The voice of The Advertiser—

Why was it so?

Within the past fortnight or so, two events in our school of special public notice seem to us to require comment.

Why? Because one great lesson can be learned from them.

The first, what has been described to us an absolutely splendid performance of "Guys and Dolls" (we gave up attending them some years ago because we felt constrained to review them critically, and we found that even when the comments were wholly favorable, there was deep resentment; why buy trouble when one can find it lying in the gutter for free?) was poorly attended.

The second, in which four members of the bar, none of whom had ever appeared before pupils of Plymouth High school before, participated, was during its planning stage thought to be risky business: "The kids are apt to be unruly, they don't like to sit still for so long, there is the 10 or 15 per cent lunatic fringe that will embarrass us."

This didn't occur. The participants — timekeeper, debaters, judges, chairman — are unanimous in their praise of the reception accorded them and the attentiveness, respect, and interest shown by the pupil audience.

Why didn't the pupils of the school turn out to see their classmates and conferees in a musical comedy? Why didn't the community watch and listen in considerable number? (It is fair to say that, although there were several invitations to the public to attend the debate, only 14 adults not connected with the school watched and listened.)

How did it happen that the fears expressed in advance that the pupils would misbehave did not materialize?

Then answer is leadership and publicity.

The school did an absolutely rotten job of publicizing the musical. This newspaper all but had to fight to obtain a list of cast members. And it was not the fault of the capable secretary to the principal, either. She labored long and hard to accommodate The Advertiser, as she almost invariably does.

Nor was there attention in other media.

Why did the debate go over so well? Because the principal took it upon himself to exert his very considerable powers of leadership and he put his blood on the line. He told the pupils what was going to happen and what was expected of them several times. That it worked is now history. We told him from the beginning that "everything will go all right, don't worry so much!" But he did worry. Needless, it turned out. And it was his effort that was the catalyst in the whole reaction.

One whose advice becomes more and more important to us every day, as we start our 31st year in this job, always said, "Don't sell the young people short: expect good things and big things of them and see to it they aren't interfered with in doing those things and they will always surprise and please you."

Which is what they did Thursday. And would have done on Apr. 6, 7 and 8.

In this new capacity, he assumes total responsibility for the Tubing Group's human resource function and reports directly to Ronald L. Van Meter, executive vice president-tubing, Copperweld Corp. Frank E. Burks joined Copperweld in July, 1978, as manager of human resources for its wholly-owned subsidiary, Ohio Steel Tube Company in Shelby. He has retained that position until his current appointment. Prior to joining the corporation, he had served in various human resource capacities for Ford Motor Co., White Motor Co., and Ingersoll Rand. He is a native of Bloomington, Ind., and a graduate of Butler university, Indianapolis, Ind., with a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He is currently working toward an M.B.A. at Ashland college.

Sams house to be foreclosed

Foreclosure action against the estate of Harold F. Sams and his sole survivor, David C. Sams, has been undertaken by First United Bank of Shelby, which seeks $19,473.68 plus interest at 16 per cent from and after May 1, 1983. The action will be heard in Huron county common pleas court June 21. Premises are situated at Portner and Woodlawn streets and encompass part of Green Lot 180 and Lot 231, the former measuring 120 by 50 feet and the latter 20 by 120 feet.

Affirmative slim pick in debate

By the narrowest of margins the affirmative side was declared winner of the exhibition debate in Plymouth High school Thursday. The debate was the first of its kind in Ohio.

Question was "Resolved: That no pupil of Plymouth High school shall be awarded a diploma unless he has completed four units of English, four units of mathematics, four units of social sciences, four units of physical sciences and three units of a foreign language."

The affirmative side, Judges Richard M. Christiansen and Max K. Chilcote, attacked the present standards of the high school as "too little, not enough to complete" and recited statistical data to show that American pupils undertaking a conventional curriculum rank far below their peers in other countries.

The negative team, Robert A. McKown and his elder son, Neil A., attorneys, argued that Plymouth cannot afford the additional staff to support an expansion, which would do more than cater to an "intellectual elite".

The younger McKown was rebuttalist for the negative. Judge Christiansen for the affirmative.

Hodge denies it —

Performance of police in vandal investigation claimed to be 'correct'

Strong reaction to a charge that police failed to investigate promptly a case of vandalism in Pioneers' Rest cemetery occurred on two fronts last week.

Police Chief Frank Hodge hotly denied that his department was deficient.

He said the report made by Vance C. Hoffman, Sr., Railroad street, was filed with the department one day after he claims he saw juveniles despoiling the cemetery.

"An officer was dispatched right away and he couldn't find Mr. Hoffman at home. He had gone to the VFW in Shelby. When we did catch up with him to get his statement, the trail was cold. Even so, we have a description of the two culprits, one a female and one a male, and we are on the watch for them.

"And nobody took the time to study the situation and see that my officers on their own contacted people at Plymouth Locomotive Works, Inc., to get some material help so that the damage could be repaired and the fence fixed so it would not be likely to happen again. These officers did this of their own free will, on their own time, and without expecting to be paid for their time and work.

"We have had some problems in the department and let me tell you, I don't plan to put up with any misconduct. We had some misconduct and I did what I thought was right and fair to the people of the village. I fired the officer. I expect to be back on the job after my illness on Monday (Apr. 23) on a full-time basis and I expect to keep after this until we find who did it."

"But it's damned unfair to accuse the department of not doing the job when every effort was made to do it correctly."

Meanwhile, Hoffman reported that persons unknown threw eggs, ostensibly fresh ones, at his house sometime Friday.

He surmises the act was perpetrated by those who committed the vandalism of those sympathetic with them.

Turn clock up an hour Sunday at 2

Daylight savings time returns to Ohio Sunday at 2 a.m. All timepieces must be advanced one hour.

When the clock strikes 2 a.m. it will, in fact, be 3 a.m., thirty minutes past the legal closing time for liquor permit holders entitled to be open until 2:30 a.m.

Therefore, all sales and consumption of liquor must cease at 2:00 a.m., when clocks should be advanced one hour, Director Richard E. Carey says.

'Blue ribbon' committee reports —

More English, social study recommended for school

More required study in English and social sciences and a start in teaching foreign languages at the elementary level are recommended by a 19-member "blue-ribbon" committee appointed by Plymouth Board of Education to study how Plymouth schools may conform to findings of President Reagan's commission.

The committee, whose members were Supt. Douglas Stagg, the three administrators, Charles Reinhart, member of the board; C. Michael Follert, Douglas A. Dickson, Mrs. Debra Hudson, Robert Bass and Terry Pore, teachers; Thomas Baker and Michael McKenzie, pupils; Mrs. Lionel Howard, Mrs. Jeffrey Slauson, the Rev. Pauline Atkins, Mrs. Larry F. Keinsth, Mrs. James Hawk and Mrs. Louis Lemaster, parents, and Mrs. William R. Miller and Mrs. Roy W. Carter, members-at-large, met four times and twice visited the several schools.

Committee members unanimously agreed: 1. Four years of high school English should be required.

2. Length of the school day or year should not be tampered with.

3. Local schools generally comply with standards and expectations of their pupils.

4. Time spent on teaching and teacher performance meet acceptable standards. There was less than unanimous agreement on these findings:

1. Social science requirements should be advanced from two to three years: 62 per cent.

2. Mathematics requirements should be advanced from two to three years: 37 per cent.

3. All pupils should be required to complete one-half year of computer science: 50 per cent.

4. Two years of foreign language should be required of every pupil: 50 per cent.

There was no support for increasing of physical science requirements from two to three years.

High school attendance policy should be revised, the committee found.

Study skills require attention at all grade levels, it said.

More importance should be placed on quality of instructional time.

More emphasis should be placed on the talented and gifted instructional program.

Merit pay for teachers is worth investigating, but care should be taken to consider how to initiate techniques of evaluation that are fair to all teachers.

Children and adults are urged to either be a biker or sponsor a biker in the Shiloh Bike-A-Thon.

Just come to Shiloh school, post office, or Dr. Butner's office, or call 896-3331 to get sponsor sheets.

Some energy saving reminders for the whole family. (Clip and Save.)

Stick these ideas on your refrigerator.

The more you use, the more energy you'll save.

- Whenever possible, use a toaster, toaster-oven or an electric frypan instead of your large oven or range.
- Never use the oven as a heater.
- Place pans on the surface units of your range before you turn on the heat.
- Use a small amount of water when boiling eggs and vegetables. Use tight-fitting lids, too.
- Place the most often used items in the front of your refrigerator shelves so you can get to them quickly.
- Make sure refrigerator door seals are tight, free of grease.
- Don't wash your dishes until you've got a full load. That's usually after dinner.
- Turn off the lights, radio and TV before you leave.
- Don't let the hot water run while you're shaving. Fill the sink halfway instead.
- If you can, use an electric razor. It uses less energy in a year than the hot water your hand razor uses in a week.
- Set your water heater's temperature at a moderate 140°F or as low as possible to allow for enough hot water.
- Take shorter showers.
- Wash and dry only full loads of clothes.
- Keep your thermostat at 68° or less in the winter, at least 78° in the summer.
- In winter, open drapes and shades to let sun heat your home. When sun sets, close them.
- In summer, close drapes and shades to keep your home from getting overheated.
- Don't heat or cool unused rooms. Close them off.
- Keep the damper on your fireplace closed when not in use.

'81 alumna wed in Shelby church

A 1981 alumna of Plymouth High school, Miss Jacalyn Sue Ernst was married Mar. 31 in First Lutheran church, Shelby, by the Rev. Melancthon P. Pastznick, Bucyrus, to Kelvin Eugene Egner.

She is the daughter of the Kenneth Ernsts, Ganges Five Points road, a student in Mansfield General hospital school of nursing who will be graduated in June.

The bridegroom is the son of the Harold Egners, Hazel Brush road, Shelby route 3, a 1979 graduate of Shelby High school who attended Pioneer Joint Vocational school. He is employed by the family dairy farm.

Given in marriage by her father before an altar decorated with daisies, gladioli and carnations lighted by two seven branched candelabras, the bride wore a white gown of organza over taffeta designed with a high neckline, bishop sleeves, chapel-length train and accents of Venice and Mottingham lace. Her Camelot head-piece supported a waltz-length veil of Nottingham lace.

She carried pink carnations and white daisies.

Her sister, Mrs. Carole Sherer, Ashland, was matron of honor. The Misses Lisa Baker and Barbara Gosser were bridesmaids. The bride's niece, Sabrina Weber, Ashland, was flower girl.

Karl Egner was his brother's best man. Roger Baird and Lanny Seaman ushered. Samuel Weber, Ashland, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

Lynn Croas was organist, Shannon Root, solista, Mary Ellen Pugh pianist.

A reception, served in the church rooms, featured a four-tiered cake made by Mrs. Sherer. It was served by Michelle Metcalfe, Nancy Fields and Anne Salvaio. Becky Mardis registered guests.

After a wedding trip to Mohican State lodge, the couple resides in Shelby.

Dumb? You bet! Raid cabinets for $pice$!

By AUNT LIZ
There are some who know that I can dish out advice like mad. Being an older mother, I can hold forth for hours on how to bring up kids, even though I simply told ours to do whatever was wrong not where every one would know them, but some other place where no one knew us.

Then I have my little kicks, like collecting this and that, tracing family history and so on. It varies depending on what happened that got me all shook.

But, never did I think I could give really good advice to the underworld and those characters who go around stealing stupid things like diamonds, stereos, guns and cars.

They are dumb, dumb, dumb. They are missing the boat. When they should do sit start raiding kitchens and spice cabinets.

What they should snatch, and it is now worth a real mint, is a spice called saffron.

For years it was plentiful and obtainable, but even now the White House cook must think twice about using it.

It comes from one tiny part of a crocus bloom and takes acres to make enough for one very small package. Most of it comes from those plains in Spain.

Back in the good old days like the 1400 and 1500's, it was used lavishly to dye things yellow. And the ladies wore a lot of yellow then because it was the closest shade to gold.

Now it is plain valuable. Our daughter-in-law told us they met a guy who heads one of the largest spice companies in the country, and he happened to mention that what saffron they had on hand was locked in a vault every night and only three people knew the combination.

now it is gone. Finished. Finito. I made an Italian rice dish; the Italians eat rice as happily as the Chinese and Japanese, it is a real part of their everyday eating. Because they grow so much of it in the Po valley, I suppose.

This calls for saffron, but it can be a little faked up by using a dash of turmeric, which gives a yellow color, but not quite the flavor, which most people wouldn't notice anyway.

This is a Risotto alla Milanese and will make four nice servings.

To start, slice up some mushrooms and cook them in water until they are tender. You can also saute them in a little butter.

Mince a small onion, and cook it in four tablespoons of real butter until it is golden.

Add a cup of real rice, not the quick stuff, and stir it around until it is opaque (which I call kind of silvery-looking).

Then add a fourth of a cup of white wine or sherry, and cook it just a little.

Meanwhile, have a quart of chicken broth heating. Add part of it to the rice, and keep adding the rest as the rice absorbs it. While it is still liquid, add the mushrooms and a dash of the turmeric, which you will have to guess at, so it is a nice pale yellow.

This is to be done in a large skillet. It can be doubled.

Serve it with a big bowl of grated cheese. It is great with any kind of meat.

I don't know what happened to this world, but back in the post World War II days, this was eaten at least 10 times, it was in Italy because it was cheaper than meat for spaghetti sauce.

ORDINANCE NO. 484

AN ORDINANCE ADOPTING SECTION 406.09 OF THE CODIFIED ORDINANCES OF THE VILLAGE OF PLYMOUTH, OHIO, RELATIVE TO ESTABLISHING PERMIT PROCEDURES FOR PARADES, PROCESSIONS AND ASSEMBLAGES.
WHEREAS, This Council desires to establish procedures whereby parades, processions and assemblages may be permitted; now therefore,
BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the Village of Plymouth, State of Ohio, 5 members thereto concurring:
Section 1. That Section 406.09 of the Codified Ordinances of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio, be, and the same is hereby adopted. 406.09 PARADES, PROCESSIONS, AND ASSEMBLAGES. No person, group of persons or organization shall conduct or participate in any parade, procession or assemblage upon any street or highway, or block off any street or highway area, without first obtaining a permit from the chief of police.
Applications for such permits shall be made on such forms as may be prescribed and shall contain such information as is necessary to determine the proper determination of whether a permit should be issued. Applications shall be filed not less than five days before the time intended for such parade, procession or assemblage, provided that for good cause shown the Administrator may waive the five-day filing requirement.
The permit may be refused or conditioned as follows:
(a) The time, place or conduct of the parade including the assembly areas and route of march would reasonably interfere with the public convenience and safe use of the streets and highways.
(b) The parade would require the diversion of so great a number of police officers to properly police the line of movement, assembly areas and areas contiguous thereto as to deny normal police protection to the Municipality.
(c) The parade route of march or assembly areas would unreasonably interfere with the movement of police vehicles, fire-fighting equipment or ambulance service to other areas of the Municipality.
(d) The parade, procession or assemblage would unreasonably interfere with another parade, procession or assemblage for which a permit has been issued.
(e) The information contained in the application is found to be false, misleading or incomplete in any material detail.
(f) An emergency such as a fire or storm would prevent the proper conduct of the parade, procession or assemblage.
The permit or any order accompanying it may limit or prescribe reasonable conditions, including the hours, the places of assembly and of dispersal, the route of march or travel and the streets, highways or portions thereof which may be used or occupied.
Section 2. That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.
