Resurfacing of West Broadway approved by village council

Resurfacing of West Broadway between the C&O bridge and the hill at a cost of $12,354 by Abel Materials, Inc., Plymouth route 1, was authorized by village council Tuesday night.

The company submitted a total bid of $30,070, the lowest among four, to resurface West Broadway from the traffic signal to the bridge. West Broadway from the bridge to the hill, West High Street from Plymouth street to Bell street, the intersection of West High and Bell streets, and Riggs avenue from the water tower to Pine street.

With $3,919 taken from the permissive tax money built up in Huron county, the village will engage Huron county department of highways to apply seal coats to Curran, Walnut and Pleasant streets, to Light street, to South and Spring streets, to Willow drive, to Willow circle, and to Mary Tate park.

The council was to meet in adjourned session last night to accept on first reading a one per cent income tax ordinance and to decide whether persons outside the village may connect to the sanitary sewer system. An ordinance passed in 1971 prohibits such connection.

J. Benjamin Smith, a former councilman who lives in the north side of Plymouth East road in New Haven townships, pleaded with the council for an exception.

When the interceptor was laid in Plymouth East road, households in the north side of the road were offered the opportunity to pay for taps to the village.

Two of them did so. Smith was among those who did not, because he chose not to support annexation to the village.

Resignation of Donald Vanderpool as chief of ambulance service was accepted with regret. In a carefully orchestrated maneuver, the council reorganized the fire department to incorporate the ambulance service and to appoint Kenneth Echelberry as chief of the service. The position will pay $550, the same as Wallace Redden receives as the assistant chief in the fire department.

James H. Cashman was appointed a second assistant chief to Echelberry at an annual salary of $45,000. The ambulance fund will be maintained as a separate fund, completely separate from the fire department fund.

An opinion of the Huron county prosecutor to the effect that the Huron county commissioners are not liable for repairs to the North street bridge was read to the council.

The mayor pointed out that the last paragraph of the official opinion states that "...and (the county) is responsible for bridges on those improved roads which are of general and public utility either into or through a municipality." The bridge is used by school buses. This situation will be researched by the solicitor.

The position of court bailiff and dispatcher for the police department was also created. The wage will be $3.80 an hour.

The position will relieve the utility clerk, who has been handling police calls and monitoring the radio during the day and also collecting fines.

Solicitor Robert A. McKown was instructed to make changes in the newly-passed pay ordinance.

Should the police officer serving on the third shift, 11 p.m. until 7 a.m., be allowed

O. B. Tuttle offers prompt trash removal

It is an axiom of life that nothing is wasted. But there is much waste. And a good bit of it is solid, in form or substance that we cannot immediately use. It is not disposed of, in accordance with law and custom. The average householder or small business finds it next to impossible to do that himself. So he must contract with another to do it for him. O. B. Tuttle, 131 Franklin street, Plymouth, Tel. 687-1391 any hour during the day, is equipped with two vehicles that specialize in trash and refuse disposal. One of these is a GMC refuse compactor.

'The sky is falling!' Who'd think Chicken Little's tale would be true?

By AUNT LIZ
Not only are we going into the tornado and hurricane season but good, but also into the man-made season.

I take a really dim view of the Skylab descending on us. Somewhere I read that it would break up into really small pieces that we need not worry about. But in the same article it was admitted that there would be a couple of really heavy things that would come down intact.

What I really do not know is, if much more is going to fall down. Our country and a number of others have really been crowding space with all sorts of things. Granted, they are making living easier so that transatlantic calls go better and easier and we can all watch magnificent things on TV. Right now I think I could get back to ordinary radio programs than have to worry where these gems of science will land. I do not wish to land on me, my family nor our friends. I even take another dim view of their landing on those I dislike.

So while you are all waiting to get clobbered, why not read a good book?
Can you believe that a book written in 1896 can be so intriguing that you simply stick to it until the last page, knowing it is for the birds? I have never read a Barbara Cartland, but now think I will do so because she writes the same stuff.

From the time I was a little girl I had heard of the movie made of "The Prisoner of Zenda". Peter Sellers has just done a new version, with lousy reviews, so curiosity got me and I bailed it out of the library.

It is pure fun because you know that good guys will overcome the bad ones. And even back in the 1890's emotions existed. However, they merely embraced and didn't shake up. Most likely it was all considered, and they most likely did it, but it was not put in plain print. In such a book, once a door is closed, didn't shake up. Most likely it was simply no vivid descriptions of what in the heck is going on.

This book will simply keep you so interested, you will not notice the falling debris of Skylab. Let us all hope and pray it ends up in a large ocean. Then, unfortunately, the poor fish will get clobbered, so there goes another budgetplanned dinner.

You still do have another month or so for a nice fish dinner.

If you can find the fresh stuff, great, otherwise, the frozen can work just as well. Simply defrost it, then really pat filets of sole dry.

If you are calorie conscious, simply broil it and serve it with lemon slices. If not, make a white sauce using sherry for the liquid and pour it over the filets and either bake or broil. And if you can really say calories have absolutely no bearing on your thinking, boil some mushrooms — fresh ones.

that is — until tender, then throw them in the sauce. The ultimate is then to brown almond slices in a little butter and when ready to serve, sprinkle them over the top.

Even though the fish is pure healthful and loaded with protein, you can still be a little hungry, so simply slice a few potatoes, skins and all quite finely, and saute them until tender.

And what really will add to such a meal are tender little fresh peas, which one of our little granddaughters loves and calls "balls" which they are.

In Memory Of
Bro. Gerald E. Scott, who died June 8, 1979.
Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem, and hath received as his reward the white stone with the new name written thereon; and, Whereas, The all-wise and merciful Master of the Universe has called from labor to refreshment our beloved and respected brother, and he having been a true and faithful member of our beloved Order, therefore be it Resolved, That Richard Lodge No. 201, F.A.M. of Plymouth, Ohio, in testimony of its loss, drape its Charter in mourning for thirty days, that wender to the family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.
