

MICHAEL SMITH

JOHN F. SWARTZ

JUDGE CHILCOTE

Ex-commissioner aims for treasurer Swartz aims for General Assembly

Formerly commissioner of Richland county, Michael Smith, 52, Lucas, seeks to succeed George G. Griffith as treasurer of the county.

A Republican, he filed his nominating petitions Feb. 13.

He served as commissioner from 1965 to 1971. He was mayor of Lucas for two terms, 1958 to 1962, and was earlier pro tempore of village council there from 1972 to 1983.

He is a marketing consultant, born in Cincinnati and a 1947 alumnus of Hyde Park High school there. He studied surveying and mapping and learned to fly.

He belongs to St. Paul's Lutheran church, where he was president of the church council. His hobby is photography.

77 alumnus gets new selling job with Isacomm

A 1977 alumnus of Plymouth High school has resigned as an account executive with Southern Bell Telephone Co. at Atlanta, Ga., and joined Isacomm, a subsidiary of United Telecommunications.

He is Robert M. Davis, younger son of the James C. Davises, who was graduated by the University of Akron in 1981.

He excelled in basketball and tennis while a pupil here and is the only Plymouth alumnus to win a varsity tennis letter at the collegiate level.

His new assignment entails sales of high capacity satellite communications to Fortune 500 firms in the Ohio Valley and elsewhere across the eastern United States. Davis is one of six such managers in the United States.

Albert 700 miles away, he and his brother, Randy J., a 1966 graduate of Plymouth, who also lives near Big Red, maintain a close interest in Big Red athletic affairs and were delighted by the success of the 1983 football squad.

Young Davis has never married.

Narrowly defeated in his first try for the GOP nomination to be representative to the General Assembly from the 64th district, John F. Swartz, 70-year-old potato and onion grower at Shiloh, has filed a nominating petition for the same post.

He was defeated in his first outing by Rex Elsass, a teenager who was the anointed candidate of the party faithful.

Swartz's only public office has been as a member of Plymouth Board of Education.

He is a life resident of Richland county. Born in Cass township, he has lived at his present homestead since he was five. His parents bought the place then. They were killed by a train at the West Main street crossing at Shelby in 1944.

He succeeded to his father's business then and has since engaged in the production and marketing of potatoes and onions on the site. There he raised his family, two of them are associated with him in the business. Others are as far flung as Australia.

He is a member of Rome Community church, where he is school superintendent.

'80 grad winner of ONU stipend

Christopher D. Brown, Plymouth route 1, has received the University scholarship at Ohio Northern University, where he is a senior.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Florian Brown, Willet road, the civil engineering major in ONU's T. J. Small College of Engineering is a 1980 alumnus of Plymouth High school. In high school he was a two year letterman in varsity basketball and a member of Louis Brookfield Chapter, National Honor society. At ONU he is president of Tau Beta Pi, engineering honorary, an active member of the student chapter of American Society of Civil Engineers, national member of American Society of Civil Engineers and plays intramural basketball.

Incumbent Richland County Common Pleas Judge Max Chilcote, 54, Ontario, will seek reelection, subject to the GOP primary.

He was first elected in 1978. A native of Attica, he was the son of Atica High school in 1952 and by Heidelberg college, Tiffin, in 1961. He taught school and coached basketball in Attica for 12 years.

He was a village councilman in Attica in 1958 and 1959.

He took a law degree from the University of Toledo in 1965 and served as assistant prosecutor of Richland county and solicitor of Ontario before becoming judge.

Douglas Colvin, 50, a Norwalk businessman, will seek the Democratic nomination of Thomas Carabin, Republican commissioner of Huron county, who seeks reelection. Colvin is a former finance director and auditor of the City of Norwalk. He has twice been defeated in political races, once for representative to the General Assembly in 1970 and once for treasurer of Norwalk prior thereto.

Incumbent Commissioner Roy F. Palm, 66, North Fairfield, has filed his nominating petitions. He seeks a third term.

Michael Fegan, 42, a Norwalk attorney who has sought the office before, will run for Huron county prosecutor.

He would oppose George C. Ford, also a former assistant prosecutor, as is Fegan, in the May primary for the right to compete against the incumbent, Richard B. Hauer, Norwalk, Democrat.

Married and the father of two children, Fegan is a former FBI agent. He was graduated by the college of law of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, having earned his undergraduate work in John Carroll university, Cleveland.

He has practiced in Norwalk 14 years.

Driver, 24, held

Donald L. Brooks, Jr., 24, 9 Partner street, was charged with drunken driving and failure to control his vehicle after his car struck another parked at 22 Woodland street, Willard, Thursday.

Mrs. Glenn Hass dies suddenly at Mansfield

Stricken while shopping, Mrs. Glenn Hass, 65, 241 Riggins street, was dead on arrival at Mansfield General hospital Friday.

Although she had been a semi-invalid for some time, owing to arthritis, her death was unexpected. Born Elsie M. Blum in Centerton, Norwich township, Dec. 8, 1918, she lived here since 1945. She retired as cook in the cafeteria of Plymouth Elementary school after 22 years of service.

She was a member of First Evangelical Lutheran church, of Lutheran Church Women, of the Alice Willet class of the church and of the auxiliary of Ehret-Parson Post 447, American Legion, of which she was past president, which entitled her to membership in Huit Chevrons of Quarante Hommes, the select American Legion auxiliary service organization.

Her husband, known to all of Plymouth as Skeet, a son, Robert M. Joy, Pa.; a daughter, Maryann, Lorain, a teacher in Sheffield Lake school; two sisters, Mrs. Eva Newhouse and Mrs. Lloyd Snay, Willard; three brothers, Ernest Blum, Willard; Paul Blum, Norwalk; and Irvin Blum, Ocean Shores, Wadon, and two grandchildren survive.

Her pastor, the Rev. Ronald Atkins, conducted services Monday at 11 a.m. from the church. Burial by McQuate-Sear Funeral home was in Greenlawn cemetery.

The family requests memorial contributions to be made to Plymouth Branch library.

Police Chief Frank Hodge, who is hospitalized, has some proposals to bring to the council, Councilman S. Thomas Moore said Feb. 14, but he did not know what they are.

Hodge is a patient in Willard Area hospital with a herniated disc. He was to have been seen this morning by a specialist.

Councilman Billy R. Taulbee addressed the question of the old water tower.

Taulbee said since the newer tower is now white, an effort should be made to suggest that the tower of Plymouth Locomotive Works be painted red, which would give the village a patriotic look.

No decision on the color was made.

Suit settled

A $110,000 damage suit laid against Robert M. Devlin, 4095 Route 61, New Haven, by Ronald L. and Pauline McGue, claiming negligence in a collision in Route 224 on July 31, 1981, has been settled out of court and dismissed, a journal entry in Huron county common pleas court shows.

How to promote industrial zone to be discussed

John Zimmerman will meet today at 11:30 a.m. in village hall with village council and Mayor Dean A. Cline.

He represents Business Development and his subject will be the marketing of the village's industrial park, which was established last year at the water plant site with one occupant so far.

Furnace at fault

Firemen were called to the Wayne Tuttle home, 214 West Broadway, Tuesday at 7:45 a.m.

It was found the furnace in the house was defective. There was no fire damage.

Fired officer says he sought 'stress program'

Croxford charges mayor refused him help

A charge that Mayor Dean A. Cline "let me down" was leveled Monday by a discharged patrolman.

Ronald Croxford told Mrs. Daryl Clemens, Shiloh, local correspondent for the Daily Globe at Shelby, "Right after I was suspended, I had asked for a stress program, which Cline didn't do anything about."

"The mayor sent a police officer to my house at 2:30 p.m. to notify me of a meeting at 7:30 that same day, dealing with the suspension. I failed to attend the meeting, due to other plans. So I was fired."

Croxford's suspension came about because he "lost" his service revolver.

It disappeared on Oct. 6, but he did not report it for nine days. Meanwhile, the weapon was found in the washroom of Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital, Norwalk, where Croxford's father was a patient, and turned over to the sheriff, who traced it to the Plymouth department.

Croxford apparently intends to continue to appear as a village witness in the case against Globe Risner, accused of assault and other offenses against Risner, Chief Frank Hodge and others on Dec. 3, 1983.

What stress program did Croxford have in

The mayor said the village has offered approval for the purchase of a used state patrol cruiser at $2,850. It must be bought by the end of this month.

A sum of $5,000 has been appropriated for it, which Cline says may possibly be used up in the equipping of it. He also pointed out the village will then have three cruisers in use, which will increase expenditures in the police department.

The council agreed to Councilman Keith Hebble's suggestion the codification of the ordinances be updated. They have not been done since they were codified almost three years ago.

He pointed out some must be changed to comply with changes in the Ohio Revised Code and the village itself wishes to make some changes.

The voice of The Advertiser —

What kind of cops?

That problems with its police force have plagued Plymouth since Clay Hulbert was marshal immediately after World War II is a fact known to old hands hereabouts. They don't like to remember it, and when they do they sort of grin sheepishly and say something like, "Well, that's the way it goes sometimes. Over the long run it didn't amount to much."

The problems with the present force are gigantic by comparison with those of, say, 25 years ago.

But they derive from the same kind of source.

It is that unsatisfactory people are appointed as police officers.

Unsatisfactory? What does that mean?

It means that they've been unsatisfactory as police officers, that they weren't cut out to be police officers, that they were unsuitably trained and managed and they tend to allow the badge and gun to go to their heads and leaned upon citizens to manifest their power, all or any of these things.

The whole technique of being a police officer has changed in the recent past. The demands of such a public servant are different from what they were. Within recent years, we can recall some councilmen sitting in our office saying "But can we afford that kind of cop?" after we made so bold as to outline the qualifications for a police officer.

And our response?

"If we can't afford that kind of cop at all?"

Your energy-saving options are as easy as:

Electric Thermal Storage.

Electric Thermal Storage, ETS, a very efficient whole-house heating system that works in a unique way. It stores enough heat at night to heat your home for the rest of the day.

Because ETS uses electricity at night, when the cost of electricity is less, ETS customers qualify for special rates. So you'll get lower electric rates for heating. And for all other electricity you use at night. What's more, the same lower rates apply all weekend.

ETS not only heats your home, it also heats your water. Individual room heaters are available, too.

Add-On Electric Heat Pump.

Another very modern option to save energy, and money.

An Add-On Electric Heat Pump works with your existing furnace — no matter what kind of fuel it uses — to heat your home more efficiently all winter long.

In summer, it's a central air conditioner, cooling and dehumidifying your home.

So an Add-On Electric Heat Pump can actually work year round for you and save you money on your winter heating costs.

Add-On Resistance Heating.

Another add-on option. Your third way to save energy and money.

Add-On Resistance Heating is simply an electric element that's slipped into the duct of your furnace. It takes over for your furnace on weeknights and weekends when the cost of electricity is less. And, as an Add-On Resistance Heating customer, you pay special lower rates for nighttime heating — as well as all other electricity you use during those same hours.

For a low initial investment, Add-On Resistance Heating can be a real comfort to your nighttime heating costs.

DARRIN BRANHAM TOM BAKER BRIAN VREDEBURGH ROD HAMPTON

MARK KAMANN CHAD MCGINNIS MIKE MCKENZIE

Seven to play last contest on home floor

Seven 12th graders will play their final interscholastic basketball contest here on Saturday, when Plymouth meets Colonel Crawford, a Class AA school from North Robinson.

The seven are Thomas Baker, Darrin Branham, Rodney Hampton, Max Kamann, Chad McGinnis, Mike McKenzie and Brian Vredenburg.

All save Kamann have seen considerable action this season as the Big Red struggled to raise itself from the mire of two disastrous seasons.

Red overcomes Cougars; Vredenburg scores 12

Mike McKenzie's basket with 3:14 left in the first half here Friday night sent the Big Red to the front in a Firelands conference matchup with bitter rival Crestview and Plymouth was not again headed in a 59 to 52 victory.

It was not an artistic performance but it raised the Big Red's record to 5-2-10, its best in three seasons and exactly 400 per cent better than last season's with two games remaining.

It was tied at 24, the lead having changed hands four times, before McKenzie canned his rebound. Just 31 seconds earlier, Darren Branham had tied it with a shot from the seamer.

Crestview closed the gap to one point when Rod Bernhard converted the first of a one-and-one free throw opportunity but the Cougars could do no better than that and Plymouth hung on to win.

The host team, indeed, improved its lead with some excellent play at the end of the half. Baskets by Tom Baker, from 30 feet out; Rodney Hampton, after a steal with 24 seconds left, and again by Baker, with the clock ticking down, were sandwiched about Brian Vredenburg's free throw to establish for Plymouth a neat six point advantage going into the halftime recess.

The Cougars struck like lightning early in the third period, getting two clock buckets to close the lead to 33 to 31 before Hampton threw in a jumper from nine feet away. Brian Flew, the big Crestview pivot man who scored 22 points to lead both teams, matched Hampton's effort, whereas Vredenburg drove the basket to throw one down from underneath to make it 37 to 33.

Not heretofore reputed for substantial scoring or aggressive play, Vredenburg surprised the Red faithful with a good floor game, some critical rebounding and a high of 12 points in the scoring column.

Plymouth had seven point outbursts without response in the final period and built a lead of 15 points after the second before Crestview staged a last-ditch surge and cut the margin. With about two minutes left, Coach David Dunn cleared the bench.

Big Red outscored its opponent in the last three periods and might have done so in the first one had it not persisted in a man-for-man defense that the Cougars rattled with shots from underneath.

Plew scored four, Bernhard four, Mark Hershiser four and Steve Hall four in the first eight minutes.

Plymouth did not forsake its man-for-man defense until the second quarter was three minutes old. At this point the Big Red began to hold its own.

Plew was by far the tallest player on the floor and the Cougars were aggressive on the boards with the result that Crestview took down 30 rebounds, two more than Plymouth. But the Cougars failed to score with 14 advances of the ball, Plymouth with only 12.

Crestview shot less often than Plymouth, it unleashed 49 times and converted 33 of them. Plymouth shot 58 times and made 26.

At the foul line, Plymouth outscored Crestview by one, seven to six. The Big Red missed nine shots, Crestview seven.

Hampton and Baker each scored 10 for the winners. Hampton had nine and Branham and Chad McGinnis eight apiece.

Only Hershiser managed double figures for the Cougars, in addition to Plew.

The victory was No. 8 for the Big Red, which must now face Black River in league play there tomorrow (the Pirates won earlier on the Red floor) and Colonel Crawford, a Class AA school, here Saturday.

If Plymouth can pull it off, it will be a fitting climax to a difficult situation for a dogged coach who has struggled manfully to satisfy his players and to urge them to pull on the same rope in the same direction at the same time.

This squad has not been without dissection and there have been some players, as always there are, who, rightly or wrongly, are convinced they know more about the game, their team and themselves than does their coach. Dunn has dealt with that situation and one or two explosive issues with surprising equanimity and is entitled to recognition for that fact.

Baker and Kamann have been hobbled at times, by injuries. Hampton and McKenzie, usually heavy scorers for Plymouth, have done so only sometimes.

All save Kamann played football last season. McKenzie is likely to be a candidate for the track and field squad. The others except for Kamann will play baseball.

Eagle duo, Robinson all-district

Two Monroeville players and one from Western Reserve comprise three of the six selections to all-Class A Northwest district basketball team.

Mike Landoll, a six feet five inch 12th grader, and Don Farmer, a six footer who is also a 12th grader, are the Eagle choices.

Todd Robinson, Roughrider ace, who stretches six feet nine inches, is the other Firelands conference selection. He also is a 12th grader and has signed a letter of intent to enter the University of Mississippi.

The other three choices for the first team are Lance Kimmel, the Buckeye Central star who is the district player of the year, a 12th grader; Ron Krupp, 12th grader, St. Wendelin, Footoria, an inch short of six feet, and Tom Ritzer, 12th grader, Calvert of Tiffin, with a scoring average of 19.5 a game. Averages of the others on the first team: Landoll, 16.1; Farmer, 17; Robinson, 18.7; Kimmel, 21.8; Krupp, 18.3.

BUILD A BUTTERFLY KITE

For the handy mother - cook -

Why not make kite? Or Albacore Jambalaya?

By AUNT LIZ
There is nothing like doing a little spring housecleaning... but a little goes a long way.

I got into one closet and right off the bat found a hanger with an empty plastic bag on it that I started to tear off. Then I noticed a little black book attached to it.

Can you imagine? Some unused traveler's checks that an honest dry cleaner must have found in a pocket and hitched it on, which we never noticed, were pinned there.

That urged me on, so I went through some pockets of coats I had should have been thrown out years ago. That netted 35 cents and the big decision that the coats were still wearable with adding some missing buttons and cleaning. And I'll bet they are better material than what you get today.

Then in our mail came this great idea from the National Wildlife Federation. Kids should have a ball with it, but they will need a little help.

Here is how you make it. Start with a sheet of paper the size of the illustration. Trace it on and cut where necessary. Color it to look like a pretty butterfly (kids will probably come up with butterflies that are very rare or aren't even known to the most expert butterflyer).

Lay a piece of string across the middle so there are four inches on one side and 20 on the other. Then lay two straws (it would be nice to kind of match the colors with the butterfly) like an X with only part of the string under them where they cross. Tape the straws in place and knot the string.

The long end is the one you use to make it fly in the sky.

This is obviously for really little ones, but it can be enlarged for older ones and sure sounds like a good deal for a Brownie meeting.

I am getting a Columbus complex because I also found a new recipe that is tasty and affordable.

that is tasty and affordable.

It's for Albacore Jambalaya. Real Jambalaya made in New Orleans is wonderful, but loaded with shrimp.

I know nothing about tuna fish and didn't know it came in colors. Albacore is white tuna and you can find it. It does cost a speck more than the regular stuff we all use.

You need two seven ounce cans (this will make enough for about five servings) which you drain.

In about three tablespoons of oil saute a chopped seeded green pepper with a half cup of sliced green onions and a slivered clove of garlic until they are softish. Add the fish. Stir in a cup of uncooked rice, the real stuff, a 1 1/4 oz. can of chicken broth, a half teaspoon of cayenne pepper and a 16 oz. can of drained chopped tomatoes.

Bring this to a boil, cover and simmer for about a half hour until the rice is cooked.

There is no reason why any leftovers cannot be reheated or frozen.

Could village have survived without Fate-Root-Heath Co.?

"There wouldn't be a Plymouth today, probably, if it weren't for Fate-Root-Heath Co."

That statement comes closer to the truth than any which relates to the history of the village.

All of its originators save one, Percy H. Root, have died. He is now 83, semi-retired.

With his father, the late Clayton F. Root, and his brother-in-law, the late Charles E. Heath, who married Mabel E. Root in 1892, Percy Root and his brothers, the late John A. Root and Halsey F. Root, came here in 1885 from Medina. They occupied a building offered by the village. It is now Plant No. 4 of the company.

The Root Bros. Co. then manufactured a cobbler's outfit. On a cold night in March, the equipment of the firm was moved in box cars on the P. A. and W. railroad, predecessor of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown.

IN 1902 THE FIRM INCORPORATED. Clayton F. Root was elected president, Charles E. Heath vice-president and general manager, John A. Root treasurer, Halsey F. Root secretary and Percy H. Root superintendent.

Root Bros. Co., also known as the Heath Foundry & Manufacturing Co., merged with the J. D. Fate Co. in 1918.

The company was the brainchild of John D. Fate, Jr., who associated with E. M. Freese to form Ohio Brick & Tile Machinery Co. Crestline in 1879. In 1881 the firm moved here.

In 1890, Fate sold his interest to Freese and organized the Fate & Gunsallus Co., in 1891, to make brick and the machinery. Seven years later, he admitted his sons to partnership. Harley H. Fate was elected vice-president, George B. Drennan treasurer and Miss Edith K. Drennan secretary. She was the first woman to be elected to any responsible office, public or private, in the village.

When John D. Fate died in September, 1902, Harley was named president, Harry Fate vice-president and Drennan secretary and treasurer. Death of Harry Fate in 1918, two years after Harley died, prompted the merger of the two companies.

This was finally effected in 1919. IN ADDITION TO THE manufacture of brick and the machinery which it inherited from the Fate firm, the new organization continued the manufacture of industrial locomotives, first of which it undertook in 1914, after designs by the late Floyd B. Carter, chief engineer. From 1907 to 1913, the firm built the Plymouth Motor truck.

The first friction-drive locomotive drew broad interest in the trades for which it was designed. Ultimately 2,162 of them were sold. Carter then designed an eight-ton locomotive with a gear-drive transmission. These were thereafter built to 40-ton weight.

In 1937, Carter designed larger locomotives, up to 70 normal since. In 1903, the company's predecessor had acquired half interest in a patent owned by William H. Fetters for the manufacture of a machine to sharpen lawn mowers.

This was the beginning of the grinder division, which today occupies the first building acquired by the company, naturally enlarged to 175 by 50 feet.

THE FIRM HAS PRESENTLY an employment of about 300. Descendants of the original incorporators, or their kin by marriage, hold the principal offices of the company.

Chairman of the board is John A. Root, elder son of John A. Root. His brother, H. James, is president.

Miles W. Christian, who married G. Emeline Fate Simmons, daughter of Harley Fate, is vice-president and general manager.

Joy W. Herbert, his brother-in-law, who married the elder daughter of Harley Fate, is a director.

Paul H. and Thomas F. Root, sons of Percy H. Root, are vice-presidents. So is Robert Heath Root, son of Halsey F. Root.

Despite difficulties during the depression, the firm has maintained a steady employment. Its growth has been both spectacular than some, but it is steady and solid.

"As Fate-Root-Heath goes, so goes Plymouth" is a fair statement of the influence on

A labor with resp

This sesquicentennial edition represents the best efforts of The Advertiser in presenting a clear and responsible account of 150 years of the village's history.

It was planned to be a history in three parts: what happened, what people did over 150 years, and who they were.

We have always believed that to study and/or write history, one should always ask "why?"

If history is to teach lessons, its student must always inquire why an event occurred, why a man or woman did what he or she did, or didn't do, why people behaved or failed to behave in their own best interests.

So far as we have been able, that is what we have done in this edition.

Although most of the work was done by the editor and his wife, special thanks are due many people for their kind and willing assistance: State Sen. Don J. Pease, Rep. Richard M. Christiansen, Rep. Charles A. Mosher, Mrs. Peyton W. Thomas, Miss Florence Danner, David H. Bachrach, John Bradford, William P. Day, Carl V. Ellis, Mrs. Kenneth V. Myers, Thurman R. Ford, Nathaniel Spear, Jr., and others.

The Advertiser's loyal staff, Donald H. Newton, Paul A. Ziptel, Donald E. Williams and Mrs. Samuel Carter, were faithful in carrying out the plans of the editor.

Special thanks are due A. L. Paddock, Sr., for his assistance.

If this effort falls short of its aims, the editor is solely at fault.

His wife has been patient, forbearing and loyal to his plan. To her he owes much more than he can ever pay. And to her, he hastens to point out, her adopted community owes the thanks due a painstaking researcher who has a warm and generous spirit for the glorious past.

The meat of this edition was carved by her. And it is to her that this sesquicentennial edition, of which she is in fact the principal architect, is lovingly dedicated.

OHIO NATURALLY

Two new accounts funded solely by contributions from Ohio's taxpayers will allow the Ohio Department of Natural Resources to become involved in additional preservation and management activities. Ohioans are now able to donate all or a portion of their personal state income tax return to these special accounts.

Created by law, a Natural Areas and Preserves Special Account and a Nongame and Endangered Wildlife Special Account will generate money for vital conservation programs. Money contributed to these accounts will not supplement or replace budget appropriations, but will be designated for innovative projects which have not been undertaken due to funding shortages.

Making a donation is simple. Contributors designate the amounts and the funds they wish to support on lines 20 and 21 of the state income tax form. Then, these amounts are deducted from the total refund. Contributions can be made to one or both funds.

The Natural Areas and Preserves account will help protect the habitats of endangered plants and animals, and the state's nature preserves and scenic rivers. Donations will be used to develop visitor facilities, provide workshops and educational programs, and help to locate and preserve the last and best remaining natural areas in Ohio.

More than 1,000 species of wildlife not taken for sport or commercial purposes will be protected by the Nongame and Endangered Wildlife fund. The money will assist in the restoration of endangered wildlife populations and the reintroduction of species once extirpated from Ohio.

Ohioans not receiving a state income tax return can contribute to the funds by sending a check to:

Bob Hope knows just how much Red Cross helps veterans.

"If you're a veteran, the rules and regs that affect your benefits can sometimes be baffling. Where to turn for help?
-Try Red Cross. Yes, the Red Cross.
-Last year, American Red Cross helped tens of thousands of former servicemen and their families get their educational, disability, insurance and medical benefits.
-Red Cross also helps many veterans upgrade their military discharges... and that holds the key to getting a job. Just last year, Red Cross represented more than 2100 veterans before discharge review boards.

-And discharge review for an additional 6046 veterans is in process.
-Giving a hand to veterans is another powerful reason for us to help keep Red Cross ready.
