.

Taylor criticized how the village is being operated.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore said if this is so it is the fault of the council.

Taylor said the mayor should not have withheld reports of new construction for several months. She said she did so because she wanted to have the data to prepare an annual report for HUD. However, she said, monthly reports are made to the council as to number of constructions and amounts of fees paid.

Money collected for fines, Taylor said, should not be allowed to accumulate in the safe of the utility clerk but should be promptly deposited rather than just one month.

Committee appointments for the year were made.

Miss Root and Taylor will serve on the police and fire committees.

Councilman Ervin Howard will continue on the ambulances, park and cemetery committees with streets added.

David Howard will continue on sewers, Moore on water and Councilman Edward O. Ramsey on finance.

At the suggestion of the solicitor, the council appointed his law partner, Jon Schaefer, and his son, Neil McKown, as assistant solicitors for the village without compensation.

The council authorized the purchase for the electric department of a 1984 International tractor from the fire department. It can be used to handle poles. The sum of $1,000 will be transferred from the electric fund to a fire fund, once it is determined which fire fund should have it.

It was announced the fire department will sponsor its summer festival Aug. 3, 4 and 5.

Division 3, Department of Transportation Ashland, has notified the village that mail resurfacing Route 98. It also informed the village that its share for 42,100 mile will be $1,050. This would come from the state highway fund which is budgeted at $1,743 for this year.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore presented total figures of the electric fund for 1978. The system took in $245,180.72 and paid out $222,476.89 to Ohio Power for electricity, leaving $22,703.83 to cover operation and maintenance, capital improvements and provide the free power, such as street lights, the water and sewer facilities.

He said he believes that 1979 will show a great improvement in the fund since back bills that had accumulated have been paid.

A musing on food costs: try tuna, with helper!

By AUNT LIZ

There is really the happy time of the year.

It is pay-your-taxes time, and we seem to pay every one that you could possibly dream up.

When I look at what we mail out each January, it makes me think twice about how many of us who are so small really are contributing.

I hate to think of those businesses that employ even 20 persons, let alone those who have thousands.

It also makes me think a little of how that tax money is spent.

We all know it is much more convenient not to work when you can get just about as much just sitting around playing cards and watching TV while drinking beer.

There is one catch to coming a business, you can't lay yourself off and collect. Anyone who can come up with such a solution will have the gratitude of millions of us forever.

There is no question that most claims for unemployment and workman's compensation are truly legitimate, but there is that percentage that simply ain't.

There is another little tax angle that irks me. We are spending a lot of our tax dollars for schools.

I will never forget hearing a young girl one day joyfully telling a friend whom she had not seen for a while that she loved the new school she was going to (you must admit that our vocational schools are new and shiny and doing a good job) and she was so glad she was having the chance to be there rather than that "local dump".

Granted the "local dump" was an older building, but over the years her parents, grandparents, aunts and uncles shelled out good dollars to see that it was well-staffed, well-booked and well-administered.

If she had been mine, I would have whacked her little behind but good. Perhaps she never made such a remark in front of her parents, who were hard working and the kind who always paid their bills on time. I kind of think they would have been shocked.

Those that pay the bill can think (twice) I guess, and those who do not can live it up. It is like the time that I drove past a parsonage in a nearby community. It was a distinguished house and everyone knew that a minister lived in it. That night there was not a room that was not lighted up and what foxed me was how the minister, his wife and one small child could be in so many rooms at one time.

The utility bills, of course, were paid by the church council.

Maybe that is the answer. Even though we pride our nation for its public education system, let those who take advantage of it pay a little for the privilege.

I will never forget my father saying when I was ready to start college, "Now we are paying for school, get going." I really didn't waste a free high school education too much. I just read the books that had nothing to do with anything. I was taking and practically didn't get out of the place.

Right now I wish I had been more serious about math. There has got to be a way to figure out mathematically and scientifically how you can eat in this day and age.

The old Greeks who did so much for our civilization would sit by the hour contemplating a subject until they came up with an acceptable answer.

Have you ever tried to contemplate on one lone can of tuna and how it really could be converted to a decent meal? Cheapy?

You can check and use two cans with tuna helper, which with extra mushrooms is very tasty, but you can also use up some extra leftover vegetables and a can of cream of celery soup.

Drain the fish well, mix the soup with the tuna and add about a third of a cup of milk. Brown a little chopped onion and add. If you have some green pepper, slice it and do as with the onion.

Inexpensive vegetables like peas or green beans can make it a good dish. Mix them in and sprinkle the top of the casserole with a cup of crumbled potato chips. Bake for about a half hour at 350.

If you really want to make this a more super deal, use artichoke hearts or asparagus and two cans of tuna.

If you do this, you might as well break down and buy a decent roast. Your friendly butcher will gladly trade it for something like a three

Colts clinch JAC title, romp over Red, 99 to 57

Chuck Golden failed to make the fifth of five successive free throws in the final seconds of Friday's contest with Clear Fork here and Clear Fork had to be content with a 99 to 57 victory over Plymouth that assured the Colts of a share of the Johnny Applesseed conference championship.

Sensational shooting and superior rebounding led the Colts to victory.

The visitors shot for field goal in the first half exactly 36-times and made 22 of them. Overall, in the whole game, they made 41 of 78 tries, or slightly over 52 per cent.

Girls lose two games by 32 points

Clear Fork girls outscored Plymouth in the third period by nine points and coasted to a 45 to 49 victory here Feb. 6.

Plymouth did not shoot so well. Its record was 18-for-56. And it committed 36 turnovers.

Landa Osborne scored 18 for the Big Red.

Red reserves won narrowly, 28 to 23. Mary Lou Briner scored 11 for the winners.

After the first minute of play, Plymouth was not a factor in the game. Clear Fork drew first blood at 7:41 and Plymouth tied it almost immediately. But then the Colts applied their experience and height and simply ran the Big Red off the floor. After eight minutes the score was 30 to 15 and the outcome was, for all intents and purposes, already known. Clear Fork outscored Plymouth by seven in the second period and went to the halftime rest with a 53 to 31 lead.

Bruce Harter scored 14 points for the Colts in the first half. He was game high scorer with 27. Ron Schuller scored 15 of his total of 16 points in the first half.

It was a ragged game by Plymouth, which committed 10 turnovers in the first period, yet managed to play another eight minutes without one mistake. The Big Red made nine more errors in the second half.

That Plymouth got off only 47 shots illustrates two facts: Clear Fork controlled the boards and took advantage of turnovers by applying superior height.

Plymouth did not shoot all that badly. In the first half, the Big Red went 11 for 24. In the last half it was 10 for 23. On the boards, the Colts were clearly superior. They took down 48 caroms. Plymouth was held to just 26.

This is a strong Colts team that obviously is looking forward to a meeting with undefeated Willard in the Class AA playdowns at Lexington.

Its coach, Terry Gordon, reacted poorly to a ragging by a group of Plymouth alumni who deliberately took seats on the visitors' side of the arena. He dared some of them to step down and have it out with him. At no time was there profanity or obscenity uttered by the Plymouth graduates, a fact that Gordon admitted.

Randy Neeley was the high scorer for Plymouth with 17 points. Schuller had 16 and Jeff Ream a dozen.

Toward the end of the game, the Plymouth bench was socked with a technical foul and Schuller and Ream drew technicals. It was these offenses that permitted Golden to stand there at the penalty stripe and fire five times.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir: I read with a great interest your editorial in the Feb. 8 issue. You state it is not the commissioners' fault or the highway department's. I agree.

However, it is the fault of our representatives in Congress. Congress alone is the fault of inflation.

When Congress spends more than they take in, the result is inflation.

Our two senators voted for every big spending bill. Our two senators also voted against balancing the budget.

If Congress would get serious about balancing the budget, it would mean taking $50 to $100 billion out of the economy. When this happens, the highway men will be happy to have a job. It will mean that all of us will have to work and do a good job to keep our jobs.

Our dollar will then again be worth something.

Our country will be solvent, our money safe in the bank.

Let's put solving our inflation problem in the laps of our senators, who are responsible for the mess we are in.

Sincerely,
George Keil
