

Vredenburg's shot sinks Trojans, 61-58

Brian Vredenburg scored a field goal with 28 seconds left in a Firelands conference game here Friday night and helped lead Plymouth to a 61-58 victory over South Central.

The Trojans clawed from behind in the fourth period to get ahead by one at 58 to 57 on a basket at :45 by Tad Walker, the game high scorer with 20 points.

At that point, Plymouth had led from 6:33 of the second period, when Mike McKenzie broke it a tie at 19 with the first of two successful free throws. These points were part of the first upset of eight unanswered points by the Big Red during the second quarter. Plymouth went to the halftime break with a lead of 33 to 25.

Al McGuire says, and says often, that the outcome of any game is determined in the first three or four minutes of the second half. If the leader wants to win, he asserts himself, if the trailer wishes to prevail, he begins to play his game.

Plymouth did not play well early in the second half and South Central came to within four of the Big Red when the buzzer sounded. A six point outburst without response by Plymouth cut into the host team's lead.

Plymouth started the fourth period in the van by four. McKenzie fired one home and after a Trojan turned out, South Central's Dave Ronk sent one through from 16 feet and Vredenburg changed down to 40 victory, its fifth of the season against 13 defeats, in non-conference play.

Crestline's caroms, superior shooting dump Red, 82 to 70

Crestline outshot and outscored Plymouth three Thursday and walked away with an 82-70 victory, its fifth of the season against 13 defeats, in non-conference play.

Plymouth never led but came within one point at 40 to 40 at the start of the second half.

The Bulldogs tore down 44 rebounds, led Plymouth to just 26 — only nine of them offensive — and employed their familiarity with the home floor and its baskets to forge an early lead and to hold on despite the fact that three of its biggest guns, Bill Kindle, who scored 19, Doug Bruce, who bagged nine, and Scott Stewart, who marked up 13, got into foul trouble with four apiece midway through the third quarter.

But it was Craig Sunnucks, an 11th grader, who shot only three times and converted two of them during the first half, who administered the deadliest minutes.

Sunnucks was uncanny from outside in the third period. He shot six times and sank five of them and Crestline outscored Plymouth 21 to 18 to preserve its lead and get ready for the final eight minutes.

The Big Red was within striking distance when the final period began. The score was only 62 to 56. Mike McKenzie, Plymouth's high scorer for the night with 23, got one down at 7:47. Kindle shot a free throw, McKenzie came right back with another bucket. From this point on, it was all Crestline. There was taken Plymouth scoring but the Bulldogs controlled the boards and took advantage of three Plymouth turnovers and outscored the visitors, 20 to 14. The Bulldogs only shot 10 times in the final eight minutes, making five of them. Plymouth unloaded 21 times and made seven.

The Bulldogs put four players in double figures, led by Kindle with 19. Sunnucks had 16.

Aside from McKenzie, Jeff Lach and Chad McGinnis reached double figures for the Big Red. The latter shot eight free throws during the second period, making seven of them.

Rodney Hampton, who had less than spectacular success from the foul line during this game, missed two free throws. Ronk failed to convert the free throw on a three point play and South Central trailed by just two. At 4:21, Steve Lewis converted a rebound and it was tied at 62. Hampton's three point play at 2:31 gave Plymouth another lead of three. Jeff Lach added a shot from the top of the paint at 1:52 and Plymouth was ahead by five.

Ronk shot a rebound at 1:56 and Plymouth asked for time out. Walker failed with two free throws as time resumed and then Lortcher converted a rebound to set the score at 57 to 56, Plymouth's favor.

Walker played splendidly. He wound up with 20, Lortcher had 12 and Ronk 10.

For the Big Red, Hampton concluded with 16, Baker contributed 12 and Jeff Lach 10.

Plymouth got off 62 shots and made 25. South Central was 25-for-56. So it was at the foul line, where Plymouth missed 10 of 21 and South Central, seven of 15.

Had the Trojans not made so many mistakes in advancing the ball, who knows how this one would have turned out? The Trojans committed 19 mistakes, 10 of them in the second quarter, and Plymouth only 10.

Daup fine coach, strong on theory

By THE OLD TIMER
It would be improper to allow more time to elapse since his official retirement at the end of December without reminding the faithful, the Johnnies-come-lately-when-we-win and the outright unfaithful that Harold E. Daup was a splendid basketball coach.

His record at the helm of the Big Red, which he was instrumental in naming and which he took into a league organized almost wholly as a basketball conference, was outstanding. He produced a champion of the Richland county league in the 1963 season. Some of those players could, perhaps should, have gone on to more basketball reward. One of them did, but in time — too short of a lifetime come to think of it — for one reason or another, he came from Peoria, Ill., where he had enrolled as a full-ride student in Bradley Institute of Technology (now Bradley University), whose coach is under fire because he sold his soul for a few dollars by going on television to tout a restaurant which served tainted onions, resulting in a dozen cases of the almost fatal botulism.

Daup played basketball at Shiloh, on its old handbox court, but he did not do so at Ashland college. Which proves that one need not be a good cook to appraise good cooking and one need not be an all-American at whatever game is he is coaching to be a successful coach. The best of them all in a modern day, was Paul E. Brown, who never played a game of college football.

His technique was to teach the theory of the game. He put less stress on rebounding. He taught his players the geometry of basketball, what the ball was likely to do when it failed to go through the hoop. In those days, all backboards were wooden save for a few plastic ones. The glass boards did not come into vogue until a few years later.

Daup never lost his patience and he never failed to lead his players, in slow motion, step by step, through the procedures he wanted them to follow during a game. He aimed his instruction at the next-to-the-oldest (mentally) player on the team and he painstakingly explained what needed to be done, and how he wanted it to be done, in words they all could understand.

If he had a temper, those who watched him never heard it. They may have seen it, but to redder at the ears and punch it right fist into his left palm somewhat. But he never boomed over in public.

His players say now, as they said then, he was stern, demanding, dedicated to perfection, but understanding of the shortcomings of boys.

We witnessed that in a courtroom at Ashland, where before the juvenile judge, Mildred Myers, his players were haled into the witness box and compelled to testify to their pecculations, which involved some illicit use of alcohol and the pilfering of hubcaps after a tournament game at Bellville. Those players were suspended and the Shiloh Lions didn't rest anywhere in that tourney (only the final game was left after that).

The present day fan of the Big Red, for the most part, has no recollection of Harold Daup's tenure as coach. Matter of fact, there are few who remember his successor, Ron Hostler, or Hostler's successor, Bryan Neff.

When and if the time comes to find a new basketball coach, the powers that-be ought to hunt up somebody on the order of Harold E. Daup.

Kimberly Sammons, R. E. Fox marry in Willard ceremony

A double ring ceremony Jan. 14 at 2 p.m. united Kimberly Lynn Sammons and Robert Earl Fox in First Assembly of God church, Willard.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Sammons, Jr. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Fox, Galion.

They exchanged their vows before the Rev. Jack Woods in a background of candlelight and bouquets of pink roses with baby's breath. A white arch with roses and bows made an entrance to the church.

Mrs. Woods, who sang throughout the ceremony, was organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory organza designed with a Victorian neckline and leg o' mutton sleeves. Shiffrin lace and satin ribbon trimmed the pleum of the gown and encircled the hemline, which ended in a cathedral length train.

Her ivory tulle veil fell from a small band of pink and ivory roses and rosebuds with baby's breath. It was designed and made by her mother.

Mrs. Sammons also created the bouquets of roses and baby's breath carried by the bride and her attendants.

For something borrowed, the bride wore her aunt's diamond and sapphire heart-shaped pendant. Kyle Sammons was her sister's maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Tracy Keene, the bride's cousin; Mrs. Tammy Shinsky, Butler; the bridegroom's sister, and Debbie Graves, Murphy, N.C., the bride's aunt.

They wore wine-colored gowns designed in the Victorian style with bustles.

The bridegroom's niece, Jennifer Fox, Shelby, and the bride's cousin, Alicia Graves, Murphy, N.C., were the flower girls.

Christopher Shinsky, the bridegroom's nephew, Butler, was the ring bearer.

David Fox, Shelby, was his brother's best man. Ushers were Ron Shinsky, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Butler, Brad Sammons, the bride's cousin, Shelby; Troy Keene, another cousin, Plymouth, and George Kona, Jr., and Steve Kona, also her cousins, Nakomis, Fla.

Mrs. Sammons wore a gown of dusty rose taffeta. Mrs. Fox wore a dusty blue qiana gown.

A buffet was served in the candlelighted Fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was a five-tiered cake decorated with roses, baby's breath and green leaves made by her mother. It was served by Heather and Michelle Fox.

Brenda Adams registered guests. The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Sammons, Sr., Micanopy, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Curry, Nokomis, Fla., attended.

The newly married couple flew to Miami, Fla., to join a seven day cruise to Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Bahamas. Before returning home, they spent several days at Disney World and the Epcot Center, Orlando, Fla.

The new Mrs. Fox is a 1981 graduate of Plymouth High school. Mr. Fox is a 1978 graduate of Galion High school studying mechanical engineering in North Central Technical college, Mansfield. He is employed by Midwest Industries, Inc., Willard.

His parents were hosts at a buffet rehearsal dinner at Willard. The Foxes are now at home in Willard.

Changing of dates irks columnist

By AUNT LIZ

When will our carefree lawmakers quit changing national holidays around?

It becomes plain confusing when you have gone for years with certain dates for certain things.

It is also playing havoc with long range planning.

How can anyone even plan when school can end or what special dates you may want to ask someone to come to speak at a special program?

Ohio has really done it. Just about everyone else is having Memorial day on May 28 and everything will be closed - federal things - but we have it on May 30, which will create a problem of who is working and who is playing.

The person who should really be furiously upset - a spirit, maybe, is a better way to put it - is George Washington.

I've even picked out his 'own birthday' anniversary when those happy lawmakers adopted the Gregorian calendar and threw the Julian calendar, which had been used for centuries, in its waste basket.

G. W.'s birthday was really Feb. 11, and for awhile some of the colonies were observing both the 11th and the 22nd, and he made the choice.

His birthday anniversary was the earliest national holiday we have.

There was a time when Sovereign's day was a holiday, but by 1782 no one here was speaking in any kings or queens.

Now here is he, on Feb. 20, because it gives a nice three day weekend? And the sad part is that it gets moved around each year to fit in.

No wonder some of our little ones get confused in history classes. I just got confused when I look at a calendar.

I can also get confused in a kitchen. But only some times. There is no confusion for this cheesy tidbit. It is an old recipe, and I bet Martha W. might have made it for George's birthday breakfast.

Mix, in a bowl, two cups of flour, two teaspoons, of baking powder, salt if you want, and about a half teaspoon of red pepper. Cut in a fourth of a cup of shortening and a cup of shredded cheddar cheese. Mix. Add a cup of buttermilk and mix.

Drop small spoonfulls on a greased baking sheet. Bake at 450 degrees until nicely tanned.

Another way they can be prepared is to roll the dough out on a floured board and cut in rounds, put a small Vienna sausage on each or even half a wiener and fold the round over, press the edges together and bake.

Schools consider new staff plan on which this year's budget is based. Spring sports assignments were also approved, although Staggs said there is the chance of adding to the assignments.

Keith Diebler will be head boys track and field coach with Daniel Donoghue as assistant.

Paul McClintock will head girls' track and field with Karen Lehning as assistant.

David P. Dunn is assigned as head baseball coach and S. Michael Tracey as reserve baseball and Richard Roll as softball coach.

The board turned down a request to transfer property in the south side of Gangee-Shelby road to the Shelby school district.

Russell Bricker, who owns the land and rents property to a family with school age children, made the request. He said it is for the convenience of the family and for "school bus routes."

Several families use the same lane. One side is the Shelby district and the other is Plymouth.

It is on the border of Casa Township and Jackson township. Donald Echebarger, president of the board, said he is afraid the board would be "opening the door" for more transfer requests and moved to deny it, which was seconded by George Miller.

Bricker can now approach the Richland county board if he wishes.

Staggs asked the board to study a plan he has devised with the elementary principals, Edward Kinsel and Mark Sheely, that will divide their duties so that Sheely will be assisting at the Shiloh building along with his duties in Plymouth.

The reasoning, Staggs said, is that the Plymouth building has only 200 pupils while there are 600 at Shiloh, from kindergarten through the eighth grade.

Kinsel would become principal of both buildings and Sheely would assume the title as assistant.

The two men would be sharing more of the responsibility of the district, Staggs said.

Board members were given copies of job descriptions to study before taking any formal action.

A resolution was passed at Staggs' suggestion that the district join other Richland county districts in requesting funding for computer education during the summer. He said over $2 million is being made available for the purchase of equipment. Half will go to the state's larger districts and the other half is "up for grabs." Since there are about 27,000 pupils in the county, there is a good chance of obtaining the funding, plus being able to keep the equipment locally later.

Could village have survived without Fate-Root-Heath Co.?

"There wouldn't be a Plymouth today, probably, if it weren't for Fate-Root-Heath Co."

That statement comes closer to the truth than any which relates to the history of the village.

All of its originators save one, Percy H. Root, have died. He is now 83, semi-retired.

With his father, the late Clayton F. Root, and his brother-in-law, the late Charles E. Heath, who married Mabel E. Root in 1892, Percy Root and his brothers, the late John A. Root and Halsey F. Root, came here in 1885 from Medina. They occupied a building offered by the village. It is now Plant No. 4 of the company.

The Root Bros. Co. then manufactured a cobbler's outfit. On a cold night in March, the equipment of the firm was moved in box cars on the P. A. and W. railroad, predecessor of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown.

IN 1892 THE FIRM INCORPORATED. Clayton F. Root was elected president, Charles E. Heath vice-president and general manager, John A. Root treasurer, Halsey F. Root secretary and Percy H. Root superintendent.

Root Bros. Co. also known as the Heath Foundry & Manufacturing Co., merged with the J. D. Fate Co. in 1918.

This company was the brainchild of John D. Fate, Jr., who associated with E. M. Freese to form Ohio Brick & Tile Machinery Co., a Crestline in 1879. In 1881 the firm moved here.

In 1890, Fate sold his interest to Freese and organized the Fate & Gunsaulus Co. in 1891, to make brick and tile machinery. Seven years later, he admitted his sons to partnership. Harley H. Fate was elected vice-president, George B. Drennan treasurer and Miss Edith K. Drennan secretary. She was the first woman to be elected to any responsible office, public or private, in the village.

When John D. Fate died in September, 1902, Harley was named president, Harry Fate vice-president and Drennan secretary and treasurer.

Death of Harry Fate in 1918, two years after Harley died, prompted the merger of the two companies.

This was finally effected in 1919.

IN ADDITION TO THE manufacture of brick and tile machinery which it inherited from the Fate firm, the new organization continued the manufacture of industrial locomotives, first of which it undertook in 1914, after designs by the late Floyd B. Carter, chief engineer.

From 1907 to 1913, motor truck. The first friction-drive locomotive digger broad interest in the trades for which it was designed. Ultimately 2,162 of them were sold.

Carter then designed an eight-ton locomotive with a gear-drive transmission. These were thereafter built to 40-ton weight.

In 1937, Carter designed larger locomotives, up to 70 normal since.

In 1903, the company's predecessor had acquired half interest in a patent owned by William H. Fetters through the purchase of a machine to sharpen lawn mowers.

This was the beginning of the grinder division, which today occupies the first building acquired by the company, naturally enlarged to 175 by 50 feet.

THE FIRM HAS PRESENTLY an employment of about 300. Descendants of the original incorporators, or their kin by marriage, hold the principal offices of the company.

Chairman of the board is John F. Root, elder son of John A. Root. His brother, H. James, is president. Miles W. Christian, who married C. Enzeline Fate Simmons, daughter of Harley Fate, is vice-president and general manager.

Joy W. Herbert, his brother-in-law, who married the elder daughter of Harley Fate, is a director.

Paul H. and Thomas F. Root, sons of Percy H. Root, are vice-presidents. So is Robert Heath Root, son of Halsey F. Root.

Despite difficulties during the depression, the firm has maintained a steady employment. Its growth has been less spectacular than some, but it is steady and solid.

"As Fate-Root-Heath goes, so goes Plymouth" is a fair statement of its influence on

A labor with resp

This sesquicentennial edition represents the best efforts of The Advertiser in presenting a clear and responsible account of 150 years of the village's history.

It was planned to be a history in three parts: what happened, what people did over 150 years, and who they were.

We have always believed that to study and/or write history, one should always ask "why?"

If history is to teach lessons, its student must always inquire why an event occurred, why a man or woman did what he or she did, or didn't do, why people behaved or failed to behave in their own best interests.

So far as we have been able, that is what we have done in this edition.

Although most of the work was done by the editor and his wife, special thanks are due many people for their kind and willing assistance: State Sen. Don J. Pease, Rep. Richard M. Christiansen, Rep. Charles A. Mosher, Mrs. Peyton W. Thomas, Miss Florence Danner, David H. Bachrach, John Bradford, William F. Day, Carl V. Ellis, Mrs. Kenneth V. Myers, Thurman R. Ford, Nathaniel Spear, Jr., and others.

The Advertiser's loyal staff, Donald H. Newton, Paul A. Zipfel, Donald E. Williams and Mrs. Samuel Carter, were faithful in carrying out the plans of the editor.

Special thanks are due A. L. Paddock, 3rd, for his assistance.

If this effort falls short of its aims, the editor is solely at fault.

His wife has been patient, forbearing and loyal to his plan. To her he owes much more than he can ever pay. And to her, he hastens to point out, her adopted community owes the thanks due a painstaking researcher who has a warm and generous spirit for the glorious past.

The meat of this edition was carved by her. And it is to her that this sesquicentennial edition, of which she is in fact the principal architect, is lovingly dedicated.

Bob Hope knows just how much Red Cross helps veterans.

"If you're a veteran, the rules and regs that affect your benefits can sometimes be baffling. Where to turn for help?"
"Last year, American Red Cross helped tens of thousands of former servicemen and their families get their educational, disability, insurance and medical benefits."
"Red Cross also helps many veterans upgrade their military discharges... and that holds the key to getting a job. Just last year, Red Cross represented more than 2100 veterans before discharge review boards."
"And discharge review for an additional 6046 veterans is in process."
"Giving a hand to veterans is another powerful reason for us to help keep Red Cross ready."
"Lend a hand."

Keep Red Cross ready.
