

After stiff fight, Mrs. Huston, 67, dies of cancer

After a long struggle with cancer, Mrs. Woodrow Huston, 67, East Main street, Shiloh, died Sunday in Willard Area hospital.

Her death fell on her birthday anniversary.

Born Genevieve E. Baker in Richland county Dec. 13, 1914, she lived her whole life in or near Shiloh. She was the daughter of Russell and Lena Barnes Baker.

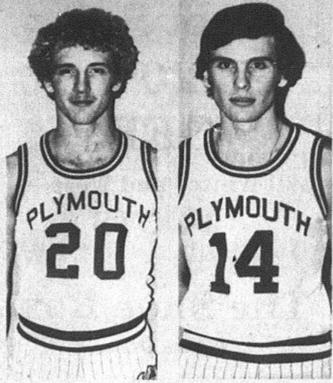

She was a member of Shiloh United Methodist church, of Home Country club and of Shiloh Community Grange. The Hustons lived for many years in Bloominggrove township, where he served a long time as trustee.

Her husband, a son, Charles, Shiloh, two grandchildren and three step-grandchildren; a brother, Russell Baker, Richmond, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. Blanche Van Zoest, Celeryville, survive.

A son, David, victim of an air crash and a sister, Mrs. Ethelyn Heintz, died earlier.

Her minister, the Rev. Robert Barr, conducted services yesterday at 2 p. m. from McQuate Secor Funeral home. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

A mainstay of the up-to-now impotent Plymouth offense is Scott Harris, foster son of the Kenneth Kelleys, Kuhn road, who was co-captain of the football team. An injury forced him out of uniform, so what did he do? He turned out for the cross country squad and won a letter there, the first athlete in Plymouth history to win in the same season a letter for football and for cross country. Harris isn't big -- the program says he's five feet six inches -- and he doesn't score much. But he's useful as a floor man.

Brian Fenner's older brother, Lee, was an outstanding basketball player at Plymouth and the younger boy labors somewhat in his shadow. Injured last year so much that he had to give up his first love, baseball, for much of the season (it was his back), he still is not at 100 per cent capacity, which explains which his coach uses him sparingly. He's a good left-handed shooter, although he's righthanded when he throws. He'll see action against Lucas in BFVC play here tomorrow.

Village funds up $14,353 in November

On Nov. 30 the village had a total sum of $438,313.05 in all its funds, Clerk-Treasurer Mrs. Sidney Reeder reported to the council.

This is $14,352.63 more than it had on Oct. 31.

The month-end balance in the general fund was $50,338.13, of which $7,307.29 was transferred from the income tax fund.

Each fund showed a positive balance except for federal revenue sharing, which has a zero balance. The street fund is also low at $937.33, since extensive street repairs were undertaken several months ago. The state highway fund, also low, at $1,622.90.

Because of the transfer from the income tax fund, its month-end balance is in the red for $2,306.11, which will be overcome this month when revenues of $2,500 are anticipated.

Under the House bill for financial recovery, the village is due to have it continued under the administration of Ernst & Whitney, Cleveland accountants, who have been supervising all expenditures and setting up a new bookkeeping system.

Since Plymouth qualified for state help, the sum of $117,481 has been spent for the accountants. The village is due to receive another $52,000 from the State Controlling Board to continue the financial recovery with the help of the accountants.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

On winning

Adjoining today we report the findings of some surveys conducted by the schools to seek opinions as to what's wrong with the extra-curricular (read sports) program.

Pupils think it's more or less about right. They blame the poor record on the size and strength of the opposition.

Parents blame the poor performance of the athletic teams (read football and basketball, which they go to see, eschewing softball, baseball, wrestling, volleyball, golf, track and field and cross country) on the coaching staff.

Coaches' heads hereabouts have rolled about as fast as those in the Place Bastille in the early days of the French Revolution. It's not right.

But in the same story, the superintendent is reported to have told the school board, his employers, that the athletic fund is in hot water and why? Because the money-producing teams, namely football and basketball, haven't been winning and therefore the gate receipts are slim.

Which brings it down to this: if you want to coach, you must win more than you lose. If not, find another occupation.

Former resident killed in collision

Sister of former Police Sgt. James Reffett, now living in Greenup, Ky., Mrs. Daniel L. Thompson, 2nd, 35, Greenup, Ky., was dead on arrival at Our Lady of Bellefonte hospital, Ashland, Ky., Thursday night, victim of injuries received in an automobile collision.

She formerly lived here. She was employed by Armco Steel Co. in Common, Ky. She was a member of Missionary Baptist Church, Shelby.

Born Amanda Reffett, she also survived by her husband, a son, Daniel L.,

3rd; her mother, Mrs. McKinley Reffett, nee Mildred Hughes; five sisters, Mrs. Rose Brown and Mrs. Ida Lowe, Flatwoods, Ky.; Mrs. Nancy Stafford, Greenup, Ky.; Mrs. Helen Caudill, Flemingsburg, Ky., and Mrs. Joann Bauman, Cincinnati; three brothers, McKinley Reffett, Jr., Flatwoods, Ky.; Bill Reffett, Seymour, Tex., and Gary Reffett, Greenup, Ky.

The Rev. Jack Edwards conducted services Sunday at 2 p. m. in Greenup. Burial was in McGuire cemetery there.

Sewer runneth over, but which one?

It's not all rosy with the sewer system, but there's some question as to which system is which, village council deduced on Dec. 8.

A complaint was heard from Vernon Riser, 321 Plymouth street, who claimed that his neighbors' sewage had backed into his basement because the main line is plugged. Root admitted it, but said the damage was done before the village was told about it. Riser says about $750 damage resulted to personal effects of his son, which were stored in the basement, rugs and to several appliances. The mayor suggested the matter be given to the solicitor for study.

Financial problems foreseen for schools

Impending financial problems, deriving from cuts in state school support, were laid before Plymouth Board of Education Monday night by Supt. Douglas Stags.

The new biennium budget approved by the General Assembly and signed by the governor "favors large city school districts and generally those east of I-71, because that's where the votes are," said Stags.

Net increase of payments to Plymouth in the first year of the new budget will be equivalent to about 3.4 per cent of state aid. The exact figure is $86,020 more, of which $45,000 represents money already owing the district but was withheld during 1980-81. The situation is aggravated by the practice of the state in withholding a part of what is due because there is a cash flow shortage. This withholding amounts to about 10 per cent of the total state foundation payment.

In the second year, state support will total $1,428,295, which includes the payment due to the county office, a payment that is skimmed off the top and sent to the county office before Plymouth district even sees the money. This reduces the money to be paid to Plymouth district to $1,383,023, of which only 40 per cent will be paid during the first six months of the new fiscal year.

Another development in the new budget is that a cost of doing business factor has been applied. This means that, taking 100 as the base, Richland county schools will receive 103.2 per cent of the basic aid to support a pupil. This figure is $1,680. Plymouth district would thus receive $1,733 a pupil.

Finally, the General Assembly built into the budget a safety treasury. If revenues of the state treasury are so low between Mar.

15 and June 1 that full payments of the 40 per cent now being transmitted to school districts cannot be executed, the state will withhold one per cent of what is due.

When reevaluation of the Plymouth district was completed, the tax duplicate rose from $26 to $37 million.

"The philosophy of state funding," Stags said, "is that the wealthier the district, the less state support." County Supt. Harold E. Daup, who was present, offered some figures: "In Clear Fork district, after reevaluation, they're going to pick up about $57,000 inside millage and lost about $270,000 in state support."

Daup predicted "four or five districts in Richland county will have money issues on the ballot in 1982."

What will Plymouth do? Stags told the board he and the treasurer, Mrs. Frederick E. Ford, will work diligently between now and Jan. 11, when the board will meet to reorganize and conduct its first meeting of the new year, to make adjustments in the budget to cope with the cuts in aid.

David McVicker, assistant county superintendent now on loan to Ontario as superintendent, is the head of a new consortium of schools participating in a computer system of dealing with payroll and accounting. He will be asked to meet with the board in special session to discuss details of the proposal, which is likely to cost the district $6,500 at the outset, merely to own part of the computer. Additional expenses, including cost of a printer, will be forthcoming. Daup estimates maximum cost of participation will be $2.50 a pupil and may be as low as $1.50 a pupil.

Village Administrator James C. Root will be told the district cannot legally pay $693.25 as its half of the cost of installing a new control on the traffic signal in Sandusky street opposite the high school. Harry Welch, assistant prosecutor, so advised the board by telephone.

Class of 1983 was accorded permission to stage the annual Junior-Senior prom in the Masonic temple, Mansfield, May 15.

High School Principal James Craycraft reported a course rating proposal will be ready for submission to the board during the Jan. 11 meeting, for approval then or in February.

Participation of parents during the annual teacher-parent conferences was "excellent," Principal Edward M. Kinsel and Mark Sheely reported.

On Jan. 6, Gorman Nature center will present a program to pupils on Jan. 6. The program, titled "Things to Touch," seeks to familiarize children with Ohio fauna.

First Buckeye Bank, N. A., was designated as official depository for two years.

Resignation of David G. Coulter as head football coach was accepted unanimously.

An effort to induce local legislators to seek to obtain more state funds for the district will be made by letter, the board ruled. Those who voted for the new budget will be congratulated and those who did not will be asked what alternative proposals are viable.

Members of Future Homemakers of America made a presentation of their objectives, activities and achievements.

Richard Roll will be paid $368, the assistant coach's salary, for additional duties with that squad. Karl Pfaff, 3rd, will conduct the high school intramural program, at salary scale.

What does it mean when teams don't win?

What does it mean when the football team doesn't win?

Supt. Douglas Stags spelled that out for the board of education Monday night.

It came about when he asked the board to forgive payment of $3,142.76 owed to it by the athletic department for expenses incurred during the last school year. These were to pay drivers, ticket sellers, gatekeepers and such.

Football revenues over five years, Stags said, were $8,896 in 1977, $7,223 in 1978, $4,973 in 1979, $5,211 in 1980 and $7,003 in 1981.

For the same period, excepting 1981, because the season is incomplete, basketball revenues were $5,019 in 1977, $6,009 in 1978, $5,137 in 1979 and $5,835 in 1980. Although Stags didn't say so, the basketball team has not been so successful over the past three seasons.

Why can't the athletic department pay the bill? "There are two reasons," Stags said. "One is that we've had not gate receipts to speak of. The other is that we discovered a bill of $2,000 for football equipment that was for materials received and put into use but not billed until about a year later, owing to internal problems of the seller. This equipment was ordered by a coach who left and approved by an athletic director who retired. In the confusion of taking over by new people, the debt was overlooked."

By vote of 4 to 1, Mrs. Roger Pugh dissenting, the board voted to forgive payment of the bill for one year. In another action, it voted unanimously to require the athletic board of control to share any positive balance at the end of the school year with the board.

What do pupils of the high school think of the athletic program?

Principal James Craycraft said four per cent say there are too many sports (nine pupils say golf can be eliminated) and 27 per cent say not enough sports are offered (27 pupils want tennis and 30 to 35 want soccer).

How can Plymouth be more competitive? "Play more schools our own size" was the most common answer among pupils. Craycraft said "More involvement by pupils" was the answer of 25 pupils.

Stags said the same kind of questionnaire was sent to 1,200 patrons of the district but only 13 replied.

Of those, and he stressed that the sample is too small to base conclusions upon, 46 per cent said there are too many sports and 38 per cent the present offering is "about right." Thirty-eight per cent said golf can be eliminated. What sports need to be added? Junior high volleyball and junior high wrestling.

Why aren't Plymouth teams more competitive? "Most of those who replied, and I stress again they numbered only 13, said it is a matter of coaching," Stags said. He did not elaborate and nobody asked him to do so.

Eighty-five per cent of respondents said athletics should continue to be self supporting.

Cost of fight equals $75, mayor says

Accused of disorderly conduct after a fight in Weber's Cafe, Teddy Brown, Plymouth, pleaded guilty in mayor's court last week and was given $75 and costs.

Two bench warrants for failure to pay fines were issued. These were to Scott R. Gallitia, Willard, $93, and Steven E. Reed, Willard, $53. Steven A. Cole, Willard, ordered a $15 waiver plus costs for operating a motor vehicle left of center.

Miss Hollenbaugh, Fred Young wed in Colorado

Miss Linda Pearl Hollenbaugh, Englewood, Colo., became the bride of Fred Reese Young, Denver, Colo., Nov. 21. She is the younger daughter of Mrs. Warren Hollenbaugh and the late Mr. Hollenbaugh. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Young, Los Angeles, Cal. The 10 a. m. double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Jerry Donaldson in Bear Valley Baptist church, Denver.

was of yellow and white carnations. Fellowship hall of the church was the scene of the reception of 250 guests. The four-tiered cake on the bride's table was decorated with ivory and peach flowers. Phyllis Kiewell and Fay Hagerling assisted the guests. Jill Meyer registered guests. The couple went to Hawaii for a wedding trip and is now living in Davenport, Ia. The bride changed to a blue sateen skirt with a cream colored blouse and a patterned vest. The new Mrs. Young is a graduate of Plymouth High school and received a bachelor's degree in sociology from Ohio university, Athens. She also holds a certificate in Bible from the Lancaster Bible college, Lancaster, Pa. She was employed by the Sterling Stainless Tube Corp. in Denver until moving to Iowa.

Cindy Covell, organist, played classical music and favorite hymns of the couple. Lynette Neeser accompanied Jacques Nuetzman, who sang, "Ordinary People" and "Russ's Song". The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Clifford Lowe, Ashland. Her ivory satin gown was overlaid with lace. A lace yoke ended in a high collar of a band of lace. The long fitted lace sleeves were styled with two ruffles at the shoulder. The full skirt ended in a chapel length train. She wore a large brimmed garden hat with a band of veiling, which fell to her waist down the back. For something old she carried handkerchiefs that belonged to her grandmother and the bridegroom's grandmother.

Mr. Young is a graduate of John Brown university, Siltcum Springs, Ark. He has a degree in electrical engineering and also attended Tennessee Polytechnic Institute, Cookeville, Tenn. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reese, Columbia, Mo; the bride's nephew, Kelly Coover, Mansfield, and John T. Dick, Plymouth.

Her bouquet was of yellow roses with small white carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath. Mrs. Denise Coover, Mansfield, was her sister's matron of honor. The Misses Lynda Pongrac, a college roommate, Julie Skiles and Debbie Talaferro, all of Denver, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were light peach. The lace bodices were ruffled and the skirts fell from an Empire waistline. They carried arrangements of peach-colored and small yellow carnations. Steven Wolff, Lakewood, Colo., was the best man. Jay Chisolm, Joseph Meyer and Bruce Laxier, all of Denver, ushered. Mrs. Hollenbaugh wore a short beige and brown dress with a jacket. Her corsage

Miss Osborne to wed Ronnie W. Akers

Betrothal and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda L., to Ronnie W. Akers, son of the Herbert V. Akerses, Route 61, are announced by the Charles Osbornes. A 1979 alumna of Plymouth High school, Miss Osborne is employed by Pepperidge Farms, Willard. Her fiance, a 1975 graduate of Plymouth High school, where he excelled in baseball, is employed by Ohio Seamless Tube Co., Copperweld Co., Shelby. They plan to marry Apr. 3.

Dennis P. Cook wed at Mansfield

A 1978 alumna of Plymouth High school, Dennis Paul Cook was married Nov. 29 in Diamond Hill cathedral, Mansfield, to Mrs. Cheryl L. Obrecht. The Rev. Buddy Borrows performed the ceremony. Steven Cook was his brother's best man. Miss Debra Hawkins was maid of honor for her sister. The bridegroom is the second son of Mrs. Ruth Cook. Daughter of the Daniel Hawkinses, Ashland, the bride is a 1977 alumna of Ashland High school. The couple is living in Mansfield.

Girls alter defense, maul Lucas, 56-20

Big Red girls changed their defense and walloped Lucas, 56 to 20, in Black Forest Valley conference play Thursday.

Plymouth switched to a man-for-man defense and turned its offense into a deliberate attack. This produced a lead of 33 to 2 at the half.

Tembra Tackett scored the first bucket and after that it was Charley-bolt-the-door.

Miss Tackett and Renee Taylor scored 18 points during the second eight minutes.

Lucas did not score until 13 minutes 25 seconds had gone by.

Coach Keith Diebler inserted his bench after the half and it did no worse than the first string.

Plymouth wound up taking 79 shots at the basket, converting 23. The Cubs fired 32 times, making just seven.

Plymouth missed nine of 19 free throws, Lucas four of 10.

The winners, as expected, dominated the boards, 50 to 32.

Becky Turson took down 17 rebounds.

Miss Taylor scored 16, Miss Tackett 12.

 Red reserves rallied to win, 36 to 28.

Ontario wins over Red, 84-37

Would Plymouth have fared better if Brad Postema, its tallest player, could have played?

Probably yes, but hardly enough to have defeated an Ontario juggernaut that after a slow start, simply massacred the Big Red here Friday night.

The score was 84 to 37.

The count stood at 4 to 0 until 3:29 remained in the first period, thanks to two free throws by Duane Chaffins, who scored six for the night, and a bucket by Ken Lake. Steve Mowry, who was Plymouth's entire offense in the first quarter, got underneath for a shot. Ontario broke it open after that and when the first buzzer sounded, the Warriors held a 16 to 7 advantage.

The visitors really put it to Plymouth in the second period, scoring 30 points. They got off 25 shots and were successful with 14 of them. Plymouth, meanwhile, because it couldn't do much on the boards in the absence of Postema, out with a painful groin injury, was limited to 12.

Big Larry Kotterman, the six foot eight inch pivot man for Ontario, had 11 during the quarter, all but outscoring the whole Plymouth team.

The Warriors remained hot through the third period, scoring 20 and holding Plymouth to 14.

Plymouth's performance in shooting in the third period was its best of the season: seven of 12 tries.

With the game all but locked up after three periods, when Ontario led, 66 to 33, Coach Pat Maurer sent his reserves into the contest. Even so, Plymouth managed only four points, while the Warriors were scoring 18, 14 of them on seven field goals with just 14 shots, a fine shooting average for a visiting team.

Indeed, the Warriors were Deadeye Dicks throughout the night. They got off 74 shots and scored with 38, just under 50 per cent. And they missed only three of 15 free throws.

For its part, Plymouth fired 52 shots at the basket and converted only 14. Plymouth also missed three free throws but shot only 12.

On the board was where Ontario won it. The score: Ontario 52, Plymouth 21.

In turnovers, Plymouth was charged with 13, Ontario with 13.

Kotterman's 17 led all scorers. Brett Duffner scored 16. Mowry, easily Plymouth's best player this night, wound up with 15, seven of them off free throws.

Fifth grade Vikings nipped St. Peter's, 12 to 0, Saturday, recording the 140th victory since Dave Hall took over the coaching reins. He has lost just 12.

Stacy Hall scored seven and John Starcher three. Sixth grade Vikings trounced St. Peter's in league play at Friendly House, Mansfield, Thursday, 37 to 13, with Marc Pittenger scoring 12. But the Vikings couldn't stand prosperity. They went to New Washington and lost, 29 to 27, outscored in the final period by seven. Marc Rankin scored seven. Vikings resume league action tonight against Clear Fork. Yuletide tourney play opens Monday night.

"Nobody listens to free advice. But this can save you hundreds of dollars."

The Alliance to Save Energy has prepared a brochure that contains 12 simple, inexpensive measures to take which can cut down your home energy use by 25%. That in turn can cut down the amount of money you pay for home energy. (For example: Did you know that electrical outlets "leak" heat? The brochure will tell you how to prevent it and save.)

The brochure will also tell you about easy things to do to chimneys and flues, to leaks and ducts, to shower heads, to electrical outlets, to washing machines, to doors and windows, to water heaters. Do them all, and cut your energy use by 25%. The brochure contains accurate diagrams and easy to follow directions.

Take our advice: Send for our free brochure. "The 25% Solution" it can save you plenty of money.
