

Throongs witness Village Days

'Bugs and all, we're going to do it again next year'

First Village Days, "bugs and all", leads its planners and executors to a second one next year.

No unfavorable comments have been received by Plymouth area Chamber of Commerce or the committee headed by Douglas A. Dickson and Shannon Baker, but "next time we're going to have more going on and we're going to pack it into the Square."

What were the benefits of the two day event, marred somewhat by a heavy rain Saturday night?

"I'd like for the town and its people, and some happy shoppers who bought out just about everything that was for sale by exhibitors," one committee member told The Advertiser.

Mrs. Elton A. Robertson and her younger daughter, Mary, now Mrs. John L. Fettes, Canal Winchester, came for the day Saturday and made some purchases of handicrafts. "It was great to see so many old friends and to see what Plymouth can really do when it tries," they said.

Robert Taylor, president of First National Bank of Shelby, was a participant in the ribbon-cutting Saturday. So was William R. Miller, president of the Chamber.

Art classes of Plymouth High school, which prepared pen-and-ink copies of old-time scenes in the village and had them printed, sold the prints for $1 each. Their instructor, Mrs. Debra Hudson, said they sold sets of 13 sketches for $10 each "like hotcakes", a total of 30 on Sunday alone.

Visitors to the new museum prepared by Plymouth Historical society numbered 722.

Concert by Plymouth High school band on Saturday was warmly received, albeit by smaller crowds than were anticipated.

The quilt shown in Plymouth United Methodist church, organized by Mrs. Raymond DeVries, was "a great success." Attendance was "a lot more than we ever dreamt."

Plymouth Garden club prepared natural wreaths for sale and "we please see page 4

Will village get $750,000 UDAG grant?

A UDAG grant may be in the offing for Plymouth, its village council learned in committee Monday.

James C. Root, village administrator, said it is likely that $750,000 will be approved for the expansion of Phillips Manufacturing and Tower Co., located between here and Shelby in Route 61.

The grants are made to municipalities in their name to fund expansion of a business that need not be located within the municipality but must aid the surrounding area by creating jobs.

If the funding is granted, the company then repay the village with interest over a designated period of time. The proceeds will then be available for village use. The only restrictions on their use are that no salaries may be increased.

In the next breath, Root delivered some bad news.

He has recommended the council approve the expenditure of about $4,000 as the village's share in fighting a proposed change in the cost of the AEP transmission line, which Ohio Power Co. shared with five other power distributors.

If the change is approved at the federal level, he said, village electric rates will automatically be increased two per cent, or about $8,000 annually, by Ohio Power to meet its share of using the lines.

At the meeting he attended last week with the company and the other 14 municipalities that also purchase power wholesale, as does Plymouth, it was explained that Ohio Power has already paid for its share of the necessary equipment over a period of years. The other companies have not done so as yet. A move is afoot that their costs be shared equally, thus creating the increase in electrical rates.

"What it means," Root said, "is that the other companies will be paying a lesser share annually while Ohio Power's will be increased."

A law suit is underway to fight the proposed change.

Numbering of houses came under fire. In the newer sections of the village, they are numbered by several methods and have been accepted by the post office.

For the most part many are using lot numbers, which is not, according to state law, which reads that odd numbers are to be on the left side of a street and even on the right side.

It was determined that remedy of the problem falls under the please see page 4

Five cases transferred by mayor

Five pleas of not guilty by Matthew McClain resulted in mayor's court on Sept. 25 transfer of the venue to Norwalk Municipal court.

He is charged with two counts of disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, assault and criminal damaging.

Mark Riesenler pleaded not guilty to a charge of operating a motor vehicle while under suspension.

The charge was dismissed.

Vaughn Coburn, Shelby, charged with speeding 49 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, did not appear. Neither did Rogelio Alonso, Plymouth, accused of having no operator's license, drunken driving and driving with an open container of alcoholic beverage.

William Hicks, Willard, pleaded no contest to a charge of disorderly conduct. He was convicted and fined $20. Mills Lewis, Plymouth, also charged with disorderly conduct, pleaded guilty and was fined $20.

Other fines: Rebecca Stockmaster, Attica, failure to halt within an assured clear distance, guilty, $40; Mark A. Clem, Willard, operating a vehicle while under suspension, guilty, $40; Carol A. Shepherd, Plymouth, expired operator's license and speeding at 47 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, guilty, $20 and $24; Cristy L. Weller, Mansfield, speeding, guilty, $40; Robert D. Wells, Plymouth, improper tags, guilty, $20.

Boy, 16, shot in right thigh

A 16-year-old Plymouth High school boy accidentally shot himself in the right thigh with a .22 rifle while hunting Saturday at 5:45 p.m. and was treated in Willard Area hospital.

Robert Brubaker was hunting near Cheesman road, here he lives.

Candidates to meet voters here Monday

A Meet the Candidate night will be conducted by high school government classes taught by Douglas A. Dickson Oct. 15 from 7 to 8:15 p.m.

All Richland and Huron county candidates will be invited to attend. Candidates who face opposition will be asked to speak briefly.

After all candidates have spoken or been introduced, a question-and-answer period will be conducted.

Huron county candidates will meet the public in the new gymnasium, Richland county candidates in the old gymnasium. Jodi Pitzer is chairman of the committee, assisted by Kelly Wilson, Angie Beverly, Michael Hawkins, Bertha Hall and Scott Ryan.

William McVey, 12th grader, letterman, has played Edison twice. Once his team was soundly trounced. In the other, his team won a glorious conference championship victory. On Saturday he and his teammates seek Win No. 2 at Milan, where Edison is the favorite.

Two receive 4-H awards

Mrs. G. Deming Seymour and Mrs. Paul Kranz, Shiloh, were Richland county representatives at the 41st annual recognition luncheon for Ohio 4-H volunteers. Mrs. Seymour marked 25 years of volunteer service as adviser to Shilohettes at 4-H club.

Mrs. Kranz, a retired teacher, as is Mrs. Seymour, also has served 25 years as adviser to Shilohettes 4-H club.

Big crowd sees queen at game

A larger crowd watched Friday night while Plymouth High school conducted its annual Homecoming hoopla, a ritual that glorifies incense rather than alumni.

The queen, Bertha Hall, was escorted by Co-Capt. David Burks of the football squad. She is the daughter of the Charles Hall. Her court was comprised of Bill Schrader, daughter of the Bill Schraders, 12th grader, escorted by Co-Capt. Mike Hawkins; Carol Tuttle, daughter of Mrs. Doris Stover and of Ronnie Tuttle, 11th grader, escorted by Eric Rath; Kay Niedermeier, daughter of the Harold Niedermeiers, 10th grader, escorted by Jeff Redden, and Donell Branham, daughter of the Donald Branham, ninth grader, escorted by Greg Burks.

New Haven gets $1,000 grant

A grant of $1,000 has been accorded trustees of New Haven township by Huron county commissioners to install an access ramp for the handicapped in the township hall in New Haven.

Schroeder buys Fox's parcels in Lake drive

Sale of three parcels in Plymouth has been recorded at Norwalk, John Elminger, recorder, reports.

Carl E. Schroeder has acquired from Emmett Fox Lots 219, 292, 293, 294 and 295 in Lake and Pleasant drives and Lots 298, 299, 301 and 302 in the same streets which lie in New Haven township. The latter four lots are in Willard School districts.

Paula J. Bechtel has acquired Lot 209, Maple street, from Marvin G. Bechtel, who also conveyed to her one acre in Route 103, New Haven township.

Roberts Elden Keeler has acquired from William Jack White 96.656 acres in the north side of Route 224 east of New Haven, New Haven township, described as Lots 80, 79 and 65 in Section 2. The parcels extend to Route 61.

Schools extend Staggs's contract

Douglas Staggs has a new three-year contract as superintendent of Plymouth Local School district that takes effect Aug. 1, 1985, but he has a diminishing constituency, he reported to his employers Monday night.

On recommendation of David McVicker, county school superintendent, the board without dissent offered Staggs a renewal of his contract for three years.

Then he reported that enrollment has dropped 2.88 per cent to 1,207 pupils. Last year, he added, the steady decrease in enrollment that was recorded "for eight or nine years was reversed some please see page 4 what" to 1,243 pupils. There are now 336 pupils in Plymouth High school, 576 pupils in Shiloh Junior High and Elementary schools and 235 pupils in Plymouth Elementary school.

He had forecast to the state department of education an enrollment of 1,220 pupils by Oct. 1.

The board met in special session last night to interview four candidates for the head wrestling coach's post and to act upon quotations for insurance on buildings and contents, school band instruments and farm machinery, which bids were incomplete please see page 4

On endorsements

Should a newspaper endorse candidates? Should a newspaper that holds itself out as a local newspaper endorse local candidates?

Having once been told emphatically by no less than the mayor of this community that to do so was and is wrong, was and is a violation of good taste, human rights and personal privilege, we have nevertheless persisted in endorsing one candidate or another, when it seemed proper to do so. Sometimes, when we thought neither candidate to be worth electing, we refrained from any endorsement whatsoever.

Does an endorsement do any good? We have often wondered if this is the case. Nevertheless, every candidate seeks endorsement, and some have made no bones about coveting that of this newspaper.

What are the ground rules?

They are simple.

An incumbent who seeks reelection deserves it unless his opponent makes a clear and convincing case for his defeat.

Where there is no incumbent, each candidate must identify the issues as he sees them, take a stand on them, say where he stands on issues he may not have identified, and manifest some evidence that if he is elected he will carry out the promises he has made to the electorate.

Voters will choose two county commissioners, a sheriff, a prosecutor of the common pleas, a recorder, a common pleas judge, a clerk of courts, a state senator and a representative to the General Assembly. Not all of these are opposed.

We expect, and invite, those who face opposition to make clear, to us and to our neighbors, why they should be elected, where they stand on all of the issues of the times, and, in the several instances where there is challenge to an incumbent, why that incumbent should be turned out.

Carey's kin succumbs at 79 at Columbus

Aunt of Mrs. Allen Carey, 329 Willow drive, Mrs. Kenneth Cronenwett, 79, Galion, died in University hospital, Columbus, Sept. 30 of a brief illness.

Vo-ag team wins in county contest

Vocational agriculture pupils won just about everything in sight during the annual land judging contest, conducted by Richland Soil and Water Conservation District on the Charles Winger farm in Ashland road.

Competing with six other county schools, Plymouth won first place overall, with Lucas and Clear Fork tied for second and Shelby and Crestview tied for third. Pioneer Joint Vocational school was fourth.

Individualy, Plymouth produced a tie for first in competition of judging land for agricultural uses. Robert Stephens tied with Matt Bernhardt, Crestview, for first place. And Plymouth claimed first place in judging of land for urban use. Brian Niedermeier was the winner.

Jesse Miller took second place in judging land for agricultural use. Joe Oyster, Clear Fork, third.

Plymouth won the rotating trophy donated by First Buyco Bank, N. A., and each winner will get a cash award from the bank.

Put your mind at ease, automatically.

As the shadows deepen at the end of the day, those dark places in your yard seem to creep closer and closer to the house. Pretty soon you can't see anything at all.

Unless you have an outside Security Light from your electric company.

You can light those dark places and see up to 200 feet away with a Security Light. It illuminates an area of about 11,000 square feet, almost a quarter of an acre, putting the darkness back where it belongs.

The Security Light automatically switches itself on at dusk, giving you protection all night long until dawn when it turns itself off. All the electricity necessary for operation and any maintenance, including replacing burned out bulbs, is covered in just one low monthly charge.

Mrs. Kensingger defends the role of housewife

All about town

Sir: I am writing to tell you how much I have enjoyed reading weekly articles about various citizens of our community. They were well written articles about interesting, deserving people. I hope you will continue them as a regular feature in the Advertiser.

However, I must take exception with the statement in your front page article last week which stated that it is a fraud to think that "emancipate love and the career of a quiet housewife is adequate to satisfy the mind and talents of a healthy, mature, educated woman."

I get the impression that you think a woman doesn't need intelligence to be a housewife. It takes a very special talent to run a home well.

A housewife is not a woman who sits and watches soap operas on television all day. We are creative, productive citizens working for our families, our churches, and our communities. We find fulfillment in caring for our homes, our husbands, and our children. My husband brings home the bacon and I cook it gladly!

As we budget the family income, nurse the sick, launder the clothes, grow and preserve the vegetables, listen to our family's problems and try to counsel them, cook the meals, sew the clothes, teach the children, refurbish the furniture, keep everyone on schedule, entertain guests, work in the community, serve our God, and clean and care for our homes, we certainly need talent and intelligence to get it all done.

As my family sits down together each night to a home-cooked meal, I thank God that I live in a country where I can have the choice to stay home and care for my home and family and that I can provide for them a home that is a home from the outside world they face every day in the outside world.

Just sign me a happy, healthy, mature, intelligent homemaker!
Miriam Kensingger

Sir: What kind of consultants have our county commissioners hired to advise them on a means of waste disposal? They are set on a landfill and have condemned any other form repeatedly. A landfill is obsolete. Many states have banned their use due to the environmental and health hazards they create. Will Ohio and/or the Federal Government soon follow?

Is their choice of a landfill more lucrative for them? Is this the reason for their being so against a more acceptable form of waste disposal? This, of course would be dishonest. Dishonesty or stupidity, whichever our commissioners have put thousands of dollars of hard earned taxpayers money in this firm pocket and continue so that they can present us lay people with answers we have known all along to be wrong.

This also raises questions as to our commissioners ability to lead this county (our county). Our present landfill has been approved, which means our commissioners have failed to research alternatives and plan for a safer future for our county and its residents. Then when time was of an essence, a firm was hired to choose a site for a landfill with no thought being given to the future and our well-being.

We need self-thinking, self-starting individuals who can lead our county and earn their salaries through hard work and sound decisions. We have commissioners who follow the path of least resistance by making decisions that require the least amount of effort.

Since we, the taxpayers, have hired (by election) our county commissioners to do a job for us, we have the right to demand that they perform their job with regard to what is in our best interest.

A public opinion poll taken by Station WMAN has revealed that 85 per cent of the people favor a safer, more environmentally acceptable alternative to a landfill. This, in part, is why we the taxpayers should be allowed to vote on important issues that will directly affect us.

We, the residents of Richland county, should awaken ourselves to the serious impact our commissioners can make on our future and elect honest, forthright individuals with sound minds who will serve the taxpayers and not their campaign contributors.

This is the year to give very careful consideration to the elections. Do some careful evaluation of your choices. It's time to elect men or women to jobs they are capable of performing, not to vote for their party. Register to vote and exercise that right.

Sir: Empresses, that's one of our most beautiful feelings we all share at one time or another. Losing someone close to you can create an emptiness that cannot be filled. Although our human feelings are forever, we fail to see our true meaning of life and thereafter. God gives us life but He also must take it.

I was a teenager when suddenly my father died. He left a family of four children and my mother half three jobs in order to make ends meet. We could not understand why God had taken him an early age, but somehow we struggled through our deep sorrow. The emptiness has never been filled by anyone. Years later a dear friend passed away. He was an elderly man and had lived to a ripe old age. Nevertheless, he was needed and loved very much. His wish was to sleep forever and be reunited with his wife. Sometimes, we fail to see how wonderful God really is. For he granted this man his wish and again there is a deep emptiness inside.

I sometimes wonder if this is one way God is testing us in our every day lives on earth. When we are desperate and in need, we turn to Faith and prayer. This is surely the key that unlocks all doors.

A $750,000 grant?

In an informal poll, it was agreed the parking problem in Plymouth street at Springfield road can be solved by a no parking area from Birchfield street north to the property line of 143 Plymouth street.

Councilman G. Thomas Moore and his colleagues, Mrs. Terry Jump, Roy Barber and Keith Hebble, agreed, Terry Hopkins and Bill Taubles did not. Mayor Debra White sided with them.

Acting Police Chief Bill Spognardi argued that it is a dangerous intersection and that it should be made safer for strangers to be able to see from Plymouth street from Springfield road.

This discussion brought to the surface an ordinance written over four years ago designating no parking areas in the village and placing of stop signs. This was omitted when the ordinances were codified a year later.

The mayor said when it was realized at the time, the matter was not given to the committees, which had not acted upon the problem.

As it stands now, where to park and not to park is entirely at the discretion of the police chief. The only humor injected was from Root, who said "the village will have no parking signs all over town".

Don't Vote This November.

The issues this year are too complicated and there are too many candidates with too many different opinions. Why bother?

Besides, there are plenty of people who are already registered voters. They follow the issues. They know what's best.

So this year, stay home and let the others decide the elections. It'll work out better that way.

If the message above irritates you or makes you angry, show your emotions and express your opinions. Vote on November 6.

If you need transportation to your polling, place, call 687-5511.
