

Mrs. Moore succumbs at 77 at Mansfield

Formerly of Plymouth, Mrs. Clyde Moore, 77, Mansfield, died July 18 in General hospital there.

Born Pearl O. Dinninger in Galion on Oct. 5, 1901, she was a graduate of Bowling Green Normal school. She taught in a one room school near here. She was a member of Angelus Chapter, OES, Shiloh.

A brother, Carl Dinninger, Plymouth route 1, survives.

The Rev. Royal Kear, minister of Ridgeway Church of God, conducted services at Mansfield Saturday at 1 p. m. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery here.

Petition to void income tax due tomorrow

Three villagers who work at Willard have organized a committee to upset the income tax ordinance and will submit tomorrow an initiative petition calling on village council to rescind the ordinance or submit it on the Nov. 8 ballot.

The committee is comprised of H. Lee Welker, 149 West Broadway; Larry Smith, Brooks court, and William B. Chronister, 259

West Broadway. They need the signatures of registered voters of the village amounting to 10 per cent of the number of voters who voted for governor in the last gubernatorial election.

They are working against time. Ohio law says that when such a petition is submitted to the village clerk, he must within 10 days verify each signature against the election records. If he finds a sufficient number of signatures to be valid, he must then certify the petition to the board of elections.

No petition can be certified later than Aug. 8 at 4 p. m. When the petition appears on the ballot, a "yes" vote will mean that the income tax ordinance shall be repealed. A "no" vote will mean that the income tax ordinance shall be retained.

Quiet today, bedlam Saturday

Scott street in Shiloh was typically quiet Tuesday morning. But come tomorrow it'll wake up and by Saturday it'll be swarming with hundreds of festive folk who annually turn out for northern Richland county's biggest party, the Shiloh-Cass-Bloomingrove Fire department ox roast. Parade begins Saturday at 6 p. m.

If income tax passes, '80 budget in black ink

Village council finally gave its approval to Clerk Raymond L. Brooks' budget Tuesday night after three tries.

Brooks tabulated income from the proposed one percent income tax into each year as directed by the ordinance. All the funds except for the water fund will show black ink. Despite an infusion of $30,000 in income tax money into the water fund, Brooks' figures show no advance a continuing red ink figure of $46,971.21.

Estimating the income tax at about $100,000, he allots only $5,000 to the general fund.

Other revenues, which include the fire levies, two for operation, and one for a new pumper, plus the levies for the park and cemetery, bring the total of that fund to a total of $259,803.33 in receipts.

Brooks estimated disbursements will be $174,841.

One of the largest expenditures of this fund will be for the safety fund, which is budgeted at $96,000.

The fire department is estimated at $20,500. The ambulance service is estimated at $10,000 for operation and maintenance. A total of $2,500 is earmarked for its reserve fund.

Revenues from the proposed income tax are reduced to $85,200. A sum of $8,000 was set aside for an administrator of the tax, which Councilman David Howard said later should be more like $3,097 for a part-time employee. Office rent, which was figured at $100 a month, public retirement and hospitalization will take up the other $3,800 of the tax.

The street fund is earmarked to receive $30,000 in the income money, with expenditures estimated at $25,000, would leave a healthy balance of $5,198.67 at the end of 1980.

The cemetery fund will hold its own with its estimated income of $16,025.80 for the year. The ending balance is estimated at $1,525.80.

The park fund will fare better with $15,000 of income tax money in its coffers and since no major improvements were provided for the coming year, that fund would end with a balance of $15,390.67, which is more than any park board member in its history has seen.

Even with an infusion of $30,000 of the anticipated income tax money, the water fund comes out a loser.

Arrest proves costly

Richard L. Hursh, Shiloh, was fined $160.50 and sentenced to 30 days in jail by the Shelby Municipal court on a charge of drunken driving. His license was also suspended for one year.

On a charge of speeding, he was fined $31.50. He was fined $61.50 for disorderly conduct.

He was arrested by Plymouth police on the three charges and the case was transferred to the higher court.

Robert M. Davis pleaded no contest to a charge of passing on the right in mayor's court Monday night. He was fined $20 and costs.

Also pleading no contest was Shirley J. Jones, Greenwich, on a charge of driving with expired plates. She was fined $20 and costs.

Melvin C. Stein, Shelby, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $22 and costs.

Paying waivers for speeding charges were Michael A. Wainston, Mansfield, $34, and Jeffrey Henry, $30.

The charges against Daniel Baker for reckless operation and malicious destruction of property in Mary Fate park were continued until the next court date.

Cost of jailing up 100%

Like everything else, the price of a stay in the county jail is going up.

The Huron county commissioners have notified the municipalities they find it necessary to increase the daily rate from $9 to $18, a jump of 100 per cent.

The action was taken when Sheriff John Borgia reviewed the jail maintenance appropriation because of the rising costs of food, fuel and the new jail standards that become effective at the first of the year.

Pfeifer sets 'listening'

Sen. Paul Pfeifer will meet with citizens in the village hall Monday from 9 until 10 a. m.

Root asks for control of fund

Village Administrator James C. Root asked that there be an ordinance on the expenditures of the police department equipment fund.

The fund was set up last year as a bookkeeping project by a motion to pay half of the fine money into a separate fund to pay for items by the police department.

The council agreed that Root is the official purchasing agent for the village and the department should clear all purchases through him and the bills through the police.

Police Chief W. Robert Seel said he was doing as much as he can to update the department.

He also said he estimates there would be about 60 hours of overtime during the firemen's festival and he is attempting to obtain the help of the Huron county sheriff's department.

'16 alumna dead at 80 in Arizona

Foster daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Silliman, Mrs. Charles Caldwell, 80, Apache Junction, Ariz., died in Mesa, Ariz., July 8 of cancer of the spine.

Born Agnes Kurtz in Andrews, Ind., July 28, 1898, she came to the Silliman farm about four miles northeast of Plymouth to live with her aunt and uncle. She was an alumna of Plymouth High school and later attended Oberlin college.

In 1940 she was married and lived in Mansfield, where she and her husband were employed by Westinghouse Corp. About 20 years later, a severe arthritic condition forced her to move to Arizona. She went to a sister, to 1965 her husband retired and they went to Mesa.

Mrs. Caldwell was a 50-year member of Plymouth Chapter 231, OES.

Services were conducted July 10. Interment was in Mountain View Memorial gardens.

Vice-president of Ohio Association of Future Farmers of America, Todd Kranz, fifth from left, participated July 14-21 at Washington, D. C., in the president's Washington leadership conference. Son of the Thomas Kranzes, Shiloh-Norwalk road, he is an honor graduate of Plymouth High school in 1979, planning to enter the Ohio State agriculture program at Wooster.

At capital

After attending the village council meeting Tuesday night, I came home upset about the new city income tax. I was not upset about the fact the tax was passed. I was upset by the lack of study and consideration the tax was given by council. They were asked several times why Plymouth did not use the same system used by other towns around and had no answer. She prorated her real estate taxes, the taxes on her car—all taxes she paid in a year, it came to over 40 per cent of her income. This came to pass by our legislators adding a few cents here and a dollar there. This tax of ours may only amount to a hundred dollars a year for some families, it also may make the difference in where their children get new winter coats or not.

When council was asked how the one per cent tax was arrived at it became obvious it was a figure pulled out of the air. They were asked how much do we need? The answer was we don't know, if we had an expensive computer we might be able to figure it out. This causes me to wonder what states, large cities, small villages and General Motors did when figuring their yearly budgets and operating costs before the age of the computer.

Before imposing any kind of tax on people an in depth study should be made. Is this necessary? Do we have any alternatives (such as selling the electric system)? If no, how much do we need? These questions should be asked and answered.

One thing that says how fast this was done and with very little research the fact council voted on it on the first reading under the impression reciprocity would be paid. A few telephone calls would have told them no it won't. They did not know this at the first reading and injected the one half per cent for people working outside the village on the second.

We sat up there at the meeting and debated the fairness of taxes. We all know there is no fairness in taxes—ask any working married couple filing their income tax—therefore any tax should be enacted in a way that will make it as easy as possible on the greatest number of people. Why not start with the system used by other towns. If that does not create the needed revenue after a year the tax can be amended.

If I had thought the last school bond which passed was put together in the manner this tax was I would not have had all the heated arguments with my friends about it. I would not have voted for it myself!

Mr. Pazzini feels he is being discriminated against because the people who are forced to work outside of Plymouth will be paying one half per cent while he will be paying one per cent to Plymouth. As I said there is no fairness in taxes. Here is an example. Three adult people in my household work outside Plymouth—not by choice but necessity—we each pay one per cent city income tax or a total of three per cent. We will pay Plymouth one half per cent each or a total of one and one half per cent. Will we get our now removed or a broken water line fixed any faster or better than the household where one per cent tax is being paid? It requires the same amount of time and equipment to remove our snow that it does anyone else's.

Mrs. Burton says tax measure unfair

One councilman seemed to think we were arguing about a small amount of money. This seems to be the attitude of all our legislators, a few cents here and a dollar there. We all should do what a cousin of mine did. She kept a log for two weeks of everything she bought from a pack of cigarettes to a bar of soap and the taxes she paid on each item. She prorated her real estate taxes, the taxes on her car—all taxes she paid in a year, it came to over 40 per cent of her income. This came to pass by our legislators adding a few cents here and a dollar there. This tax of ours may only amount to a hundred dollars a year for some families, it also may make the difference in where their children get new winter coats or not.

If my neighbor thinks he is being discriminated against because I don't have to pay the same amount of city income tax he does to Plymouth (I am still paying more municipal tax than he is) let him think about this. I have voted for all our school bond issues, I had one child in school, let's say he has five am paying to educate his children. My next door neighbor helped educate my child. I'm sure he paid a lot more taxes than I will, he was $4 when he died and had no children. If you find a way to make taxes fair let the IRS, the State of Ohio, Richland and Huron counties in on it. In the meantime why not try to make it as easy on everyone as possible?

I think I would be safe in saying that the 60 per cent of the people who work outside Plymouth do more to support this town than the 40 per cent who work here.

I know we do more than some of them. I buy all my groceries at Foodland, we buy our hardware and miscellaneous at Miller's, we buy our drugs, etc. at Plymouth Pharmacy. The only things we buy elsewhere are things we can't buy here. Why are we being penalized because we must make our living outside of Plymouth?

Paula Kleman wed to Anthony Machiusi, Jr., here

Miss Paula Kleman became the bride of Anthony Machiusi, Jr., July 14 in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kleman, Willard drive, and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Briggs and of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kleman, Shelby.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Machiusi, Sr., Willard. The Rev. Gerald Ceranowski performed the doubling ring ceremony.

Assisting in the nuptial mass were the bride's cousins, Mark Stein, as lector, and Timothy and Anthony Schriener.

Lynn McKown was the soloist and guitarist.

The bride's gown was designed with a fitted bodice and a deep neckline edged with a wide ruffled collar which formed small cap sleeves. The full skirt was edged with a ruffle and ended in a chapel train in the back.

Her bouquet was centered with a purple-throated orchid surrounded with roses and baby's breath.

She wore a sapphire pendant, a gift of her parents for her 18th birthday anniversary.

Ann Hopkins was maid of honor. She wore an orchid colored sleeveless gown with a lace yoke and a full straight skirt.

Bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sister, Pamela Machiusi, and the bride's sisters, Barbara and Laura. Her youngest sister, Lisa, was the flower girl.

They wore pink gowns. All the attendants carried orchid carnations with a pink rose and baby's breath.

Steven Krock was the best man. Jeffery Clonks, Craig Coutts and Michael Allen ushered.

Troy Keene was the junior usher.

Mrs. Kleman chose a short rose colored dress. The bridegroom's mother wore beige.

Both wore corsages of cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Briggs also wore beige. Mrs. Peter Kleman was in a light ivory dress. The bride's great-grandmother, Mrs. Lucille Schlotter, Mansfield, wore blue.

They also wore orchid corsages.

A buffet supper was served in Ehret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion.

Dawn Cobb served the wedding cake and Kristi Murnea registered guests.

Music was by Keith and Doris Gooding.

The couple spent their honeymoon in Myrtle Beach,

S. C., and are now living in Plymouth.

The new Mrs. Machiusi is a 1979 graduate of Plymouth High school employed by the Discount Drug Mart, Willard. The bridegroom is a 1977 graduate of Willard High school and is employed by Keene's Service station, Willard.

HOME OF THE WEEK
BARGAINS are hard to find these days but this 6 room home on a large lot may be just what you are looking for. Two bedrooms down and one large loft bedroom provide plenty of room for most families. Call for an estimate of monthly payments today.

SHILOH SPECIAL - Large home in Shiloh with everything, but insulation. We priced similar homes in other towns and found this one at about half the price asked. Needs redecorating but this lovely old home can be a show place. We can help find financing for you.

WEST BROADWAY - Two homes priced to sell. Payments could be less than your rent.
First, a new listing at 111 Broadway has 3 bedrooms up and 2 down, 2 baths, laundry room, living room and modern kitchen.
At 107 Broadway there are 2 bedrooms up and 3 rooms down plus an eat in kitchen and dining nook. Owners will help finance this one so get off the rent and own a home for your future.

MECHANICS SPECIAL - Modern 3 bedroom home in Attica with attached body shop.

SUPER HOME IN GREENWICH priced right. In top condition on 1 1/2 lots. Large living, dining and 2 bedrooms. Full basement divided into 3 rooms, to store your treasures in, plus a large garage with Genie. 10 x 10 storage shed, incinerator, 5 closets (1 cedar) and Buyers Protection on major appliances, furnace, etc.

Delphi provides a nice single home, 1 bedroom down and 1 in the loft. Back porch, good well, nice lot, low price.

Neat and sweet best describes this lovely Cape Cod type home at 321 Plymouth Street. 3 bedrooms, one a large loft type upstairs, and a super large lot with some fruit and nuts, and a nice basement. Carpet on the floors, refrigerator range and other extras.

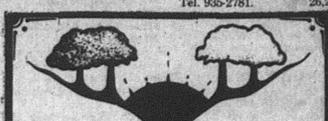

FARMS - Yes we have farms. One in Willard with extra good buildings on 37 acres and a good 60 acre farm east of Greenwich.

We have many other listings and one just right for you. Call us today before the home you want is sold to someone else.
