

On roads and repairs

Defeat by Huron countians of a new operating levy of eight-tenths of one mill to fund highway and bridge repair at the polls in November was certainly not anticipated. None of the commissioners we talked to showed any sign that he expected the levy to be approved.

"We put it on there," one of them said, "for two reasons: one, we were asked to do so by the county highway department; and two, we figured the money is needed. It's not as if we go around asking for unnecessary money every time you turn around."

So it should come as no surprise that employees of the county highway department are not happy with their lot.

The assistant county engineer said last week that the men are disgruntled, if not rebellious. He pointed out they have become accustomed to an annual pay rise of seven or 7.5 per cent and that this year's raise was only five per cent angered them.

Their average hourly pay is $6.10 an hour, which does not include fringe benefits.

What the highway employees dislike most, the assistant county engineer said, is that overtime pay has been eliminated.

Instead, the men receive compensatory time off, at the rate of one hour for each hour of overtime worked.

And when the commissioners announced on Feb. 2 the largest carryover balance at year's end in a long time, the highway department men seethed, if not boiled over.

Will the commissioners use some of this money to help the highway department? The assistant engineer doesn't think so. He says there's no precedent for it and the commissioners are on an austerity kick just now.

What to do?

Well, for one thing, pray. Pray that the remainder of this month and all of next will be snow-free, which means that costs can be kept within the range forecast when the budget was drawn up. It won't placate the highway department crews, though. They still want a bigger piece of the pie.

For another, don't be so demanding of the highway department. If there are chuck holes in the road that goes past your house, or in which you drive to work, be patient and understanding. Routine repair has been budgeted. When it's possible for the staff, in a normal work week of 40 hours, to get around to your problem, the job will be done. And don't grouse about the department's priorities: everything in its season.

For a third, don't expect more than you're paying for. Sure, the tax bill is staggering, for all of us. But so long as we have near double digit inflation, which is certainly not the fault of the county commissioners nor of the highway department or its employees, what you pay for will be increasingly much less than you expect to get.

Finally, if you have some ideas as to how the whole situation can be improved, turn up at the commissioners' meetings, which occur on Thursdays. Or call them at home. Tell them what you think. This is the way government is supposed to work.

And perish the thought that the "blue flu", or its equivalent in the highway department, should afflict the staff. What it all boils down to is better communications, more patience by both sides, more concern for the common weal and less concern for personal advantage. After all, there's nobody starving. Nobody intends that anybody should starve. And we're none of us about to let it get that far.

Driver hurt in collision

A 42-year-old Plymouth route 1 driver was slightly injured Saturday morning when his car was struck in Malone road, Cass township, by another driven by a 20-year-old Plymouth girl.

Donald M. Echebarger, who lives in Base Line Road, was treated in Willard Area hospital and released. State highway patrol reported Kimberly Kamann was driving southeast in Malone road when she went left of center as her car created a hill. Her car struck that of Echebarger, headed northwest. She was summoned on a charge of driving left of center.

Two Shilohans escaped injury in separate collisions Thursday.

Mark A. Oney, 17, lost control of his vehicle in Route 603 near Noble road at 5:30 a. m. The car overturned and landed in the westbound lane, sheriff's deputies said. Shiloh-Cass-Blountsgrove Fire department was summoned because gasoline spilled on the roadway.

Oney was summoned for excessive speed for road and weather conditions. Carson J. Shepherd, 25, sought to halt at Euclid and North streets but his car slid into a stop sign at 8:35 a. m. There was no summons.

Gas rate rise not justified, consumer group tells council

No gas rate increase is justified now, James Babcock of the Consumers Council told village council Tuesday night.

The rate increase proposed by the company is based on 1977 costs, Babcock said, but the company is applying to the PUCO to use 1978 figures.

The rate increase proposed by the company is based on 1977 costs, Babcock said, but the company is applying to the PUCO to use 1978 figures. The rate increase proposed by the company is based on 1977 costs, Babcock said, but the company is applying to the PUCO to use 1978 figures.

Babcock recommended that a one year contract would be more advantageous than a two- or three-year contract because of the many changes in the law, whereas if the village were tied down to a longer contract, it could not participate.

Councilman Michael Taylor said if the company had a common rate for every community, it could save money rather than trying to negotiate with so many.

The company has offered the village a two-year contract based on 1977 costs. Babcock suggested the village could compromise if the company would accept a seven per cent increase on base revenues, which would be lower than what has been offered.

Councilman David A. Howard asked what the cost to the average user (the average resident user in the village is now paying $43.12) would be if the rate were increased by one per cent.

The council hopes to make a decision at the Feb. 20 meeting.

A village employee, James Neeley, asked the council what it planned to do about pay raises. Councilman Ervin Howard and Taylor have been meeting with each department to determine its wants and are still gathering more information on insurance plans. They then will take a good look at the appropriations to see what raises will fit in.

The two councilmen, who were appointed by Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock as a committee, agreed to a resolution that when the raises are decided upon, they will be retroactive to Feb. 16, 1979. The date was chosen as a convenience in preparing the payroll.

A resolution to this effect will be prepared by Solicitor Robert A. McKown, who brought the matter up.

He explained the Ashland Board of Education had run into a financial problem when it gave pay raises without first making a determination of when they would start, and now after an audit, individual school board members may have findings against them in the thousands of dollars.

If Ervin Howard's plans work out, Mary Faye park will be getting a facelift.

Working closely with the park board, he will apply for matching federal funds through the Department of Natural Resources.

This money, if it is forthcoming, could add tennis courts and acquire more land, which Howard said he has already determined the village would find available. One of the aspects of the plan is to make the center of the park into a winter skating rink and in warmer months an all-purpose area for various activities.

He said he believes in "starting small" then growing. This could include the acquisition of the swimming pool, which is privately owned by a non-profit organization.

Plans will have to be prepared by a qualified engineer and the park board is meeting with Raikes Associates, Ashland. Its fee will hover around $800.

The fire department also attempted to apply for a grant from the Department of Natural Resources to help rural departments.

Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine requested a $4000 grant for equipment. Under this program, no matching funds are required.

One hundred eight other departments also applied and only 34 were approved. Plymouth was not one of the lucky ones. Application can be made again next year.

Two make 4.0 grades at Shiloh

Two Shiloh Junior High school pupils made 4.0 grade point averages during the third six week period, their principal, Edward M. Kinsel, reports.

Honor roll grades were recorded by Lisa Baldrige, Lisa Daron, Brian Edler, Jeffrey Fenner, Nancy Ritchie, Dawn Robertson, Craig Thornsberry and Ginger Martin, eighth graders, and Daniel Sponseller, Christine Elliott, Rodney Hampton and Loren Kranz, seventh graders.

Merit roll pupils are Jesse Woodmansee, Rick Hawkins, Mary Ann Nease, Gregory Polachek, Dianne Snyder, Daria Shirey, Tracy Caywood, Frank Lawrence, Cheyne McGinnis and Rhonda McDonald, eighth graders.

Mayor fines five men

Richard Martin, Mt. Vernon, was fined $150 on each of the four charges after pleading guilty Monday in mayor's court.

Daryl J. Peters, Mt. Vernon, his companion also pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct. He was fined $50.

The charges stemmed from a fracas in Ehret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion, Jan. 23 during the weekly country music dance.

Brian D. Potts, Shelby, pleaded guilty to driving 60 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He was fined $25 and court costs.

Ronald Lahmon pleaded no contest to charges of disorderly conduct and assault and battery. He was fined $50 on each charge.

William Ratliff pleaded guilty to a hit-and-run charge. He was fined $37 and costs and is to make restitution to the owner of the trailer rig struck by his van in Route 61.

Births exceed deaths by 322 in Huron county

Births exceeded deaths in Huron county during 1978 by 322 persons, Huron county department of health reports.

Births numbered 750, of which 404 were male and 346 female. These births occurred mostly in Norwalk - 450 of them. There were 292 in Willard and eight elsewhere in the county.

Deaths totaled 428, evenly divided at 214 between males and females. Deaths in Norwalk accounted to 214 in Willard 120, elsewhere in the county to 94.

Main cause of death was cardiovascular disease - 250 persons. Cancer took 58, respiratory diseases 34, accidents 23, homicides and suicides five, diseases of infancy five and other causes 53.

That Huron countians live longer than the average American is shown by the age-at-death breakdown.

Of the 428 deaths recorded, 34 were of persons between 90 and 99, 134 between 80 and 89, 111 between 70 and 79, 66 between 60 and 69, 34 between 50 and 59, 20 between 40 and 49, seven between 30 and 39, 12 between 20 and 29, two between 10 and 19 and eight between birth and nine.

The data do not include vital statistics of Bellevue, which is a separate health district.

This business changed hands last week for second time in this century. Thomas J. Webber sold his family's business (he was third generation in it) on Aug. 14, 1978, to the Thomas Johnsons, New Washington. They sold Jan. 31 to Michael Spiess, Mansfield.

Two sales noted here

Two significant commercial transactions took place in the village last week.

For the second time in this century, the Rexall store in West Broadway was sold.

New owner is Michael Spiess, Mansfield. He bought the business from Thomas and Wanda Johnson, New Washington, who acquired Aug. 14, 1978, from Thomas J. Webber. Webber was the third generation of his family to operate the business.

The store deals in patent medicines and pharmaceuticals that may be purchased without a prescription, toilet and personal hygiene items, greeting cards, cameras and photographic equipment, candies, tobacco, stationery supplies and sundries.

Joseph F. Woolever, Mansfield, bought from James Morris the real estate and business known as Curby's Trailer court.

The court was established in Sandusky street by Noah Sammons, Sr.

Overtime!

Loudonville downs Big Red, 55 to 48

Loudonville scored seven points in overtime here Friday, held Plymouth scores and won a Johnny Applesseed conference game, 55 to 48.

It was a sad outcome for a Plymouth team that played splendidly for three periods and deserved a better fate. The visiting Redbirds managed to tie it at 48 with 15 seconds left after the lead had changed hands six times in the third period and twice in the final quarter.

It was a shot by Mike Dennis that knotted the count. And in overtime, Dennis did it again, this time a jumper with 1:33 remaining. Then John Van Camp drilled one home and, when he was fouled by Ron Schuller, he made two free throws. Tvery Mowery put the clincher to Plymouth with a single free throw in a penalty situation.

It was a game of outside shooting by Plymouth and two of its shooters performed creditably. Jeff Ream, who wound up with 18 points, had eight field goals, all save two of them from quarter court. Jerry Wheeler, something of a scoring threat of late, had seven field goals, all of them longer than 16 feet.

Loudonville was hard pushed to catch up to Plymouth in regulation time. A four point play enabled the Redbirds to reach a tie at 44.

Eric Haudenschild threw one in from 18 feet away and Dennis drew an away-from-the-ball foul. The penalty was in force and he made both ends. The clock read 3:06.

Ream converted the second of two free throws to give Plymouth a 45 to 44 advantage, whereupon Coach John Carlisle of the visitors asked for a time out. With 1:18 remaining, Haudenschild fired in a jumper and 17 seconds later Greg Gillum scored with the first of two free throws. At 59 seconds, Schuller bagged two penalty shots and it appeared that Plymouth was home free.

Even so, Dennis had to make three stabs at the basket to garner the tying bucket. Plymouth shot exceptionally well in the first half—13 of 20—but tailed off in the last half, when it was eight of 27. In the fourth quarter, especially, the Big Red lacked accuracy: it shot two of 12.

Overall, the Big Red was 21 of 64. It missed five of 11 free shots and collapsed 29 rebounds. Conversely, Loudonville shot 25 of 61 and missed four of nine free throws. It took down 39 rebounds, 15 offensive and 24 defensive. It was the third overtime contest of the season for Plymouth, which has won one and lost two such games.

Overall, Plymouth has won three and lost 13 and stands none and eight in the JAC. Loudonville raised its record to eight and one in the JAC and 12-4 overall.

Ex-Trojan coach suing district

By THE OLD TIMER
Having walked out at South Central in the middle of the year with the announcement that he wished to rough it in the Far North - Canada, to be exact - Dave Katterhenrich is back in the Buckeye State, at Grove City, and suing his former employer for what he claims is back pay.

The former Trojan football coach who hails from Bucyrus says South Central schools were closed seven days during the winter of 1977-78 because of hazardous weather. Five of the days were not made up later in the year. The ex-coach claims in his suit, filed Jan. 25, that other teachers were paid but he was not. His suit seeks $63.93 a day, his regular daily salary, for five days plus court costs.
