

Nine goals for 1981-82 approved by schools

Nine goals for 1981-82 school year were approved by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night in a session marked by the threat of a disgruntled parent to retain legal counsel to fight the removal of tennis as a varsity sport.

H. B. Walters, whose daughter is a member of the varsity tennis team, complained to the board that his decision to drop the sport was unwise, that participation by both boys and girls is greater than in golf, and that the sport should be reinstated.

Supt. Douglas Stagg, speaking for the board and the athletic control board, which includes administrators, head coaches and two members of the Boosters club, said tennis was dropped because of 18 Class A schools which with Plymouth competes, only three offer tennis as a varsity sport. He said the caliber of competition available to the Plymouth team is too stiff for Plymouth. Stagg contended the board acted on the recommendation of the athletic control board, which said tennis should be dropped, boys' and girls' track and field schedules should be combined and a questionnaire should be sent to schools with which Plymouth competes to determine what sports are offered, to parents and to pupils to determine their desires and wishes as to competitive sports.

The goals approved by the board, without discussion, are:

1. To continue the effort to publicize the good educational activities going on in the district.
 2. To work on improving community public relations and involvement with the district.
 3. To work on and implement a new discipline policy at the junior high school.
 4. To initiate a curriculum study of the reading program in kindergarten through sixth grade.
 5. To study the practicability of a weighted grade system for the high school.
 6. To look at and evaluate the board of education policy handbook.
 7. To continue to work on improving pupil attendance and reduce dropout rate.
 8. To continue last year's study of the extra-curricular activity programs of the district.
 9. Continuing effort in the improvement of staff relations, the gifted pupil program, the energizing of buildings and the keeping of the district in a financially sound condition.
- Dealing with the last item, Stagg said the budget is only guess work, because the attitude of the General Assembly toward school financing will dictate how the budget turns out. He said the short-term financing of schools by the General Assembly in the fourth month budget recently approved will result in 18 per cent less each month during the term of that budget than during the first six months of this year. This means the schools will have $46,696.16 for four months less than was counted on. Coupled with an earlier holdback of funds by the state, he said, the net loss so far will be $92,000.

New tax allocation figures for the Richland county portion of the district were revealed. They have advanced 34 per cent, from $21,857,140 to $29,013,341, Stagg said, but until the computer at Columbus digests these data and emits new tax totals, during November, the district knows no more about its tenuous financing.

Two teachers were hired. Joni Rinaldi, Canton, a recent graduate of Kent State university, was hired as vocal music teacher and assigned to direct the high school musical.

Mrs. Paul McClintock, an experienced teacher, was hired as second grade instructor at Shiloh.

John Conkin was assigned as marching band instructor, Miss Anita Long, who will be married next month to Bradley Ream, as ninth grade cheerleader adviser and Denise Hefer as junior high cheerleader adviser.

Mrs. Danny Adkins was authorized a contract as secretary at Shiloh, Mrs. Donald Baker as high school secretary, Douglas Church as high school custodian.

A contract for 1981-82 was adopted. Principal change is that the fee for driver education will be doubled to $20. Stagg said that net loss to the system for 101 pupils in training last year was $1,238.

Agreements with the Richland county board of education to participate in and share the cost of EMR consultants, work study teachers, special education guidance, two talented and gifted pupil instructors, a school psychologist and a speech therapist were approved. Stagg said that financial problems in the county office resulted in the district having to pay $6,714.16 for these services last year.

A. C. Henry succumbs at 68 in Illinois

Former councilman and marshal at Shiloh, where he lived for two generations, A. C. Henry, 68, died July 8 at Silvis, Ill., where he had resided for several years.

Born in Shelby, he was an electrician for 20 years with Empire-Detroit Steel Co., Mansfield, having retired in 1967. He served in the Army during World War II and was a member of Garrett-Riest Post 503, American Legion, Shiloh. He worked as a barber in Moline, Ill. after he retired.

He is survived by his wife, nee Phyllis Lofland, two daughters, Sue, now Mrs. Danny Adkins, secretary in Shiloh school, and Ann, now Mrs. Gary Hillier, Rock Island, Ill.; four sons, Duane Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aubrey (Ned), West Monroe, La.; Daniel, Daventon, Ia.; and Timothy, in the Army at Ft. Lewis, Wash.; two sisters, Eunice, now Mrs. Jane Zietz, Shelby; three brothers, F. Marshall, Benson, Ariz.; Daniel M., Plymouth, and Thomas, Tampa, Fla., and 17 grandchildren.

The Rev. Daniel Hamrich officiated at the funeral services from McQuate-Secor Funeral home here Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial was in Mt. Hope cemetery, Cass township.

Bank reports bigger profit

Earnings of First Buckeye Bank, N. A., increased from $111,101 to $1,211,101 a share compared with the first half of 1980, based on 470,656 shares outstanding, Avery C. Hand, Jr., chairman of the board and chief executive officer, told the board July 8.

Hand reviewed the statement of condition of the bank as of June 30. Total assets reached $263,873,705, an increase of $4,367,543 over June 30, 1980.

He announced the promotion of Madelyn J. Northrup to assistant vice president department and Judy M. Colangelo to assistant cashier-administrator.

Village to fight ColGas via Consumers Council

The door was left wide open Thursday night during an informal non-council meeting by Jerry Tischer, division manager, Mansfield division, Columbia Gas Co. of Ohio.

The company is proposing a two year contract to the village which will call for a 5.25 per cent increase for the first year and a five per cent increase for the second year.

He told the three council members, G. Thomas Moore, D. Douglas Brumback and Ervin Howard, that his principals are willing to listen to any counter proposals.

The proposed contract will increase the bill of the average gas user in the village by $2.70 a month the first year and an additional $2.59 the second year.

He said Columbia Gas is only receiving a three per cent return on its investment in Plymouth and that the average amount granted by the PUCO to other utilities is averaging between 10 and 11 per cent.

"We must protect our stockholders," he said.

Later, when Bill Taubee arrived at the meeting, an hour and a half later, Moore proposed that the village seek the help of the Consumers Council.

He explained that a formal request must be made to its governing board, which will rule on whether the proposal by Columbia Gas is excessive.

The council several years ago went this route when it rejected a three per cent contract submitted by the company and took it to the PUCO, which granted a 3.1 per cent increase for an indefinite time.

During the period that Taubee was absent, the three council members and Mayor Eric J. Akers heard the complaints formally presented by residents of Brooks court.

James Fleck, the spokesman for the group, wants to know exactly who is responsible for the sad condition of the street.

He and a number of other residents had aired their views July 7 during the meeting of the Planning commission.

Armed with Ordinance 17-70, which spells out the subdivision requirements, he wanted to know who was responsible that they were not fulfilled.

Thursday night he again asked the same question.

Brumback, the main spokesman for the Planning commission, again suggested that the street could be put in order by assessing the property owners.

They obviously do not want this. Thursday night Bill Collins, who had proposed building an additional six homes at the south end of the development but has now changed his mind and hopes to build eight, having since withdrawn his application for the original six, said he was in favor of assessing, since he owns one property.

Nothing was resolved. The mayor and council told the Brooks court residents the village simply did not have the money to make the improvements they are asking for and placed no blame for the problem on anyone.

Two councils passed on the acceptance of the Brook court allotment and gave it approval.

One question raised during the Planning commission meeting was whether the village has a building code. No one knew, including Brumback who as councilman had voted on June 17, 1975, to adopt the Richland county code, which met the requirements of the federal insurance program, which the village was forced to apply for.

At that time, it was deemed the easiest and cheapest way out for the village to qualify, since no building code existed locally.

The adoption of the code puts the burden on the shoulders of the builder.

The mayor said the village had one good leverage, not to allow nor approve any more building permits. This he is enforcing.

Brooks court and the Fenfor development are both facing storm sewer problems. The old files which for years served for both storm sewers and a form of a sanitary system are simply giving up the ghost, mostly because of age.

Raymond L. Brooks, who has sold land to Collins, claims the area did have a drainage problem under control but that when the sanitary system was installed, the storm sewer was cut off.

Ox roast set by firemen at Shiloh

Annual ox roast of Shiloh-Cass-Bloomington Fire department will be staged July 24 and 25.

Three thousand pounds of beef will be roasted in pits beginning July 24.

Annual flower show of Shiloh Town & Country Garden club will take place in the basement of Mt. Hope Lutheran church July 24 and 25. Judging will take place July 25 and the results opened to the public at 12:30 p. m.

A pony pulling contest will begin beside the railroad tracks July 25 at 2 p. m.

Annual parade will march July 25 at 7 p. m.

A square dance will begin July 25 at 9 p. m.

Full menu of beef and other foods and rides and games will be offered both days.

Russell to seek reelection

Incumbent Cass township trustee R. Eugene Russell, Barnes road, will seek reelection. He is circulating a nominating petition.

Former police chief here, W. Robert Seal will seek a seat as trustee of Plymouth township.

Mark Fry, who lives in Dinger road, will contest the election with Seal.

Residents of the Plymouth township fire district will be asked on Nov. 3 to support an increase of three-tenths of a mill in the fire levy.

Trustees of the township have filed with the board of elections a request for a tax of 1.5 mills to run for five years. The present tax is 1.2 mills.

Reason: Inflation.

Cattle droppings soiled Norwalk, driver held

A Plymouth truck driver has been charged at Norwalk with discharge of unhealthy substances.

A summons was served Friday morning on William Kamann, Bachrach Cattle Co., after he failed to appear at the Norwalk police station upon request.

Kamann's livestock truck, headed for Sandusky, Dressed Beef Co. on Thursday, passed through Norwalk in Route 250. When the truck stopped at the uphill intersection of Benedict and Seminary streets, near the court house manure spilled from the truck. The odor persisted long after the truck departed and Norwalk firemen were called to hose down the street.

Service Director Melvin Shipley traced the truck.

Sergeant Michael Ruggies called the company and asked that Kamann report to the police station. He did not do so.

On elections

Less than a month remains during which candidates for elective office may come forward with nominating petitions, which must be filed with the county board of elections on Aug. 20.

There are four councilmanic seats in the village that will become vacant on Dec. 31.

There are three seats on the local board of education that will become vacant at the same time.

Those who may wish to change the tenor and thought of their government will do well to take heed: the time to do it is when, by combined effort in behalf of some different candidates, incumbents can be turned out and new faces installed at the deliberative table.

Which is why these quadrennial elections are so important.

If one dislikes what the board of education has been doing, he can this year elect a controlling majority, if he will get out and ring doorbells and induce his preferred candidates to run. He who does not do this really hasn't much cause to complain if, later on, what the school board does or does not do fails to meet with his approval.

It is correspondingly so with the village council.

How many of the incumbents intend to seek reelection is not material right now, though we fervently wish that those who do so had conveyed this information to us ere now. What is material is that we who foot the bill (and, indeed, so do the incumbents, more or less; it is useful to point out that he who works outside the village is excused from paying income tax to the village) ought to bestir ourselves to decide whether we want these people to continue to run our affairs or whether we want others to replace them.

When a governing board, as is the case with the incumbent council, includes some who were not elected by the people it is particularly important that the people should look into the record of those who were appointed to public office, for the purpose of determining if they are fit for it.

Conserve on water, Root says

Consumers are asked to be as saving as possible with their usage of water, village administrator, says. Unseasonably hot weather has increased usage by 30,000 to 40,000 gallons a day over a normal period.

Because of the increased usage, the pumps are not allowed a chance to rest.

Burglars nabbed by dog

A second burglary attempt in the residence of Miss Eleanor Company at Bowman Street and Opdyke road July 7 was thwarted by local police, Richland county sheriff's deputies and a Willard police dog named Sam.

Local police arrested Mary Ann Martinelli, 19, Mansfield. The dog was brought from Willard by Patrolman Joseph Daniel. Officers on the scene said two white male suspects had fled on foot.

The animal tracked one suspect across a field and found him in some weeds. He was identified as Jerry L. Madden, 19, Mansfield. When Madden sought to resist, the dog bit him on the arm. The wound was treated at Mansfield General hospital.

The other suspect, Danny Ray Cushman, 24, Mansfield, was found hiding under a car in the Company garage.

All three were charged with aggravated burglary and have been bound over to the grand jury.

Retrothal and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Debra Jean, to Kevin D. Humbert, a 1977 alumnus of Plymouth High school, are announced by the Donald E. Fatons, Shiloh route 1.

Miss Reynolds was graduated by Crestview High school in 1977. She is a graduate of Mansfield Business college, now employed by Drs. Garber, Kaye & Curry, Mansfield.

Her fiance, son of the Kenneth D. Humberts, Noble road, Shiloh, also attended Pioneer Joint Vocational school. He is employed by Springfield Mold & Die Co., Ontario.

They will marry Aug. 1 in Trimbale Road Baptist church, Mansfield.

Two films on sprocket at library Tuesday

"Sea Creatures" and "Three Gifts" are the children's movies scheduled in Plymouth Branch library Tuesday.

"Sea Creatures" looks at a parade of deep sea life including crabs, jellyfish, spiny urchins, zebra-striped fish, snakes and the giant mantle ray.

"Three Gifts" is a puppet presentation of a Czech fairy tale in which three strangers leave sacks full of magic gifts for the poor man who provides them with a night's lodging. The town miller and bailiff try to steal the gifts, but the strangers return to drive the thieves away.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Fackler have donated to Plymouth Branch library in memory of Mrs. V. C. Mack.

All about town . . .

Harold V. Ruckman is here from Lakeland, Fla., visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Mills, Wellsville, N. Y., were guests of his sister, Mrs. Robert L. McIntire, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Crox and their two daughters, Midland, Mich., were weekend guests of Mrs. Glenn Frakes.

The John Baumlers, Columbus, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Fred Port.

Miss Florence Danner was hostess to her cousins, Mrs. Ruth Blisset and Mrs. Isabel Brown, Jackson, Mich., last week.

Mrs. G. Thomas Moore spent several days last week at Ohio university, Athens, with members of the Order of the Rainbow from Willard and Attica.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris Postema returned last week from a two week camping vacation at Mohican State park. His sister, Mrs. Harold Bosescher, Ada, Mich., was a weekend guest and her cousin, Mrs. Mabel Burkholder, Wauseon, is visiting this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ream vacationed at Myrtle Beach, S. C., last week.

Mrs. Neil McDonald, Grosse Point Woods, Mich., left yesterday after spending a week with her niece, Mrs. Byron Ream, and her family.

School budget shows red ink

A new budget showing the general fund in the red by $82,250 was approved without dissent Monday night by

Residents protest building

Residents of Brooks court had the opportunity to let their hair down during the July 7 meeting of the village planning commission.

Even though answers to their questions were not forthcoming, action is being started to right some of the wrongs of the development.

Mayor Eric J. Akers said the only leverage the village has is not to issue any building permits until the wrongs have been solved to everyone's satisfaction.

James Fleck said it is the responsibility of the planning commission and village administrator to see that the subdivision ordinance is complied with.

The condition of the street is the principal problem. Councilman D. Douglas Brumbach, who acted as spokesman for the commission, said the problem could be solved by assessing property owners for the paving and curbing. He said that the village needs to have every-one get together.

The mayor agreed that the village simply does not have the funds to make the improvements and suggested that now the village does not have to take any action but that the taxpayers suit forced by a court could force the village's hand.

Mrs. Duane Keene said that children must wait for the school bus at West Broadway and because of the bad drainage, they must stand in water.

She said the board of education says that a bus turn around should be provided.

The other problem facing the development is an adequate storm sewer system, and should eight new houses be built instead of the proposed six, a lift station will have to be added to the sanitary system.

Plymouth board of Education. Estimated receipts plus carryover balance total $2,063,575. Estimated expenditures amount to $2,160,095. All other funds will show a slight balance save two, which are Titles IV-B and C and the uniform supply fund, which will have no balance at the end of 1982.

Luncheon fund is expected to wind up in the red by $14,000. Anticipated receipts are $149,000, expenditures $163,000.

Bonded indebtedness as of Jan. 1, 1982, will be $1,316,000. Settlement of bonds during 1982 amounts to $106,000. Interest due during 1982 is $75,745.

Taught at Shiloh— J. L. Fankhauser succumbs at 70

Formerly a teacher in Shiloh schools, Jay L. Fankhauser, 70, Mansfield, was dead on arrival at General hospital there Saturday afternoon.

Born Mar. 31, 1911, in Mansfield, he lived in or near there all his life. He was a graduate of Ashland high school and of Superior college.

He took a master's degree from the University of Akron. He was a graduate of Columbus Business university and was self-employed as an accountant. He was a substitute teacher in Mansfield schools, having earlier taught in Lexington schools. He was a member of the Mansfield, Ohio and National Education associations and a member of Vesta Lodge 152, F&AM.

His wife, nee Jennie Pettit Harlan; two sons, Robert J., Perryville, and Richard A., Miramar, Fla., and five grandchildren survive.

The Revs. Robert Airhart, a retired United Brethren minister, and William Bowers, First United Presbyterian church, Mansfield, conducted services Tuesday at 11 a. m. at Mansfield. Burial was in Mansfield cemetery.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:
This is in regard to your article appearing in the July 2 issue of The Advertiser relating to the $5 increase in fees for auto licenses in Richland County.
You stated that I previously suggested the additional fee but because the issue was defeated county wide it was not possible. This is a misnomer. The fact of the matter is I proposed the additional fee to the council but it failed passage, not because it was thought to be illegal but because the council was dominated by residents of Richland county who opposed the issue for selfish reasons.
You need only to inquire of the State Attorney General whom I am certain would indicate that when the State Legislature adopted the bill to permit political subdivisions to impose the additional fee, it did not exempt cities and villages if the county issue failed. It merely implied that a county wide imposed fee would pre-empt (or nullify) that which is imposed by any other subdivision within the county.
Considering the fact that Plymouth is situated in two counties, is it fair and equitable to require the inhabitants of half the village to pay the additional fee and the other half not, when everyone within the municipality expects a fair and equitable distribution of services, maintenance and utility?

A convenient way to budget for your electric bill.

Some household expenses are fairly steady throughout the year. But your electric bill varies from month to month because your electric usage fluctuates with the changing seasons. The bill is usually higher in the winter. It dips a little in the spring months, then, for most people, rises during the air conditioning season, before dropping again in the fall.

We can't do anything about the weather, but we can help you smooth out the ups and downs of your electric bill. And that's by offering you our Equal Payment Plan.

With the Equal Payment Plan, we bill you a fixed amount each month based on your average yearly usage.

Your account is reviewed every six months to see that your budget payment is still as close as possible to your average use. At the end of the twelfth month you'll receive a settle-up bill or a credit.

Many of our customers are already taking advantage of the Equal Payment Plan. If it sounds like a good idea to you, simply contact us. We'll take it from there.

We give it our best.

Shiloh's police protection doesn't please everybody

Shiloh isn't at all happy with the kind of police protection furnished by the Richland county sheriff.

Its village councilmen said so on July 8.

Gist of the complaint was that the 20 hours of protection a week provided for in the contract aren't being furnished.

Approval was given to purchase a buzzer system for police telephones from United Telephone Co. Cost is $29 for installation and 75 cents a month for service. The system will allow deputies to hear the telephone when they are not in police headquarters. Walkie-talkie radios do not function well in Shiloh, the council was told.

Councilman Delmar Nesbitt voted nay on a proposal to sell mobile police equipment to the sheriff's department for $2,800. He said, "When the day comes that we don't have the protection agreement with the sheriff, we'll have nothing."

Some complaints about dust and odors in Scott street were voiced.

Voisard Manufacturing Co. traffic generates dust, the complainants said, and grain rotting at Landmark causes odors.

Mayor Francis Gowitka said he talked with both firms and the village should pay part of the cost of oiling the alleys since the public uses the Landmark driveway as a public alley.

Councilman Frank Cline objected to spending public funds on private property. He said he would contribute some private funds if donations to accomplish the work are sought.

Lois Hawkins, Pearl street, was told she must trim tree branches in front of her home if they interfere with truck traffic.

Firemen pumped out 16 basements during heavy rains in June and received the thanks of the council.

A letter will be sent to a resident who is using land behind Walnut street as a dumping site stating it is illegal to dump in the village.

Mrs. Sharpless succumbs at 90 at Celeryville

Mrs. Edward F. Sharpless, 90, Celeryville, died at her home Sunday afternoon of a lengthy illness.

Born in Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 18, 1890, she lived in Celeryville most of her life. She was a member of the Christian Reformed church there.

Her husband, four sons, Willard, Celeryville; Harley, Willard; Don, Los Alamos, N. M., and Erve, Orlando, Fla., and a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Wagoner, Elyria, survive.

The Rev. Ben Tol conducted services from the church Tuesday at 1 p. m. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

Mayor's budget sails through

Mayor Eric J. Akers' 1982 budget was readily approved by five councilmen. G. Thomas Moore, Ervin Howard, Dean Cline, D. Douglas Brumbach and Bill Taubee, Monday night.

The mayor told them that each operating and maintenance section of each fund has a 10 per cent inflationary amount built into it.

Brumbach particularly inquired because he said that the village must under all circumstances maintain the water plant in case of an emergency after the water line is completed from Willard.

He said that he does not believe it is being properly cared for now and that the effort should be made to make certain it is.

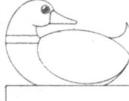

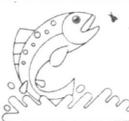

He also asked the mayor about raising the salaries of councilmen. The budget made no provision for such a move and lists them at a total of $1,440 annually or $240 annually for each member.

Several times he has introduced legislation to raise the yearly stipend with the idea that it would make the public office more attractive.

The newest councilman, Taubee, said he doesn't think any amount of money would be that important.

Although only $10,000 of the $14,814 anticipated in the Federal Revenue Sharing fund is definitely earmarked for capital improvement where needed, the remainder can also be used, Akers said.

IT'S CRIME WATCH TIME IN AMERICA

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

Crime is everybody's problem. It should be in everybody's self-interest to contribute some effort to a solution.

Crime Watch is just that kind of a program. It operates on the simple premise that there's safety in numbers. And it is so structured that a child, an adult, a senior citizen, men, women—all can participate.

Crime in America poses a threat to every home. People are endangered as they go about their routine tasks. The Citizen Crime Watch program, which is spreading to urban and suburban areas all over the nation, is intended to make the business of neighborhood crime riskier for the felon and a lot safer for you and your neighbors.

Briefly stated, Crime Watch is a non-profit organization of citizens who are willing to look for and report suspicious activity so that professional policemen can investigate.

The organization is simple. A city is divided into zones...areas within each zone and finally, block by block within each area.

Members who join learn how to be more observant and how to report a crime in progress or its occurrence and how to provide police with helpful information to identify the suspect.

The procedure to follow in reporting the likelihood of a crime is:

1. Identify yourself by name, address and phone number. State that you are a Crime Watcher.
2. Say what kind of crime or suspicious activity you have observed.
3. State when this happened...or is happening.
4. Give the address or provide a landmark or something to help the police rush speedily to the scene.
5. State if you believe the suspect to be armed...and what kind of weapon (Knife, gun, club).

6. Describe the suspect by age, race or complexion, approximate height and weight, identifying kind of clothing worn, any prominent feature such as mustache, beard, scars, tattoos, large or small nose, ears, color of hair and type (long, crewcut, kinky, etc.) and whether or not the suspect is wearing glasses.

7. If driving a vehicle...what kind? What color? What are the last three numbers of the license plate?

8. In what direction was the suspect driving...or fleeing?

9. What was stolen...or what criminal activity took place?

10. How was entry gained?

It is important to be a Crime Watcher and not a Crime Stopper. Never try to apprehend a dangerous felon. Report immediately on the telephone to the police for their intervention.

VACATION PROTECTION CHECKLIST

Any time you'll be away from home for several days:

1. Notify a trusted neighbor, relative or friend that you'll be gone. Ask them to keep an eye on the house.
2. Leave a key with neighbor, relative or friend that you trust to look inside the house daily, if possible. Do little things to make the house look lived in...such as rearranging a shade or drape.
3. Make arrangements to have your lawn mowed.
4. Stop newspaper delivery.
5. Have the post office hold your mail.
6. Have a neighbor, relative or friend pick up anything that is delivered to your home.
7. If possible, have a car parked in your driveway.
8. Notify police that you are out of town and how long your house will be unoccupied. Let them know if anyone is allowed to check the inside of the house while you are gone.
9. Remove anything of great value from your home...color TV, silver, crystal, jewelry, valuable collections—and put in a safe place or in the custody of a friend.
10. Use timer switches or ask a neighbor to turn on lights, play a radio, turn outside lights on at sunset and off at dawn.
11. If you know where you'll be, leave a phone number where you can be contacted.
12. Notify the police on your return, especially if it is earlier than expected.
