Yuletide travel no picnic, Auntie says, with experience

By AUNT LIZ

This was really a great holiday season. We spent it with two of our children and their two, who were a ball.

Getting there and back, however, was another tale. Never again will we fly during a holiday. Especially in the winter.

You cannot trust the weather, but 50 million people ignore that and travel anyway.

We started out to leave Toledo, well off the beaten track of holiday travel, on a Tuesday morning. We stayed with kind friends, Monday night and at the track of dawn we called the airport. Yes, we would leave at 7:30 a. m., so off we go.

We sat and sat until noon until the fog cleared up in Indiana. No way would that airline miss 80 passengers and let 40 or so fly alone. It really wasn't too bad, since I was equipped by our Monday night hostess with a bunch of antique papers and had something to read.

Finally we left, picked up all the poor people who had waited almost equally as we had, and off to Denver we go. They served breakfast at noon. It was very tasty, but by then, anything would be tasty.

So Stapleton International airport looms in sight. It is a very large airport, the fourth in the world. It had a problem.

It had snowed the night before and nothing could land all morning, so when we get there about four, they are unloading planes from about three hours back.

There was no way to get us off, since we with two large hat boxes for our little ones. We sat for an hour, and eventually someone came on the intercom and said the pilots were "waiting" to see who got the next ladder to get everyone off. Our guy apparently won, because we were next.

I have been in many airports before, but such a zoo that afternoon.

People were surrying around to see about connections to other places, and there were the skiers. God, you had to be careful or you would have had an eye knocked out by some character carting a pair of skis.

One thing I will give United credit for is that they know how to handle the passengers were about it, and it had the good grace at the end of the flight not to say "Thank you for flying United".

The week in Denver was great, but coming home was another story. Everyone got all belted in, ready to go. The sky was blue, the runways were cleared of snow, and there was nothing to stop us.

Then the happy pilot comes on and says there will be small 20 minute delay in taking off. He nicely turned off the no smoking sign, we took off.

Then two minutes later, he comes back on and says all seasoned travellers know "when we say 20 minutes, it really means 40." And 45 minutes later, we took off.

And because the winds were pushing us, we got home almost on the dot.

This is my last time over a Christmas. I will walk to the next place.

Once we got off that plane at dinner time in Denver instead of 9:30 a. m., we ended up having a delicious dinner. Easy too. And if you have a timer on your stove, you have it made, just set it and wait for your family to come airborne.

This is what our daughter did. She calls it "No Peek Stew". This made more than enough for our four generous servings, and I think can do six with no sweat.

Thomas E. Heckman, New Haven, Carol A. McCoy and Linda K. Reynolds, Shiloh, were also named.

Start with a pound of beef stew meat in bite size pieces. Add a can of cream of mushroom soup, a package of dry onion soup mix, a fourth of a can of dry red wine. Mix it up, throw in a bunch of cut up carrots and potatoes, you guess at this. Cover tightly and bake four hours at 300 to 325. It will thicken and be great.

Girls win two: over Cougars, Chieftains

Big Red girls made short work of Crestview three Friday.

Plymouth jumped off to an early lead, went to the half-time recess in the van by 13 points and outscored the Cougars by one point in the last half. The score was 51 to 39.

Becky Turson threw in 19 points for the winners, who shot 53 per cent from the field, with 24 successes in 43 tries. They missed six of nine free throws. Renee Taylor was the only other Plymouth player in double figures. She had 16.

Plymouth thus avenged an earlier, one-point defeat by Crestview in Black Fork Valley conference play. Suzi Harmon had 14 for Crestview. Crestview shot for field goal 52 times and tried 10 free throws.

Cougars erupt in second half

Crestview broke the game open in the third period at Oliveburg Friday night and marched away with a 58 to 44 victory over Plymouth in Black Fork Valley conference play.

The contest was close for 16 minutes. The Cougars led by just two to the half. But quick baskets by Mike Williams improved Crestview's lead early in the third quarter and Plymouth was unable to play catch-up basketball thereafter.

That Plymouth was even in the contest at the half was a small miracle. The visitors weren't able to make a field goal in the second period, being forced to settle for seven free throws. As it developed, better free throw shooting by each team would have increased the margin of victory.

The Big Red was outscored by nine in the third period and try though it did, it could not eat into the Cougar lead in the final eight minutes. Crestview scored 19, Plymouth only 15.

The Cougars shot exceptionally well. They got off 49 tries for field goal and converted 22 of them. They missed eight of 22 free throws.

Plymouth shot much less well, tried for field goal 45 times and was successful with 14 of them. At the free throw line the Big Red failed with nine of 25 tries.

The visitors outscored Crestview by one, 32 to 29, but made more mistakes on offense: 22 to 20.

Williams was game high scorer with 18, the only Cougar in double figures.

Plymouth girls edged Hopewell-Loudon Saturday, 66 to 64.

The score was tied at 49 after three periods. The Big Red broke it open and led by eight with two and a half minutes to play, whereupon the Chieftains managed to break through the Plymouth zone and creep to within two.

Renee Taylor fired in 22 points for the winners. Becky Turson had 19 and Lisa Daron 14.

Nan Sauder of the Chieftains was game high with 24. Chris Deahl contributed 19.

Plymouth controlled the boards, 48 to 21, and committed fewer turnovers, 24 to 31. And the Big Red was much better in its shooting. Plymouth's record was 31 of 58 shots at the basket but it missed nine of 13 free throws.

The Chieftains shot for field goal 74 times and made 29. They missed all of 17 free throws.

Matmen lose to Flyers 185-lb. bout turns tables against Red

Big Red wrestlers lost their first dual meet of the season, after seven victories, at Norwalk Thursday, falling before St. Paul's, 36 to 32, on the strength of a win in the 185-pound class.

The score stood at 33 to 26 in the Flyers' favor when the 185-pound bout began. Plymouth's strength is in the heavier weights and Coach

Richard Roll was beginning to take a come-from-behind victory.

But Bob Dudica managed to outpoint Junior Adams, 11 to 7, and that clinched it for St. Paul's. Dudica is just a ninth grader.

Second of a series - Fixed (and variable) factors in Plymouth's athletics

Given some fixed factors in Plymouth high school athletics, what are the variable factors?

They number five, at the outset. There may perhaps be others.

The first one is quality and quantity of the material, which varies from year to year. Every school has its up and downs. There is, so far as modern science has its way to measure it, no way to forecast in advance what kind of material will be available.

Yet, say the nay sayers, such schools as Willard produce winners year after year. The same is true of Shelby in football. And Crestview in track and field. New London has consistently had a successful football team.

It is often said, "Shelby is a football town." It used to be said of Bellville and Butler that they were football towns. For some years after the consolidation, Clear Fork produced outstanding football teams. Now the Colts have fallen on fallow years.

Willard, in the past 10 years, anyway, has been spoken of as "a basketball town." The Crimson Flashers have done exceptionally well in that period. Much of the success is attributable to the excellent coaching of Bob Haas and his staff and the program they had instituted.

Which suggests the second variable factor: the feeder program, which is as good as the material that comes into it and the kind of instruction given to it.

A third factor is the quality of the coaching at all levels. This series has already pointed out that because of limited finances, the necessity for hire teachers first, then coaches, perhaps - and only perhaps - the school district has not engaged the best coaches. If a bond issue of $150,000 was for members and guests only in Ehret-Parrel Post 447.

scores of coaches who wouldn't live in this school district (not because it's Plymouth, but because it's small, its cultural and entertainment opportunities are limited, housing of a rental character isn't readily available, shopping isn't what it is, say, Lorain or Lima, there's no local hospital, some consumer services don't exist - there are a number of such shortcomings from the standpoint of urban areas) if you paid them $40,000 a year (which is unheard of anyway).

A corollary to the third factor is the amount of money available to pay coaches and to fund the program.

The superintendent has already been at pains to describe how the program suffers when the football and basketball teams don't win. People turn out to see a winner. Only in Detroit, Mich., is it different. Sport fans in Detroit will support their home town team no matter what!

With school budgets constricted owing to reduced state funds and changes in the evaluation process, the amount of money available with which to pay coaches is, naturally, similarly restricted. Plymouth's pay scale for coaching is not likely to advance in the next several seasons. Those who aspire to coaching jobs will need to accommodate themselves to the pay scale or forget about it.

Similarly, unless the program turns around, or unless the Boosters club devises some way to make a lot of money easily, there won't be so much money to fund the programs. None of the Booster club money, or other earnings of the program, goes to pay coaches. But it is used to buy training devices, to pay for road trips, to pay for special equipment - all items that successful coaches are integral parts of a successful program.

Next week The Advertiser will examine the first variable factor, the quality - and the quantity - of the material.

With school budgets constricted owing to reduced state funds and changes in the evaluation process, the amount of money available with which to pay coaches is, naturally, similarly restricted. Plymouth's pay scale for coaching is not likely to advance in the next several seasons. Those who aspire to coaching jobs will need to accommodate themselves to the pay scale or forget about it.

Similarly, unless the program turns around, or unless the Boosters club devises some way to make a lot of money easily, there won't be so much money to fund the programs. None of the Booster club money, or other earnings of the program, goes to pay coaches. But it is used to buy training devices, to pay for road trips, to pay for special equipment - all items that successful coaches are integral parts of a successful program.

Next week The Advertiser will examine the first variable factor, the quality - and the quantity - of the material.

It shouldn't happen to such a nice kid as Greg Polachek, 11th grader who's suffering through a basketball season that, so far, is just as dismal as the football season just closed.

One of the two tall players on the Big Red squad, he's used as starter and as relief man, notably for rebounding strength.

No great shooter, he relies on garbage shots under the basket to improve his scoring level.

An outstanding basketball player - he's a catcher on the Plymouth nine - he expects to join a small legion of Plymouth athletes who've won titles or more letters when he's through in June of 1983.

Quiet, unassuming, faithful, coachable, earnest - that's Greg Polachek. He'll play action basketball Saturday when Plymouth faces Western Reserve.
