Controversy raging on question of pay boost

Controversy over the proposed pay ordinance for village employees has been raging in the village hall since Thursday night.

Mayor Eric J. Akers pointed out the highlights of what he proposed to the council Jan. 8.

Approval was given to instruct Richard Wolfe, village solicitor, to prepare an ordinance along the guide lines the mayor had proposed.

When the ordinance was presented by the mayor, the council immediately went into executive session that lasted nearly two hours.

When the meeting reconvened, the mayor announced it would be recessed until 6 p. m. Friday.

That meeting also convened to determine if there was the special meeting Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, the council has discussed the proposed ordinance with village employees.

Once the ordinance is approved by the council, it will then be reviewed by the financial commission before being passed to determine if the salary rates will fit into the financial plan prepared for the village by Ernest and Whiney.

Councilman James H. Cushman Thursday night reported on the safety committee meeting at his home Jan. 13.

The committee is recommending that a used state patrol cruiser be purchased at a cost of about $1,500, considerably cheaper than purchasing a new one.

The committee is also asking that the mayor give the council a follow-up on each meeting he has with Willard officials over the proposed water line and that copies of important papers be received be given to council members several days before each meeting.

The committee's last recommendation is that the activities of the fire and police chiefs be reviewed every six months.

Income tax receipts to drop by $32,000

Income tax receipts will drop about $32,000 this year, Ralph Roll, senior accountant for Ernest and Whiney, who have been engaged to straighten out the village finances, told the finance commission Friday morning.

He said the strike at Plymouth Locomotive Works, which lasted three months, during the last quarter of 1980, plus adverse economic conditions within the village have made it necessary to revise projected income tax money.

He said that when the tax was instituted, it was estimated that it would bring in close to $100,000 annually, with $13,000 to run the department, leaving about $87,000 to be used for capital improvements and operation and maintenance for the departments.

Originally the council planned to spend 75 percent on the former and 25 percent on the latter, but it has worked in reverse, with the major amount going to maintain the general fund.

Mayor Eric J. Akers said he hopes that with the proposed three mill levy to be placed on the June ballot, the original planning of expenditures can be obtained.

Under the plan set up by the accounts, which the council has closely followed with legislative action, two years of debt service to Farmers Home administration has been repaid. The money was borrowed to finance the construction of the sanitary sewer system in 1972.

The sewer fund has also been able to repay the sum of $17,500 to the cemetery fund. This was borrowed in 1970 to pay off a bank loan for the construction of Phase I of the sewer system. This was necessary because all debts had to be paid before FMHA could loan the village more money to complete the system.

This was trust money and only the interest could be used by the operating and maintenance of the cemetery fund. The sewer fund has paid the interest to the cemetery since the money was borrowed.

With the transfer of $30,000 from the electric reserve fund to the operating and maintenance fund, most of the outstanding bills have been paid, with the exception of one month's Ohio Power bill, which will be paid this month.

Electric rates were raised 25 percent about a year ago.

The one fund definitely still in the red is the water fund. Water rates were raised this month 25 percent. These will be in effect for the first quarter of this year.

The mayor told the commission he is negotiating with Willard and costs may not be so great as anticipated if federal grants and loans can be obtained. He said if money is borrowed from FMHA to supplement what the grant would be for construction of the water line, the cost would be about $700 to $800 monthly to service the loan.

However, it is the cost of water that Willard under its present ordinance would charge that will increase the average water bill to villagers to about $12 to $14 a month that worries the mayor.

He said he is hopeful Willard will reduce the charge to about 10 percent over rates charged to Willard customers rather than 100 percent that is now charged to Willard water users outside the corporate limits of the city.

Improvement to the water distribution system, Akers said, is estimated at $300,000 to $400,000.

The commission approved the December bill of the accounting firm of $8,306, which is being forwarded to the state for payment under the financial recovery plan.

Roll was asked how long the bills would be coming, since most of the work has been completed. He said he thinks by the end of February it will only be necessary for the accountants to spend a few days here with the clerk-treasurer.

James C. Davis, a member of the commission, inquired about the CETA employees who are being cut back by Richland and Morrow counties.

The mayor said the village is losing two police dispatchers but thinks that one can be gained from the Huron county program.

One employee assigned to the utilities will also be lost.

The two that the village is losing will not be replaced, he said, and the departments involved will have to work it out.

The commission accepted the resignation of Terry O'Dell, who has been serving as its secretary. Miss O'Dell, a Plymouth Locomotive Works employee, said she is resigning because of her other responsibilities.

Man held on five counts after scuffle with sheriff

A 27-year-old Plymouth route 1 man was arrested by Huron county sheriff's deputies on five counts and is held on bond of $5,750 in Norwalk Municipal court.

Carlson J. Shepherd, Route 61, is charged with failure to comply with the lawful order of a peace officer; abuse of harmful intoxicants, assault, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

The offenses occurred at a house under construction at New Haven.

A warrant issued by Erie county sheriff's deputies was also enforced.

Smith back, but part time

Having undergone a triple bypass heart operation in the fall, Huron County Commissioner Maurice Smith has returned to his office in Norwalk on a limited time basis.

His physician won't let him resume full-time duties until March.

Here's good news . . .

Births in Huron county exceeded death by 47 percent during 1980, the county department of health reports.

The figures do not include Bellevue, which is not a part of the health district.

Births numbered 791, of whom 402 were male and 389 female.

Deaths totalled 414, of whom 221 were male and 193 female.

More babies were born in Norwalk than in Willard. The comparable figures were 513 and 268. There were 10 children born outside these hospitals.

Deaths occurred mostly in Norwalk, 210 of them. Deaths in Willard numbered 146, elsewhere 58.

Cardiovascular disease was the main cause of death, a total of 234 persons having succumbed to this affliction. Cancer took 82 lives, accidents 23, respiratory diseases 17. There were 17 homicides and suicides. Two children died because of diseases of early infancy. Other causes of death numbered 45.

Tax bills in mails next week: Chupp

First half 1980 real estate tax statements will be mailed the first week in February and the final date for payment without penalty will be Mar. 6. Ardeeth L. Chupp, Huron county treasurer, reports.

Library sets films

"Dr. Seuss on the Loose" is the children's movie scheduled at Plymouth Branch library Tuesday.

Based on the stories "The Sneetches," "The Zax," and "Green Eggs and Ham," the film helps children understand how people behave.

The Sneetches, who base social standing on the presence or absence of stars on one's stomach, illustrate the pressure to conform.

Stubbornness and resist-

... and here's bad! Tax rate goes up to $53.90 in village

The bad news for real estate taxpayers is out.

Tax rate for Plymouthites living in Richland county is $53.90, including $11.30 for the village and $34.55 for the schools. The township levy is $1.80.

Tax rates for villagers living in Huron county is $40.11.

Rate for Shilohans is $57.10, including $14 for the village

Rate for Plymouth township residents outside Plymouth is $45.10, for Canton township residents outside Shiloh $44.10. In Blooming Grove township the rate is $44.40.

Reason for the delay is the late implementation of Issue I which was passed in the November election.

After Jan. 6, there will be a 10 percent penalty on all unpaid taxes as mandated by the state.

The boy in the "Green Eggs and Ham" segment is reluctant to try something new. When he finally gives in, he discovers that although they may be different, green eggs aren't so bad after all.

The movie will be shown at 10 a. m. in the branch library, 21 West Broadway.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

The freshmen boys lost their first game of basketball Monday to Buckeye Central, which I think is great, for the boys and especially for the coach.

Winning is great but I have watched this coach for years and it appears to me that he doesn't care about all the boys, he only cares about the first five, who he thinks might win for him.

I'm sure there are some sitting on the bench watching his favorite five that have the ability to show him just as much, but haven't had the chance to even get warmed up most of the time in a game. During the practices I'm sure some of them work just as hard as his favorites. What good does it do them?

I believe these early years in the kids' lives are for learning and to give them all a chance to show what they can do.

When it gets to varsity this may be all right, but in my eyes this isn't right this early. Why can't all of them have a chance to show their ability?

Everybody is disgusted with Plymouth's record and reputation in sports. Maybe if these coaches in the lower classes would give all the boys a chance to get the experience needed, they would have a better chance of winning some games as a team, not just for the coaches' record.

Roughriders too much for Red in 73 to 46 victory here

Western Reserve dealt Plymouth another lacing here Saturday night.

The score was 73 to 46.

The Roughriders ran off to an early lead and maintained it throughout.

They did so with a sterling performance by Carl Gerber, who led all scorers with 20 points, nine of them during the first eight minutes to help the visitors to a 21 to 11 lead.

Western Reserve got off 15 shots during the first period, making nine of them. They added three of four free throws.

Plymouth was getting its shots but couldn't connect. The Big Red managed only five successes in 14 tries during the first eight minutes. Its one free throw was successful.

The home team really came apart in the second period. It was to score only eight points on four field goals in 16 attempts. Meanwhile, the Roughriders got off a dozen shots and made seven of them.

At the half it was 38 to 19 and Plymouth was effectively out of it.

Nevertheless, the home forces came alive after the half and scored 15 in the third period, matching the visitors shot for shot.

Western Reserve got a number of opportunities at the foul line in the final quarter and made the most of them, six of 10 tries.

Jim Todd scored 16 for the Blue and White, Jeff Hoffman 10.

Brian Fenner was the only Plymouth player able to break into double figures. He scored 18.

Western Reserve outrebounded Plymouth, 36 to 23. And Plymouth made more mistakes, 23 to 18.

Shooting-wise, Western Reserve was 30 of 51 tries for field goal and 13 of 21 at the foul line.

Plymouth got off 68 tries for field goal, enough to win any game, but converted only 15 of them. At the foul line it was 10 of 24.

Despite the advantage of its home floor in a majority of games so far this season, Plymouth has been consistently outshot by the visitors, not only in total points but in shooting efficiency. Which is why the Big Red hasn't won a game thus far.

A reception took place in the church rooms.

The wedding cake was decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom that had been used by the bride's parents. Mrs. Betty Yaeger, the bride's aunt, registered guests.

How many tolls will your estate pay?

Did you know that part of an estate may be subject to Federal estate tax at the death of a married person and then subjected to repeat taxation when the surviving widow or widower later passes the assets to the children?

Did you know that a properly planned trust can eliminate unnecessary second tax?

Make sure your estate pays no more toll than required. See us with your attorney - this month!

When you're past 39 (?), new house is strange, if only for week

By AUNNT LIZ
 There is nothing like spending a week in a really new house.
 For years we have lived in one that we think might have been built in the 1890's, but has been considerably comphed up over the years.
 The best thing we ever did was make a pantry into a downstairs bathroom. This eliminated two children from pounding on the door of the upstairs one, shouting, "Daddy, let me in." He was not about to because he was reading a very enlightening article in the Readers Digest.
 The next best thing we ever did was to remodel a really large kitchen. That eliminated the mice who came in during the fall months to keep warm. Somehow they could climb up exposed pipes. I will never forget the year we really had them, and caught eight. I then suggested to a third grader that he set another cheese trap out. He was our official mouse catcher, not me. His answer was very clear, "Mommy, there are only eight to a family." And so help me, we never had another that year.
 Our house is very ordinary. The light switches are average and the water faucets are average, perhaps of the 1940 version, but they do work... providing the village has water and no wires down.
 A newly built house today has light fixtures and water faucets which can put a Nobel Prize winner to shame to get them to work.
 Can you imagine getting into a bath tub, and you turn the faucet and nothing happens? It took me three days to find out that you pull it out, not just turn it, and when you did turn it, it was hind end to the hot, it was not the right direction at all.
 And the light switches. Some were very ordinary like we have at home, but some were plain fancy. They were unbelievable. There were switches that you thought would turn lights on, plus a knob-like thing. And like the bath tub, when you turned it, nothing happened. You had to pull them outward. There was not a room in that really lovely house that worked consistently.

 Then there was the microwave oven, which everyone has except us.
 That took a couple of days for me to master. All I was doing was heating up a cup of coffee before everyone else was up. You set it at a minute and a quarter, then sit down and wait for a bing to sound. This can take over 20 minutes because of forgetting to push the "start" button. For three mornings I was convinced our children really got rucked with the thing. Perhaps there is simply no way to bring a 60-year-old up to today.
 It was a real ball to see how our children live versus how we live.
 Somehow we simply do not need all these things, but they are great for them. They can whip up a meal in two minutes. In a way that kind of takes the fun out of cooking.

 I am not a good cook. Everyday eating in our house is very ordinary. Every now and then we invite a guest, and I really try.
 Sometimes you cannot win. I am sure I have written this before, but one night we had a charming couple for dinner with some other friends, and decided that beer balls should be the main dish. They took one look at our fancy little meatball looking things, and from then on the conversation very definitely cooled off. I simply ate with relief, because I like the things. They finally went home, with my blessing. And we ate the leftovers the next night with great relish. They get better with age.

A MAGICAL MOMENT is shared between 1981 March of Dimes National Poster Child Missy Jabilonski and magician Doug Henning. Both of them have a common desire to see the threat of birth defects disappear. Missy 5/1 of St. Louis, Missouri, was born with open spine. She represents more than a quarter-million American children born each year with birth defects.
