At last!

A new Ohio law states, "No person shall operate a motorized bicycle on any public road or private property used by the public for vehicular traffic unless he or she is 14 years of age or older and has obtained an Ohio Motorized Bicycle Operator's License or holds a valid driver's, chauffeur's or motorcycleist's license."

To apply for the motorized bicycle license, the person must study the digest of motor vehicle laws, available at any state-highway patrol post, and report to the state patrol examination station.

An application must be completed and proof of age furnished. A vision and written test on Ohio motor vehicle laws and traffic signs will then be administered.

When the examination has been passed, an "exam passed" form will be issued. This must then be taken to the driver's license agency.

A motorized bicycle license with picture can be obtained for a fee of $2.50. The license allows the possessor to operate only a motorized bicycle, no other type of vehicle.

A motorized bicycle is defined as a vehicle with two tandem wheels or one front and two rear wheels which is capable of being pedaled and is also equipped with a helper motor.

The helper motor must have a piston displacement of nor more than 50 cubic centimeters, produce no more than one brake horsepower and propel the vehicle at a maximum speed of nor more than 20 miles an hour on a level surface.

There are other minimum requirements for motorized bicycles, including a workable muffler system, a firmly attached seat, the top of which must be at least 25 inches from the ground, one headlight, one tail light with reflective lens, safety grips on the handlebars and a horn or klaxon that can be heard 100 feet away.

All motorized bicycle operators are subject to all traffic laws as if they were operating an automobile.

This law has been a long time in coming and we welcome it with some relief.

Dunn accepts head cage coach job

Plymouth's new head basketball coach is David Paul Dunn.

After an executive session July 13, the board of education offered Dunn a supplemental contract to succeed S.

Michael Tracey, who served one year in the post.

Dunn had earlier resigned as reserve basketball coach. He told The Advertiser, "I've got a young family (at the time there was one child and another expected; it has since been born) and I ought to give some time to it and also I've been coaching around the clock for six seasons, football, basketball and baseball, and I'm a little burned out."

The board turned to Dunn because, with the 1981-82 school year approaching and no teaching vacancies that might be filled by a person qualified to coach basketball, it thought action should be taken at once.

Dunn joined the system in 1975, fresh out of Bowling Green State university. He has served as assistant football coach and head baseball coach as well as junior high, ninth grade and reserve basketball coach.

He is married and the father of two children. Donald M. Eichelberger, a member of the board of education, is the uncle of Mrs. Dunn.

Cline youngest mayor of village at 27

Mayor Eric J. Akers' long-promised resignation was delivered to his successor Friday.

Dean A. Cline, president pro tempore of the council, became at 27 the youngest mayor in Plymouth's history.

Under Ohio law, if he wishes to continue in the post after Dec. 31, he must be elected in the general election on Nov. 3.

Akers earlier said he would resign during May. He said there were two events that delayed submittal of his resignation. One of them was the completion of the Willard water contract. The other he declined to disclose.

Akers has said for several months that the duties of mayor interfered with the practice of his profession — he is Plymouth's only attorney — and that, since his children are very young, he feels he should spend more time with his family. He is a part-time professor of business law in Ashland college.

Text of his letter of resignation:

"After having served as mayor of this village for only approximately one and one-half years, I hereby resign that position.

"I will not reflect upon the achievements, if any, nor the mistakes in judgment that have occurred during this term. I would however, like to make some observations.

"As members of this council, you have adequately performed your duties. The people should recognize this, further support you in your position, and create the necessary air of confidence to promote this town.

"Much legislation is necessary to be passed in order to continue the growth and development of this community. Specifically a zoning ordinance must be passed. Though I personally oppose some types of zoning, I urge you to consider the adverse planning effects the lack of a zoning ordinance will have and take steps at solving this problem.

"No amount of effort on any councilman's part will produce results without confident and dedicated employees of the Village. Those we now have are fulfilling their duties. Don't lose their efficiency by attacking their competency without just and verifiable reason.

"The job as any official of this village never ceases. What we have interited, with our adjustments will be given to our successors. It is our duty to maintain accurate records so that those successors can see what we have accomplished.

"I will accept any castigation you, the press, the citizens of this town, or any other person care to pass upon to me. I will not apologize nor am I sorry for what's been done since Jan. 1, 1980."

Son of the Frank Clines, Shiloh, where his father is a councilman, the new mayor was graduated by Plymouth High school in 1972. He was elected to a four year term as councilman in November, 1979, having previously been defeated two years earlier.

He is employed by Warren Rupp Co., Mansfield, married to the former Percilla D. Thornsberry, he is the father of a daughter, Tiffany.

Booster club has undertaken monumental task of installing part of the bleachers in Mary Fate park. Bachrach Cattle Co. loaned a bulldozer free of charge, village street department supplied a truck. 1,100 bells on one shelf!

A man with Plymouth roots who amassed a collection of 1,100 archeological bells is now, in the twilight of his life, busy giving some prized ones to such as the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

He is Nathaniel Spear, Jr., whose grandfather was Solomon Spear, a founder of the now extinct Jewish community in Plymouth.

His collection, which began in 1928, is the subject of a piece in the alumni magazine of his alma mater, Yale university, by which he was graduated in 1919.

A veteran of World War I, with overseas service, he began to collect the bells when he married. His wife, of a Viennese family, brought 665 bells to the United States as part of her dowry. These had been collected over 16 years by her father, after she had at the age of nine expressed pleasure in bells.

Spear says he's always been interested in archeology, although he's had no formal training in the science. As a boy, he found Indian arrowheads on his grandfather's farm here. After he was graduated at Yale, he and his younger brother, James, Class of 1923, went on a 17-month around-the-world tour. To catalog the completed collection - this octogenarian thinks there's not an important bell missing from

Think holiday bazaar! Make a sofa pillow

By AUNT LIZ

It is amazing how many good ideas there are in this world. Who thinks them up? Every sofa can always use another pillow, and this creation is really fashionable. Simple, too. Start with two pieces of material - whatever size you want it to be. Then provide enough material to make a ruffle to go around it. Not a really tight ruffle, just softly gathered. The width of the ruffle will depend on the size of the pillow, so it is in proportion.

The material must be a solid color, because in the center, you blanket stitch a patchwork piece. Pad it so it is a little fluffed up.

The blanket stitching can be done in a contrasting color to the pillow, and you border the ruffle with the same stitch and color.

If you stitch with something really soft, it is ideal to stretch out with and watch the late, late movie.

Because of the patchwork center, you can use any pattern you want. It is a really colorful looking creation.

It is also a nice and easy thing to whip up for the holiday bazaar, which will be here before you know it.

Have you noticed how there comes a time when one fruit is finished during the summer and the others aren't ready yet?

Since we have spent a weekend going through real southern recipes, one for lemon chess pie came up, and it can be very tasty.

Start with an unbaked pie shell. Then mix a half stick of butter with one and a half cups of sugar. When well-blended, work in four eggs. When it is thoroughly blended, add the juice of two lemons and a rather scant tablespoon of yellow corn meal.

Pour it into the crust and bake for a little over a half hour in a moderate oven.

If you still have another unbaked pie crust and own one orange, an orange pie is a nice, refreshing supper dessert.

Melt a tablespoon of butter, add a cup of sugar, and the juice and grated rind of that one orange. When this is mixed, add three eggs that have been blended together, not beaten.

Pour into the crust and bake very slowly, not over 250 degrees until a silver

Come and See!

Announcing GREAT new place to RAISE CANE

Land that's Not hard to BEET.

A growing country needs lots of growing things.

And the South was a perfect place to raise just about anything.

Feeding the hungry industrial regions to the north, the South helped to make a new and struggling country grow strong and prosperous.

Today, America keeps getting stronger every day. That's over 9 1/2 million Americans taking stock in their country by buying U.S. Savings Bonds.

They know that as they're working for their future, their Bonds are working hard for America's future, too.

So, buy U.S. Savings Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan.

What you're raising vegetables at a family, they're a great way to save.

Interest & Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity. The interest rate may be subject to change. A federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Kemp, Cincinnati, are the parents of a son, Barrett Andre, born June 8. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shaver and Mrs. Mark Gaywood is the maternal great-grandmother.

Johnsons married 57 years

The Johnsons are the parents of a daughter, Miriam, now Mrs. Patricia Ansboro, Orlando, Fla., and a son, Dr. Roy J. Johnson, Jr., Shelby. There are nine grandchildren.
