

No on No. 1, yes on No. 2

Two constitutional issues will appear on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Issue 1 calls for a proposed amendment that would change the Ohio workers' compensation system to permit insurance companies to sell workers' compensation coverage at rates determined by those companies, subject to regulation by the state department of insurance.

Proponents of the amendment argue that, above all, it will provide the freedom of choice that is so much a part of the nation's heritage. They say it would end an outdated government monopoly, improve injured workers' services, improve safety (it is argued that Ohio has one of the worst workplace safety records) and aim to lower costs by encouraging competition.

Opponents say that non-Ohio conglomerates would double the cost of workers' compensation insurance for many employers, that in other states where out-of-state conglomerates have been allowed to write workers' compensation, cost of insurance has risen with no corresponding improvement in benefits, that out-of-state insurers will skim off the workers in low-risk businesses and leave most industries to pay higher rates for the same coverage, that the Ohio system is entirely funded by low cost employer premiums and profits from the earnings of a $3 billion trust fund in the amount of $200 million, and finally that when out-of-state insurers drive the cost of workers' compensation up, the prices of goods and services will correspondingly rise.

These arguments make sense to us and we shall vote No on Proposal 1. We urge our friends and neighbors to do likewise.

Proposal 2 would provide for a new system of redistributing the state after a decennial census.

Thrust of the amendment is to prevent the gerrymandering of electoral districts by the ruling political party. This would be done by establishing a commission which would draw the lines of each district based on the best plan submitted to it by any resident of the state. The governor would be required to publish widely federal census data respecting population density and location.

Proponents say the amendment would end the game of political bosses creating for their friends safe seats, that are overwhelmingly one sided, it would prevent one political party from carving district lines to gain control of the legislature for the next 10 years, it would open the political process to public participation by creating fair competition and it would encourage the retention of neighborhoods, communities, townships and counties in single districts.

Opponents say this isn't so. They contend local governments would be ignored because counties, cities, villages, townships and neighborhoods can be divided to create legislative and congressional districts, that the governor would be granted excessive power, that ethnic and minority representation is reduced, and that no funding has been provided for.

We have lived for nearly 28 years in a system where our across the street neighbor votes for a different issue, a different candidate, than what appears on our ballot. So far as we can see, it hasn't hurt us much. Nor our neighbor, either.

Many of our colleagues endorse the amendment. The League of Women Voters, the Ohio Farm Bureau and some other significant groups endorse it.

We add our own endorsement. We shall vote for Proposal 2 and we urge our friends and neighbors to do likewise.

100-mph chase leads to arrest

A high-speed chase that involved Plymouth police ended Sunday with the arrest of a 19-year-old Shelbyan on eight counts of speeding, reckless operation, fleeing police and driving without headlamps.

Jeffrey Carroll is said by police to have been the driver of a Firebird that left Central Ohio Industrial park at Shelby at high speed Sunday at 2:45 a. m. A security guard notified Shelby police at that hour. A Shelby police car chased the vehicle in London West road until its driver lost sight of the speeder at Champion road and Route 98. The speeds in the chase exceeded 100 miles an hour.

Plymouth police sighed and chased the car at speeds over 120 miles an hour but lost it in Route 103.

At 4:54 a. m. the car returned to Shelby and was returned to Shelby and was chased in Marvin avenue, where it ran three stop signs, and proceeded west in Smiley avenue. At 5:02 a. m. the car was noticed in Main street, where it drove in Stambaugh, Vernon and Taft streets without headlamps. The car was found abandoned with the key in the ignition on the grounds of the Knights of Columbus in Vernon road.

At 5:45 a. m. police apprehended Carroll and a passenger.

T-and-G program rates highly, board told

Plymouth High school's program for talented and gifted pupils rates highly, Principal James Craycraft told Education Monday night.

A representative of the state department of education, an Australian, inspected the program here and compared it favorably with that at Berkeley, a Columbus suburb of middle and high income families.

Craycraft said the group toured Malabar farm and a monastery near Hayesville and was complimented on its dress and deportment.

A committee will be formed to study the possibility of a weighted grading system. A candidate for member of the board, Keith Mowry, has publicly called for such a system, by which a grade of B in, say, physics would count for as much as a grade of A in, say, vocational agriculture.

A maternity leave of absence was accorded Mrs. Alice Seisley. It will be effective Feb. 1.

Payment of additional salary in the amount of $30 an hour for up to six semester hours of credit was approved for 10 teachers. These are Sam Cook, Carolyn Milligan, S. Michael Tracey, Barbara Janas and Judith Mawhorr, six hours; Mark Sheely and David Sotora, three hours; Jerry Julian and Mrs. Thomas Dawson, three hours; Mrs. Gerald Lillo, two hours.

Fourteen volunteers to assist with classes in Plymouth Elementary school and 10 in Shiloh Elementary school were approved.

These are Mmes. Terry Van Wagner, Frances Fletcher, Kathy Combs, Joy Barber, Patty Bowman, Roy Edler, Thomas Myers, Ervin Howard, Bill Young, James Fleck, Charles Reinhart, David Silver, Rebecca Scott and Sally Stroup, Plymouth; Marilyn Pennell, Darrel Clemans, Michael Bauer, Fredrick Bauer, John Ferguson, Ramona Pennell, Clara Van derpool, Paul Krantz, Linda Gregory and Terry Van Wagner, Shiloh.

Driver hurt in collision in Route 61

A Plymouth driver was injured Tuesday when he overturned his car in Route 61 south of here.

Gary Tackett, headed south below Dininger road, lost control upon the approach of two state trucks.

His car was demolished. He was removed to Shelby Memorial hospital with lacerations and a possible leg fracture.

Mayor fines Willard man sans license

One traffic offense was dealt to by Mayor Dean A. Cline Thursday night. Mayolo Aguado, Willard, pleaded guilty to driving without an operator's license. He was fined $25 and cost.

Waivers were posted by Dean R. Miesel, Bellville, $15 and costs for public intoxication; James C. Hall, Plymouth, $15 and costs for public intoxication; Richard Daney, Shiloh, $15 and costs for public intoxication; Scott A. Wilson, Willard, $13 and costs for speeding; Douglas H. Mills, Shiloh, $15 and costs for failure to yield the right of way; and Ezzel D. Hicks, Shiloh, $15 and costs for driving left of center.

Chamber sets radio man as speaker

David Williamson, Station WSWR, will address the Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce meeting after dinner Monday at 7 p. m. in Hartenstein's Supper club, Willard.

Dr. Pierre E. Haver or Miss Laila Vandervoort will take reservations.

Lions to sell roses at $9 to raise funds

Plymouth Lions club is selling roses tomorrow as a fund raising project.

They may be ordered from any member. A bouquet of a dozen is priced at $9.

Mrs. Hedeem succumbs at 86

Services were conducted Thursday from Mt. Hope Lutheran church, Shiloh, by the Rev. Donald Albert and Pauline Atkins for Mrs. Axel E. Hedeem, 86, Shelby, who died Oct. 12 in Crestwood Care center here.

Born June 10, 1885, in Richland county, she lived her whole life in Cass and Sharon townships.

She was a first grade teacher at Adario, Shiloh and Shelby and after she retired, she tutored handicapped pupils. She was a member of First Lutheran church, Shelby, and of the National Retired Teachers' association.

Her son, Councilman John E., and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth V. Robinson, Littleton, Colo., survive. So do eight grand-children and nine great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Planners set restrictions on trailers

The proper, nay, the only place for a house trailer in Plymouth is an organized trailer park, village planning commission said Oct. 6.

It will recommend to village council that an ordinance be passed prohibiting installation of a trailer outside a trailer park and barring the installation by a new owner of a new trailer on a lot already occupied by a trailer.

Exception will be made in the case of new construction, when a trailer may be parked outside a trailer park for more than 48 hours.

Councilman Bill Taulbee, also a member of the commission, said a loaded school bus passing over the railroad bridge in West Broadway would exceed the load limit of six tons. Communication has been initiated with the Chesapeake System railroad to begin eliminating the hazard. Residents of Bell and West High streets complain that lumber and other heavy trucks pass by their doors because they are too heavy to cross the railroad bridge.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Plymouth ambulance service took Lizzie Thornberry, Dininger road, to Willard Area hospital Tuesday morning.

She had fallen and required treatment.

Noisiest, and dustiest, place in town this week is the Masonic building, where Todd Figley, masked to prevent inhalation, sandblasted the brick structure preparatory to tuckpointing.

New gas, water rates approved

Approval of a new natural gas rate was approved by village council Tuesday night, despite the disapproval of Councilmen John E. Hedeem and Ervin Howard.

The rates, which have been in negotiation for several months, call for an increase of 3.6 per cent the first year and 2.5 per cent the second year.

A customer charge of $3.85 will remain the same each year and will be included on each monthly bill.

The two year agreement will take effect Jan. 1, 1982 and will be reflected in the February bills.

Jerry Tischer, Mansfield district manager of the company, told the council there is a chance that new legislation at the state level may increase the excise tax that is now included in the percentage raise.

He said the company pays $44,000 annually for the tax for the village gas users. Councilman G. Thomas Moore said he had planned to ask for a change in the annual appropriation ordinance but could not, since the funds of Greenlawn cemetery are still under study.

As a result, the meeting was recessed until Tuesday at 7 p. m.

The village is "getting the run-around", Councilman Bill Taulbee reported. He has talked to a number of Chesapeake railroaders about the repair of the West Broadway bridge, which has been deemed unsafe for a number of years. Each person he has talked with has passed him on to another.

He is now writing a letter, copies of which will be forwarded to representatives of the state legislature and to the village solicitor.

The bridge was limited to six tons a number of years ago, and Taulbee said it should be more like three at the most.

He inquired if plans were underway to pick up leaves and clean the streets of them.

James C. Root, village administrator, said that both would be done at the same time. Root has suggested hiring part-time help to do the work and said he would like a leaf picker-up and a tree shredder, which would make the work much easier with the limited number of village employees.

He also said catch basins should be cleaned.

At the moment the only major winter problem is the line at Mills and Base Line road, which had a serious leak but has been repaired, he said.

"The line needs to be replaced and several fire hydrants installed to give protection," he said. The cost to do the work properly will hover between $25,000 and $30,000 and should be a top priority improvement for the coming year.

Mrs. Paddock, 85, dies in rest home

Mrs. Arthur L. Paddock, 85, OES Home for the Aged, Bridgewater, N. J., died there Oct. 7 of heart seizure.

Born Agnes R. Shannon Oct. 20, 1895, in Chester, Pa., she grew up in Jamestown, N. Y., where she was graduated by her high school in 1915. She was graduated by Fredonia State Normal school, Fredonia, N. Y., in 1917. She later took graduate courses in Rutgers university, New Brunswick, N. J., Trenton State college, Trenton, N. J., and Montclair State college, Montclair, N. J.

In 1917 she went to Dunellen, N. J., to teach in Lincoln school. An accident there deprived her of the sense of smell. In 1918 she went to Somerville, N. J., to teach fifth grade. She married there on Thanksgiving night, 1918.

She returned to teaching in 1919 and retired in 1968. She was a fifth grade teacher in Blawenburg, Woods Tavern and Mansville, N. J., schools.

After she retired she tutored and physically handicapped pupils.

She was a 52-year member of Century Chapter 100, I.O.O.F., Somerville. Her husband died in 1949. She is survived by two sons, Arthur L., Jr., Plymouth, and Charles F., 3rd, Somerville, N. J., three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. A grandson and a great grand daughter died earlier.

The Rev. Edward Allart, 3rd, minister of her church, Emanuel Reformed Episcopal, conducted the last rites. Burial was in the family plot in New cemetery, Somerville.

Revived defense leads Red to tie Crestview

Plymouth's long losing streak was broken here Friday night when the Big Red came from behind to earn a 6 to 6 tie with Crestview.

It was the only game to be played in the Black Fork Valley conference this season. No trophy will be awarded for football.

The Big Red came close to winning. With 5:17 remaining the game, Plymouth was on the move with first down at the Cougar 32. On first down, Rodney Hampton passed to Darrel Hale, who eluded a defender in the secondary and sprinted over the goal line. But the play was recalled owing to a penalty against Plymouth.

Crestview drew first blood. Indeed, the Cougars pushed Plymouth all over the field early in the game. In the first series, the Cougars ran out of downs at the Plymouth 23. In the second series, they fumbled and lost possession at the Big Red 38.

The third possession was the charm. Starting their 37, the Cougars ground it out in nine plays. Dan Durbin scored from a yard out with 9:37 on the clock. Tom Pickworth connected on two passes for 22 yards and Mark Kaple ran for 34 yards in the drive. Kaple finished the night with 138 yards.

The pass for PATs failed. At that point, Plymouth decided this game is a boys' sport played by men. The defense settled down and throttled Crestview for the remainder of the contest.

It was the defense that enabled the Big Red to tie the score.

It held Crestview deep in its own territory and forced a punt. The kick carried to the Cougar 49, when Plymouth set to work.

Jim Jamerson got 10 yards off tackle. Joe Messer ran the trap play for 12 yards. On fourth down, with two yards to go for first down from the Crestview five, Messer produced again. From the one, Jamerson got into the end zone. James Will's kick for PAT was wide. There were 57 seconds left in the half.

The touchdown drive needed 13 plays.

How well the Plymouth defense played is shown by the statistical analysis. Crestview gained 231 yards by rushing, 200 of it in its first three drives, the third of which produced its only score. For the last three minutes of the first half and throughout the second half, Crestview was limited to 31 yards on the ground. The Cougar passing game is effective. It produced 100 yards.

Netters win over Bulldogs, lose to Tigers

Volleyballers defeated Crestline here Oct. 12, 13 to 15, 15 to 12 and 16 to 14. Jan Wallace scored 16 points.

Crestline won the reserve match, 4 to 15, 15 to 6 and 15 to 7.

On Oct. 14, Seneca East came here and went home with a victory. Scores were Seneca East 15, Plymouth 5, 3 to 15 and 15 to 4. Jan Wallace scored 10 points.

Plymouth won the reserve competition in straight sets, 15 to 9 and 15 to 9.

Golfers trim Seneca East

Big Red golfers defeated Seneca East, 171 to 201, Oct. 7.

Summary:
 Plymouth: Compton, 38; Sexton, 40; Brown, 44; Moorman, 49; Collins, 50.
 Seneca East: Shock, 46; Miller, 50; Niedermeyer, 51; Cole, 54; Keefer, 64.

Seneca East favored in game at Attica

The last time a Plymouth team was victorious in football was over Seneca East on Oct. 13, 1979, when the score was 12 to 6.

That game was played at Attica.

The two teams will meet again at Attica tomorrow. Seneca East is a far more representative eleven now than ever before. It defeated Monroeville, despite losing the statistical battle. Later it tied Hopewell-Louden, 7 to 7, after making countless mistakes in the 20-yard line. The Chieftains simply tore Plymouth apart.

Last week Seneca East tackled a tough Ottawa Hills club and came away beaten, 8 to 0, despite the fact it outgained Ottawa Hills both on the ground and in the air.

On form and record, the Tigers have to be installed as the favorite. Plymouth will seek to change that situation. But it won't be easy.

For one thing, the Tigers well know that by defeating Plymouth they can achieve the best record of any Seneca East team since the sport was adopted at Attica. No Tiger eleven has ever won more than three games.

Already Seneca East has three wins, two losses and a tie. For another, Plymouth must deal with the likes of Lew Smith and Ken Davis, running backs, and Rick Ehrsman, the quarterback. Not to mention Buddy Caudill.

For a third, the Tigers have a beefed-up defense led by Bernie Wurtz. He weighs 210 and plays linebacker. On offense he's a tackle.

Finally, Seneca East likes to air it out. The thrower is Ehrsman and the receivers are Caudill, Jack Fruth and Travis Daniel, each of them big, strong and surehanded.

If Plymouth's new-found defense can put it all together early in the game, the signs are that the breaks may decide this one. Game time is 8 p.m. The stadium lies south of Route 224 in the southeast section of Attica. Fans should turn left off Route 224 into the first street inside the corporate limits.

Keep Red Cross ready.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

We would like to say something about the Big Red football team.

The boys played an awesome game last Friday night. They kept driving the entire game, and never lost their spirit. This was their best performance all year. It showed that they had pride in themselves and the team. We sure liked that kind of attitude.

Even though the game ended in a tie, they are still winners with us. They put out a super effort to win.

The coaches did a good job of mixing up the plays. The atmosphere was much closer between the players, coaches, and the fans. Let's all stand behind this team every week with a lot of pride and spirit.

Good luck to the Big Red team and coaches.

Sincerely,
 Nancy and Dave Polachek
