Will liquor license go?

Two bars encounter dog days heat

Two watering places in New Haven township are in trouble with the law.

Wright Way Inn, Routes 61 and 598, New Haven, lost its license to sell alcoholic liquors, wines, beers, and such after a hearing of the Ohio Liquor commission, which acted on complaint of the New Haven township trustees and some neighbors, who alleged public urination by both sexes, loud noises, disorderly conduct, unruly customers.

Second councilman seated in violation of law

Copyright, 1983, The Plymouth Advertiser
 Keith Hebble's seat as a village councilman was improperly and unlawfully given to him.

The Ohio secretary of state's office said Tuesday, in response to an inquiry by Mrs. Phyllis Sawyer, Richland county director of elections, that a councilman must be domiciled within a village for one year prior to his election to that office.

Hebble took up residence in Plymouth East road as of Dec. 1, 1981. His utilities were connected at that time. He continued to pay utilities on his home in Shelby, at Box 290 West Main street, through January, 1982.

He took oath as councilman Aug. 24, 1982, only nine months after he moved his domicile to Plymouth, having earlier been elected by the council to that office.

Mrs. Sawyer confirmed to The Advertiser late Tuesday that Section 731.12 of the Ohio Revised Code applies to councilmen and issued a written statement to that effect.

It says that to be eligible to serve in the legislative body of a village, a person must be a citizen-elect thereof domiciled therein for one year prior to his election.

She added that those who serve as mayor or seek to serve as mayor need reside in a village only so long as is necessary to obtain voter registration.

She offered no explanation of why the General

Assembly should have made any difference in the two offices.

What the council will do about Hebble's seat is unknown. At press time no councilman had been told of Mrs. Sawyer's statement or the opinion of the secretary of state's office.

Meanwhile, Ronald Priedri, who was ousted as councilman because he did not legally qualify since he was not a citizen-elect, has overcome that disability by registering. He was unanimously reappointed to his seat on Tuesday night.

His appointment was proposed by Councilman Billy Taubee, his champion in 1981, and seconded by Councilman Roy Barner. On roll call, these two and councilmen Keith Hebble and Terry Hopkins voted yes. Councilman Thomas Moore was absent.

Mayor Dean A. Cline administered the oath of office to him on the spot.

Priedri's term expires Dec. 31. He has not yet said if he will seek election in his own right to an office to which he was appointed. Deadline for filing a nominating petition is Aug. 20 at 4 p.m.

Only Mrs. Terry Jump has so far given any sign of wishing to be elected. She is circulating a nominating petition for councilman.

William Fazio is the only candidate soliciting signatures on a nominating petition for mayor. Whether Cline will run again is not known. He is thought to be disenchanted with his office and wishes to move to Wooster, where he employed.

Some self-styled political experts say John Fazzini "has about convinced himself to run for clerk". Fazzini is also an appointee. He has what appears to be ringing report of approval by a state examiner in his favor.

Huston services today

Father of Kenneth L. Huston, Shiloh, LeRoy A. Huston, 78, Shelby, died Monday morning in Mansfield General hospital.

He was employed by Wilkins AF station and later by Ballonoff Home Products Co. He retired in 1980.

He is also survived by a daughter, Doris, now Mrs. Lloyd Cole, Round Lake, Ill.; a brother, Lester, Shiloh; seven grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The Rev. James L. Smith will conduct private graveside services in Oakland cemetery, Shelby, today.

Earlier, Hartenstein's Supper club Route 224 closed up and its owners, F. Robert Hartenstein and his wife, H. Mary, filed for bankruptcy. A Toledo renter is hawking the premises.

County to seek new tax

A fresh three-tenths mill tax levy is being sought by the Huron county health board.

Before it can be placed on the November ballot, however, it must be approved by the county commissioners.

It will be used for hiring another full-time sanitarian to inspect private disposal systems in sewers and other departmental expenses.

It is estimated the levy will generate about $120,000.

Intruder fined

Accused of criminal trespass in the home of David Swartz, Bowman Street road, Leroy Douglas Brown, 23, Plymouth route 1, pleaded guilty in Shelby Municipal court Aug. 3.

He was fined $100 and costs.

Swartz awoke to find Brown next to his bed. He lunged at him and, with the aid of Mrs. Swartz, held him until deputies arrived.

Root kin dies; ex-journalist

Brother-in-law of Mrs. John F. Root, Reed Smith, 78, Huron, former Statehouse correspondent of the Associated Press at Columbus, died Friday in Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital, Norwalk.

Born Nov. 24, 1904, in Binghamton, N.Y., he was an alumnus of Denison University, Granville. He was employed by the Mansfield News Journal before he went to Columbus.

He was Statehouse correspondent for the AP for a generation and impressed five governors with his skill in reporting political news.

Among these was James A. Rhodes, who said, "Smitty was highly respected by all elected officials because of his honesty. He was one of the finest persons ever to work at the Ohio Legislative Correspondents' association."

His wife, the former Helen Becker, Plymouth, also survives.

His brother-in-law, Donald Becker, Shelby, died two months ago.

He was a member of First Baptist church, Columbus. Services were conducted Monday at 2 p.m. in Greenlawn cemetery.

Newsy notes

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Laser Midvale, spent the weekend with their son and daughter-in-law, the Larry Lasers, and attended the Fireman's festival.

Hearing to decide purpose of grant

A second public meeting will be conducted Monday at 7 p.m. in the village hall to discuss the village's application for federal grant money.

If the village qualifies with 51 per cent of its residents living under levels of minimum incomes set by the federal government, it will be in a good position to receive a grant.

It is possible that $350,000 can be applied for, this is the maximum amount.

What the money will be used for will be explored at Monday's meeting.

The main purpose of the grant money is to create jobs and to upgrade living conditions of low income families.

The Voice of The Advertiser —

A closing

Our friends at Attica closed up shop last week.

The Attica Hub and its companion papers, the Bloomville Gazette and the Republic Reporter, went out of business.

The properties have been sold to two Attica residents and a printer at Greenwich, the last-named of whom has some considerable experience at publishing a weekly newspaper.

It is to be hoped that they can revive the newspapers so they will again become reflectors of the communities they serve.

It hasn't been easy for weekly newspapers over the past 15 years.

The competition for the advertising dollar is keen. Advertisers naturally are looking for the most mileage for their money. They pay no mind, and we've never been able to understand why, to the fact that when a customer pays to read his advertisement he's more likely to buy in his store than if the advertisement is crammed down the customer's throat by the mailman.

The three papers, all printed at Bloomville, were among the last four or five in Ohio to be reproduced by the letterpress method.

The offset technique requires less skill in the back shop and tends to accentuate shortcomings in the editorial and advertising departments. We wouldn't have it any other way.

But it was not so 29 years ago, when we came here.

It is the fashion these days to shoot the carrier of bad tidings, rather than to face up to what news he brings. Pheidippides ran 26 miles from Marathon to Athens to recount the victory and then collapsed in death.

Weekly newspapering is no longer the refuge of the country printer. It demands professional management, professional services, professional attitudes.

No longer should the small town resident expect the cracker-barrel, self-effacing, innocuous reportage that characterized the press of the last generation.

But the professional has a right to be taken for what he is - a professional. To be treated as such, to be patronized as such, to be respected as such. When he fails, he should be told so, and he should be afforded an opportunity to mend his ways, if indeed they can be mended, and to recover what may have been lost because he unintentionally gave offense.

Newspaper people are too frequently cursed for negativism. How they cry out for the merest opportunity to be positive, and to remain honest, decent, moral and upright. Sometimes it's hard as hell!

Amanda, four, and Alisa, two, are the daughters of the Nathan Maggards, 150 Railroad street.

Brandt, eight months, is the child of the John Whickers, 79 1/2 Plymouth street.

Property sales go up 30%

Real estate sales in Huron county have risen 30 per cent over last year, John Elminger, recorder, reports.

Number of deeds recorded in 1983 was 838 from Jan. 1 to June 30. A year ago it was 619.

Mrs. Carnahan dead at 88

Mother of Roger Carnahan, Route 98, Mrs. Archie B. Carnahan, 88, died Tuesday morning at the house of her daughter, Mrs. Roy Palm, North Fairfield. She was born in White Haven, Md., but had lived 67 years here. She attended the North Fairfield Methodist church and was a member of Allen

United Methodist church in Maryland. She was also a member of the Huron Road Farm club. Her husband, four grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild also survive. Mourners may call Kuback-Smith Funeral home, North Fairfield, today from 2

1 won, 202 lost over 34 years

Big Red football squad will undertake its 35th season in Mary Fate park Sept. 2 against Seneca East's Tigers in a non-conference contest. It will be the 311th interscholastic game that Plymouth has participated in. For the record, it has won 100, lost 202 and tied eight.

Its first game was against St. Paul's at the high school Sept. 17, 1948, and the Plymouth team, then called the Pilgrims, went down to defeat, 25 to 6. Richard McMullin, who now lives in Mansfield, was the coach. He had seen some service with the Baltimore Colts. A veteran of the armed services, he undertook Plymouth's first eleven.

One of the reasons Plymouth had had no team, and it was just one reason, was that it had no field. Trustees of Mary Fate park were prevailed upon to make available a tract of land that volunteers of the community prepared in 1950 as a lighted football field. It is now called the Robert A. Lewis Memorial field. For the seasons of 1948 and 1949 the squad played on a field laid out on ground east of the high school.

Lewis, a barber here for three generations until he died suddenly in 1980, was a prime mover in organizing the field and the team. He never missed a home game so long as he lived. Indeed, when he prepared for the surgery from which he did not recover, he sought counsel of the sports editor of The Advertiser to determine what dates the Plymouth team would fill at home so he could enter the hospital, submit to the relatively minor surgery, and be healthy in time to resume attending the games.

Season tickets were $2.25 for adults, $1 for pupils. Single game admission was 60 cents for adults, 25 cents for pupils.

Hoffman Farms, of which the late Burr Knasus was manager, gave the squad some warm-up jackets for the 1949 season. The cost was $250.

The first squad won two games and lost five.

Only once in its 35 year history has the local team won a league championship, and that occurred when it didn't bear the name "Plymouth." In 1956, with Coach J. Pettit as coach, it won the league and tied one and won the North Central conference. But the team was known as Huron Valley, and its nickname was the Warriors.

Goth to play in tourney in California

Ashlund Merchants ESS, of which William Goth is a member, is on its way to Bakersfield, Cal., to play in the International Congress Softball championship. The team has won the state championship and will meet the All-American Bar team, Houston, Tex., in its first game Saturday morning. It is a double elimination tournament.

Goth plays second base. He is a 1967 graduate of Plymouth high school, where he was a star athlete.

His mother is Bernita Goth, and the team are leaving today by air for Las Vegas, Nev. They will drive on to California. Goth will leave tomorrow.

That memorable team, guided by A. Ray Einsel at quarterback and with L. Edward Taylor at halfback, defeated Green Springs 45 to 0, Ashland Reserves 49 to 0, Seville 45 to 0, tied Brier Hts. 7 to 7 (Einsel and Dewey Acord, the all-league fullback of the Tigers, were ejected for fighting), and then won over Lodi 42 to 0, Westfield 44 to 0, Townsend-Wakeman 24 to 6 and Burgoon 62 to 0. The last game was one that Plymouth fans will remember for a lifetime. The Burgoon gridiron was behind the school in the northwest corner of Seneca county. The game was played on a bleak cold afternoon. It was held up for over 35 minutes because a flight of starlings alighted on the goalposts, the flagpole, the bleachers, the players, the officials and the school. And it stayed there until, mysteriously, it flew off.

Coaches subsequent to McCallen were the late Don

Frail, who died of cancer at Marietta, where he was a collegiate mentor; Fred Kreuzfeld, Felsi, Dr. William Ramseyer, now head coach and athletic director of Wilmington college, Richard Carpenter, Lawrence J. Root, Michael McFarren, David Cochran in four attempts, three over Seneca East in five tries, over Black River in five efforts, and six over Lucas's Cubs in eight games.

Plymouth's longest rivalry is with Westview, which it has played consecutively since 1963, winning 13, including 10 straight and losing eight. With South Central its record is eight-and-a-half.

With St. Paul's, its record is a dismal one-and-15.

The Big Red has managed three victories over Monroeville in seven tries, one over Centerville in four attempts, three over Seneca East in five tries, over Black River in five efforts, and six over Lucas's Cubs in eight games.

Dry herbs now; Auntie tells how

BY AUNT LIZ

If you have good smelling things growing, start drying them for lovely little gifts. This can be lavender, rose, geranium, rosemary, mint, or even rose petals.

You can always whip up little bags to go in dresser drawers. Or you can get a little more daring, and make usable pillows for sleeping purposes.

You should be a little careful, though, to whom you give such a thing. They may be allergic and spend nights sneezing until they catch on to what is causing it.

Maybe you ought to experiment a little first to see if you like the idea.

Take two men's handkerchiefs, sew them together on three sides, then stuff with whatever you have. You need about eight cups, and if you add a drop of two of benzoin the scent is "fixed." Stitch the fourth side closed.

Then cover it with something gay or even a lovely new. To me, anyway, it's a tape that sticks and readily pulls apart. It can be stitched onto the open side or cemented on, which is even easier. Even parsley, which is very fragrant, can be used, but it is almost better to eat.

With a good soap (which comes in the next) make bread strips with a spread. Soften a fourth of a cup of margarine with two tablespoons of grated Cheddar and chopped parsley, a tablespoon of cream, a teaspoon of golden minced green pepper and good prepared mustard.

Spread this on strips of bread. Half slices are a little more practical. Broil until golden.

There are 50 millions of soups to make, but this one should take care of all those green peppers. Maybe not all, but some.

Sauce a half cup of chopped peppers with a fourth of a cup of chopped onions in a tablespoon of margarine until the onions are golden. Add two cups of chicken broth and a fourth of a teaspoon of oregano. Simmer for 10 minutes, then puree it in a blender for a couple of seconds.

In another saucepan melt a tablespoon of margarine and carefully blend in a tablespoon of flour. Some eat, too, if you like. Cook until bubbly, remove from heat and gradually add a cup of warm milk, stirring very carefully until it is smooth and thickish. Never, never, pour the milk in at once.

Mix the two mixtures by adding the pepper one slowly while stirring.

Heat and eat or chill and eat.

Along with your canning and getting ready for winter, this is a good time to try this, which might be real and great for Thanksgiving.

It is called Florida Champagne.

The only thing difficult about it is finding a crock jar that will hold about two gallons. A crock should work nicely if you have one. Mix one and a half pounds of cracked corn, four and a half pounds of sugar and a cup of chopped raisins.

Cut four oranges and two lemons in half and squeeze the juice into something. Throw the rinds in but do not squeeze them.

To all of this, add a gallon of cold water and let it ferment for 21 days. Strain it, bottle it and cork it loosely a month later.

Your energy-saving options are as easy as:

Electric Thermal Storage.
ETS: Thermal Storage, ETS, a very efficient whole-house heating system that works in a unique way. It stores enough heat at night to heat your home for the rest of the day.

Because ETS uses electricity at night, when the cost of electricity is less, ETS customers qualify for special rates. So you'll get lower electric rates for heating. And for all other electricity you use at night. What's more, the same lower rates apply all winter long.

ETS not only heats your home, it also heats your water. Individual room heaters are available, too.

Add-On Electric Heat Pump.
Another very modern option to save energy and money.

An Add-On Electric Heat Pump works with your existing furnace — no matter what kind of fuel it uses — to heat your home more efficiently all winter long.

In summer, it's a central air conditioner, cooling and dehumidifying your home.

So an Add-On Electric Heat Pump can actually work year round for you and save money on your winter heating costs.

Add-On Resistance Heating.
Another add-on option. Your third way to save energy and money.

Add-On Resistance Heating is simply an electric element that's slipped into the duct of your furnace. It takes over for your furnace on weeknights and weekends when the cost of electricity is less. And, as an Add-On Resistance Heating customer, you pay special lower rates for nighttime heating — as well as all other electricity you use during those same hours.

For a low initial investment, Add-On Resistance Heating can be a real comfort to your nighttime heating costs.

What's black & white and read all over?

Everyone knows that—a newspaper. But did you know that no other medium can come close to newspapers, in terms of the depth of information provided to you, or in the number of people reached (3 times as many people will read a newspaper today as will watch a network news broadcast), or in terms of advertising placed (Newspapers place more advertising than T.V., radio and magazines combined)?

Moreover, a newspaper gives you the freedom to decide what you want to read or reread, whenever you like, and almost wherever you go.

As timely as this morning's events, and as timeless as the words of Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, the newspaper is a friend and servant to all. And it's even more vital to your life today than ever before.

Get ahead in your reading—read the newspaper.
