

Who can afford to lose a horse?

For want of a nail, the shoe was lost.
For want of a shoe, the horse was lost.
For want of a horse, the battle was lost.

For want of a free throw, the game was lost.

At Centerburg Saturday night, at any rate.

A blind man could see that the officiating was uneven. Probably not intentionally. But there was good reason to feel slighted.

To feel slighted enough to storm out upon the floor and shout imprecations at the referee? We doubt it.

To set such an example for young men who, if we read the rules correctly, are supposed to learn sportsmanship and character and the joys of competing honorably in wholesome sport by participating in interscholastic basketball? We doubt that, too.

The points scored by Centerburg because Plymouth violated the conventions sufficiently to result in assessment of not one, not two, but three technical fouls, amounted to two, just enough to win.

It was, and is, but a game. One of many games that these young men will play in their lives, this year and, we fondly hope, in the years to come. We ought to keep that perspective.

Mr. Lombardi did schoolboy athletics a great disservice when he said, "Winning isn't everything, it's really the only thing!"

Not when to do so, or to try to do so, requires or demands, as these young men would put it, "blowing your cool".

E. W. Utiss, Mrs. Newmyer

Father was wont to say, "The older you get, the harder it is to say goodbye."
How right he was!

To say goodbye to such as Woodrow Utiss and Minta Newmyer was, for us, a toilsome task.

This was and is a better community because they passed through it.

Woody Utiss hardly ever said "No" to anybody. He was always generous with his volunteer time work to assist a deserving enterprise. He was a loving husband and a good father. His boys competed for Plymouth in athletics with great credit to them and to their family and their school. They have since become substantial citizens, in the mold of their father.

Minta Newmyer was, to say the least, unorthodox. But she got things done. And one well. She dealt with children of a difficult age and she treated each one as an individual. She always had time to deal with individual problems. She knew when to encourage and when to discourage. It is no surprise that her own family, two daughters and a son, turned out so well.

No community can afford to lose these kinds of person.

To say goodbye to them is painful. And we shared that pain with those who mourn them intimately.

But what is equally painful is the premonition that the mold may have been destroyed. For who will step forward to fill their places in the ranks?

First National had record year; loans increased

A banner year for First National Bank of Shelby was reported Jan. 17 by the president, total assets increased by 75 per cent to $70.6 million and deposits had increased by 82 per cent to $61.6 million.

These are record highs for both categories, George Williams said. "While growth is not the only measure of a bank's success, it does give evidence of continued satisfaction with the quality of service we provide the residents of Shelby, Plymouth, and surrounding communities," Williams said.

Partnership purchases 108 acres in township

Sale of 108 acres in Route 61 to Gauenbrink Farms, Ltd., a partnership, by Mueller-Hausa Farms, Inc., is reported by the Huron county recorder.

The parcel is composed of Great Lot 126 in Section 4, New Haven township, and Great Lots 127, 128, 137 and 138 in Section 1 of the township.

Seven Cousins Land Co., a partnership, has bought from Melvin E. Buckingham's estate 80.38 acres in Route 224, consisting of Great Lots 94, 93 and 118 in Section 4 of New Haven township.

Terry L. and Karen S. Jump bought the premises at 19 Park avenue from Roy D. and Ruth Ann Barber.

Charles J. and Emma H. Sloan have acquired Lot 99 in West Broadway from Ann E. and Laella A. Lindholm.

Charles Edward and Iva-leen Waddell have acquired Lots 119 and 51 in Park avenue from his parents, Oscar and Thelma Waddell.

Two named to dean's list

Two Plymouthites have been named to the dean's list for the fall quarter at the Mansfield campus, Ohio State university.

These are Martha Jean McCoy and Mrs. Douglas Stagg.

From Shiloh Hazel Campbell Rook has been named.

FFA places three boys in contest

FFA participants in the annual county public speaking contest came away with three second place awards.

Randy Smith won a silver rating in the creed competition.

Loren Krans got a gold award and second place in the prepared speech contest.

Brian Hess's silver rating took second place in the extemporaneous speaking contest.

Comments were also made at the annual meeting of stock holders regarding the growth of loans made by the bank. "The fact that First National's loans grew by nearly twice the rate as our deposits was planned. The amount of money that we, invest in the area is related to our communities' economic development, and that benefits us all," Williams said.

During 1963, First National was the lead bank in the consortium that provided refinancing to Ufa-Shebel by Business Forms, Inc. This financing potentially has saved 450 Shelby jobs.

Williams was named chairman of the board of directors in addition to his position as president, which he has held since 1974.

First National bank is Richardson County's largest independent hometown bank and operates three offices in Shelby and one office in Plymouth.

PLW buys two lines, to rehire 80 workers

Purchase of two lift truck lines will enable Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., to recall about 80 laid-off factory workers, President Miles W. Christian announced Thursday.

"We have bought the Omni platform truck operation of Gersentlager Corp. in Wooster and the Shreck forklift operation from Syson Corp.," he said.

PLW intends to combine the two lines with its Autolift division. Autolift, acquired some years ago from the Eaton Corp., is a heavy duty lift truck product.

Sales of PLW last year amounted to about $10 million.

The company has already recalled about 12 laid-off employees and intends to recall others as soon as it is tooled up to undertake production of the two new lines, particularly the Shreck forklifts.

The Omni platform truck is a side-loading platform outfit whose unique steering system enables it to turn in any direction. Production on it has already begun here.

"With these purchases," Christian said, "I should think we are able to stay on top of them". He was complimented by the council.

Approval was given to an ordinance that changes the allocations of local income tax receipts.

After the departmental expenses are paid, 84 per cent was to go for general municipal operations and 16 per cent for capital improvements.

Funds for general municipal operations will be divided, with 25 per cent for general operations and 75 per cent for capital improvements.

This will include sewer and street improvements, public buildings, parks and playgrounds, police, fire, street, water, electric and sewer departments.

This sum will be set aside after the first two allocations have been effected.

Hebble told the council a follow-up is being made to develop the village industrial park.

He also said a meeting will take place with the Julian Co., Inc., Cincinnati, to discuss the updating of the codification of village ordinances, which has not been done in almost three years.

Dismissal sought of all charges vs. Risner

Police officers stoutly denied under oath at Shelby Monday that they struck Gobel Risner, with a billy club or otherwise, during a confrontation at Risner's residence at 185 Riggs street on Dec. 3.

Risner swore he was struck by Patrolman Ronald Croxford with a billy club and thereafter by Chief Frank Hodge.

Risner's attorney, Steven Sancio, Akron, submitted a motion calling for dismissal of all criminal charges against Risner. Shelby Municipal Judge Vincent Phelan was to rule on the motion Tuesday.

John Allen, Richland county prosecutor, said he directed that Risner be taken to Shelby Memorial hospital for treatment.

Allen further stated that he sent two investigators, Lieut. Larry Faith and Sgt. James Burch of the sheriff's department, to make inquiries of Risner to ascertain if excessive force was used by any policeman. He said Risner refused to make any statement to the investigators and as a result of the investigation he recommended to Village Solicitor Richard C. Wolfe, 2nd, who put Allen on the stand at Plymouth proceed with misdemeanor prosecutions.

Croxford was accused of perjury. Sancio made the accusations after Croxford swore he did not strike Risner and neither did Hodge nor Patrolman Joseph McKinney.

Sancio said he has six witnesses who will testify to the contrary.

Wolfe declared the circus atmosphere and tactics employed by Sancio and said he "made a mockery of the proceedings".

Risner admitted he had been drinking heavily and claimed he broke up a fight at the residence of Bertha Texton at 170 Nichols street.

Mr. GOP will be 80!

Long public servant, Carl Ellis to mark anniversary

He who has been Mr. Republican in Plymouth for nearly three generations will mark his 80th anniversary Monday.

Carl V. Ellis, a 1922 alumnus of Plymouth High school who resides at 98 West Broadway, retains fairly good health and a sharp mind that remembers the Plymouth of another day.

He served 12 years as village clerk. He was for years a member of the Huron county fair board until he allowed his term to expire at the end of 1963. He was for several years a member of the Huron county board of health. He is now a trustee of Greenlawn and Pioneers Rest cemeteries, a post he has held for 15 years. He has been GOP committeeman for the Huron county side of the village "for so long I can't really remember when I started."

Married to the former Mary Elizabeth Flogoth of Greenwich, he celebrated a 50th anniversary in 1915. They were wed in her family home at Greenwich Dec. 23, 1925.

They lived there for several years while he was in the ice business. He served eight years as trustee of public affairs there.

The Ellises returned to Plymouth in 1935 and have lived here since.

His parents, the David William Ellises, were alive then. The senior Ellis was farm implement dealer and farmer.

His only son worked briefly for the Fate-Root-Heath Co.

But the call to public service was always strong. He ran for village clerk to succeed Harry Trauger in 1953 and was unopposed. He was five times reelected, then was defeated in 1965 by Guy Flora by 60 ballots.

He is a charter member of the Rotary club at Greenwich and has been a member of Richland Lodge 201, F.&A.M. here for over half a century. His membership in Plymouth Chapter 231, OES, which Mr. Ellis, a past worthy master of the Greenwich chapter, for long served as organist until she gave it up in 1983 in favor of Max Caywood, dates almost as far back.

His reputation for absolute honesty that extends into his manner of speech is spread across two counties.

"So long as Carl Ellis was clerk, you knew that every penny was where it ought to be and nobody was spending a penny he had no right to spend," says a veteran county official. "And Carl Ellis always told you where he stood and where you stood, with him and with the town. What could be better than that?"

His plans? "I'm in the November, maybe the December of my life. I plan to go on living it the way I always have, as long as I can. This is a good town and I live among good people and I intend to keep it that way."

Auntie's on first name basis with this mushroom frittate

By AUNT LIZ
What you call someone can be a real odd-ball thing. I was brought up rather strictly and in an era which is long gone. Never did I call any adult anything but a Mrs. So-and-So, except for very good family friends. They were to be called aunt and uncle. Some of them were great. They liked me and I liked them.
What brought this all to the surface was the other day when I called someone I have considered a nice friend for about 30 years. We were always Mrs. P. and Mrs. P. And can you believe she actually called me Elizabeth? Our call was a sad one, about a death, but having her call me by my name was a thrill.

I tried so hard to bring our kids up as a perfect lady and gentleman, which was a losing battle. They simply called everyone by his first name. Some I would never even consider referring to as such.

Kids are going to pick up names. You can't expect them to stop calling the gal next door by her first name when you do it all the time, but somehow we should retain a little dignity and politeness. Our diplomats know this from the word go. What is kind of sad is that the guys who think they should be the next president do not. There I go again, out of this world. But it seems to me that anyone who feels he is capable of having the honor of being president of our country should be at least polite and dignified. You don't have to say someone is saying "baloney". Heck, they can just say "He is inaccurate". We have enough words in our language to cover about anything.
There is one thing that I must give our daughter credit for. She has two healthy, normal, trouble-free kids like a lot of other mothers. They are quite good, but do have their bad moments. Sure, she yelled at them, but this way: "Ladies, I am driving and need it quiet." She could have said, "Kids, shut up." Those two, six and three, immediately caught on.
Word, words, words. They all exist, it is merely a matter of choosing the right ones. And choosing this recipe is plain right. I was going to save it until everyone's garden got going, but it is all buyable now, and is a treat this time of the year.

It is called Mushroom Frittata, which I think is not quite right.
Anyway, slice a cup of mushrooms, then in a food processor with thested blade do two-thirds cup of onions, and green peppers each, a cup of zucchini and about two cloves of garlic.
Saute them in about two tablespoons of oil until crispy tender. Don't overcook.
Have ready five well-beaten eggs with a third of a cup of light cream, some salt and pepper.
Add the vegetables to this with one and a half cups of soft bread cubes, a cup of shredded Cheddar cheese, and a small package of cream cheese cut in small cubes.
Mix it all gently because for some reason you do not want to break up the cream cheese.
Pour it all into a well-greased large pie tin, 10 inches. Bake at 350 for less than an hour until it is set.
It doubles like a dream and can be frozen. With a salad and some rolls, it can be a nice meal, or thinner slices can be served with a meat dish.
The thing about this is that with all the cheese, it is rich in protein and thoroughly disguises some vegetables that some people really hate.

Matthew, five and Randall, five months, are the children of the John Walters, 105 West Main street, Shiloh.

Lost weekend . . .

Wildcats upset Big Red at foul line; Plymouth hopes die on rim, 60 to 58

A spirited rally by Plymouth ended at the Trojans' New London Friday night with Big Red hopes for overtime teetering on the rim.

New London won, 60 to 58, thanks to a splendid performance by Steve Kozel, who scored 32 points, and a strong performance at the free throw line, where the Wildcats outshot Plymouth, 14 to 10.

Rod Hampton led a layup with four seconds left that would have tied it. He took down the rebound and fired again, without success.

There were three more rebounds and shots by Darren Branham, Brian Vredenburg and Mike McKenzie. But each of them failed to go down and Plymouth walked slowly away, beaten by the smallest team in the league.

It was tied at 27 at the half and New London took a lead of 10 points into the final eight minutes, having outplayed, outshot and out-rebounded Plymouth during the third period. The Big Red classically does not do well immediately after the half, when Al McGuire says most games are decided, and Friday night was no exception.

The Wildcats got off 14 shots and converted eight. Plymouth got off 13 shots and made three and that was the difference in the third quarter. It was a matter of two much Kozel. He was where he should have been at the right time and accounted for six field goals with nine shots in the third period alone. He had eight points in the second quarter.

Hampton was shot out in the first period, limited to three shots as Plymouth took a big lead and then watched it cut down to two at the buzzer. He ignited in the second quarter and produced eight of his total 14.

The other Plymouth scorers, and there were just four of them, did not contribute much to the first half. But then, neither did anybody else, even on the New London side. Tom Baker's eye was off. He took five shots and made just one.

In the fourth period, Plymouth began to move.

Although the Big Red had earlier run off nine points without response (the Wildcats had just poured 11 points through the hoop without answer), it was forced to be content with chipping away at the lead.

Bret Cooke scored the first basket of the fourth quarter with a rebound, then McKenzie banged two buckets and missed a free throw before Kozel broke the string. Vredenburg got one in off the end line at 4:30 and the lead was cut to six at 49 to 43.

The teams exchanged baskets twice and Plymouth asked for time out with 3:09 left. The difference was six points.

Ben Patrick, who learned his basketball at Shiloh, knocked one down from 20 feet out and McKenzie canned two free throws. Hampton stole the ball, passed to Baker and he laid it nicely into Branham's hands for a score.

Ahead by four at 55 to 51, New London called time out with 2:05 on the clock.

Cooke made the second of two free throws, Branham scored again at 1:51, whereupon Kozel was back at his old tricks with a garbage shot.

Hampton was awarded two free throws and made the first.

Baker scored at 46 seconds and the Wildcats used their last time out with 43 seconds left.

Kozel went to the line and missed. Scott Pfeiffer made two free throws off a foul by Hampton and those points were what won for New London.

Baker canned a field goal with 17 seconds remaining and Patrick blew a chance to put it away by missing a free throw at 14 seconds.

Girls beaten

Karen Fraslich is a sure-fire choice for all-Firelands conference forward and she showed why here Jan. 17 with a 26-point performance to lead Western Reserve to a 59 to 36 conquest of Plymouth.

The Roughriders broke it open in the second period, when Plymouth began, as Coach Brad Beam put it, "to stand around".

It was after eight minutes, 19 to 15, but the 'Riders doubled the score on Plymouth during the second period and went to the locker room at the half with a lead of 12 points.

Plymouth played catch-up basketball thereafter but it wasn't enough.

Western Reserve got off 56 shots at the basket, the same as Plymouth, and made 24. The 10 more than Plymouth. The Big Red missed 17 of 25 free throws, the 'Riders eight of

Centerburg nips Red, 67-66, at foul line

A furious rally fell short at Centerburg Saturday night as Plymouth was beaten for the second consecutive game this time by just one point, 67 to 66.

One Plymouth player who fouled out was ejected from the gymnasium. Three others fouled out. The star playmaker was injured on the last play of the first half and carried from the floor, unable to play again. Three technical fouls were assessed against the Big Red, two of them against coaches, one against the ejected player.

Twenty-seven personal fouls were whistled against Plymouth by the referees, Dan Martin and Chuck Dice, Mt. Vernon. They lost control of the game early in the first period.

Certainly a part of the problem is that Centerburg's floor is not of regulation size and its team is prepared to play on a narrower, shorter floor. It is taught to drive and officials assigned or contracted there are alerted to be prepared for this style of play.

Plymouth jumped out to an early lead and saw the Trojans tie the game at six. Before the first period closed, the score was tied four more times and the lead changed hands four more times.

It was knotted at 20 after eight minutes and the Trojans took a four point lead into the locker room at the half.

They did so because they were hitting the offensive boards with some skill - Centerburg wound up with 45 rebounds, whereas Plymouth managed only 27 - and shooting free throws almost beyond count. The Trojans shot 17 charity tosses and made 13 in the first half. And they were 13 of 25 from the field. Plymouth had 15 field goals in 30 tries and five of 10 free throws.

Craig Shoemaker had 11 points for the Trojans and Bryan Webb, who scored 15, field goals in his uncanny accuracy from the onespot in the corner, had 12.

Plymouth did not fall apart in the third period, as has been its wont. It outscored Centerburg by two with eight field goals. The Trojans had four field goals. But the visitors were afforded only one free throw during the third period, that by Hampton, which he missed, and Centerburg was given 10, of which it converted six.

Centerburg led by two going into the final eight minutes.

Centerburg managed to tie it at 58 on a shot by Jeff Laesch and again at 60 on a basket by Laesch. Jim Stoyle scored at 2:26 and after Plymouth missed an opportunity to tie it because a raw substitute, already fatigued from competition in the reserve game, missed the first of a free throw-and-bonus opportunity, Chris White converted a garbage shot and Plymouth cut into the four point advantage with two free throws by Hampton.

The clock read 1:02.

Centerburg called for time out with 35 seconds left and Chuck Yough missed a free throw that would have put it away.

With the score at 64, and time running out Shoemaker was awarded a free throw after he drove to the bucket with a score. He converted the shot and that was the winner.

Hampton came roaring down the floor with the inbound pass and drove toward the basket. His shot hit the glass and went down, just as the buzzer sounded. Plymouth fans shouted for a foul call but to no avail.

Not that Plymouth coach would greet his Centerburg counterpart and the players listlessly went through perfunctory greetings after the last whistle, obviously with no enthusiasm.

One faithful Plymouth fan said, "This is a nice town and this is a nice facility and I'm sure there are nice people. But it's too narrow, so we have to come on a cold winter night for a basketball game."

It was equally obvious that the Big Red faithful shared that opinion.

Shoemaker scored 21, White 16, Webb 14 for the Trojans, who got off shots at the basket and made 22. They missed 15 of 38 free throws.

Hampton bagged 24 and Laesch 12 for the Big Red, which scored with 28 of 77 tries for field goal and 10 of

No. 14 is the playmaker of the Big Red quintet. At least he was until the end of the first half at Centerburg Saturday, when he crumpled to the floor with an injury to an ankle. Tom Baker, 12th grader, outstanding football and baseball player, is probably Plymouth's best shot from a 10-foot radius and beyond.

Fitches don't apologize for 'Californiitis': consider their weather!

For two generations, Madison J. Fitch and his wife, who came from New Washington, braved the frigid blasts off Lake Erie as residents of Plymouth, where he was employed in the engineering department of the Fate-Root-Health Co., later Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc.
After retirement, in part because two-thirds of their children were living in California, the Fitches moved there last year. They took up residence in Hesperia, a community of 4,592 persons in San Bernardino county, about 20 miles north of the county seat, San Bernardino, where their life style has been affected — and infected — by what scoffers choose to call "Californiitis".

Making no apologies for their decision, the Fitches submit, for all of Plymouth to see, this clipping from their weekly newspaper, the Hesperia Valley Wide Vista, which shows the weather for the period Dec. 27, 1983-Jan. 2, 1984. It, they say, "speaks for itself."

Could village have survived without Fate-Root-Heath Co.?

"There wouldn't be a Plymouth today, probably, if it weren't for Fate-Root-Heath Co."

That statement comes closer to the truth than any which relates to the history of the village.

All of its originators save one. Percy H. Root, have died. He is now 83, semi-retired.

With his father, the late Clayton F. Root, and his brother-in-law, the late Charles E. Heath, who married Mabel E. Root in 1892, Percy Root and his brothers, the late John A. Root and Halsey F. Root, came here in 1895 from Medina. They occupied a building offered by the village. It is now Plant No. 4 of the company.

The Root Bros. Co. then manufactured a cobbler's outfit. On a cold night in March, the equipment of the firm was moved in box cars on the P. A. and W. railroad, predecessor of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown.

IN 1902 THE FIRM INCORPORATED. Clayton F. Root was elected president. Charles E. Heath vice-president and general manager, John A. Root treasurer, Halsey F. Root secretary and Percy H. Root superintendent.

Root Bros. Co., also known as the Heath Foundry & Manufacturing Co., merged with the J. D. Fate Co. in 1918.

This company was the brainchild of John D. Fate, Jr., who associated with E. M. Freese to form Ohio Brick & Tile Machinery Co. at Crestline in 1879. In 1881 the firm moved here.

In 1890, Fate sold his interest to Freese and organized the Fate & Gunsallus Co. in 1891, to make brick and tile machinery. Seven years later, he admitted his sons to partnership. Harley H. Fate was elected vice-president, George B. Drennan treasurer and Miss Edith K. Drennan secretary. She was the first woman to be elected to any responsible office, public or private, in the village.

When John D. Fate died in September, 1902, Harley was named president, Harry Fate vice-president and Drennan secretary and treasurer.

Death of Harry Fate in 1918, two years after Harley died, prompted the merger of the two companies.

This was finally effected in 1919.

IN ADDITION TO THE manufacture of brick and tile machinery which it inherited from the Fate firm, the new organization continued the manufacture of industrial locomotives, first of which it undertook in 1914, after designs by the late Floyd B. Carter, chief engineer. From 1907 to 1913, the firm built the Plymouth Motor truck.

The first friction-drive locomotive drew broad interest in the trades for which it was designed. Ultimately 2,162 of them were sold.

Carter then designed an eight-ton locomotive with a gear-drive transmission. These were thereafter built to 40-ton weight.

In 1937, Carter designed larger locomotives, up to 70 tons, utilizing planetary-type transmissions, with side rod drives.

Electric and Diesel powered locomotives have been normal since. In 1903, the company's predecessor had acquired half interest in a patent owned by William H. Fetters for the manufacture of a machine to sharpen lawn mowers.

This was the beginning of the grinder division, which today occupies the first building acquired by the company, naturally enlarged to 175 by 50 feet.

THE FIRM HAS PRESENTLY an employment of about 300. Descendants of the original incorporators, or their kin by marriage, hold the principal offices of the company.

Chairman of the board is John F. Root, elder son of John A. Root. His brother, H. James, is president.

Miles W. Christian, who married G. Emeline Fate Simmons, daughter of Harley Fate, is vice-president and general manager. Joy W. Herbert, his brother-in-law, who married the elder daughter of Harley Fate, is a director.

Paul H. and Thomas F. Root, sons of Percy H. Root, are vice-presidents. So is Robert Heath Root, son of Halsey F. Root.

Despite difficulties during the depression, the firm has maintained a steady employment. Its growth has been less spectacular than some, but it is steady and solid.

"As Fate-Root-Heath goes, so goes Plymouth" is a fair statement of its influence on the village.

A labor of love, with respect

This sesquicentennial edition represents the best efforts of The Advertiser in presenting a clear and responsible account of 150 years of the village's history.

It was planned to be a history in three parts: what happened, what people did over 150 years, and who they were.

We have always believed that to study and/or write history, one should always ask "why?"

If history is to teach lessons, its student must always inquire why an event occurred, why a man or woman did what he or she did, or didn't do, why people behaved or failed to behave in their own best interests.

So far as we have been able, that is what we have done in this edition.

Although most of the work was done by the editor and his wife, special thanks are due many people for their kind and willing assistance: State Sen. Don J. Pease, Rep. Richard M. Christiansen, Rep. Charles A. Mosher, Mrs. Peyton W. Thomas, Miss Florence Danner, David H. Bachrach, John Bradford, William P. Day, Carl V. Ellis, Mrs. Kenneth V. Myers, Thurman R. Ford, Nathaniel Spear, Jr., and others.

The Advertiser's loyal staff, Donald H. Newton, Paul A. Zipfel, Donald E. Williams and Mrs. Samuel Carter, were faithful in carrying out the plans of the editor.

Special thanks are due A. L. Paddock, 3rd, for his assistance.

If this effort falls short of its aims, the editor is solely at fault.

His wife has been patient, forbearing and loyal to his plan. To her he owes much more than he can ever pay. And to her, he hastens to point out, her adopted community owes the thanks due a painstaking researcher who has a warm and generous spirit for the glorious past.

The meat of this edition was carved by her. And it is to her that this sesquicentennial edition, of which she is in fact the principal architect, is lovingly dedicated.
