

Where it's due, praise, of course!

It is fashionable to take pot shots at the public schools, particularly those in this district. Sometimes they aren't pot shots; they're howitzer shells, almost H-bomb blasts.

There are times, and few of us choose to make note of them, when what the school does is worthy of praise.

Consider the vocational agriculture program, directed by a quiet fellow who's been here almost a generation, consistently scores well in competition with its peers. In land judging contests, Plymouth entrants invariably score high. "In first or second place, almost always," one manager of the annual contest told us last week. It is equally so with other efforts, including livestock and grain crop judgments.

He who runs the program ought to get some kudos for this work. How frustrating it must be for him to see knowledgeable, capable young people work hard under his direction, only to get out in a world in which they can't compete because they can't buy land or equipment!

And it is fitting to point out that Monday's Meet the Candidate night, which laid an egg in its first effort, was well-attended, properly conducted, for the most part, and obviously welcomed by candidate and elector alike.

Activities of this sort redound to the credit of the schools and they, and those who organize them, deserve credit and thanks. Never be it said that when either is due, we failed to extend them.

It's time to redress the Supreme Court

It has been our stance for three decades that popular election of judges is wrong. We have not changed our mind at all, despite some strong arguments to the contrary.

It is, nonetheless, a fact that our efforts, and the efforts of some who think similarly, have not succeeded in changing the system, which is patently wrong. As it stands now, what assurance has, say, a confirmed and vigorous Republican, one who wears his political philosophy on his sleeve and shouts it from every rooftop, that his plea before the bar of justice fairly heard by a functionary whose very place there is the result of the cheapest ward-healing tactics of the opposing party? And there is no partisanship here. Scoundrels are not limited to one party.

The Ohio Supreme Court is, despite these facts, a political body. Its members are elected by their party affiliation.

So it is with some astonishment that we regard the recommendations of the Ohio bar association and of the Cuyahoga County Bar association with reference to the candidacies of their colleagues for the Supreme Court.

Each favors Judge Andrew Douglas, Ohio Court of Appeals, 6th district, and Judge Craig Wright, Franklin county common pleas court, for election. Douglas is opposed by John E. Corrigan, a Cuyahoga county common pleas judge. Wright's opponent is Justice James Celebrezze, brother of the chief justice.

What is astonishing is that in a body of professionals, in which surely there is almost as large a number of Democrats as Republicans, and particularly in the Cuyahoga county bar, in which there is a presumable advantage to having a local colleague dealing with one's litigation, the overwhelming preference should be for the Republican candidates.

We think surgeons are better qualified to tell us which should wield the scalpel on us and ours than others. We rely on our dentist to recommend a qualified specialist when his services are necessary. It follows that we should accept the recommendation of the bar when it comes to choosing judges.

And we do so. We know and respect Andy Douglas. He merits election. Judge Wright comes highly recommended. Certainly almost anybody would be better than one whose colleagues do not now, nor have they in the past, considered him qualified for such high office. Vote for Douglas and Wright.

Land sale — 'Press of business' reason — by schools set Nov. 28

Sale of 38.38 acres of land adjoining Pioneer Joint Vocational school at Shelby will be undertaken Nov. 28 at 10 a. m. by Plymouth Board of Education, which voted unanimously Oct. 9 to authorize its superintendent, Douglas Staggs, to obtain the legal counsel necessary to effect sale. The site is now superfluous because the board bought the Carl V. Ellis farm in West Broadway, amounting to almost 60 acres, that will serve the same purpose "at much less expense and risk to pupils". Vocational agriculture programs are carried out at the Shelby site, as indeed has been the case for almost two decades.

The board paid $69,000 for the Ellis site. It expects to get that much from the Shelby site, which is subject to industrial zoning. A professional appraisal has been obtained.

Cooper-Herrick Insurance Co., Mansfield, representing Indiana Insurance Co., was low bidder at $4,773 for the first year of a three year policy to cover building contents.

Lightning Rod Mutual Insurance Co., represented by Richard Tallman, Shiloh, was given a renewal of the insurance coverage on musical instruments and farm machinery at $274 a year.

The insurance bids were considered during special session Oct. 10

Moore quits post as councilman

Resignation of Councilman G. Thomas Moore, for personal reasons, was unanimously accepted by village council Oct. 9.

Moore told The Advertiser he quit because "I bought another building and I need the time to do some remodeling and such."

There was no sign that he has relented to pressure by some business colleagues over strict enforcement of the parking ordinance or to dislike by some neighbors in Brooks court over a requirement that houses be numbered.

Jerry Tischer, Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., presented a new contract for five years. He said a raise of 2.1 per cent would occur in the first year, 3.5 per cent the second year, three per cent the third year, 3.1 per cent the fourth year, 2.9 per cent the fifth year.

Average increase, Tischer said, would be 2.2 per cent a year.

He said Plymouth pays the same rate as 22 other communities in the Mid-Ohio Consumers' Coalition but is "on the low end of the scale" in the rate schedule.

Councilman Roy Barber said anticipated receipts of the village are apt to be $10,000 more this year than last.

Acting Chief of Police Bill N. Spognardi was told to change parking regulations. Parking will be allowed in the south side of West Broadway from Bell street to the hill crest. Parking in both sides of West Broadway from Wall to Railroad streets will be unrestricted. Two hour parking will be enforced east of Wall street.

No parking will be allowed in Plymouth street from Birchfield street to the driveway of No. 137.

Robert Boyer, 150 Plymouth street, objected. He said a large truck rig that was parked there during the summer obstructed traffic but this is no longer the case. He said adjustment of traffic lanes is the solution to the problem, if indeed a problem exists.

Terry Jump, electric superintendent, was authorized three weeks of vacation pay.

Trick-or-treat night will be Oct. 30 for one hour only, 5:30 to 6:30 p. m.

Driver jailed, fined $300 in DWI case

Richard F. Helms, Plymouth, was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail and to suspension of his driver's license suspended for a year after he pleaded guilty in Shelby Municipal court to a charge of drunken driving.

A Shiloh driver was the victim Friday of a bizarre collision in Whitney avenue, Shelby.

Linda J. Boock, 40, 14 Superior street, Shiloh, was proceeding in Whitney avenue when a vehicle operated by Mrs. Diane S. Bahr, 26, Shelby, westbound in Whitney avenue, drove across the railroad tracks at high speed, became airborne and landed on top of the Boock machine. It then went several feet before striking a building at Broadway and Whitney streets. Mrs. Bahr and her daughter, Stacey, nine, were examined for injuries and the mother treated in Memorial hospital. She was charged with drunken driving, resisting arrest, reckless operation, driving without corrective lenses, assaulting a police officer, disorderly conduct and threatening to kill a police officer.

A 19-year-old Plymouth motorcyclist was summoned Oct. 10 on a charge of failure to halt within an assured clear distance after he upset his mount to avoid striking a school bus in Route 61 north of here.

Daniel Riedinger was proceeding north when he turned his motorcycle on its side. He received minor injuries.

Willowy Eric Rath, letterman, 11th grader, stands six feet three inches. Early in the season he was target of Red passion attack.

Bearcat on defense is Terry Mansfield, letterman, 11th grader, somewhat small at only 160 pounds but almost six feet tall. "But it's all tiger," says Coach Richard Roll.

Four accused fail to appear

A plea of not guilty to display of improper tags resulted Oct. 9 in referral of the charges against Rosetta Handosh, Plymouth, to Norwalk Municipal court.

Four accused did not appear and four charges against another were continued to Oct. 23. Oma L. Hall, Shelby, accused of disorderly conduct, Jose Luis Cruz, Plymouth, charged with driving with expired plates and having no operator's license, Rosetta Alonso, Plymouth, accused of having no operator's license, drunken driving and driving with an open container of intoxicants, and David A. Obriakie, Auburndale, Fla., charged with three counts of disorderly conduct and one of menacing, did not appear.

Bond posted by Alonso was forfeited, $15 for no operator's license, $40 for drunken driving and $15 for the open container charge.

Richard S. Riser, Willard, accused of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his vehicle, possession of marijuana, mishandling of a firearm and disorderly conduct, will be heard Oct. 23.

Disposition of these cases was as noted.

David M. Lynch, New Washington, no tail lights, $15; Ornela C. Hoover, Mansfield, speeding, $30; Richard K. Robinson, Willard, speeding, $34; Richard L. Chambers, Willard, speeding, $42; Also, Jerry Beaver, Jr., Shelby, speeding, $32; Cheryl L. Boylan, Willard, speeding, $44; Lisa Hop-ton, Norwalk, speeding, $46; Bruce L. Oney, Plymouth, disorderly conduct, $30; possession of marijuana, $30.

Thieves get $110 from cafe here

Footpads who broke into Weber's Cafe Saturday between 1:15 and 10 a. m. gained entry through a rear window that was left open and made off with about $60 in change from a pool table and four bottles of spirits.

Proprietors David A. Howard and William H. Goth placed their losses at $110, which included a bottle of rum, a bottle of Jack Daniel whiskey, a bottle of Wild Turkey whiskey and a bottle of Hahlua liqueur.

Police surmise the footpads entered via the window and left via the back door.

On Monday a juvenile confessed to the break-in. Police recovered some of the money.

An adult is being sought. The theft is still under investigation.

140 on hand

About 140 persons attended Meet the Candidates night in Plymouth High school Monday.

Pupils of Douglas A. Dickson sponsored the appearance of most of the candidates seeking office in Huron county and in Richland county. Huron county candidates appeared in the new gymnasium, Richland county candidates in the auditorium.

Will Shiloh get grant for park?

Shiloh may yet receive a grant for park purposes, but if it comes, it won't be until next year, and then in the summer.

Mrs. Charles R. Reeder, village clerk, told the council at Shiloh Oct. 10 state park officials have visited Shiloh and seemed favorable to a grant, which would require matching funds from the village.

Shiloh's Town and Country Garden club sent two representatives, Mrs. R. Eugene Russell and Mrs. Alice Owens, to report on its plans to beautify the plot where the sheriff's office is located. Flowers and shrubs will be planted there, the club proposed. The council approved.

Tarring and chipping of several streets is all but complete, the council was told. Beggers' night was set for Oct. 30 from 5 to 6 p. m.

Shiloh PTO will conduct a Hallowe'en parade and cake walk Oct. 27 from 5:30 p. m.

Keith Sertion, Pettit street, asked the council to install a catch basin near his home.

Elaine Hursh has resigned her maintenance post in the village hall. A replacement will be sought.

Ohio EPA has examined water samples and found them satisfactory, the council was told. Councilman Reeder reported he found some rusty screws and bolts at the water plant and J. Michael Bauer, president of the trustees of public affairs, will be asked to conduct a tour of the plant to explain this situation.

Leaf pickup set by village

Leaves that are bagged and tied will be collected by the village if deposited at the curb the weeks of Oct. 22 and 29.

Kittens from Heaven? Try chicken from oven!

By AUNT LIZ
 Most of us at one time or another have told one child that a brand new one came right smack from heaven.
 This is a very acceptable way for any baby to arrive and stops a lot of questions. For while anyone says "But have you ever heard of a kitten literally falling out of heaven?"
 It happened and is a funny story and I think it is true. I heard it on the radio but didn't hear the very beginning of it.
 One day as a young couple was getting ready to go away, their kitten managed to escape out the back door, and right up a sapling. It was too high to reach with anything they had, so the young man got the bright idea of tying a rope to the tree, then to the bumper on his car.
 The idea was to back the car and pull the tree until his wife could reach the kitten.
 It was working beautifully, she almost had the animal, when, bingo, the rope broke, the tree snapped back and the kitten went sailing through the air out of sight. They searched for two days, and no cat.
 On the third day the young woman had to visit a grocery store when a friend who lives about eight blocks away. The friend was staging cat food like mad in her cart, and the young lady said she didn't know they had a cat.
 It seems this couple had been working in the garden, when all of a sudden, the kitten descended from the sky. This made her husband say, "We have been blessed with a kitten right from heaven."
 Can't you just see that poor little thing sailing through space? This tasty, economical, wholesome dish did not come from heaven. Some college boys might think so, though, because it's from the Alpha Phi house at Ohio State, which has a lot of pretty girls and one terrific cook.
 Start with a three pound chicken cut into serving pieces. Pat it dry.

and coat it with some flour and salt and pepper, and maybe any other seasoning you want.
 Brown in well in a Dutch oven in a stick of margarine.
 Then add a cup of uncooked long grain rice, eight or 10 small peeled onions, some mushrooms (if canned, use four ounces, drained), a teaspoon of garlic powder, two bay leaves and two cups of chicken broth.

 Put it in a 375 degree oven, covered, and bake until the chicken and vegetables are tender.
 At the same time, you can bake apples with cinnamon and sugar in them, so your dinner is ready all at one time.

Mistakes plague Red, Edison wins, 14 to 0

Fog descended over Charger field at Milan Saturday night. Real fog. Fog that dimmed the lighting system's effect and made it difficult to see across the field.

But the fog had already affected the players of both teams whose mistakes prevented the night's engagement from being one worth recording. As it was, Edison won, 14 to 0, the second time Edison has beaten Plymouth in three outings.

The Chargers by winning didn't help themselves much in the race for the northern division championship of the Firelands conference, which is already the fief of Western Reserve. And the Big Red didn't do any good to its chances for an 11th game.

What it boils down to is that Plymouth must win the remainder of its schedule, three games against southern division opponents, to have a chance at the 11th game.

The visitors won this one on the statistical sheet but lost it on the scoreboard. And that defeat came directly from some mistakes.

After a scoreless first period, Edison recovered a Red fumble at the Charger 47 and marched 53 yards in eight plays to score. There were two big gains, each of them a pass play. Greg Mullins hit Don Sebolt for 17 yards and first down at the Red 36 on a first down (Paul Mentis is a sound tactician of the old school: when you recover a fumble or intercept a pass, throw on first down, you'll catch the opposition in a disorganized state) and on third down, after Plymouth's splendid defensive line play had thrown the Chargers for a four yard loss, he threw down the middle to Jeff Gerlock, for 24 yards and the first score. Jim Hall was the holder and Troy Shiffoe the kicker and the try for PAT was good.

The clock read 8:06 remaining in the first half.

When it had run down, and the teams retired to the locker rooms, Plymouth was clearly the aggressor, albeit behind on the board.

With 32 plays, the Big Red had seven first downs, 94 yards net rushing and 46 yards by passing, with three completions in nine efforts and one lost by interception. There was one fumble and it was lost.

The Chargers, meanwhile, with only 29 plays, amassed only five first downs, just 22 yards on the ground and 62 through the air, on five successes in eight tries with one interception.

Neither team had lost appreciable yardage by penalty and loss was punting acceptably. How much so? Each averaged over 33 yards for the night. Wearing the same cast that was ruled off of the week before, junior Porter was allowed to play and kicked effectively for Plymouth.

The visitors showed the effects of fog seepare on the second half kickoff. The Chargers booted to the Red 30, where Plymouth's special team allowed the ball to roll about without attention, and Edison recovered the free ball.

With excellent field position, the Chargers attacked. They got one first down. But they also picked up a five yard penalty and were forced to surrender possession at the Red 25 after three passes. As it was, Plymouth refused a 15-yard holding penalty in order to take possession.

The Big Red was unable to gain and Porter punted. A 15-yard penalty against the Orange and Blue resulted in first down for Plymouth at Red 40, but Plymouth could do nothing with three more tries and Porter punted again.

Edison kicked on fourth down and Plymouth staged a mild threat. But after seven plays, with 1:18 remaining in the third period, Troy Keen's fumble was lost at the Edison 44 and the Chargers were home free.

Nevertheless, they could not advance and punted from the 45 for 46 yards. After a first down, thanks to an interference penalty against the home eleven, Plymouth set out from its 25. On third down, Keene fell down and the thrust was blunted. Porter punted and Plymouth profited by the best offensive play in football: kick the ball and recover the opponent's fumble.

46, Plymouth could not move an inch and a run by Larry Brooks with a short snap off a fake punt on television fell short of first down. Edison took over at its 45, couldn't gain and was compelled to punt yet again.

Plymouth showed some signs of life and moved upfield to the Red 42, whence on third down the Roll version of the flea flicker was drawn from the closet. Plymouth gained 15 yards, not enough for first down, and a screen pass from Keene to Scott Ryan, who was Edison's entire offense this misty night, produced only three yards.

It was Edison's ball and on the first play the Chargers scored. Rick Reinbolt darted right up the middle for 45 yards and the second and final touchdown. Shiffoe's kick was again good.

The Big Red made some noise, but missed nine, with its final possession. Three pass plays produced 13, 18 and 14 yards, respectively, and Plymouth had first down at the Charger 34. But time ran out there.

It was a frustrating defeat for Plymouth, which did everything, or nearly everything, right but put points on the board.

Jeff Redden, No. 22, has seen some action on defense. He's a 10th grader, measures five feet eight inches, scales 124 pounds.

Newcomer to Red eleven is Junior Porter (his real handle is Clarence; his father is a preacher at Willard), who despite a fracture of the right hand punted capably against Edison after being ruled off in the Crestview game. He's right-handed all the way, stands six feet two inches, scales 182 pounds.

Scott Thornberry, No. 53, is an 11th grader who weighs 165 pounds that he carries on a five foot six inch frame. He plays center.

Oct. 10 was a red letter day for 24-year-old Kenneth Jones.

No. 2: He was hired as head wrestling coach, to succeed Richard Roll, the only mat coach Plymouth has ever had.

Roll gave up his assignment because, he said, "I need more time with my family and I need time to evaluate the football program."

Jones, a 1978 alumnus of Shelby High school, wrestled there four years and three seasons on the Ohio State varsity team. He was graduated by OSU with a degree in marketing in March, 1983. He is employed by Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

All about town

Mrs. Ruth Ann Pittenger returned Friday from a two week visit with her mother, Mrs. Marion Shely, Circleville, Mont.

Here're scores last week

Here're scores last week:

Black River 21, South Central 0; Mapleton 7, Crestview 0; Western Reserve 14, Monroeville 18.

Edison 14, Plymouth 0; New London 21, St. Paul's 13.

Here's slate this week

Here's week of Firelands conference football set for this weekend:

TOMORROW: Western Reserve at New London; Monroeville at Crestview; Mapleton at South Central; Black River at Plymouth.

SATURDAY: Edison at St. Paul's.

Backs to wall, Red faces Pirates

It will take a miracle for Plymouth to play an 11th game.

Not only must the Big Red win the remainder of its slate, three games in the southern division of the Firelands conference, but Crestview must defeat Black River next week to give the Big Red a shot at Game No. 11.

Plymouth's work is cut out for it. It must deal with a Division IV team coached by Matt Stoll, one of twins who played for Edison and who has advanced to the head coaching job at Sullivan this season.

The Pirates have beaten Mapleton and South Central in league play. They've lost to St. Paul's and Western Reserve. In non-league competition, they hooked up with Northwestern, Keystone and Amherst and lost two.

Plymouth had something of an easy time of it with Black River last season, on a cold, windy night at Sullivan when the Big Red prevailed, 15 to 12. The visitors managed 419 yards on offense, 27 in the air, 202 on the ground. And the defense gave up 201 yards on the ground and just six by passing.

Black River's offense is under the direction of Chad McComas, an 11th grader who plays quarterback. Scouting report says he's a fair to good passer, not a bad runner. The running backs are Larry Eisen, an 11th grader, and Jim Poky, a 10th grader. Report says they're adequate but not exceptional.

Eisen gained 103 yards in 19 tries against the Trojans and scored two touchdowns. Poky scored on a 30-yard run.

It's up front where the Pirates have their power. It's led by Dan Haswell, 170-pound guard who stands five feet 10, and Randy White, 160-pound guard who measures five feet six, both at guard, and Dan Kostecki, a 245-pound tackle who measures six feet two, who teams with Jerry Howe, 170-pounder who also stands six feet two, at tackle.

One who has played Black River told The Advertiser Sunday "You can beat 'em if you take away their ground game and don't let McComas throw the bomb." Which would work with any opponent, but truth to tell, if a substitution be made for McComas's name.

Game time is 8 p. m. It will be Parents' night, when members of and fathers across the field.

After two outtings, and three consecutive defeats, Plymouth needs a turnaround. Can it happen tomorrow?

Harriers take 13th in sectional

Big Red harriers placed 13th, scoring 288, in a field of 21 at Hedges-Boyer park, Tiffin, Saturday in the sectional State cross country championships.

Dave Poole, Norwalk St. Paul's, ace of the St. Paul's squad, won the race in 17:07, a new course record.

John Roak, Black River, was second in 17:11.

Monroeville, bellwether of Monroeville's flock, was third in 17:33.

Remainder of the first 35 runners:

Tim Sword, New London, fourth, 17:41; Bryan Motzill, Western Reserve, fifth, 17:46; Matthew Wolf, Black River, sixth, 17:52; Jamie Beck, Plymouth, seventh, 17:54; Tony Good, Monroeville, eighth, 17:56; Joel Hawley, Black River, ninth, 18:07; Mike Knoll, New London, 10th, 18:10; Matt Brown, South Central, 11th, 18:13; Kevin Schreiner, Monroeville, 12th, 18:19; Bob Pabst, Western Reserve, 13th, 18:25; Matt Downing, South Central, 14th, 18:32; Bryan Oney, New London, 15th, 18:33.

Also, Gary White, Crestview, 16th, 18:37; Todd Kissell, South

Janaan Kessler marries here

Miss Janaan Kay Kessler became the bride of Donald Bruce Sorgen Oct. 6 in an afternoon ceremony in First Evangelical Lutheran church.

She is the daughter of Robert Kessler and the late Mrs. Kessler and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steele.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Sorgen, Kenton.

They exchanged their vows and rings before the Rev. M. P. Paetznick, interim pastor.

Bouquets of white flowers decorated the altar and white bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Janet Miller, organist, presented nuptial music, including "Ave Maria," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Largo in G," "Benedictus," "Wedding Prayer," "O Perfect Love," "Now and Forever," "The Lord's Prayer," "Walk Hand in Hand" and "My Heart Ever Faithful."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk tulle gown with fitted bodice delicately embroidered with Alencon lace and seed pearls. Scalloped lace bordered the Queen Anne neckline and the wrists of the long sleeves. The circular skirt, lace appliqued, extended into a petal-cut cathedral train.

Her finger-tip veiling fell from a wreath of silk flowers in her hair. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses with baby's breath and green leaves.

Mrs. Daniel Schultz, the former Betty Hunter, East Palestine, matron of honor, was attired in a rose chiffon gown designed with a sleeveless blouson bodice with ruffles of chiffon draping across the boat-shaped neckline. Her slightly gathered skirt draped to one side. She also wore a wreath of flowers in her hair and carried a bouquet of lilies with baby's breath and leaves.

Scott Sorgen was his father's best man. Arden Kessler, the bride's brother, and Mike Sayres, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Columbus, ushered.

Mrs. Sorgen chose a creme colored dress and wore a corsage of pink carnations surrounded by stephanotis and baby's breath.

The color scheme of rose and white was carried out at the reception at Ehret-Parson Post 447, American Legion.

The three-tiered cake was decorated with rose colored flowers and white bells. It was surrounded with smaller heart-shaped cakes.

The bride's aunts, Mrs. James Gullett and Mrs. Floyd Harter, Chatfield; Mrs. David Williamson, Shelby, and Mrs. Timothy Giesige assisted guests at the buffet table.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Plymouth High school and an alumna of Elkhart Institute of Technology, Elkhart, Ind. She is employed by Pazar Dental Laboratory, Columbus.

Mr. Sorgen is a 1965 graduate of Kenton High school who attended Franklin university, Columbus, and Ohio Northern university, Ada. He is employed by Rockwell International in Kenton, where they will live.

The couple went to Orlando, Fla. for a honeymoon.

The bridegroom's parents were hosts at a rehearsal dinner at Shelby.

Among out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Neil Gebert, Barber-ton; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kessler, New London; Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Yeary, Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. John Pazar, Columbus, and Mr. Bernice Ford, Kenton.

Shannan R. Baker, K. P. Jones to wed

Betrothal of their daughter, Shannan R., to Kenneth P. Jones, son of the Victor Joneses, Shelby, is announced by the E. Duane Bakers, 256 Plymouth street.

Mutual Insurance Co. Her fiancé, whom she plans to marry in July, is a 1978 graduate of Shelby High school who took a baccalaureate degree in marketing from Ohio State university in March, 1983. He is employed by Metropolitan Insurance Co.
