Nor-Con Excavators & Constructors, Norwalk, submitted the lowest bid for the water line from Willard to Plymouth when nine bids were opened Tuesday noon.

Its basic bid was $280,931.40.

Second lowest bid was from Kokosing Construction Co., Fredericktown, for $291,816.10.

Remaining bids were from Underground Utilities, Inc., Monroeville, $318,186.04; R. A. Bora, Columbus, $321,254; S. E. Johnson, Castalia, $333,368.30; J. L. Construction, Johnstown, $333,793; Ranshaw Excavators, Butler, $349,549.50; C. P. Gillenback Co., Elyria, $369,297.15 and Crawford Construction Co., Galion, $390,860.30.

The bids are about $100,000 less than the engineers' estimate of $420,000 for the construction of the line and installation of a pump station.

The village has submitted an application to Farmers Home Administration for a loan of $250,000 to supplement the grant of $300,000 from the Housing and Urban Development Administration.

The levy

The police levy failed by five votes of obtaining the 55 per cent majority decreed by state law for a new levy submitted during a primary election. There were 16 more voters who favored the levy than opposed it, 13 of them in Precinct B, three of them in Precinct A.

What is shocking is that so few electors turned out at the polls.

Surely such an important and significant matter as $3 of fresh taxation for each $1,000 of valuation, which would cost every household in the village an average of $45 in additional taxes each year, should have warranted more attention than what was given to it.

Goaded by our gibe of May 28, some councilmen got out to ring doorbells. Which is exactly why the gibe was written. All too often in the past 27 years, the village council has unanimously placed an issue on the ballot, then in the privacy of the polling booth, or over the coffee cups, struck out against it. There are some who recall how many times it took us to approve a $150,000 general obligation bond issue to start a sewer system.

If the police levy is again submitted in November, it will compete for voter attention and support with other levies that, to our way of thinking, are certainly no less important than the police issue. We have no crystal ball; what we know is derived from shoe leather, the plain and simple business of going about and asking knowledgeable people how they figure conditions are likely to be six months from now, and from reading the best authorities who pontificate from points far from here. Withal, it does not seem likely that voters will be any more disposed to fresh taxation — and bear in mind, if the General Assembly doesn't move appropriately and promptly, there is still the outside chance that we may have a local school issue on the November ballot — on Nov. 3 than it was on June 3.

What it boils down to is this: there is no substitute for leadership. The electorate has a right to expect it from those whom it has chosen to lead. It is their duty to present a practicable plan and to sell it to the rest of us. The more broad the consultation, the more practicable the plan and the greater likelihood it will be approved. The time to get moving is long past, but there ought to be some motion, NOW!

Rate up; what will council do?

Whether electric rates will be raised will be a matter under discussion by village council tonight.

Ohio Power Co. has submitted to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission a schedule of rates, which it negotiated with the 14 municipalities to which it supplies wholesale electricity. Plymouth did not participate in the negotiations.

The new rates call for $7.26 for the first 4,000 kilowatt-hours of demand, retroactive to May 1. The old rate was $6.05. After May 1, 1982, the rate will rise to $7.50.

Rates for consumption over 4,000 kilowatt-hours of demand a month, which are now $5.55, will rise to $6.66. In 1982, those rates will rise to $6.93.

Some councilmen propose a 10 per cent increase in local rates but Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach argues for a greater one, perhaps 19 per cent, on the grounds that the reserve fund is depleted and the electric fund is barely able to pay its current bills.

Two women stabbed, stabber takes own life

A 23-year-old 1976 graduate of Plymouth High school killed himself early Saturday after he stabbed his paramour 15 times and her niece once.

They were taken to Mansfield General Hospital.

Terrance L. Strohm, 224 Plymouth street, was pronounced dead at the scene by the Richland county coroner, the victim of a self-inflicted bullet wound.

The woman with whom he has been living for a lengthy period of time, Mrs. Roberta A. Meiser, Hamman, 31, had gone out with her niece, Terri Meiser, 24 years old, Route 103, Celeryville. They went to bed at 12:30 a. m.

Strohm returned at about 4:30 a. m. He stabbed Mrs. Hamman and Miss Meiser as they slept.

Mrs. Hamman fled the house to that of a neighbor, Donald Beverly, bleeding copiously. She pounded on the rear door, seeking admittance. When the Beverlys did not immediately respond, she broke the door down.

The Beverlys have no telephone so they ran across the street to notify the ambulance service and the police. This occurred at 5:20 a. m.

St. Frank Hodge, according to witnesses, reported to the house, which was that of Mrs. Hamman's father, the late police chief, Robert L. Meiser. Strohm had telephoned his friend, Jamie Arthur, who lives across the street, saying, "Jamie, we've always been good friends and I want to say goodbye."

Hodge is reported to have requested admittance to the house, whereupon Strohm called out, "If you come in, I'll kill myself." Hodge entered and Strohm fired a shotgun under his chin.

Born Mar. 27, 1958, in Shelby, Strohm lived most of his life near Plymouth. He was formerly employed as a guard by Ohio Steel Tube Works, Shelby. He attended Diamond Hill cathedral in Mansfield, whose assistant minister, the Rev. Donald Barrows, conducted services Monday at 1 p. m. from McQuate-Secor Funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, the Weldon Strohm, Sr., Plymouth; two sisters, Mrs. Judy Risner and Peggy, a recent high school graduate, both of Plymouth; four brothers, Rick, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Weldon, Jr., Randy and Rod, all of Plymouth; his paternal grandparents, the Fred Strohm, New Washington, and his maternal grandfather, Sylvester Didion, Green Springs. A sister, Sally Jo, died in 1959.

Miss Meiser was treated at Mansfield and released. Mrs. Hamman's condition was reported Monday to be "stable."

'Schools doing good job,' despite impending fund cuts

Despite deteriorating financial support, Plymouth schools are doing a good job of training elementary and junior high school pupils, Plymouth Board of Education was told Monday night.

Paul Case, the national school guidance counselor, presented the results of the California Achievement Test Battery scores compiled by second, fourth, sixth and eighth graders.

They show Plymouth pupils to be above the average score in every facet of the tests — reading, language, mathematics, sciences, reference skills and social studies. And as pupils grow older, they are achieving better, in relationship to the weighted average scores, than when they were younger.

This was particularly evident, Case said, in scores among eighth graders, who ranked from seven to 17 per cent above the national average. Among sixth graders, there was also a stronger performance than the national average, although the differences were smaller.

Fourth graders in Plymouth were above average in all facets of the test, but those in Shiloh failed to exceed the average in reading.

Second graders in both schools were measured at the precept average.

Supt. Douglas Staggs told the board it should urge the General Assembly to reconsider its partisan stand on funding of schools and act quickly to restore funds reduced by cuts imposed by the governor to avoid budget deficits. A resolution to this effect was approved unanimously. Staggs said Plymouth schools stand "to get hurt more because we depend more on state funding; we're told we can expect a loss of from $45,000 to $49,000 for two months, until the middle of September, when it's likely the General Assembly will be recalled to deal with this subject again, and this on top of the $48,000 that we've cut during the first five months means we have to find $100,000 somewhere. We simply can't adopt a true budget next month on what we know now."

Mrs. Max Smith, a second grade teacher at Shiloh, resigned. She will take retirement after 22 years in the system.

Because her husband, a recent graduate of Heidelberg college at Tiffin, will enter the college of law of Ohio State university, Mrs. Kathy Orr, vocal music instructor, resigned.

David Sotora resigned as adviser to the National Honor society. Miss Anita Long as assistant girls' track coach and Jerry N. Julian as special education coordinator.

Miss Jane Neumann, Mansfield, a 1980 alumna of Bowling Green State university, was engaged as primary learning disabilities teacher at Shiloh.

Tennis will be dropped as an interscholastic sport, the board ruled. Boys' and girls' track and field will be combined so that meets for each team can be scheduled on the same day at the same place.

Questionnaires will be sent to schools of similar size to ascertain what sports are available, to the community to determine its wishes about the sports program, and to pupils to ascertain their desires.

Keith Diebler was assigned as head girls' basketball coach, with Paul McClintock and Molly Gattoff as assistants. John Hart, Terry Pore and Gase were assigned as assistant boys' basketball coaches. Richard Roll was reappointed head wrestling coach. Douglas A. Dickson will again be head boys' track and field coach, assisted by Julian McClintock will be girls' track and field coach, assisted by Gase.

David P. Dunn was reappointed head baseball coach and Roll head softball coach. Sandra Herron will be Roll's assistant. She will also be volleyball coach. Miss Debra Dobney will be yearbook adviser.

James Craycraft, high school principal, presented a summary of recommendations of a study group looking into the physical education program.

At the elementary level, the recommendations are that an individual program for each pupil should be developed, that the physical education program should be emphasized and that the special movement physical education for primary pupils should be investigated.

At the junior high school level, a physical examination for all pupils is recommended. Golf should be added to the program. Whether co-educational physical education should be continued should be studied.

High school physical education should place emphasis on more lifetime leisure sports, the assignment of a full-time female physical education teacher for supervisory activities and a consistent district-wide physical education program.

Administrators will study the recommendations and report later.

Three movies set at library here

Three free children's movies will be shown at Plymouth Branch library Tuesday at 10
 a. m.

"The Grasshopper and the Ants" is based on Aesop's fable about a grasshopper who plays all summer while the industrious ants work to store up food for the winter.
 "A Firefly Named Torchy" is the story of a firefly who cannot twinkle, but flashes
 so brightly that he disturbs the other inhabitants of the woods. But when Torchy visits the city he feels right at home amidst the bright, flashing lights.

In "Mole as a Chemist" Mole digs a hole and discovers a storehouse full of boxes. Opening one of the boxes, he finds a chemistry set and begins to experiment. At first his experiments produce beautiful explosions of color and fascinating shapes, but later things get out of control and disaster threatens. Eventually the resourceful Mole manages to restore peace and quiet.

 The library is at 21 West
 Broadway.
