Fazzini named village clerk

The retired superintendent of Plymouth schools is the new village clerk.

HOMER BEARD

Employer promotes Beard

Husband of the former Jean Carole Carnahan, Plymouth, Homer V. Beard has been elected vice-president of administrative services by directors of Gates, McDonald & Co., a Columbus-based administrator of unemployment and workers' compensation and industrial safety programs.

Beard, a Navy veteran, joined Gates, McDonald 13 months ago as assistant vice president of administrative services. He is a Columbus native and Ohio State university graduate, with a master's degree from Ohio university.

Mrs. Beard is the daughter of Mrs. Carl C. Carnahan, 167 West Broadway.

The Beards have four sons and a daughter; and reside in Gahanna, a Columbus suburb.

John Fazzini, a 57-year-old grandfater twice over, who lives at 312 East Main street with his wife, Lucille, was appointed Sunday and began his duties Monday. He succeeds Mrs. Sidney Ream, who resigned effective Aug. 6.

Fazzini was one of several applicants for the post but was the only male to hold the job since Guy Flora was elected to it in 1965.

Fazzini is a native of Clarksville, W. Va. He dropped out of high school during World War II to join the Navy. He served in the battleship USS New Jersey. After discharge, he obtained his high school diploma and a degree from Salem college, Salem, W. Va. He began to teach in Ohio and acquired a master's degree in business administration from the University of West Virginia at Morgantown. He came here from Rosewood school in Champlain county to teach elementary school and be principal in 1959. He retired as superintendent in 1981.

Fazzini is a member of First United Presbyterian church, of Richmond Lodge 201, F&AM, of Ebenezer Parson Post 447, American Legion, and of Plymouth Lions club, of which he is treasurer.

Parties settle Didion suit

A $1.7 million damage suit against the village and other defendants has been settled out of court.

Widow of Mark Didion, who was killed in December, 1976, in Ripley township when a water truck of the fire department overturned, filed the suit against the village, Goodyear Metal Products division, International Harvester Co. and Portersville Stainless Steel Products Co.

Goodyear settled its part of the suit out of court in March, 1981.

Planners submit zoning proposal

For the fourth time in about 25 years village council has a zoning ordinance to consider.

It was presented by the planning commission, spearheaded by John Fazzini, Tuesday.

The major change from what exists now in the village is that the commission is asking the council to rescind the present trailer ordinance, which allows one to be placed on 9,200 square feet of land.

It is asking that all trailers be restricted to mobile home parks.

Those in place now may remain, but once removed, another cannot be installed.

The commission proposes an area between Plymouth street and Springmill road be reserved for a mobile home park.

The designations of residential and business areas follow essentially what exists now.

Heavy industry is designated for the area near Plymouth Locomotive Works, light industry for the area at the north end of the village west of the railroad tracks.

Unbuilt areas in the village, which is mostly farm land, is designated as residential, which will preserve the areas that are now purely residential.

The business district will be slightly expanded to take in more of Trux and Portner streets and New street.

All parties to the suit have not agreed to dismiss the case. Costs are paid by International Harvester co.

The suit contended a rim of the truck was defective and Goodyear, manufacturer thereof, was negligent in not issuing a warning.

Foley files $6.3 million law suit

Biggest law suit ever filed by a Plymouth resident was laid in Cuyahoga county common pleas court July 29 when attorneys for John Foley sued Banner Industries, Inc., Cleveland; Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., Plymouth; Commercial Lovelace Motor Freight, Inc., Columbus; Elite Security and John Douglas Gruber for slightly over $6 million.

The suit arises from injuries sustained by Foley on Oct. 6, 1980, when he was run over by a police vehicle that was pushed by a truck alleged to have been operated by Gruber.

Foley seeks $3 million, his wife $2.5 million for loss of consortium. An additional $750,000 in damages is a part of the suit.

House burns as Mitchells visit here

A special council meeting Tuesday will determine exactly how much new tax and for how long will be placed on the November ballot to benefit the village's general fund.

Looking ahead to the end of the present income tax which expires in December, 1983, the council is faced with the problem of how to continue funding the police department.

Mayor Dean A. Cline suggested at the last council meeting that thought be given to placing a three mill levy on the ballot to benefit the police department.

If passed, this would take the burden off the income tax money, of which about 50 per cent is going into the police fund, and allow more money for capital improvements, such as street repair.

John Fazzini, clerk-treasurer, told the council that one mill now is bringing in about $10,000 in tax money.

The village's street paving project will be completed this week.

The paving of Riggs street, which is dependent on the $10,000 block grant from Richland county should be completed this month.

James C. Root, village administrator, hopes the funds will be forthcoming by Aug. 20.

MICHELLE HAMMONS

2,000 watch parade; Miss Hammons queen

A crowd estimated at 2,000 turned out Saturday for the parade that highlighted the Firemen's Festival.

Police Chief Robert Conley acknowledged that some complaints were received objecting to "draft racing."

Conley declined to classify the offense as "racing," but he said no one was given permission to race, squeal tires or do "burn outs." He labelled the complaints as "legitimate." He promised that if another parade takes place, there will be no similar offenses.

Conley also acknowledged that some non-residents complained that Route 61 was blocked. He said he will coordinate with the firemen later to insure that a different route is chosen for another parade.

Michelle Hammons, daughter of the William Hammons, was named queen of the festival Friday night. Miss Congeniality and first runner-up was Kelly Wilson, daughter of the David Wilsons.

She was ill a year. Born Aug. 8, 1891, in Chatfield township, Crawford county, she was reared in Liberty township before returning to Chatfield township, where she lived most of her life. She was a housewife. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran church, New Washington, and of its Women's Circle. She formerly belonged to the Crawford County Farm Bureau council.

Born Edna A. Green, she was a widow. Four sisters and a brother died earlier. She is also survived by a daughter, Frieda, now Mrs. Edwin McKeen, Sulphur Springs, two brothers, Sherman Green, Chatfield, and Clark Green, Laramie, Wyo., two grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

The Rev. George Mathisen conducted services Monday at 1:30 p. m. at New Washington. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Larceny detected on Aug. 2

An 18-year-old Plymouth youth was charged with theft of a small amount of gasoline Aug. 2.

Brown will appear in mayor's court.

Prizes in the parade, chosen by Miles W. Christian, Mrs. Richard Paulo, the James Russells, Plymouth East road, and the William R. Millers, went to Plymouth Lions club, best overall entry; Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, best float; Willard High school, first; New London High school, second; Country-ettes, Norway, first; Mansfield City Rockers, second, baton unit.

Also, Curt Roth, Shiloh, oldest car; Ifly, Columbus, first; Charlie Choo Choo, Norwalk, second; Big Bird, Lucas, third, best clown; George Myers, Shiloh, first.

The Iron Seven, captained by Richard Roll, donated its prize in the tug of war to the "Jaws of Life" fund.

Cyclist, 22, dies after collision in Route 103

A 22-year-old Bloomville man employed by Warren Turf Nursery in Base Line Road was killed Aug. 4 when his motorcycle was forced into a ditch in Route 103 south of Celeryville.

John A. Ball, Sr., died in Mansfield General hospital of injuries received in the collision. It is reported five men were required to remove him from the ditch.

Ball was riding a motorcycle south in Route 103 and approached a bridge over a small creek at the same time as a Holthouse Bros truck operated by Charles A. Shreve, 24 Greenwich.

State highway patrolmen said the truck went left of center and forced Ball off the road.

Born in Willard Jan. 14, 1966, he was the son of the Herbert Balls.

He was a member of St. Stephen's Roman Catholic church in St. Stephens.

Who stole farm tools of Carter?

Sheriff's deputies are investigating the disappearance of a tractor, a lawn mower, an air compressor and some tools from three buildings on the premises of Roy Carter, 31 Bell street, in Willett road, Cass township, Aug. 12.

Will village seek fresh levy to fund police department?

The mayor warned the council to carefully consider the pros and cons of a police levy to fund the operation of the income tax practically on its heels.

Councilman John E. Heeden said a levy for the general fund that can be used for any department would be a wise move. Councilman Roy Barber and Ronald Predieri agreed with him.

Councilman Terry Hopkins said a new levy should be solely for the operation of the police department. The village can afford to take a chance on a renewal of the income tax.

Heeden said the electorate had once defeated the income tax and thinks it would happen again. Hopkins said the fact that two police levies had been defeated previously was because of the "black eyes" the department had at the time.

The mayor agreed with Hopkins and said, "My personal opinion is to have police protection rather than to patch potholes."

If the income tax is defeated, the one fund to suffer the most (providing a police levy does pass so that department has funding) is the streets.

Tuesday will tell the tale. Will the burden of the wage earner paying the income tax be changed so that it is shared by more, the property owners?

Censorship exacerbates Auntie: will promoters give up TV?

By AUNT LIZ
There is one word in our language which can be lived without.

It is "censorship". Every now and then some good people get the idea that school libraries and others are filled with dirty books.

Books that kind of say things that have been said since the beginning of known history are some of our masterpieces that every child should read.

Our favorite program, "60 Minutes", had a news about it all not long ago, and some gal got up and said, "There go the dictionaries." They, of course, are known to print just about everything.

A book you can read privately, but somehow I got to wondering after watching a very well done play on PBS. It was written by one of our well-recognized modern writers and made a real point, the older man taking advantage of a younger woman, then going home to his well-regulated life and wife.

What I would like to know is how these parents who are holier than thou explain to their kids where the kids came from. Even the stork story had to be out in this day and age, because there are not that many left around to be in the delivery service.

Storks may be getting scarce, but cooks are not. They pop up in some of the most unexpected places. The thing about it all is that you cannot tell by looking at a person if she or he is a good cook. It is a real hidden asset.

No cook in his right mind is going to stand over a hot stove for hours in this weather no matter how much he loves the people he is cooking for.

Mix some sandwich filling from eggs, tuna, chicken or left-over ham that was cooked before it got so hot and muggy.

A sandwich with a large salad sprinkled lavishly with pieces of cheese and several choices of dressings is almost enough.

Not quite though. You should have something hot to call it dinner.

And since this is succhini season, fry away. Slice them with onions like you would for fried potatoes. To give them a little tang, add some cinnamon to the frying stuff, you are using after it has melted.

Sir:
I wish to protest the irresponsible behavior of some of the drivers of "couped up" cars in the Firemen's Parade on Saturday, Aug. 7. They displayed total disregard for the safety of children sitting on tree lawns along the parade route. I think they should have been removed from the parade and arrested for reckless driving. I resent being more or less a captive audience of such a vulgar performance.

It was one dark spot in an otherwise week thoroughly enjoyable weekend. I love a parade and I thank the Firemen and their Belles for bringing us this one along with the other activities they sponsored.

Take the heat off next winter's budget.

Last winter's heating bills are probably the last thing on your mind right now. But August is the time to put a lid on next winter's bills by getting on Columbia's Budget Payment Plan. It averages out your natural gas bills over 12 months, so you pay a manageable amount each month.

To get on the Budget Payment Plan, simply pay the "MONTHLY BUDGET" amount on your August bill. There's no extra charge, and your meter will still be read regularly. And next July, you will be billed your budget amount plus or minus any difference between your total annual budget and the actual amount used during the year.

So, take the heat off next winter's budget by getting on Columbia's Budget Payment Plan now. And while you're at it, ask for a copy of our free "Everyday Energy Saver's Guide." It has hundreds of tips to help you conserve energy... and save money.

COLUMBIA GAS

There's a better way to predict your next electric bill.

You don't need a crystal ball. You need the Equal Payment Plan. A Plan that smooths out the ups and downs of your monthly electric bills. Your bills fluctuate with the seasons. Up in winter. Down in summer. Down in spring and fall.

With the Plan, you'll pay a fixed amount each month, based on your average annual electric usage. It means you can defer part of each winter's heating and summer's cooling electric bills to spring and fall.

The Plan gives you a better, easier way to put together a household budget. Without surprises. Your account will be reviewed every six months to see that your budget payment is still as close as possible to your average use. And, at the end of the twelfth month, you'll receive a settle-up bill or a credit.

Now your electric bills can be very predictable. With the Equal Payment Plan. Just send in this coupon for more information.

What the good neighbor did when Charlie's house blew away.

A hurricane strikes, and many a family, rich or poor, is left with nothing but the pieces.
What would you do?
 Here's what The American Red Cross — America's Good Neighbor — does. We move into the area to help. To feed people. To provide them with the necessities of life.
 As a gift from You, the American people.
 Now maybe you live in an area where hurricanes seem pretty remote. Yet Red Cross is at work where you live, too. Helping the aged, the desperate, the sick — anyone in need.
 Because the Red Cross is a home town affair. We do what needs to be done — whether it's pick up the pieces of a hurricane . . . or find the right blood donor . . .

or teach a blind kid to swim. We're what you need us to be. Whoever you are. Wherever you are.
 And isn't that what a Good Neighbor is all about?
 Be a good neighbor. Help The Good Neighbor.

Lunch prices retained; teacher, coach resign

Parents of school children got good news Monday night: price of lunches in the school cafeteria will be the same as last year.

Plymouth Board of Education accepted the recommendation of Supt. Douglas Slagge to hold the line on lunch prices. These are 75 cents for pupils through grade eight, 85 cents for high school pupils and $125 for adults. Extra milk costs 15 cents a half pint.

The schools adhere to a closed lunch policy, which means pupils either carry their lunch or eat in the cafeteria.

One teacher resigned and a veteran coach quit.

Four teachers were hired. Mrs. Sondra Carey, who has encountered obstetric problems, resigned. She said she will relocate and resume teaching later in the year.

Douglas A. Dickson, head track and field coach for 14 years and head cross country coach for seven years, resigned for "personal reasons". He also resigned as adviser to the student council.

Mrs. S. Michael Tracey was hired as high school learning disabilities teacher.

Miss Linda Hartschuh, a recent graduate of Bowling Green State university, will replace Mrs. Carey.

Miss Karen Lahring, who taught last year in Springfield City district, will teach learning disabilities at the junior high level.

Wayne Whitehead, who finished last year as a substitute in the business education department, was engaged as a half-time teacher of business education. He has nine years of experience in Mansfield schools.

Assignments for extra-curricular duties were made thus:

Linda Hartschuh, volleyball; Joni Renaldi, high school musical; David Dunn, head boys' basketball coach; John Hart, Paul Gase, Terry Pore and William Flaherty, assistants; Keith Diebler, head girls' basketball coach; Paul McClintock, Linda Hartschuh and Karen Lahring, assistants; Richard Roll, head wrestling coach; Linda Dohney, high school annual.

Nickles Bakery was given the bread contract. Meador Milk Dairy received the milk contract.

Utz Insurance agency, representing Personal Service Insurance Co., was awarded the automotive insurance coverage contract at $1,829.20.

A resolution declaring it impractical to transport pupils to chartered non-public schools was sent to the county board for approval. Six pupils, three at Shelby and three at Celeryville, are involved. Parents will be paid in cash to transport the pupils.

Taliman Agency, Shiloh, was given the contract to insure pupils, including athletes, against injury and death.

Athletes must subscribe or prove they are covered by another insurer.

New high school handbook was approved. It encompasses three changes: the new discipline policy is spelled out, the requirement of 18 credit hours for graduation is explained and the course weight system of establishing class rank is delineated.

Workbook prices, which advance about 5.5 per cent over last year, were approved.

Enrollment in kindergarten at Shiloh may reach 40 pupils, Principal Edward M. Kinsal reported.

The board will meet in special session Aug. 26 to inspect the schools and deal with a short agenda.

Terry Pore was hired to perform summer maintenance at $4 an hour.

A leave of absence for one semester, for obstetrical reasons, was accorded Mrs. Rose Robey.

New teacher orientation will take place Aug. 27 at 8 a. m. All teachers will convene Aug. 30 at 8:30 a. m.

Bill Talbert knows how to help during a disaster. Do you?

Bill is an auto mechanic. He's also a Red Cross Disaster service volunteer.

Last year, Red Cross volunteers, like Bill, responded to over 40,000 disaster situations requiring on-the-scene assistance. More than 136,000 families were helped.

Fortunately floods, hurricanes and tornadoes don't happen every day, but fires do," warns Bill. "And for a burned-out family that's a major disaster. We can help these people obtain the things they'll need to resume normal living."

Red Cross emergency disaster relief provides everything from food, clothing and a place to stay to first aid, counseling and communications.

If your neighbors were burned out of their home, wouldn't you want to help?

She made that tiny little part stand out and took her bows to thunderous applause.

Bravos for Aunt Ethel.

I was born in a tough little town where the people worked hard for a living. My family loved to sing and dance, and a trip to the theater was a real treat. But the idea of having an actor in the family was something that wouldn't go down easy.

"Listen, Pop, it's what I want to do. I know. I can be used at it and I'm not really interested in working in the mill." I was trying to explain to my father why I felt I had to leave home and get some money for acting school in New York.

I'd been bitten by the acting bug in high school and was determined that acting was going to be my career.

My father shook his head and explained in a pained voice, "Now look, son, if you wanted to be a doctor or maybe a lawyer, I could see digging up your cent. I could lay my hands on to help you through school and all, but an actor?"

He put his hand on my shoulder and continued, "It's not a job for a grown man. Playing make believe all your life. I wish you'd think about it some more."

Aunt Ethel seemed to be the only one in the family with any interest in the theater at all. She'd been the star of all the high school plays and was big in the local playhouse that had existed before it closed for lack of interest.

She came to see me in every play at school and was very encouraging.

"Tell you what, James," she said, "I've been on the Payroll Savings Plan at work since I was a young girl and I've got lots of Savings Bonds put aside. Now I'll make you a loan to go to New York and get some training. I know you've got more talent than almost anyone I've ever seen."

I could hardly believe such a generous offer. Well, the people around here don't agree with that. Besides, I couldn't take all your savings on that kind of gamble.

She shook her head and said, "You won't fail. And when you get where you're going, you'll pay me back in full." Then she smiled. "Maybe you can give me a front row seat to some of your big acts... as I learn."

After a lot of arguing I finally agreed and spent some hard years in New York before I got lucky.

And I really did get lucky. Being in the right place, on the right part, at the right time, and all of a sudden I was on my way. All the hard work began to pay off. And I paid off Aunt Ethel.

But that was just money. I wanted to give her that bonus, so I had her flown into New York for a small part in my new play.

Last night she opened to rave reviews. Aunt Ethel still has the magic. She made that tiny little part stand out and took her bows to thunderous applause.

If you had never returned a cent, but just gave me this night, it would have been payment enough. She smiled as we sat backstage after the final curtain.

Knowing Aunt Ethel, she probably meant it.

When you join the Payroll Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds, you play a part in helping your country. You also help yourself.

Would you hire you?

Of course you would. You work hard. Care about what you do. And you know your job inside and out. That's what everybody says. And for most of us, it's true. But it's also true that we could all do better. Whether we're doctors or teachers, lathe operators or telephone operators, legislators or longshoremen, bankers or union officials...every one of us. And we'll all have more to show for it. More money, for one thing. Because we'll be giving each other our money's worth for the products, the services and even the government we pay for. For another thing, we'll be giving America better ammunition to slug it out with our foreign competitors. Not just here. All around the world. That would help bring the lopsided balance of payments back onto our side. And help make your dollar worth more. Best of all, as we hit our stride, we'll be protecting jobs here at home. For ourselves and the future. And we'll have a deeper sense of pride in the jobs we've got. So maybe we'll find our work as fresh and challenging as it was the first day on the job. Which brings us back to the original question. Would you hire you?

America. It only works as well as we do.
