

Give blood!

The Bloodmobile is due here Thursday.

The faithful who work on it expect no credit. Those who dig into their pockets to pay for supplies, telephone calls and advertising don't do so because they're hoping for a medal.

What needs to be said is this:

Whole blood is in short supply.

Nobody in Plymouth or within shouting distance of it ever has to pay a cent for transfused blood.

Nobody who receives transfused blood needs to rustle up some friends and neighbors to replace it for him.

Nobody who receives transfused blood, or who is kin to such a person, needs to say "thank you" to anybody at any time.

But it would be nice if he would.

The Lions club, which got its start at our front door, when a man named Forrest Turner from Ashland said to the editor he thought a service club in Plymouth could succeed and would the editor throw his weight (which was quite substantial at the time; he's lost a few pounds since) behind such a program; the editor recruited the local lawyer and the rest is history, as a part of its civic duty, has taken on the Bloodmobile. It finances the visit of the Bloodmobile. Its members recruit the volunteers. Some Lions club members themselves participate.

Not once, in the several visits of the Bloodmobile to Plymouth, has the quota been met. It's unlikely, given the present circumstances, that it will be met on Thursday.

But it can be met!

What it takes is for everyone to recognize his civic duty and to share his most precious possession, which costs him nothing save a little of his time, with others who so desperately need it.

In no other country of the world does society participate in such a beneficent process for the common good.

There will be volunteers at the high school Thursday to assist you when you decide to join the most satisfying society in the whole wide world: the faceless association of those who have seen their duty and have given a pint of their blood.

Equal relief

Anyone who heats his home with natural gas treads lightly these days. Deregulation is coming and the price, which is already astronomical, will go out of sight.

Consider: a home having 2,240 square feet of living space was paying $67 on the budget plan. All of a sudden, the figure jumped to $94!

There was a time when the gas company refused to take on new customers because federal policies, they said, prohibited them from supplying additional gas at a profit. Some houses were built to be heated with alternate fuel.

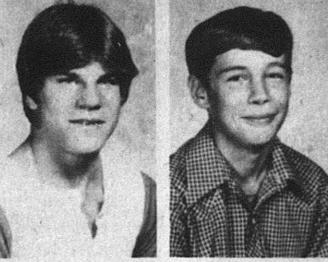

That fuel also rose in price, as all energy costs rose.

Now we are confronted by the spectacle of relief being accorded those users, those who use the alternate fuel, when others who use that very same energy, albeit not for heating, are to be denied equal relief.

It's enough to make strong men weep!

Staggs gets new contract; tax rate set at $29.50

A three year contract for Supt. Douglas Staggs was approved by Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

There was no dissent to a motion by Mrs. Roger Pugh to rehire the superintendent. His present contract expires July 1.

Staggs will be paid in accordance with the salary scale at 160 per cent of what he would earn as a teacher with his academic qualifications. He holds a master's degree.

Tax rates for the coming tax year were approved. Inside millage is 4.4, outside millage is 21.3, both for the general fund. Tax to reduce bonded indebtedness is cut by 2.2 mills to 3.8, so overall tax is 29.5 mills.

A request by the James Schulte family, living at Route 13 and Latterner road, to transfer to the Crestview Local School district because distance to Plymouth is 11 miles, their son wishes to play football and they cannot afford to drive 22 miles five days a week, was denied.

"We can't maintain the school district," said the Rev. Arthur Hamman, president, if we start giving tax dollars away. What's more, this would set a precedent.

"They knew when they occupied the property their children would have to come to Plymouth," said Mrs. Pugh.

By unanimous vote the superintendent was instructed to tell the Schultes the board disapproves of their request. Staggs was also directed to inform the county board that Plymouth insists upon consultation if the Schultes seek transfer by the county.

Enrollment decreased by 46, Staggs reported. He said opening of a new Mennonite school in the district drew some pupils from the public schools but he anticipates there will be some additional pupils before the month is out.

Sales campaigns by pupils were approved thus: ninth grade, popcorn; 10th grade, candles; FHA, ornaments; choir, candy; cheerleaders, calendars; band, cheese and sausage; jazz band, pizza; FFA, citrus fruit, volleyball team, candy; football team, lift-a-thon; PHSAA, candy sales.

James Bradley Ream was given a supplemental contract as adviser to the 11th grade, Paul Gase as junior high school cross country coach, William F. Flaherty, a retired teacher, as assistant boys' basketball coach, and Sandra Herran as assistant volleyball coach.

Free and reduced price luncheon policy was approved. Owing to reductions in federal subsidies, reduced price lunches will cost twice as much this year as last. New price is 40 cents. As of Oct. 1, there will be no extra milk in the reimbursement plan.

Robert Bast was employed as tutor for an emotionally handicapped child who is housebound.

Staggs reviewed developments in school financing but admitted that the situation is so unclear neither he nor the board has much to go on. He predicted an interim budget until the Ohio Senate reconvenes after Oct. 1.

Will village, ColGas compromise on rate?

A conference with the division manager of Columbus Gas of Ohio at Mansfield Tuesday night was to determine if an agreement can be reached on its proposed rate increase.

Village council on Sept. 8 named the service committee, councilmen Ervin Howard, Bill Taulbee and G. Thomas Moore, to meet with Jerry Tischer, Columbia's local chief, to seek a compromise rate.

He approached the council in July with a proposal of new rates which would be a 5.25 per cent increase for the first year and five per cent for the second. At the time the council proposed approaching the Consumers council to fight the increase.

He told the council the village would be better off if negotiated its own contract with the company, rather than go to the PUCO, which could pass a higher increase. J. C. Landers, Ernst & Whinney accountant, who has been working with the clerk treasurer, described a rather rosy picture for the village financially for the remainder of the year, because more money has been collected from the income tax than expected and short term investments are yielding a good sum, compared to what interest was paid on the investments in the past.

The clerk has a total of $380,000 of village funds invested at 16.25 per cent interest, which comes due at the end of the month.

Landers said he has prepared a new appropriation for the village which will cover this year and bring each fund in line with more income and to cover expenditures.

It should be ready for the council's approval after the next Financial Planning commission meeting.

He also said a new accounting system is being adopted by the state auditor's office to be effective Jan. 1, 1982. He said it is more detailed as to what each expenditure is for rather than the present system, which has two categories, personal service and operating and maintenance.

Root requested that Terry Jump, village electrician, be sent to a week long electric school Oct. 5-9 in Columbus which is being conducted by the Ohio Rural Electric Cooperatives. He said the village is lacking in safety procedures that he feels should be put into effect.

The council agreed to change the hours of the village utility office to 8 a. m. until 4 p. m. and have it remain open over the noon hour for convenience.

The council is finally catching up on approving its minutes.

Approval was given to minutes from June, July and August. In some cases the clerk was unable to be present, and minutes were taken by councilmen who had not given them to her to present.

Car afire, damage set at $300

A car driven by Dale Hall, Trux street, caught fire Monday about 5:15 p. m. in Plymouth street in front of the Carlton J. Runkle home.

Plymouth firemen quickly extinguished the blaze.

Spokesmen for the department estimated that about $300 damage was done to the 1969 Chevrolet, which Hall had recently renovated.

It is thought that leaking gasoline caused the blaze.

Initiative petition thrown out

An insufficiency of valid signatures on an initiative petition calling for a referendum on a resolution of village council establishing an additional $5 tax on motor vehicles registered by residents of Precinct A resulted in action by the county board of elections on Sept. 8 to disqualify the petition.

A total of 46 signatures was submitted on the petition. Forty-two were required to place the petition on the ballot. Seven signatures were found to be invalid, mostly because the signer did not append, or correctly append, his correct address.

Bolt strikes transformer

Part of the village was without power Monday afternoon when lightning struck a transformer.

As soon as it was reported after several hours, it was a good sum, compared to what interest was paid on the investments in the past.

1,259 pupils enrolled; decrease of 3.5%

Enrollment in Plymouth schools fell 3.5 per cent last month.

A total of 1,259 pupils was enrolled, down 46 from the previous August.

Greatest decrease of pupils was in second grade. High school enrollment amounts to 424 pupils, of whom 19 are in intensive education classes. A total of 38 12th graders and 41 11th graders is enrolled in Pioneer Joint Vocational school.

Brittany Beef recipe tried, true, economical now

By AUNT LIZ
Trying to be economical can really lead to pure bloodshed.

Because electric rates keep coming up, I do not turn on lights.

The toll has been a cut head when I fell one night while visiting our restroom, an whacked my head against the bathroom counter. I simply tripped over the rug that our furry friend had converted into a nest to rest in comfortably.

A few weeks later I got up as I usually do in the dark and saw no need to turn on the hall light, since I know every inch of this house so well, and I slipped down the first two steps. My back has not been the same since.

Then there are those really nice friends who give you stuff from their gardens. It is all for free and really welcome, but what happens. You load it up with mushrooms and cheese to make a real gourmet dish. Take a look at what both cost.

There simply is no way anymore to live economically unless you go on a hunger strike and move into a tent.

We froze all last winter because I was plain mad at Columbia Gas. This year probably won't be so bad, because I would guess by Thanksgiving, we will be frozen stiff and will not thaw out until maybe April, so we will not notice how cold we are.

Before this all happens, we are going to live it up a little. This is what we are going to feast on first. It is called Brittany Beef and was one of the very first things I ever learned to cook. It serves four very nicely and could possibly be stretched to five, depending on what time you are eating and how hungry everyone is.

Buy good beef, a pound and a half, cube it. Toss in flour. Cook three or four strips of bacon until brown but not crisp. Remove bacon. To the bacon fat add a sliced clove of garlic, then add the beef cubes and brown.

Then add a half cup of boiling water, a half cup of either of burgundy wine—use what is called Hearty Burgundy, it is great for cooking and even better for drinking and add a scant teaspoon of salt, a fourth of a teaspoon of pepper, three whole cloves and two bay leaves.

Heat until it boils, then put in a casserole with the bacon, a cup and a half of diced carrots and six very small onions, peeled. Actually, you can use nice slices of onions. Be sure you cut the bacon in about half-inch pieces. Cover and bake at 300 degrees for over two hours. This can be served bare or on rice or noodles.

With sliced tomatoes that have been given to you and a hot fudge sundae, for which you had to go out and buy the ice cream, and fudge sauce, you have it made for another day.

Say you have just about maybe $8 for five invested in this meal. That makes it about 60 cents a person and tasty. Furthermore, you will have leftover ice cream and fudge sauce for a midnight snack.

IT'S CRIME WATCH TIME IN AMERICA

PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION

Crime is everybody's problem. It should be in everybody's self-interest to contribute some effort to a solution.

Crime Watch is just that kind of a program. It operates on the simple premise that there's safety in numbers. And it is so structured that a child, an adult, a senior citizen, men, women—all can participate.

Crime in America poses a threat to every home. People are endangered as they go about their routine tasks. The Citizen Crime Watch program, which is spreading to urban and suburban areas all over the nation, is intended to make the business of neighborhood crime riskier for the felon and a lot safer for you and your neighbors.

Briefly stated, Crime Watch is a non-profit organization of citizens who are willing to look for and report suspicious activity so that professional policemen can investigate.

The organization is simple. A city is divided into zones...areas within each zone and finally, block by block within each area.

Members who join learn how to be more observant and how to report a crime in progress or its occurrence and how to provide police with helpful information to identify the suspect.

The procedure to follow in reporting the likelihood of a crime is:

1. Identify yourself by name, address and phone number. State that you are a Crime Watcher.
2. Say what kind of crime or suspicious activity you have observed.
3. State when this happened...or is happening.
4. Give the address or provide a landmark or something to help the police rush speedily to the scene.
5. State if you believe the suspect to be armed...and what kind of weapon (Knife, gun, club).

6. Describe the suspect by age, race or complexion, approximate height and weight, identifying kind of clothing worn, any prominent feature such as mustache, beard, scars, tattoos, large or small nose, ears, color of hair and type (long, crewcut, kinky, etc.) and whether or not the suspect is wearing glasses.

7. If driving a vehicle...what kind? What color? What are the last three numbers of the license plate?

8. In what direction was the suspect driving...or fleeing?

9. What was stolen...or what criminal activity took place?

10. How was entry gained?

It is important to be a Crime Watcher and not a Crime Stopper. Never try to apprehend a dangerous felon. Report immediately on the telephone to the police for their intervention.

VACATION PROTECTION CHECKLIST

Any time you'll be away from home for several days:

1. Notify a trusted neighbor, relative or friend that you'll be gone. Ask them to keep an eye on the house.
2. Leave a key with neighbor, relative or friend that you trust to look inside the house daily, if possible. Do little things to make the house look lived in...such as rearranging a shade or drape.
3. Make arrangements to have your lawn mowed.
4. Stop newspaper delivery.
5. Have the post office hold your mail.
6. Have a neighbor, relative or friend pick up anything that is delivered to your home.
7. If possible, have a car parked in your driveway.
8. Notify police that you are out of town and how long your house will be unoccupied. Let them know if anyone is allowed to check the inside of the house while you are gone.
9. Remove anything of great value from your home...color TV, silver, crystal, jewelry, valuable collections—and put in a safe place or in the custody of a friend.
10. Use timer switches or ask a neighbor to turn on lights, play a radio, turn outside lights on at sunset and off at dawn.
11. If you know where you'll be, leave a phone number where you can be contacted.
12. Notify the police on your return, especially if it is earlier than expected.

Schools set policy for school lunches

Public schools today announce the 1981-82 school year policy for free and reduced-price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Special Milk programs.

Local school officials have adopted the following family size income criteria for determining eligibility:

Family Size: Children and Parents	Income Scale for Free Meals		Income Scale for Reduced-Price Lunches
	Weekly	Monthly	Weekly	Monthly
1	$108	$467	$153	$694
2	142	617	203	878
3	177	766	252	1090
4	211	916	300	1303
5	246	1065	350	1516
6	280	1214	399	1728
7	315	1364	448	1941
8	349	1513	497	2153
Each Additional Family Member 34	149	1,790	49	213

Children from families whose income is at or below the levels shown may be eligible for free or reduced-price meals.

Applications are being sent to all homes in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. The information provided on the application is only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted at any time during the year.

To discourage the possibility of misrepresentation, the application forms contain a statement above the space for signature certifying that all information furnished is true and correct. Applications are being made in connection with the receipt of federal funds. School officials may verify the information in the application. Deliberate misrepresentation of information may subject the application to prosecution under applicable state and criminal statutes.

In certain cases foster children are also foster these benefits. If a family has foster children living with it and wishes to apply for such meals or milk for them, it should contact the school.

Under the provisions of the policy, the principal for each building will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the officials, he may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis. If he wishes to make a formal appeal, he may make a request either orally or in writing to the local superintendent for a hearing to appeal the decision. The policy contains an outline of the hearing procedure.

If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size changes, the family should call the school to file a new application. Such changes may make the children of the family eligible for free or reduced-price meals if the family income falls at or below the levels shown on the first page.

In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, creed or national origin. Each school and the office of the superintendent have a copy of the complete policy which may be reviewed by an interested party.

Three films set at library here

Plymouth Branch library, 21 West Broadway, will present a triple feature for preschoolers Wednesday at 10 a. m. The free film program includes "Dogs, Cats and Rabbits," "Dragon Stew," and "Thumbelina."

A fun-filled film in three parts, "Dogs, Cats and Rabbits" includes 41 dogs with incredible barks, a delicious study of cats, and rabbits made of everything from string to peanut butter and jelly sandwiches.

"Dragon Stew" is a fantasy about a king who loves food, a royal cook who never cooks, and a small, fat dragon who is about to become the main ingredient in a secret recipe.

An animated version of Hans Christian Andersen's fairy tale, "Thumbelina" shows the adventures of a tiny girl who goes to live among the animals of the forest.

William Moore succumbs at 68

William L. Moore, 68, 375 Willow drive, died there Saturday of an illness of three weeks.

Born here May 5, 1913, he was the son of the late Otis Moores.

During World War II and the Korean conflict, he served in the Navy. He was a member of Ehret-Parrel Post 447, American Legion, and of Plymouth United Methodist church.

For some years he was employed as street supervisor by the village. Later he served as a councilman. During the installation of the sanitary sewers, he was an inspector.

He retired three years ago as a machinist for Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.

He is survived by his wife, nee Ruth Boetcher, a son, Donald DeVeny, Tupelo, Miss.; three daughters, Alice, now Mrs. Paul Brooks, Woodstown, N. J.; Pat, now Mrs. Bruce Holly, Naples, Fla.; and Betty, now Mrs. Pete Bechtel, Mansfield; 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Bruce Bequette, First United Methodist church, Willard, conducted services from Secor Funeral home there Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. Full military honors by the Legion post were rendered in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

Mrs. Dick, 57, ill of cancer, dies in hospital

Formerly of Plymouth, Mrs. David Dick, 57, Reynoldsburg, died Thursday in University hospital, Columbus, where she was treated for cancer.

Born Ruth Evelyn Strauss, she was a member of Parkview United Presbyterian church, Columbus.

Her husband, a son, Larry W., Carroll; a brother, Robert Strauss, Eastlake; a half-brother, Vernon Strauss, Willard, and two grandchildren survive.

The Rev. Inason Child conducted services in Greenlawn cemetery Monday at 3 p.m.

Red underdog at Bascom tomorrow night

Plymouth faces Hopewell-Loudon at Bascom tomorrow, an underdog against an improved performance against a South Central team that is better than its record shows.

The Chieftains, victorious over Plymouth in two straight contests, have won both games so far. Latest conquest was of Lakota, 22 to 6, on Friday night. It was the first victory in history by Hopewell-Loudon over Lakota.

The Chieftains were not overpowering. They rolled up a total offense of 174 yards, of which 154 were on the ground. They fumbled four times and lost all four. But they only punted once, good for 29 yards.

Paul Bishop is the man to watch. He gained 95 yards in 18 carries against Lakota and was labelled by both coaches as "the best back on the field." He gets strong help from Eric Netzal.

While Hopewell-Loudon is not particularly a passing team, it can throw the ball.

Its final score against Lakota came on a splendid piece of hipper-dipper. It was a triple reverse culminating in a throw by Jeff Craft, who found Kevin Schalk for the touchdown. The play carried 22 yards.

Brian Ream is another to watch: He runs with authority and is the Chieftains' placekicker.

Best route to Bascom: Proceed north in Route 61 to Route 224, then west to Route 18 at Tiffin, then northwest in Route 18 to Bascom. Turn left (west) at traffic flasher and proceed about 800 yards to stadium.

Advertising is commercial free speech. Advertising has helped a free nation grow and prosper as has no other nation in history.

Still, there are those who would limit, or stop the right of the nation's merchants to speak to the American public. Let's stay alert.

He twitched it out of sight before he lost a chance in the old stump.

The day Dick Heart missed the 8:05.

Dick Heart turned the gas on under the old Lut shinning coffeepot. He sensed rather than heard his wife, Mae, coming into the kitchen.

"Thought you'd sleep late today," he said as he adjusted the flame.

"Well, you get up at the same time every Monday morning for 30 years and it's hard to sleep," she answered in a soft, sleepy voice.

She looked out the window at the weather and said, "I'll make you some sandwiches to take along."

Dick smiled and nodded without speaking. As she made lunch, Mae kept stealing glances at him. Finally she said, "Feeling bad about it, are you?"

He kept sorting through his fishing gear but not really seeing it. "Nooos, although I do feel kinda funny, like this is the first time in all these years I won't be on the 8:05."

There was a long pause and then he said, "But you know, I was thinking about Tom Ungar. We started working the same year. I finally got to retire and go fishing, and Tom's going to be catching that 8:05 this morning... just like always."

"Maybe he doesn't want to retire."

"Oh, he wants to all right. He's got his work working shops, and he loves to fish as much as I do. But that pension isn't enough. And Tom's the kind that never could save a cent."

Mae heaved a sigh and said, "Well, you'd still be catching that train if you hadn't joined the Payroll Savings Plan. It forced you to save. And all those U.S. Savings Bonds make a difference."

"Yeah, but I'd have never joined if you hadn't convinced me to start saving."

"Nagged you, you mean," she said turning to look at him.

Dick speared her arm and said, "Yeah, nagged." As the 8:05 passed over the Indian Leap trestle, Dick was at his favorite fishing spot. He looked up and counted the cars as they went by. In the fifth car, big as life, there was Tom in the 3rd window from the back. Dick wondered who was sitting in his old seat next to Tom.

He twitched it out of sight before he lost a chance with the old stump. He shook his head and spoke out loud, "Sorr, Tom, too had someone didn't nag you."

The line twitched. Dick Heart had a strike.

Classified Ad Policy Changed
Increased costs of operation necessitate a change in this newspaper's classified advertising acceptance policy.
Effective Sept. 1, the newspaper will not accept a classified advertisement not paid for in advance, unless the advertiser appears consistently and has an established line of credit.
There will be no billing. Repeated monthly billing for small charges is prohibitively expensive; cost of mailing and materials and labor more often than not eat up the price of the advertisement by the time it is collected.
No telephoned classifieds will be accepted.
In an effort to furnish the maximum service at the lowest possible cost to its customers, the newspaper is compelled to adopt this new policy.
