

10-game loss string on line tomorrow

Not since Oct. 13, 1979, has Plymouth's Big Red football team produced a victory and the odds are it will be hard put to do so here tomorrow, when a seasoned and skilled Buckeye Central outfit comes to play in Mary Fate park. This is a better Plymouth team than last season's, which failed to win a game, but there's some doubt that it's big enough to contain the Bucks.

Eric Von Stein, who scales 222, and Karl McChaffey, who weighs 224, play tackle on offense and defense.

And they've got plenty of experienced company elsewhere in the line. Matter of fact, there're 12 monogram winners among interior linemen. These also include Andy Shell, who plays guard and end; Eric Hiller, center and middle guard; John Montgomery, tackle, and Randy Kalb, guard and linebacker.

In the offensive backfield, the Bucks have first line strength but not much depth. Dan Shell is the quarterback. Steve Kehres is the main running threat. Dave Richards, Chet Johnson, Mark Houston and Jeff Piffner will share the remainder of the backfield duties.

As for Plymouth, which lost to Hilldale, one score to none, in the main portion of the scrimmage here Saturday, things are looking up.

Coach David Coulter has strong hopes that he can turn it around this season. His record as a head coach is, so far, 1-and-17. To do it will require an injury-free season and some good luck.

The defense is slightly ahead of the offense at this point. The offense simply couldn't get going against Hilldale.

On defense, Coulter will start Greg Polachek and Mike Metcalfe, both soned performers, at the ends, Co-Capt. Scott Harris and Jim Jamerson at the tackles, Aaron Alenbaugh at nose guard. In the secondary the linebackers will be Co-Capt. Reggie Ganzhorn and Richard Cunningham with Mike McKenzie at monster. Corner backs are Darrel

Hale and Jeff Jacobs, with Tom Baker at safety.

On offense, Coulter has decided to go with a green but quick quarterback, Rod Hampton, a southpaw passer who can whip the ball. Harris will be the principal running back, spelled off by Cunningham. Rick Hawkins will be the flanker.

Up front, the Big Red will start Bob Jamerson at split end and James Will at tight end, Jim Jamerson and Todd Arnold at the tackles, Ganzhorn and McKenzie at the guard post and Polachek over the ball.

Coulter intends to use Jacobs and Mike Messer, a letterman, as running backs, to be substituted as a unit. Messer at fullback, Jacobs at halfback.

Game time is 8 p. m. A brief dedication ceremony will precede the contest.

Letterman Aaron Alenbaugh, 12th grader, will play nose guard on defense in tomorrow's opener with Buckeye Central. He's a 165-pounder.

Letterman Jeff Jacobs, in his third season, will be in new role starting tomorrow. He'll start on defense and be held in quick reserve on offense, where he'll be running the ball more than throwing it.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

Well done, friends!

One need only visit Mary Fate park to note that a very substantial amount of effort and money has been exerted there to improve facilities for those who gather on these autumn evenings to watch schoolboy football.

Half of the grandstand on the home side has been replaced by modern steel bleachers. The other half, which will be replaced later, has been newly painted.

The scoreboard has been painted.

The press box and refreshment stand has been painted.

There has been some reseeding and some new seeding to eliminate what would otherwise be an eyesore.

A few considerate and generous souls deserve the plaudits of each of us for their vigorous effort.

But neither we nor they are home free yet.

The new bleachers need to be paid for.

The Booster club hopes that its continuing effort to obtain funds will meet the bills when they come due.

To this end, a door-to-door canvass will be conducted by high school pupils to solicit memberships.

Sure, times are tough, but surely almost every household can afford the relative pittance it takes to be a bona fide member of the Booster club.

Unfortunately, even if there is 100 per cent success in the membership campaign, the Boosters will need other funds. To obtain them, they will undertake other campaigns later on. Support thereof will ensure that schoolboy athletics can continue.

This said, we confess that we are mystified by the whole process.

What is it that mystifies us?

First, after one has paid his dues, why doesn't he join in the work to which membership is dedicated? If just half of the signed-up members of the Boosters had turned out to assist with the work at the field, it would have been accomplished faster and easier.

Must village put funds in more than one bank?

Should the village divide its funds between its two banks?

At the Aug. 11 meeting the council decided upon First Buckeye Bank, N. A., as the official depository for its funds. Solicitor Richard Wolfe, 2nd, is of the opinion that since two banks are in the village, the funds should be divided.

Mayor Dean A. Cline said Thursday night the solicitor is still studying the problem and that his answer will be forthcoming.

The mayor also said the council's action in naming First Buckeye had been an error, so he introduced a new ordinance as an emergency measure to correct the mistake. It passed on its first reading but failed to receive enough votes to suspend the rules, which requires five votes. Councilman Ervin Howard was absent from the meeting, and Councilman D. Douglas Brumback questioned the wording of the ordinance which the solicitor had prepared and declined to vote for the suspension of the rules.

No action was taken to raise the charges of Greenlaw cemetery nor was any action taken in determining the new water rates.

The council has said it wants to see how an $8 minimum rate will affect the amount of money that must be generated to cover all expenses. James C. Root, village administrator, said if the minimum is dropped from the proposed $10, which the engineers have set, something like $1,600 to meet the financial obligations.

The rates are still being studied and a recommendation should be forthcoming at the next meeting Sept. 8.

The mayor told the council that at the next meeting he will have his three year plan of capital improvements ready for its consideration.

He and the clerk-treasurer have been working together to determine what funds will be available so as to determine what is to be done.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore strongly urged the council to consider the hiring of a rate consultant for the electric department. Root said he had inquired of several and their fees for the most part ranged up to $15,000 except for John Findlay, who made the last study in 1980. His fee will be about $6,000 to study the rate structure and the distribution system.

Miss Gearheart was charged with driving at a speed excessive for road conditions and was dropped off the right side of the road, went left of center, struck an embankment and rolled over. She received cuts and abrasions and a fracture of the right wrist.

James Arthur was charged and released from Shelby Memorial hospital early Monday morning for minor injuries received in a collision.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Gregory McKinley, Mansfield, which went out of control in West Smiley road near Champion road and hit a pole and a tree.

McKinley has been charged by the state highway patrol for driving while under the influence of alcohol and having a suspended license.

Root believes a special rate should be determined for all electric homes.

The mayor said that the hiring of a rate consultant is included in his planning.

An ordinance to change some of the wording in the mobile home regulations, which had passed on its first reading, failed for want of a motion on its second reading.

Brumback had rewritten the ordinance, which has been in effect since 1971, and the council thought his changes were simply too minor to pass a new ordinance and to spend the money to publish it, which is required by law.

Brumback complained that more double lines should be painted in the Square to prevent U-turns. Since both Routes 603 and 61 are to be redone by the Department of Transportation this fall, it will have to be determined if the state or the village will paint the lines.

An emergency ordinance was passed requiring those who have not connected to the sanitary sewer system to do so by Oct. 31 or face stiff penalties.

Root said he had already sent letters to those who are involved and so far one person had admitted through a dye test that he had not connected and did so immediately.

Brumback's resignation was formally accepted as of Sept. 2 after Moore asked him point blank if he really wanted to resign. His answer was affirmative.

Councilman James Holloway, who made the motion to accept the resignation, said he hoped there were "no hard feelings". Although Brumback in his letter to the mayor stated no reasons for resigning, it has been apparent that he was unhappy with the other members of the council who did not go along with his suggestions and ideas.

At the outset of Thursday's meeting, the council went into an executive session with the three members of the cemetery board, J. Harold Cashman, Emerson Shields and Carl V. Ellis.

The mayor announced to the media that the session would deal with possible litigation.

Responsible sources have told The Advertiser the problem has to do with the paying of extra labor, to do which the clerk-treasurer said there had not been funds appropriated.

The letter that Councilman Bill Taulbee was asked to write to thank former Mayor Eric J. Akers for what he had done to help the village was approved and is being sent to him.

Mrs. Jump ruled off Nov. 3 ballot

Unless write-in candidates come forward, no races are in sight for village offices on Nov. 3.

The nominating petition of Mrs. Terry Jump, 138 Maple street, was thrown out by the Richland county board of elections Monday on the grounds that she has not resided in the village long enough. Law requires a one year period of residency. Mrs. Jump moved here from Plymouth route 1 in March.

Mayor Dean A. Cline is unopposed to complete the term of the resigned Eric J. Akers.

Incumbent councilmen, G. Thomas Moore, Bill Taulbee and Ervin Howard, and Terry Hopkins are unopposed for four seats on the village council.

Only the six candidate race for board of education posts and the three candidate race for two seats as trustee of Plymouth township will live in the political pot this year.

Incumbents the Rev. Arthur Hamman, Don M. Echebarger and A. George Miller face the opposition of Robert Sponseller, Charles Reinhart and Keith Mowry for the board of education. Incumbent Chester Jones, Hazel Brush road, W. Robert Seal, Route 98, and Mark Fry, Dininger road, seek two seats as trustees of Plymouth township.

Two girls injured in Rt. 603

Two young women were injured Sunday at 1 p. m. when their car rolled over in Route 603.

Melanie Gearheart, 17, Shelby, and Debra Owens, 17, 9 South Walnut street, Shiloh, were treated and released at Mansfield General hospital.

Miss Gearheart was charged with driving at a speed excessive for road conditions and was dropped off the right side of the road, went left of center, struck an embankment and rolled over. She received cuts and abrasions and a fracture of the right wrist.

James Arthur was charged and released from Shelby Memorial hospital early Monday morning for minor injuries received in a collision.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Gregory McKinley, Mansfield, which went out of control in West Smiley road near Champion road and hit a pole and a tree.

McKinley has been charged by the state highway patrol for driving while under the influence of alcohol and having a suspended license.

Barber appointed as village planner

Roy Barber, 32, a Shelby native, was appointed to the Planning Commission Thursday night by Mayor Dean A. Cline.

He replaces Kennon Osburn, who resigned when he moved to Cardington.

Osburn had been the chairman of the commission. Mrs. Charles E. Pritchard was named in his place.

Barber is married to the former Ruth Ann Patton and they are the parents of two daughters and a son. They reside at 308 Willow court.

He is employed by Ohio Seamless Tube Works, Copperwell Co., Shelby.

The commission must now choose one of its members to work with Councilman Ervin

Howard and Bill Taulbee on a zoning ordinance.

His appointment had been strongly recommended by Councilman D. Douglas Brumback, who said at Thursday's council meeting that it would take at least two to three years for an effective zoning ordinance to be adopted.

The village has considered such an ordinance for over 20 years but when several were presented to the council for passage, the council turned them down.

The last attempt to write such an ordinance was proposed by former Mayor Elizabeth G. Paddock when she appointed Moore and former Councilman David A. Howard to work on the project.

Trains too fast, Shiloh council says

Trains passing through Shiloh move too fast, council members here contended Aug. 26, and Richland county sheriff's deputies were authorized to gauge the speed of trains by radar.

There is apparently no limit on speed of trains passing through Shiloh.

Councilman Gary Flacher said he will approach Ohio Department of Transportation at Ashland to determine if it will remain on a going rate.

West and East Main streets, Route 603, which has just been resurfaced.

A trick-or-treat night for children will be conducted in October, the council ruled, so long as it coincides with a similar program in neighboring towns.

An emergency ordinance providing for mutual aid with electric departments of surrounding municipalities was approved. A vote was 5 to 0 to set labor cost at a going rate.

Woodrow Arnett dies of cancer

He was ill about two years. Born in Salyersville, Ky., Nov. 15, 1916, he was the son of Joseph and Fanny Kennard Arnett. He was employed as a security guard by Fanny Farmer Candy Shops, Inc., Norwalk.

He was a member of Ehret-Parsel Post 447, American Legion, and of Dads of VFW, Shelby.

'Not guilty', say pair in court

Two pleas of not guilty to charges laid in Plymouth mayor's court resulted in transfers to Shelby Municipal court Thursday night.

Randy Justice, accused of assault, and Henrietta Sexton, charged with disorderly conduct, will be heard at Shelby.

Anthony W. Fidler, Shiloh route 1, forfeited a waiver of $15 and costs on a charge of improper backing.

James Arthur was charged and released from Shelby Memorial hospital early Monday morning for minor injuries received in a collision.

He was a passenger in a car driven by Gregory McKinley, Mansfield, which went out of control in West Smiley road near Champion road and hit a pole and a tree.

McKinley has been charged by the state highway patrol for driving while under the influence of alcohol and having a suspended license.

Laferty arrested with gun

A former Plymouth resident, Hancer D. Laferty, Jr., 32, Ontario, was bound over to a grand jury by Mansfield Municipal court Aug. 26 on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

He was arrested early Aug. 23 when a caliber .32 revolver was found on the seat of a motor vehicle he was driving. Sheriff's deputies had been called to investigate a domestic disturbance.

Yard sales beware: shoplifting occurs

By AUNT LIZ
 Everyone must realize by now that we all pay a little more to cover the shoplifting losses of businesses.
 For the most part it is the wastime of young people who like the idea of getting something for nothing.
 It really isn't. Years ago I would watch an older man sit outside our office on the day the paper was printed. That was the only day he sat there, and I got curious, then I really watched. He carefully came in and stole a paper each week so he could read it before his copy came in the mail.
 Last week, I think, I came across the ultimate of shoplifting.
 Can you imagine anyone stealing at a yard sale? A young neighbor in the next block was having a beautiful one with all sorts of things she had accumulated. One shopper went to look at an electronic thing with which you can play games on a television set, and when she opened the box, it was empty.
 Being a Sherlock Holmes at heart, I kind of looked at the situation and came to the conclusion that for the most part women come to such sales. I would guess that the culprit about 40 and thought this is a great present for one of my kids and it was small enough to fit in an ordinary handbag.

 And me, I would have loved to have shoplifted a nice gift I am giving to one of my children, but it would not fit in anything except a large box. There was no way I would walk out with it unscathed.
 Don't think for one minute I did not consider it, but I came away with something very nice at a large bargain price.
 So now that I know how tempting a little yard sale can be, am staying away from them. So what else is there to do, but cook, cook and cook.
 However, you must in the mood. The other day a friend introduced me to his son-in-law as a gourmet cook. That was nice of him, but the son-in-law had a look on his face that he didn't believe a word of it.
 And I did not have the courage to mention that our dinner the night before was a can of soup, store-bought potato salad and tomatoes.

This is known as not eating too much when it is too hot.
 The day finally does come when people you live with complain that they are plain hungry.
 Try this sweet and sour sauce with either pork, chicken or beef.
 Mix a small can of pineapple pieces, three tablespoons of cornstarch, a tablespoon of soy sauce, a half cup of brown sugar, a half cup of vinegar and a half cup of the juice from the can of pineapple. Heat it until the sugar is melted. Add it to the meat which is slowly cooking in a little oil in either a wok or a good frying pan. Immediately add a can of mixed Chinese vegetables and simply heat it. Have plates ready with crunchy noodles and rice, to which you add the meaty mixture. This sauce will do for about two pounds of meat or chicken, and it freezes nicely.

Classified Ad Policy Changed
Increased costs of operation necessitate a change in this newspaper's classified advertising acceptance policy.
Effective Sept. 1, the newspaper will not accept a classified advertisement not paid for in advance, unless the advertiser appears consistently and has an established line of credit.
There will be no billing. Repeated monthly billing for small charges is prohibitively expensive; cost of mailing and materials and labor more often than not eat up the price of the advertisement by the time it is collected.
No telephoned classifieds will be accepted.
In an effort to furnish the maximum service at the lowest possible cost to its customers, the newspaper is compelled to adopt this new policy.
