

On Tuesday

It is an earnest to the system under which we have chosen to govern ourselves that in that fact of our life that is overriding in importance, the education of our children, there are many who wish to serve.

The number of candidacies for election to the board of education is six, three incumbents and three challengers.

Every elector of the district has an opportunity to state, within the secrecy of the ballot booth, whether he wishes to retain the status quo or to change it to some new course.

We are somewhat disturbed that no candidate, whether incumbent or challenger, sought to develop an issue, or some issue, in this campaign. Surely there is something that ought to be debated, however insignificant or unimportant it may seem to be. It would be far better to do this than to convict by innuendo, gossip, unfounded conclusion or perceived slight, whether real or imagined.

It is no secret that at least two of the candidates are unhappy about the progress of athletics in the schools.

After 28 seasons, we are tired of the explanation that competitive interscholastic sports are necessary because a pupil can obtain a scholarship. The number of such scholarships obtained by Plymouth graduates in the past 28 years can be counted on one hand, omitting the thumb.

The results of the athletic program can't be changed much unless attitudes, about which we've spoken before, can be changed. None of the candidates, neither incumbents nor challengers, has come up with a formula to do that.

It is often said that whether a pupil can participate in interscholastic athletics determines whether he becomes a dropout. We reject this notion. To participate in athletics, by rule, requires a certain achievement academically. It is rare that anyone who achieves academically drops out of school, whether he participated in athletics or not.

It is not the fact of competitive athletics that we complain about, it is the emphasis upon athletics. They have their place, right beside dramatics, music (and it is pleasant to note that our band has shown dramatic improvement this year) and other extra-curricular activities. But not on the same level as academics. What counts is not whether a pupil played quarterback or spiker or whatever but whether the pupil learned what it takes to live, not survive, in our society.

We are also somewhat disturbed that attendance at school board meetings is mostly confined to representatives of the teachers' association, the media and those who have an axe to grind.

It is right that axes should be ground in a public meeting, where the grinder and those against whom the grinding is intended are present to respond to reasonable inquiry. But it is not right that others, who have a great stake in educating the young, as indeed do we all, do not attend.

How should the voter conduct himself on Tuesday?

Where incumbents have done a good job, he should support incumbents. Where incumbents have not done a good job, he should cast his ballot for another.

Which other? For the candidate or candidates whose interest in the whole community is paramount, whose intentions are not mean nor petty, nor vengeful, whose ideas are developed from a deep study of the needs of the district and its abilities to meet them, and who won't, absolutely won't, be shackled to the almighty dollar as the sole integrator of progress. Because what it's all about is people: administrators, teachers, pupils and parents.

Man, 22, guilty of burglary on July 7

A 22-year-old Mansfielder was convicted Oct. 21 of burglarizing the residence of Miss Eleanor Company at Bowman Street and Opdyke roads on July 7.

Danny Cusard was found guilty by a jury in Richland county common pleas court after two hours of deliberation in a two-day trial.

A co-defendant, Jerry Madden, 19, Mansfield, pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of breaking and entering after the prosecution presented its case against him. Judge Max Chilcote said.

Another co-defendant, Mary Ann Martindill, 19, Mansfield, testified for the prosecution, Chilcote said. She pleaded guilty last month to a reduced charge of attempted aggravated burglary.

She and Madden await sentencing.

The three were initially charged with aggravated burglary for breaking into the garage attached to Miss Company's house, apparently to steal a storage battery.

Witnesses testified that the three, driving a van, stopped at the Company house about 4:30 a. m. She called sheriff's deputies, who radioed Plymouth Police department, officers of which arrested the girl near the van.

A trained police dog from Willard Police department found Madden in a wheat field and Cusard hiding under a car in the garage.

Advertiser passes No. 128

Plymouth's oldest continuing business marked its 128th anniversary Thursday.

The Plymouth Advertiser first appeared Oct. 22, 1853. It was published by James G. Robinson and David Ross Locke, who achieved world fame after he left Plymouth in 1855, having married a widow here, for first, Mansfield, then Bucyrus, then Bellfontaine, finally Findlay, where his famous Ninky letters appeared in the Findlay Jeffersonian. Born in 1833 in New York, he died at Toledo in 1888, having risen to editor of the Toledo Blade.

The Advertiser was first published on the Richland county side of the village. During World War I, it moved to the Huron county side, until 1978, when it moved across the street to its present address.

The publisher, A. L. Paddock, Jr., will on Apr. 30 complete 28 years in that post. His predecessor, Peyton W. Thomas, whose name still appears on its masthead, served as editor and publisher from 1925 to 1964, slightly more than 28 years.

Only two races of local interest will occur on Tuesday, the election ballot.

Six candidates seek three seats on Plymouth Board of Education. Three of them are incumbents. These are Don M. Eichelberger, the Rev. Arthur H. Hamman and A. George Miller. Their opponents are Keith M. Mowry, Charles M. Reinhart and Robert D. Sponesler.

Sponesler, a 1945 Plymouth High school graduate who is 53, is an alumnus of the College of Wooster, where he took a degree in geology in 1958. He has taught in Pioneer Joint Vocational school. Now he manages the family farm. For the past year or so, he has been the geology of education, never missing a regular or special meeting of the board. Sometimes his wife also attends. They have three sons. He takes a middle-of-the-road approach toward spending money, regular or special, and thinks if conditions worsen the board may have to seek an additional levy.

Reinhart, 40, is purchasing agent for Midwest Industries, Inc., Willard. He is married and the father of four children, all of them in Plymouth schools. He believes there is insufficient money to pay into school management. He is president of Plymouth-Shiloh Booster club and was president of Plymouth Middle League from 1972 through 1977.

Mowry, 35, lives in Preston road. He is purchasing manager for Wire Assemblies, Inc., Bucyrus. He has been active with the Boosters club and with Midlet League baseball. The Mowrys have two children in Plymouth

'Four levies must pass,' mayor insists to council

The importance of renewing the four existing levies for the general fund, park, cemetery and fire department that expire Dec. 31 was emphasized again Tuesday night by Mayor Dean A. Cline.

If the levies fail, he said, money for the funds will have to be made up from the income tax fund, thus leaving a small sum, calculated at $900, for capital improvements.

If the levies are passed, however, about $21,000 will be available.

He specifically pointed out the levy for the general fund is essential since the police department will need about $66,000 to run on during 1982.

He told the council the financial planning commission will most likely be disbanded by March, 1982, which is about the time the money appropriated by the state for the financial assistance in the hiring of an accounting firm will run out. Some $145,000 was allotted to the village in June, 1980. Councilman James Holloway said the amount of water Plymouth will receive from Willard should Willard allow those along the line to connect.

The mayor said the village will be guaranteed a minimum of 170,000 gallons daily and the line is capable of supplying that plus the other users.

James C. Root, village administrator, said he is informed that there will be a ribbon cutting ceremony Nov. 6 for the line. It will be at 11:30 a. m. at the corporate limits of the village.

It was reported Paul Capelle, city manager of Willard, has invited George James A. Rhodes to attend the ceremony.

Root said he wants to flush the fire hydrants before the Willard water enters the Plymouth system.

He plans to do this tomorrow and Monday.

The council agreed after a lengthy discussion to purchase a radio for the ambulance. It will be able to reach Shelby Memorial hospital once its radio system is installed. It will be on a different frequency, which the present radio without extensive modification cannot do.

Fire Chief Wayne E. Strine and Fireman Terry Hopkins presented a proposal that the village purchase the radio for $898, which otherwise would cost more than double.

It will come through the Northeast Ohio Medical Service, which is coordinating all hospitals on a high frequency.

What fund the cost of the equipment should be taken out of finally came down to using money from the ambulance reserve fund with Root working closely with Holloway and the ambulance personnel.

It was Councilman Ervin Howland's suggestion that since Root is the administrator of the four renewal levies, he should make the decision as the purchasing agent for the village.

Councilman John Heden said he wants to study the options further, but the village has until tomorrow to say yes or no to receiving the equipment, which is funded by state and federal money.

Both Howard and Heden voted nay on the second reading of the contract with Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc.

Heden said he realizes that some things in the contract are impossible to change and have to be lived with, but that he wants a section added with a "roll back" clause, so that if costs to Columbia Gas are less to service its customers, local users would also be part of a reduction in rates.

The third reading will be at the Nov. 12 meeting.

Fiscal status looks better, board told

The financial status of the village looks better than in many years.

Accountants of Ernst & Whimsey, assigned by the state to guide the village finances since July, 1980, told members of the Financial Planning and Supervision commission Thursday they project cash assets of the village on Dec. 31 to be $336,500.

This is the result of careful planning and budgeting, but the principal contributing factor is that since the local income tax has been collected, the village has a new source of income.

Transfers from the tax to the general fund have supported it for a year and a half. That fund should end the year with a balance of $35,400, the largest balance in some 25 years.

Since electric rates have been raised, that fund will show a balance of $40,200 with $38,100 in its reserve fund.

Mayor Dean A. Cline reported that all the suggestions of the accountants have been carried out, namely, new water rates to fund the cost of the Willard water, amendments of the 1981 appropriations to take into consideration that some funds had more money than had been anticipated earlier this year, hiring of an electric rate consultant, determining where 40 per cent of water pumped was being lost, and capital improvement projects completed for 1981.

He said the cemetery rate increase is still under study, and that a problem had arisen over past due liabilities, namely the bill owed to Robert A. McKown, former village solicitor.

It had been thought that only $3,000 remained to be paid on a revised bill, but a new bill of $8,000 has been received.

The commission said it was pleased with the progress the village has made in righting its finances and thinks that it could disband early next year.

It strongly urged the passage of the four renewal levies on Tuesday's ballot, and suggested the council attempt to replace a three mill levy for the police department on the ballot.

If it is voted upon and passes, income tax funds will be freed for other funds for needed capital improvements. Now the general fund, from which the police are paid, is getting 60 per cent of the tax.

Cline said he would like to see it on a 50-50 basis.

William R. Miller, chairman of the commission, said that in view of the strength of the general fund at the moment, it is needed, but he warned it may be "down the road."

Whitewash!

Ontario's second half surge produced 34-0 win

Ontario, which had beaten Plymouth 14 of the 16 games played between the two schools, proved Friday night that, year in and year out, Plymouth is no match for the Warriors.

After administering a physical beating to an already crippled Plymouth team in the first half (Jeff Jacobs was rucked up in the first period and forced to leave the game, and Capt. Reggie Ganzhorn was carted off in an ambulance after Plymouth's final series of the first half, he has a broken leg and will be out for the season), Ontario got its offense into gear and exploded for 20 points in the second half to put the game out of reach.

The Warriors scored with the opening kickoff. They needed seven plays to cover 58 yards. Jeff Shook went in from two yards away with 9:03 left in the period. Shook, who is a jack-of-all-trades, kicked the PAT.

Plymouth was unable to penetrate Ontario territory in the first period and did not make a first down.

With its third possession of the first half, Ontario began a long march from its 42. It halted at the Plymouth 12, where on fourth down a pass from Brian Gates went awry.

Plymouth made its first first down with 7:43 left in the half.

But it couldn't sustain the drive, after three first downs, and on fourth down, Rick Hawkins failed of first down by inches.

Plymouth surrendered possession at the Warrior 44. Ontario drove to the big Red 39 and failed of first down.

It was in the next series that Ganzhorn was injured.

During the first half Plymouth managed but three first downs, a net of minus six yards rushing, a net of 46 yards passing on four completions in seven tries. It did not fumble, it punted four times for an average of 28 yards and it lost 20 yards in four penalties. For its part, Ontario had 10 first downs, with 155 yards net rushing, seven yards passing with one completion in five tries, fumbled once but recovered it, had two punts for a 26.5 yard average and lost 45 yards on three penalties.

Ontario scored with its first three possessions of the second half.

Plymouth sought to make first down at its 36 and Richard Cunningham was thrown for a loss of five yards.

In business at the Red 31, Ontario needed but nine plays to score. Craig Pappe bucked home from three yards away. The run for PAT failed.

Darrin Branham, pressed into service as Plymouth's punter, was the victim of a bad snap from center in the next series. On fourth down he sought to punt, the pass dribbled on the ground, and he was compelled to eat the ball for a 15-yard loss.

From the Red 15, Ontario required only three plays.

Shook ran it in from the four with 4:32 remaining in the period. Gates ran the PAT. Plymouth punted 18 yards to the Red 48 to conclude the next series, whereupon Ontario set to work again.

In seven plays the Warriors covered 48 yards and, with 48 seconds remaining in the period, sprang Steve Riley loose for 30 yards down the sideline and the fourth score. The run for PATs failed.

In Ontario's fourth series of the half, and this in the fourth period, the Warriors fielded a Red punt at the Plymouth 32. They needed nine plays to score. Pappe rounding right end on a fake, for nine yards and the touchdown. Shook kicked the PAT.

Plymouth had two more possessions but couldn't manage any offense.

The game ended with the visitors at their 40.

Only 38 hardy Plymouth fans occupied the stands when the game began. At its end some of them had gone home and others took refuge in the bus.

National champion shooter in 1924 resided here

Plymouth was the home of the 1924 Grand American Handicap trapshooter.

He was H. (for Harry) Clayton Deck, who broke 97 of 100 targets at Vandalia, firing a Winchester.

Deck first began competing at Vandalia in 1913. His final year was 1931.

Over that span, his average was never lower than .795, in 1930, when he fired in the handicap division, and never higher than .927, which occurred in 1927.

The Sportsman's Review, published in Cincinnati Sept. 6, 1924, recounts what occurred on Deck's big day:

"And then came the man 'who,' who spreads the name of his town or city broadcast over America by winning its biggest target event. He was H. C. Deck, 65 years old, a modest, retiring type of man, not of the sort that likes to get before the public, but he couldn't help it, because he will go down in the annals of shootdom as the winner of the 25th Grand American handicap at targets, and incidentally he is the seventh Ohio man who has turned his trick. Deck was shooting in Squad 99 from 16 yards. He broke a 23, then two 25s and a 24 in the last event. When it was known that 97 was to be the top score, Dr. Hickman, Beers, Gheen and Deck were lined up for the shoot-off for the first four trophies. A great crowd surged around, camera men were 'napping' the notables and the 'dopesters' were busy picking the winners. Dr. H. N. Alford, of Atlanta, who acted as official referee in nearly all the shoot-offs, again presided. The Andrews acting as judge. Jim Groves pulled trap. There was a tense moment when the four took their places. Dr. Hickman, 20 yards, leading off. N. M. Gheen, 18 yards, on peg 2, Deck on peg 3, and Beers on peg 4. Gheen was the first to miss, his very first one. Dr.

Hickman and Beers missed their 4th. Then Gheen missed his 11th, and Beers his 12th, and 15th. Gheen his 16th and 21st. The old-timer, Deck, was not missing 'em, but he finally let one slip, the 16th. It looked like another 25, but Dr. Hickman missed his 24th, then the old carpenter broke straight from his lost one, and was the winner. The crowd shouted and gathered around him as the camera men got busier than ever, and never before in the life of H. C. Deck did spontaneous praise and congratulations come from so many people on the same day. He took it modestly, and was glad when it was over'. Deck added his name to the list of 'dark horse' winners of the Grand American, and demonstrated again that the winner doesn't have to be the best shot on the ground, but to be right at the right time."

When Deck was alive, he resided at what is now 90 Walnut street.

Levy approvals urged on voters

On Nov. 3, the voters of Huron County will decide the fate of a one mill operating levy for the general fund of Huron county. This three year levy would generate approximately $400,000 per year.

The county commissioners have indicated that without the passage of this levy, severe cuts will be made to the various county offices that receive appropriations from the general fund. Without a doubt, these cuts will result in cutbacks in county services and the layoff of various county employees in 1982.

The passage of the one mill levy is necessary in order to maintain present services that Huron county provides to its citizens.

I hope that the voters of Huron county will support the county one mill levy, so that Huron county can continue providing efficient and economical services for its citizens.

Sincerely,
John A. Emlinger
Huron County Recorder

County government is facing a serious crisis and we need your help.

My department has operated within its budget for almost 21 years and we are now faced with an economic problem that threatens our efficient operation.

We have four vehicles with well over 100,000 miles; our undercover drug operation is curtailed for lack of funds as are our night patrols; we are unable to comply with state jail standards; our crime reduction and youth education programs are facing continuation problems. Our deputies have not received a substantial pay increase for several years and are the lowest on a pay scale with cities in our county and those surrounding us. We don't want to have to lay off employees. We are very realistically facing serious financial problems, as are all departments in county government.

Could you please give every consideration for the support of the Huron county operating levy.

Please vote yes on Nov. 3 for the support of county government.

Thank you so very much.
John Borgia, Sheriff

The Village of Plymouth has four operating levies on the ballot this November. These levies are needed for the cemetery (1 mill), park and fire operations (each .45 mills) and for the general fund (1.8 mills). All are renewals or prior levies and have existed for many years.

The village council supports these levies and asks the voters for their support in renewal of them. The income is essential to continue the current level of services. We expect the levies will provide about $2,700 for the fire operations, $2,700 for the park, $6,000 for cemetery operations and $10,000 for support of the general services of the Village.

We would appreciate your publication and support of the council's statement on these levies.

Auntie criticizes currency snafus

By AUNT LIZ
Over the years we have seen some of the great cities of the world, and there is nothing like getting completely lost in Paris, which was designed by some fiend to confuse people. I remember once walking for an hour around a circle trying to find the right street our hotel was on. I could have taken a cab, but was too proud to be caught about it and have to admit that I was too dumb to get back.
Of all those cities, to me, Washington was the most beautiful. It still is, but now I am beginning to wonder about the people who live in it.
Perhaps the ones I am thinking of really live in Maryland and Virginia in the higher rent areas.
They have really pulled some real boobies. I will not mention which department I am talking about. They can somehow find out about this and sue me for libel, which is an indoor sport there.
They are the ones who happily issued a $2 note. It was hated by everyone who saw it because it was confusing. Everyone for some reason can tell a $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100 from a $1, but the $2 deal threw everyone in a tizzy. The only good it is doing is that collectors of postmarks are having a ball with it. It all started the first day it came out. Everyone rushed to the bank for a handful, then ran to the post-office to have stamps put on it and nicely cancelled.

Those have become real collectables. I really do not understand it all and have read so little about it, but that note is being used for all sorts of events to commemorate this and that. The catch is no one is using it to buy stuff, but tucking it away.
Then that happy department decided we needed another version of a dollar, so out comes a coin which looks more like a quarter than a dollar. That also bugged everyone and no one will use it.
The latest thing that these characters, I will not call them clowns, which could make their law suit more binding against me, have come out with is to do away with the most favorite coin of all, the penny.
It has already been decided to issue zinc coins with a small coating of copper instead of a complete copper coin. If you are wise and have grandchildren, trot to your bank and snag a roll of unused copper pennies, which in about 100 years will be a great thing. I can go along with, but let us not lose the coin that brought us all that penny candy, could buy a post card and is still great for making the exact change.
The thinking is that there is nothing one can buy anymore for a penny. This is half true; they still print penny stamps. Merchants are unhappy with it all, because their idea of a sale price is usually something like $5.99 which looks better than a flat $6.

Someone is simply going to have to tell these people who make such decisions that they should not make them after going to three cocktail parties the night before, for which the District is notorious.
I just looked around our kitchen. Since I am getting ready to make an apple pie, I have stuff laid out. The pie crust mix I bought is 81 cents. Only for special pies do I buy large and make it from scratch. A box of dog biscuits is 91 cents and there are two cans of stuff to make something, which are 29 cents a can. Now without pennies, how can anyone pay for these? No way will they be reduced by the store, they will simply go up to the next zero.
This column should have a recipe and there is one. Have a brother-in-law who has a beautiful large apple tree in his backyard. It is large because I walked right into a hanging down limb about two months ago and nearly got knocked out. I do not know what kind of apples they are, but they are pale pink, small and taste like good perfume and cook up so beautifully. I even forgot to dot it all with butter for the first pie which two of us ate in one day. All I did was sprinkle sugar with cinnamon and throw in some raisins. You do not even need a recipe for this. The secret is to eat it warmish with vanilla ice cream.

Miss Hamman bride of Jeffrey Baldrige

Deborah Kay Hamman, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Hamman, Shiloh, became the bride of Jeffrey Alan Baldrige Oct. 16 at 7:30 p. m. in Wesley Evangelical church, Shiloh. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Baldrige, Plymouth.

The bride's father performed the double ring ceremony.

During the ceremony Mrs. George Miller was the organist. Mrs. Earl Huston played the piano and Denise Willis was the soloist.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother and father.

Her ivory gown of sheer polyesters was fashioned with a fitted bodice and an overskirt of Chantilly lace.

The neckline and long sleeves, deeply cuffed with lace at the wrists, were Queen Anne style. The skirt ended in a chapel train edged with lace.

Her lace-edged fingertip veil fell from a small cap of lace and illusion.

She carried a cascade of lace and silk ivory, dusty rose and maroon roses with stephanotis and angel breath.

She wore a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. Michele Metcalfe was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Becky

Hamman, the bride's sister, Lisa Baldrige, the bride's sister, and Sandy Cramer, New Washington.

Another sister, Elizabeth Hamman, was a junior bridesmaid, and a niece, Angela Hamman, was the flower girl.

Steven Baldrige was his brother's best man.

Ushers were Russel Yetzer, Shelby; Brian Lydy, Willard, and Kent Rambo, Marion.

The junior usher was Troy Rambo, the bridegroom's nephew.

The bride's nephew, Craig Hamman, was the ring bearer.

A reception took place in Fellowship hall of the church.

The three-tiered wedding cake decorated in delicate Cornell lace with pink blossoming hearts and roses topped with a bridal couple was made by Mrs. Jeffrey Hamman, the bride's sister-in-law.

Guests were assisted by Mrs. Richard Pettit, Mrs. Thomas Hamman, Gwen Pittenger and Miss Lisa Long.

Lori Baldrige, another sister of the bridegroom, was at the guest book.

The couple is now living in Shelby.

The bride is a 1981 graduate of Plymouth High school and is employed by Ohio Steel Tube Co., Shelby.

Mr. Baldrige graduated from Plymouth High school in 1980 and is employed by Sanchez Enterprises, Mansfield.

Both attended Pioneer Joint Vocational school. Before the wedding, the bride was guest of honor at showers given by Mrs. Thomas and Jeffrey Hamman, Lodi, and Lisa Baldrige, Michele Metcalfe and Sandy Cramer, friends of the Wesley Evangelical church and friends of the Rainbow Valley chapel.

Look before you reap.

There are many good ways to make your money work for you. And some not so good. So don't leap into anything without taking a long, hard look. Especially if you have no savings in reserve. And if you don't have enough savings, look into U.S. Savings Bonds. Because Bonds do make sense. They guarantee the interest. They're guaranteed against loss, fire, and theft. And the Payroll Savings Plan is a sure, easy way to guarantee savings. Federal income tax may be deferred and there's no state or local income tax. A little is set aside each payday for U.S. Savings Bonds. Your savings will grow until you're ready to reap the rewards of regular saving. Saving is one of the most important financial decisions you'll ever make.

Take stock in America.

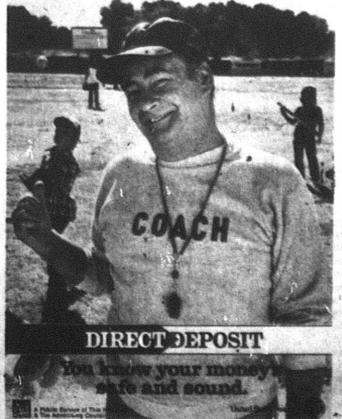

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.

Another increase in interest rates for U.S. Savings Bonds.

Growing Bigger... Faster

That's the good news about U.S. Savings Bonds.

The Series EE Bonds you buy today grow bigger, with an increased interest rate of 9%. And they do it faster, with a shortened maturity period of only 8 years. Interim rates have been improved, too. Bonds earn 6% after 1 year and 8 1/2% if held 5 years.

These changes make Bonds much more desirable. And with the Payroll Savings Plan, it's easier to save more, in a shorter time.

In fact, almost all outstanding Savings Bonds will benefit from a 1% increase to their next maturity.

So take another look at Bonds. They're still easy to buy through the Payroll Savings Plan; they're safe, guaranteed. Take a look at the tax benefits. The new interest rates. The shortened maturity. And you'll see Bonds do make sense for you, and for your country.
