

What should village do?

(part two)

Under date of Apr. 27, Ohio Power Co. has informed the village that it filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory commission for a new rate to municipal wholesale customers.

The increase, says Ohio Power, is designed to raise annual revenues by $1,176,000, or 21 per cent.

Last week The Advertiser set forth at some length the details of the retail rates put into effect by Ohio Power on Apr. 18, 1979.

Detailed figures submitted with the application show that if the request is approved, Plymouth would pay Ohio Power during 1979 $41,339.18 more than the projected $221,818.62 at the present rate.

In view of the data presented previously, it would appear that the village council is faced with the necessity of invoking even higher rates than feared.

First, it must overcome the red ink in the electric fund as of now. This amounts to about 33 per cent of a year's billings at present rates.

Second, it must overcome the red ink in management of the electric utility, which has been running between $2,500 and $4,000 a month.

Third, it must lay plans to either prevent Ohio Power Co. from obtaining the rate increase, or any part of it, or consider adjusting rates locally to the point that mean return is sufficient to pay expenses.

The utility belongs to the citizens of Plymouth. Time was when a board of trustees, who were trustees in every legal and moral sense, was elected by the citizens to operate the utility. In the late 1960's, that was changed. Since that time, management of the utility has been wholly the province of the village council. Its collective record, today and yesterday and the yesterdays before that, speaks for itself: we're in the red, we're going even farther in the red with every month, we have hardly enough laid aside to bail us out of an especially rainy (read stormy) day, the village is committed to fund salary increases that, to some extent, must come from electric (and water and sewer) revenues, and we are making no appreciable changes in the techniques of our system so that it will be more efficient. (Read Mr. Sawvel's report to the trustees dated June 1, 1965).

It is never wise to go off half-cocked. And we wouldn't for a minute hold still for anyone, in official position, at least, doing so without sounding off.

But it seems to us that it will do no harm whatsoever, and probably will do us all a lot of good, particularly when we find that we have something that belongs to us that has great value in the market place, to let those who are capable of buying the system and running it at a profit (which apparently we can't do; at least, we haven't been doing it!) know that we're willing to listen to an offer.

If that offer isn't enough, reject it out of hand, or negotiate.

In the meantime, we're getting absolutely nowhere standing around wringing our hands for more money, more money, more money.

Nevertheless, the rates ought to be adjusted, and promptly, so that if we can and do interest a buyer, there'll be something to buy other than some aging poles, some used transformers and some vehicles that've all but outlived their usefulness.

17 SJHS pupils on honor roll, 36 merit roll

Seventeen Shiloh Junior High school pupils made honor roll grades during the fifth six-week period, their principal, Edward M. Kinsel.

Thirty-six others were named to the merit roll.

Honor roll grades went to Lisa Baldridge, Jeffrey Fenner, Nancy Ritchie, Dean Dawson, Craig Thornberry, Jennifer Martin, Linda Steele and Vicki Brown, eighth graders.

Merit roll grades were recorded by Jesse Woodmansee, Brian Edler, Rick Hawkins, Gregory Polachek, Dennis Gandy, Karen Leibert, Trace Caywood, Amy Echelberger, Nancy Hempfield, Fayette Hudson, Laura Kleman, Cheyne McGinnis, Kim Schrimmer, Darla Schreyer, Rhonda McDonald and Darrell Allenbaugh.

Council puts off enactment of income tax

Village council discussed May 1 the status of the electric fund, including an earlier proposal by Councilman G. Thomas Moore that the system be sold.

Before the discussion ended, the council also touched upon an income tax, which was proposed in April by Councilman Edward O. Ramsey and defeated on a 6-4 vote. The mayor's ballot was decisive. Mrs. Allan Raymond voted with those who opposed the measure.

Clerk Raymond L. Brooks said there was a recent month when the village's bill for power from the Ohio Power Co. was more than the collection.

The mayor suggested that Moore's motion to sell the distribution system should be revived.

This is replacement hydrant at West High and Plymouth streets for old-timer that was destroyed Saturday at 5:30 p.m., when everybody was watching Kentucky Derby, by errant driver who collided with young housewife. Village crews worked Monday - and much of Public Square and neighborhood of hydrant site - was without water for two hours. And when the water was turned on, many complained, "it was dirty".

Housewife hurt in collision here

Mrs. Calvin Tuttle, 347 Plymouth street, was taken to Willard Area Hospital Saturday afternoon in Plymouth ambulance service for treatment of injuries received in a two-car collision.

She was driving south in Plymouth street at 5:30 p.m. when the car driven by Clyde Justice, 39 Bell street, crossed the street, going westward in High street.

Justice said he stopped for the stop sign in East High street but failed to see the oncoming car.

The impact resulted in about $1,200 damage to the fire hydrant on the south west corner. Village employees had to turn off the water for several hours Monday to make the repairs.

Justice, a salaried worker of $36,000 a year, was $36,000 a cent a share.

Revenues rose from $47.5 million to $49.6 million. Severe weather influenced freight movement in the first quarter of 1978.

Make punch punchier with citrus sunburst

That once-a-year rite, commencement, is less than a month off, which means it's punch time.

Punch isn't punch unless it's served from a punch bowl with a ladle.

So the hostess who means to serve punch at the graduation - or wedding - reception had best round up a punch bowl and ladle. There are some households in which a punch bowl and ladle are fixtures. These are usually spoken for well in advance of the coming day. But they can be rented. Look in the yellow pages of the telephone directory for assistance.

Next, choose a recipe. That used here is simple, relatively inexpensive and lawful for consumption by man, woman and child.

Put the ingredients into the refrigerator until well chilled.

A sharp knife will result in an orange and grapefruit sunburst to display in the punch bowl that is attractive, novel and stylish.

Cut each of three oranges into 12 pointed sections as shown in the accompanying illustration. Use the sharp point of a kitchen knife to cut through the peel but not into the orange. Unsure where to cut? Lightly draw guidelines with a non-toxic wax crayon. After all cuts have been made, remove the portion and discard. Use the fingers to pull out the orange sections from within the peel and reserve for another use. Scrape the inside of the peel lightly with a small spoon if need be.

Cut the grapefruit in half crosswise. Cut through peel, barely into grapefruit to make six wedges of peel, as illustrated. Remove them from the fruit sections and reserve the sections for another use.

Follow the diagram. Assemble the sunburst. Push on one orange peel, skin side up, so it becomes slightly concave. With points up, rest second peel on top of concave section. Secure the two peels together with three toothpicks inserted from bottom. Invert third peel on top of the second and arrange the 12 points so that they are between the two below it.

Attach the 12 pointed sections of grapefruit peel, between the points of the bottom orange, holding them in place by piercing each with a toothpick inserted from the underside of the grapefruit peel into the orange peel. Attach one cherry to the top of the inverted orange, using half a toothpick.

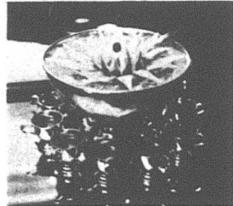

Moisten several paper towels and lay them on a dinner plate. Place the sunburst on the towels, cover loosely with aluminum foil and refrigerate until ready to make the punch.

Here's a simple recipe:

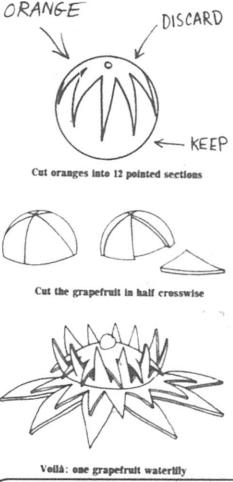

One 46-ounce can of grapefruit juice, three cans of orange juice, three cups of pineapple juice, six seven-punch bottles of ginger ale.

Combine chilled juices in punch bowl and float sunburst on top.

This recipe makes about 35 servings of four ounces each.

Write a friend a letter; it'll make his day!

By AUNT LIZ
Sit right down and write me a letter.

It will make his day.

A nation poll listed 21 daily activities, just about everyone does.

And can you believe that getting mail each day was listed by 63 per cent as the biggest joy they had each day?

I can heartily agree with that, because a letter from the three people who write to us regularly are real highlights each morning. Especially if there are some pictures in their letters that immediately vanish into your know-who's wallet so HE can show them off. Grandmothers just get left out.

Next came spending time with a hobby. After that came watching television, which was 58 per cent. Do you realize that this is much over half our population who sit glued to the tube each day?

Then there are 36 per cent of our population who like to hear the telephone ring. Not me, and no one asked me to start with I hate the sound of the telephone because it is usually a complaint of some kind, although it can be a nice sounding ring when it is our kids or an old friend.

Only 27 per cent said they looked forward to reading a newspaper, ugh! We all work hard at producing them, I remember the time a new family moved in and after a few months the lady of the house came to subscribe. She laughingly said her neighbor had advised her not to subscribe because she could tell her everything that was going on and there was no point in reading it. Somehow the next week that lady's stencil got missed, and she called immediately, almost yelling. "Where is my paper?"

Then we get to the bottom of what people like and only nine per cent like going off to work for the day. This I can agree with.

Maybe this is why so many figure out how to be on unemployment.

Little taxpayers like us simply support the program. We have never had a claim but

Odd-size mailings banned July 16

"Use up your small and undersized envelopes and cards before July 15," Postmaster Ruth Pittenger reminds customers. That is the date when the Postal Service, when the Postal Service becomes effective.

The postmaster said that after July 15, envelopes and cards measuring less than 3½ inches high or 5 inches long will be returned to the sender if mailed.

She said that because the envelope and greeting card industry have had more than three years to prepare for the new standards, few regular-sized pieces will be sold.

"Many consumers however, are likely to still have small envelopes and cards in their supply of stationery," she said.

The regulations also prohibit flimsy cards. In the future they must be at least seven-thousandths (.007) of an inch thick. An official postal card, for instance, has a thickness of nine thousandths of an inch.

Undersized pieces and flimsy cards are being banned because they can become trapped in other mail, tear and jam mail processing machinery. As a result, the letters of others can also be damaged.

The standards also affect oversized and off-shaped envelopes and cards. For first-class mail weighing one ounce or less, there will be a surcharge of 7 cents for pieces more than 6½ inches high or 11½ inches long.

For more information, the postmaster suggests customers check with a post office window clerk.

Here's what occurred in Plymouth 25, 20, 15, 10, 5 years ago

(Ed. Note: From time to time over the past 25 years, The Advertiser has presented material taken from back files. It was not always happily received. Of late, there has been shown some interest in reviving the column. The following is a one-time appearance unless there is substantial comment favoring its continuance.)

25 years ago
May 6, 1954

By 4 to 2 vote, village council approved renewal of a three-year lease at $75 a year of a parking lot at the east end of the Square owned by Edward O. Ramsey.

Plymouth Mothers club approved expenditure of $800 to fence the elementary school playground.

State examiner returned a finding of $180.73 against Paul and Thomas Root and Miles Christian on the grounds they were officers of the village when the transactions were made. Mayor Glenn West was told he must repay $50.15 for hardware he sold to the village.

Georgiana Pitzen and Robert Wirth received four-year band awards.

Marie Mueller and Dean A. Moorman were married in First Presbyterian church by the Rev. Ralph M. Felix.

20 years ago

May 7, 1959

D. Richard Akers and Nancy Ballitch were named co-valedictorians of the Class of 1959, Plymouth High school. The former received a $900 scholarship to attend Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland.

William F. Biesbesheimer, Toledo, won a contract to erect a new office building and lease it to the government for 20 years.

Lawrence Wasserman, 51, a fruit jobber, died at Tiffin.

Randy Paul Koser, eight-month-old son of the Eugene R. Koser, was found nearly dead, choking on a 1½-inch bolt given to him by his two-year-old brother. Surgeons at Willard removed the obstruction.

Plymouth voters rejected a $750,000 high school bond issue, 658 to 361.

Nina Fitch ranked third and Todd E. Darrow seventh among Richland county eighth graders after county tests were given.

Tiro defeated Plymouth, 12 to 6, in baseball.

15 years ago

May 7, 1964

Fred Dawson upset Dr. William C. Henson in the Democratic primaries for Richland county commissioners.

Five pupils of Plymouth High school made 4.0 grade-point averages. These were Jean Ann Smith and Gregory Cashman, 12th graders; Diane Cunningham, 11th grader; Janeane Cunningham and Leslie L. Henry, ninth graders.

Crestview pushed over a run in the seventh to defeat Plymouth, 3 to 2.

Ontario whipped Plymouth on a wet track, 80% to 37%.

Blanche Arnold was crowned FHA queen.

10 years ago

May 8, 1969

A school building bond issue of $600,000, to pay for a new 10-classroom middle school with new gymnasium at the east edge of Plymouth, was beaten.

Russell Ross, Jr., entered a cavay in the national show at Mansfield and won prizes for best American cavay and best American cream cavay.

Production of the colony of lodging juveniles in the Plymouth jail was stopped.

Mrs. Bruce Johnson, Willard, mother of Mrs. W. Roger Ross, died there.

Torpedoman 2nd class William Burns, son of the Marshall H. Burns, New Haven, won the good conduct medal.

5 years ago

May 9, 1974

Two sisters living in West Broadway died in a collision in Route 54 west of Monroeville. These were Terriko Lehman, 23, and Susan Lehman, 19.

F. Whitney Blackford, 22, a retired farmer, died.

Belinda Layne, daughter of the Samuel Laynes, won the state FHA degree.

Lucus nipped Plymouth in baseball, 5 to 4.

Two girls, competing as Plymouth varsity athletes for the first time in history, won a doubles tennis match.

against St. Mary's at Sandusky. These were Barbara Burkett and Karen Farmwalt, 12th graders, who defeated Ray Notestein and Jim Laws, 6-0, 6-3.
