However, this does not mean it will all be spent. Year-end balances for village funds show an increase in most departments, according to John Fazzio, clerk-treasurer, in his report to the council for December. The general fund ends the year with $74,365.47. Last year it was $24,470.10. This is comprised of $32.50 for schools, $4.90 for the township, $6.95 goes to the county and $3.30 to the township. Expenses amounted to $2,761.90, which included $230.35 for payroll, an item that occurs at year's end. Receipts totaled $3,096.61. Calls during December numbered 12 in the village, six in Plymouth township, two in Tiro.

Man, 28, returns to reformatory; assaulted cop

A 28-year-old Plymouth man will serve from four to 15 years in the state reformatory because he can't handle his booze.

Rayford Harmon was ordered to serve the sentence Jan. 6 by Huron County Judge Robert W. Smith in an emotion charged courtroom. Harmon appeared before the bench after sheriff's deputies carefully searched spectators with a metal detector.

Harmon was arrested Nov. 3 for allegedly taking a swing at Police Chief Frank Hodge.

In 1979, Harmon was accused of taking the weapon of a Greenwich police officer and aiming it at him. He pleaded guilty to felonious assault and was given a sentence for four to 15 years. After serving almost 90 days in the reformatory, he planning, which covers police, fire, ambulance, youth, building and general planning; Hopkins and Barber.

Hopkins reported the ambulance observed its 10th anniversary on Jan. 12.

He pointed out unpaid bills for squad runs total almost $1,000 a year since it began, with just under $11,000 outstanding.

Wolfe's advice was sought. He explained several routes of how to collect overdue bills. He warned the council it is necessary to be practical about collecting because the cost of collecting could be more than the sum being collected.

Formal approval was given to the appropriation ordinance for this year.

Moore pointed out the $33,000 earmarked for capital improvements from the income tax represents 75 per cent of the anticipated collections after departmental expenses are paid.

Police Chief Frank Hodge's monthly report was accompanied by a map of the village showing the places from which calls were received. One area stand-out is south of West Broadway and west of Plymouth street.

The public defender argued that Harmon did well from November, 1979, to late 1983, when he lost his job and became depressed. He said Harmon, who has apologized to Hodge, could remain on probation and continue to seek alcohol counseling. The judge ruled otherwise. He said Harmon is a menace to society.

Could village have survived without Fate-Root-Heath Co.?

"There wouldn't be a Plymouth today, probably, if it weren't for Fate-Root-Heath Co."

That statement comes closer to the truth than any which relates to the history of the village.

All of its originators save one, Percy H. Root, have died. He is now 83, semi-retired.

With his father, the late Clayton F. Root, and his brother-in-law, the late Charles E. Heath, who married Mabel E. Root in 1892, Percy Root and his brothers, the late John A. Root and Halsey F. Root, came here in 1895 from Medina. They occupied a building offered by the village. It is now Plant No. 4 of the company.

The Root Bros. Co. then manufactured a cobbler's outfit. On a cold night in March, the equipment of the firm was moved in box cars on the P. A. and W. railroad, predecessor of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown.

IN 1896 THE FIRM INCORPORATED. Clayton F. Root was elected president, Charles E. Heath vice-president and general manager, John A. Root treasurer, Halsey F. Root secretary and Percy H. Root superintendent.

Root Bros. Co., also known as the Heath Foundry & Manufacturing Co., merged with the J. D. Fate Co. in 1918.

This company was the brainchild of John D. Fate, Jr., who associated with E. M. Freese to form Ohio Brick & Tile Machinery Co. in 1879. In 1881 the firm moved here.

In 1890, Fate sold his interest to Freese and organized the Fate & Gimsaullus Co., in 1891, to make brick and tile machinery. Seven years later, he admitted his sons to partnership. Harley H. Fate was elected vice-president, George B. Drennan treasurer and Miss Edith K. Drennan secretary. She was the first woman to be elected to any responsible office, public or private, in the village.

When John D. Fate died in September, 1902, Harley Fate was named president, Harry Fate vice-president and Drennan secretary and treasurer. Death of Harry Fate in 1918, two years after Harley died, prompted the merger of the two companies.

This was finally effected in 1919.

IN ADDITION TO THE manufacture of brick and tile machinery which it inherited from the Fate firm, the new organization continued the manufacture of industrial locomotives, first of which it undertook in 1914, after designs by the late Floyd B. Carter, chief engineer. From 1907 to 1913, the firm built the Plymouth Motor truck.

The first friction-drive locomotive drew broad interest in the trades for which it was designed. Ultimately 2,162 of them were sold. Carter then designed an eight-ton locomotive with a gear-drive transmission. These were thereafter built to 40-ton weight.

In 1937, Carter designed larger locomotives, up to 70 tons, utilizing planetary-type transmissions, with side rod drives.

Electric and Diesel powered locomotives were been normal since. In 1903, the company's predecessor had acquired half interest in a patent owned by William H. Fetters for the manufacture of a machine to sharpen lawn mowers.

This was the beginning of the grinder division, which today occupies the first building acquired by the company, naturally enlarged to 175 by 50 feet.

THE FIRM HAS PRESENTLY an employment of about 300. Descendants of the original incorporators, or their kin by marriage, hold the principal offices of the company.

Chairman of the board is John F. Root, elder son of John A. Root. His brother, H. James, is president.

Miles W. Christian, who married G. Emeline Fate Simmons, daughter of Harley Fate, is vice-president and general-manager.

Joy W. Herbert, his brother-in-law, who married the elder daughter of Harley Fate, is a director.

Paul H. and Thomas F. Root, sons of Percy H. Root, are vice-presidents. So is Robert Heath Root, son of Halsey F. Root.

Despite difficulties during the depression, the firm has maintained a steady employment. Its growth has been less spectacular than some, but it is steady and solid.

"As Fate-Root-Heath goes, so goes Plymouth," is a fair statement of its influence on the village.

A labor of love, with respect

This sesquicentennial edition represents the best efforts of The Advertiser in presenting a clear and responsible account of 150 years of the village's history.

It was planned to be a history in three parts: what happened, what people did over 150 years, and who they were.

We have always believed that to study and/or write history, one should always ask "why?"

If history is to teach lessons, its student must always inquire why an event occurred, why a man or woman did what he or she did, or didn't do, why people behaved or failed to behave in their own best interests.

So far as we have been able, that is what we have done in this edition.

Although most of the work was done by the editor and his wife, special thanks are due many people for their kind and willing assistance: State Sen. Don J. Pease, Rep. Richard M. Christiansen, Rep. Charles A. Mosher, Mrs. Peyton W. Thomas, Miss Florence Danner, David H. Bachrach, John Bradford, William P. Day, Carl V. Ellis, Mrs. Kenneth V. Myers, Thurman R. Ford, Nathaniel Spear, Jr., and others.

The Advertiser's loyal staff, Donald H. Newton, Paul A. Zipfel, Donald E. Williams and Mrs. Samuel Carter, were faithful in carrying out the plans of the editor.

Special thanks are due A. L. Paddock, 3rd, for his assistance.

If this effort falls short of its aims, the editor is solely at fault.

His wife has been patient, forbearing and loyal to his plan. To her he owes much more than he can ever pay. And to her, he hastens to point out, her adopted community owes the thanks due a painstaking researcher who has a warm and generous spirit for the glorious past.

The meat of this edition was carved by her. And it is to her that this sesquicentennial edition, of which she is in fact the principal architect, is lovingly dedicated.

Pirate rally scuttles Red at foul line, 54 to 59

"You can pass too much, you can dribble too much, you can shoot too much, you can fumble it away too much," says Al McGuire, the resident genius of basketball, "but you can never rebound too much."

If it hadn't learned that axiom before Friday night, Plymouth knows it now. It was outbounded by Black River, notably by the towering Mike Clifford, who scored 26 points, 35 to 29 and the difference resulted in a 54 to 49 Firelands conference victory for the Pirates.

The visitors scored seven unanswered points midway in the fourth period, after Plymouth had pulled the same stunt slightly earlier, in the same quarter, to raise their score from 43 to 50, overtake the Big Red and establish a lead they never gave up.

And all of those seven points were scored by Clifford, No. 2 in a line of outstanding athletes of that family playing for Black River. Jim was the first.

He shot two free throws at 3:42 to tie it at 45, then a field goal at 3:14 and added two more charity tosses at 2:53, after being hacked by Mike McKenzie. Clifford added the front end of a one-and-one, fouled by Darren Branham, to raise his team's total to 50.

Down by five with 2:32 left, Plymouth tried hard to catch up.

McKenzie fired one home at 2:08. Mike Mullins countered with a free throw at 1:25 and when he missed the second, Plymouth asked for time.

When play resumed, and 46 seconds left, Clifford blew a chance to put it away by missing a free throw. Tom Baker, who played the game of his career in scoring 16 points, fired one home from the corner. Scott Neptune missed two free throws and Clifford another before Mullins connected on two penalty shots to seal it up.

Plymouth led after eight minutes, 15 to 12, and at the half by one at 26 to 25. It trailed by three after 24 minutes, being outshot from the field by the Pirates, seven to four.

But overall, Black River, won at the foul line, where it got no less than 31 chances and converted 18 of them. Plymouth was afforded 13 shots and made 11, certainly no cause for complaint.

The Big Red got off 59 shots at the basket and made 19 of them. Black River, much more cautious, fired 40 times and converted 18 times.

Only five Pirate players managed to score but Clifford's effort was more than enough. He had eight field goals from 13 shots and 10 free throws in 15 tries.

Mullins collected 13 points. In addition to Baker, Jeff Lasch was in double figures for the Big Red with 15. McKenzie, again off the bench, managed 10.

Rodney Hampton, Plymouth's leading scorer, was held to two points. These came in the third period, with just 3:05 left. He took just nine shots and was awarded not one free throw. Plymouth was less generous with mistakes than the Pirates. There were 17 turnovers charged to Plymouth, 23 against the Pirates.

The game was highlighted, if that verb is not offensive to describe action that was, at best, prosaic, by two four point plays, the first of which aroused the fire of the Black River bench. It was scored by Lasch in the second period. Clifford opened the fourth quarter with a four point play of his own.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:
You are to be commended for the forthright editorial contained in the Dec. 15 issue of The Advertiser. Those of us who have left Plymouth need to retain a positive view and your review offers that in an exemplary fashion. Congratulations and thanks for the memory refresher! It is easy for those of us who grew up and attended the schools there to forget the many contributions the community made to our careers. As time goes by I become more and more aware of the importance of the teachers I had at North school and at Plymouth High school. I recall with growing appreciation the kindness of the voters of Plymouth township who elected me clerk three times and the good people of Celeryville who provided me with employment during the depression years 1929-1934. Without this type of community support this farmer boy would have lacked the courage to try for something more.
Thanks again for your "respectful" editorial and I'm proud to say that I came from Plymouth!
Sincerely,
Raymond N. Hatch

You can't live on love forever.

He Felt Better, So He Didn't Take All His Medicine. Then He Felt Worse.

It's a familiar story. He started taking the antibiotic the doctor prescribed and within a day or two most of his symptoms were gone. He felt so much better that he decided not to finish the bottle.
"What's the point of taking it all?" he asked himself. "I'm over the worst. Besides, I don't like taking medicine all that much."
But the symptoms came back. With a vengeance.
Antibiotic medications include directions to take the medication until it is used up. Otherwise, the bacteria or other organisms that are causing the problem may not be completely eliminated. And that can mean trouble.

So, when you get any prescription, be sure you know—

- The name of the drug
- Its purpose—what conditions does it treat?
- How and when to take the drug—and when to stop taking it
- What food, drinks and other drugs to avoid while taking it
- What side effects may result—are they serious, short-term, long-term, etc.?

If you have any questions about your prescription, ask your doctor or pharmacist.

A warning from the Food and Drug Administration. For more facts about antibiotics, see the information packet, "Use the FDA. It's for You." NADA 102-222.

Spinach puffs: a new recipe

By AUNT LIZ

Some people get to be grandmothers and grandfathers 365 days a year. We don't. We get a few days each year, and it is plain fun. First, you have to adjust to each house, and they are a little different from what we have lived in for years. It's their plumbing: how to turn on a simple faucet. They go up and down and sideways. I actually sat on the edge of a tub waiting for scalding water to cool off because I would not admit I could not find the cold water.

Next come the beds. They were unbelievable. One of our children believes in the water type. They are really great after you get over that first siege of seasickness. One little move, and you create waves just like the first time we went out of the New York harbor, when a good dinner got lost in the bay.

And the traffic in a major city. Sure they have the same signs we do, 55 miles an hour, just they do not read. At one time we were sailing at 70 right in town, just keeping up with the traffic. There was no way a cruiser could nail anyone in a four lane deal that was almost bumper to bumper.

Then come the kids themselves. One of them really put Grandma in her place. I was helping her with her stamp album and came to a nice, large one of Lincoln and said, "This is President Lincoln." She looked at me and asked, "Grandma, did you know him?" Next was Wilson and right away I said I did not know him, either.

As grandparents, we do try to stay out of any child raising ideas. They have their own. I really did a real nice one morning. The when I put a speck of sugar on a dish of cereal. She loved it. And there is one dog in California who relaxes our visits. She gets little treats like a Christmas cookie and dog biscuit.

The whole thing was plain fun. It was almost unbelievable that we went from 15 below in Des Moines to almost 70 above in a couple of hours. It was raining when we got to California, a nice soft drizzle at first and then it came down in buckets. The natives were complaining like mad about it all. They are very spoiled people.

While they all complained simply sat and looked out the windows at camellias, hibiscus, birds of paradise, zeleas, you name it, they were all blooming amid beautiful green grass.

This is truly a great world and there is so much of it.

We know so many who say they will not fly at all. Frankly, it is the easiest way of seeing things. I saw more in three and a half hours of the United States of America than I had seen in 60 some years, (no way will I say how many 60's), but there was one catch to it all. The Grand Canyon was out the right window of the plane, and we had a left one. It was such a beautifully clear day.

Actually, the holiday was so much of just sitting around and relaxing, which was great, but we did eat... two Christmas turkey dinners, and what else can anyone

But I did come home with some good recipes. Our kids are good cooks.

This is great for a party, but can also be fed at an ordinary dinner. It is healthful.

It is Spinach Puffs.

Thaw a 10 oz. package of spinach, squeeze it dry. Then mix with a chopped garlic clove, a small onion (all in a processor), slowly beat in three egg whites, a cup of dried bread crumbs, a teaspoon of basil, a half teaspoon salt, marjoram, a fourth teaspoon of black pepper, a fourth of a cup of grated Parmesan and three tablespoons of margarine. Mix and form into balls, chill, and bake when you are ready at 300 degrees for a half hour.

In this happy weather you can stick them on the hood of a car in the garage and they will chill like a dream.

20-member committee studies if PLSD falls short of standard set by 'Nation at Risk'

A commission of 20 persons, some of them citizen-electors of the district, will meet for the second time Feb. 2 to discuss how the controversial report by the President's commission, "A Nation at Risk", impinges on Plymouth Local School district and what can be done to meet its recommendations.

The commission, recommended by Supt. Douglas Staggs in November and approved in principle by the board of education (it endorsed the administrator's suggestion as to its composition), has met once. It is heavily peopled by persons in the employ of the schools and some directly subservient to them. Staggs and the other three administrators, Jeffrey Slauson, high school principal; Edward M. Kinsel principal at Shiloh, and Mark E. Sheely, elementary principal here, and Charles M. Rinehart, board member, are the nucleus of the commission. Teachers appointees are C. Michael Follett, Plymouth Elementary school; Douglas A. Dickson and Mrs. Debra Hudson, Plymouth High school; Robert Bass and Terry Pore, Shiloh schools.

Pupil appointees are Thomas Baker and Michael McKenzie, 12th graders, co-presidents of the Class of 1984.

Parents of pupils named to the commission are Mrs. Lionel Howard, Mrs. Jeffrey Slauson, the Rev.

Pauline Atkins, Mrs. Larry F. Keinhart, Mrs. James Hawk and Mrs. Louis Lemaster.

Citizen-at-large appointees are Mmes. William R. Miller and Roy W. Carter.

The table which appears today was prepared by Harold E. Daup, who retired Dec. 31 as Richland county superintendent of schools.

Some of the data needs to be considered in the light of some divergencies from convention. For example, although pupil compliance with graduation requirements is shown to be 100 per cent in excess of the requirements, Plymouth does not insist upon four years of English, as do some other schools in the county system, all of the schools in the Huron county system and the two city districts in Huron county.

One copy of the report of the Presidential commission and the supporting data has been obtained by The Advertiser and will be made available to any citizen-electors on ad hoc basis for his study.

An effort is under way by The Advertiser staff to obtain a copy for use in Plymouth Branch library.

Newsy notes...

Robert Brown was released Sunday from Willard Area hospital.

Mrs. James Smith is recovering at her home from covering at her home from having surgery she underwent Dec. 15 in Cleveland clinic. While she was hospitalized, the Smiths' son, Capt. Scott Smith, was here on emergency leave from Midland AFB, England. He left Dec. 24 to head the holiday with his family.

Village costs rise by 16%

Some expenses are fixed, such as bond payments and county fees. The principal increase derives to the salary raises given to village employees, which boost benefit payments automatically.

Funds to run the police department are pegged at $127,000, a little less than $10,000 more than in 1983. The mayor and administration offices are increased to $6,800 from $6,250.

Legislative activities will cost $12,000, an increase of almost $2,000, most of which is for contractual services, such as village solicitor, and legal fees. The office of clerk-treasurer will cost $16,300, mainly because of the increase in his salary.

The income tax department remains almost the same as last year. A total of $33,000 is planned for transfers. Of that sum, $3,000 is earmarked for repairs to Mary Fae park swimming pool and $30,000 for street repairs.

Funds for maintenance of Greenlawn cemetery are figured at $34,475 and for Mary Fae park at $6,200, which is almost $3,000 less than last year because capital outlay for improvements is not anticipated.

Funds in the federal revenue sharing account will be $10,003.

Operation of the fire department, except for salary increases, are essentially the same, without including money being borrowed for the construction of the building addition.

A total of $103,100 to run the water department is planned. So is $178,000 for the sewer department. The electric department appropriation is $515,980, with the major portion of $365,000 planned for the purchase of power. The ambulance fund is $50 more at $16,650 for the year.

Planners seek to fund museum

Village planning commission again discussed ways and means of a combined library and museum when it met Jan. 3.

Roy Barber, village council member was chosen chairman. H. Lee Welker is vice-chairman and Mrs. Luella Vandervort secretary-treasurer.

In cooperation with Plymouth Area Chamber of Commerce members are seeking local historical material that will eventually be housed in the museum.

Cookie sale to start here

Brownie and Girl Scouts will take orders for cookies starting Saturday.

This is the 50th year of the Scouts selling cookies as a fund raiser for their activities. Two new cookies are being introduced for the golden anniversary. One is a pecan shortbread dipped in brown sugar praline. The other is a shortbread dipped in cocoa. Both will be imprinted with "Over 50 Years."
