

We should learn from mistakes: let's sequence!

"I feel a lot better about things, now that I've thought it over," one protagonist during the confrontation with the board of education on Aug. 13 says, "and I'm happy with how things turned out. But you're smarter than I am, please figure out what we did wrong so we don't do it again."

Flattery, we told our informant, will get you everywhere.

What are the facts? They are that a skilled teacher of French has been engaged at $3,000 plus fringe benefits (his PERS retirement and his right to be absent from his classes) to teach those pupils who, for want of a year of French, would lose their two years of credit in that language. And they are that a class in physics has been established and an experienced teacher assigned to conduct it.

These developments do not come without tradeoffs. Some pupils had to give up courses they particularly wanted to make way for French and/or physics.

So be it.

How did it happen?

The superintendent, whose level-headedness under fire grows upon us, month after month, pointed out, with considerable effect, that the absence of sequencing is the culprit. And he blames the absence of sequencing, which used to be in effect here, on the inception of the joint vocational school.

It's no secret that he has had for some time reservations, as a professional educator, about the desirability and efficacy of vocational training, at the secondary school level. But Pioneer Joint Vocational school has been in business for a long time now; if it killed Cock Sequence, another Cock Sequence should have been found and restored to his proper perch.

Nevertheless, the absence of sequencing reflects poorly upon the local schools and the superintendent did not shy away from admitting as much. For which he deserves, and gets, full marks.

It may also be true that a relatively green principal, certainly green in this district, may not have grasped the impact of dropping two such critical subjects. His response to the first accusation (which is what it was, rather than a complaint, which is what it ought to have been) did not endear him to those who think the only way here is by education at the higher level. It served no useful purpose to seek to blunt the charge by saying "we don't have all that many going off to college".

What should have been done — and hind sight is always 20/20, foresight is limited to Him and the experienced — is that pupils and parents should have been consulted, and consulted in great depth, in March. Their needs should have been laid out to them as painstakingly as one rubs his puppy's nose in the newspaper to teach him what's expected of him. By failing to do this, or do it adequately, if it was attempted at all, the schools limited their field and freedom of maneuver. And as any tactician will tell you, that leads to disaster.

It is pleasant to note that the spilled milk has been lapped up. If there are some professionals whose tongues are dirty because they were compelled to lap from the floor, so be it.

We have argued for 15 years that the high school curriculum needs to be changed. We had hoped the blue ribbon committee appointed by the board last year to study the President's findings as to education would so recommend. Alas, it didn't. The public wasn't even invited to present its ideas to the committee.

We make progress ever so slowly. Too slowly. The difference between the results of education in this district and those in the best district are measurable. They can be closed. Money? Sure, some money. But mostly by people, by study, by thought, by investigation, by inquiry. Why not now?

A safety valve on a hot water tank malfunctioned, setting off the fire alarm. There was no damage.

J. H. Kruger, Jacobs kin, dies at 73

Brother of Mrs. Ami Jacobs, Willard, formerly of Plymouth, John Henry Kruger, 73, died of heart seizure Aug. 16 in Redlands, Cal., where services were conducted Aug. 20, attended by the Jacobes.

Son of the late Martin Krugers, who lived for many years at Plymouth street and Mills avenue, he was retired from the Army as a major 10 years ago. Since then he has been employed in a civilian capacity by Norton, AFB.

He is also survived by his wife of four years, Bertha; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Alvera, Redlands, Cal., and a son, Martin, New Orleans, La.

French teacher hired by board: problem solved

An Ohio State university professor was hired by Plymouth Board of Education Aug. 22 to teach a class of pupils in French. Jerry Bidwell will be paid $3,000.

Five pupils have indicated a desire to study physics, Principal Jeffrey Slauson told the board. He suspects another five will sign up this week.

If this occurs, Jerry Bishop will be assigned to teach a class of physics.

Supplemental contracts were authorized thus:

David P. Dunn, adviser, Class of 1988; Richard Roll, adviser, Class of 1987; Mrs. Gary Holt, adviser, Class of 1986; Mrs. William Albright, adviser, Class of 1985; Also, Samuel Cook, head high school teacher; C. Michael Follett, head Plymouth Elementary school teacher; James Wallace, assistant football coach.

George Shepard resigned as full-time bus driver.

He was engaged as substitute bus driver. John Harris was employed to replace Shepard as full-time driver.

Other substitutes will be Barbara Moore, Charlotte Adams, the Rev. Dan Humrchouser and Mrs. Jerry Kilgore.

Wanda Neeley was hired as part-time cleaner in Plymouth Elementary school, to work four hours a day.

A candidate for head coach of girls' basketball was interviewed in executive session.

'Bandit' to get canine diploma

Bandit, a trained tracking dog belonging to Patsolman William Burkett, and his master will be "graduated" today at 6 p. m. in Ehret-Parson Post 447, American Legion, by Merritt Canine academy, which the trained the pair.

They will demonstrate methods of tracking to show how the dog has been taught.

And owners of dogs, whether licensed or unlicensed (Richland county dog warden recently called door to door to ascertain if there were dogs present in the household), are warned by Capt. Bill Senguli, the acting chief of police, to keep them tethered or under the control of an adult.

"We're getting a number of complaints about dogs straying and we will have to enforce the ordinance in this matter, so dog owners should take warning," he said last week.

4-Hers watch sentry dog 'protecting'

Two Richland county sheriff's deputies and Ben, the K-9 dog of Deputy Dalton, were guests at the Busy Fingers 4-H club's potluck Aug. 22 in Mary Fete park. After the potluck, the trio gave some demonstrations, showing how Ben is trained to do his job. One of the demonstrations consisted of Ben "protecting" his owner, Dalton, from his "attacker," Deputy Brown.
Deputies Dalton and Brown stayed on to answer questions.
Jason Kilgore gave a demonstration on "Glueing Your Model Airplane."
This potluck was the last official meeting of the year, says Jennifer Rath, reporter.

109 participate in library club

Summer reading club of Plymouth Branch library drew 109 children, the librarian, Mrs. J. H. Cashman reports.

This year's club which evolved around a summer Olympic theme. She said a total of 2,242 books was read from June 4 through Aug. 3. Eric Felver was top reader, completing 106 books.

Each child who joined the club signed a contract specifying the number of books he would read during the summer. After completing the contract the child received a coupon for a free Whopper sandwich, French fried potatoes, and Pepsi, compliments of Burger King restaurant in Mansfield.

And end-of-summer grand prize drawing took place at the conclusion of this year's club. Kara Fennell was the recipient of a visor cap. Ryan Root, Wendy Root, Jeru McKinney and Bethany Schultz won a T-shirt.

Mrs. Cashman reports a special program was offered to pre-school children which allowed their parents to read to them. She said 41 children participated. Lydia Keinath received top honors after 62 books were read to her.

ERRATUM

Sept. 8 will be the date of the wedding of Lauren Lewis, not White, as reported here last week. Miss Lewis is the granddaughter of the Reed Whites and the daughter of the Donald Brunnas. It was silly of The Advertiser to make such a mistake and its apologies are extended to the bride-elect.

Dana Myers delegate at parley

Dana Myers, Plymouth Chapter FFA member, delegate of American and Pioneer District FFA president, attended the state FFA/HERO summer leadership conference Aug. 6-8 with her adviser, Mrs. Dorothy Olewiler.

Conference site was Ohio Wesleyan university, Delaware.

This district, composed of FFA members from Buckeye Central, Northmor and Plymouth High schools, competed in a talent show and received second place. Other contests included a name tag contest with Northmor receiving an award, a door decorating contest with Pioneer district getting sent to state teachers' convention the following week and adviser recognition. In this category, the members are to write why they have the best adviser. Five were picked to be recognized at the final general session. Three of the five were from the Pioneer district. Mrs. Olewiler, Annabelle Frank and Faith Jagger.

Mrs. Culbert Waddles was taken to Willard Area hospital Sunday at 10:30 a. m. by Plymouth Ambulance squad.

End of world coming? Be ready for it: make Brunswick stew

By AUNT LIZ
Summer is over and we can all start very soon complaining about how cold it is.

After a day is finished, you sit down and turn you-know-what on, what did we get?

First the Democrats, who were more than the Olympics, which were fantastic, then the happy Republicans, who had it made and weren't any fun at all, except it was fun to see what everyone was wearing.

Everyone who lived through World War II knows the story of the young captain who was caught running down a hotel corridor with no much on. He had no court martial and was acquitted because his fox lawyer said he was accused for the sport he was engaged in.

During one of the conventions, one guy that I thought would be really good came out with his shirt one night, only the good Lord knows where she ever found the dress she was wearing.

Right then and there I was grateful that he didn't make it. The most likely would have hung on to the thing and worn it again in front of people.

Now I do not have to worry about that anymore, and there is something else that none of us has to worry about, which is gratifying to know.

For years the end of the world has been predicted, one way or another. One theory is that something from space will bump into us, and bingo, we are no more.

A group of happy scientists at the University of California—which campus I do not know and that school has more than any other that I know of—thinks there is a companion star close to the sun which it estimates passes near us every 28 million years and could burn us out to the point that none of our fire insurance would be very useful.

And they have come up with the time it will happen which is not until the year 15,000,000, but it is only 14,999,016 years away, so best you do check your fire insurance.

Sometimes it's more fun to live in the past and do a little pretending while you cook up a really old recipe with all the nice convenient things you have in your kitchen.

Brunswick stew is a real oldie. It goes back to frontier days. It takes its name from a county in Virginia and the name of the man who dreamt it up is lost. It seems he was left to prepare a meal for his buddies when they went off doing something. He had all sorts of vegetables to deal with but nothing meaty, so out he went with his gun and the only thing he could find was a squirrel, so in went the little fellow with a large assortment of vegetables to cook away until the other guys got home for dinner.

This does not work in this day and age. Now you trot to a store, get some chickens, then go home and dump them in about two quarts of water until the meat can be removed.

In the broth left over, throw in whatever you have, like tomatoes, some sliced onions, lima beans, a couple of diced potatoes, even a little slice okra. Simmer it all, then add the pieces of chicken with some salt, pepper and a little water.

Actually, it can be better if it sits a day before eating. And served on rice it is great, because the juices soak in.

FFA visits tire farm

Plymouth FFA and Adult Farmer class visited in Columbiana the Firestone Tire test farm.

The farm was Harvey S. Firestone's family place. Today it is used to field test Firestone Agricultural tires.

The "Firestone Mean Machine" is big equipment used to apply loads on tractors in the field. It weighs 40,000 pounds.

'This could be our whole season' —

Red opens Friday with Seneca East

Two teams that last year produced their best-ever records, in a 10-game slate, anyway, will knock heads at Attica tomorrow in the opening game for Plymouth and Seneca East.

They're as evenly matched as you could imagine or hope for, and the decision is likely to go to the club that makes the fewer mistakes.

Coach Richard Roll is guardedly optimistic about his team.

"We lost by graduation seven fine players, each one of them a selection for one all-star team or another. It's not easy to replace boys like that. We obviously do not have the same talent or experience in the skill positions. But we aim to be competitive and I think we will be."

Plymouth tied its scrimmage with Hopewell-Louden, neither first team able to score, and lost its second with Clyde, a Class AA school, in what was intended to emphasize the passing game.

"Our players," observed Roll, "think we really beat them, and that's what counts. We need to cut down on our mistakes and I think we'll be all right."

And the Big Red defeated an improved Hillside club, one to zero, Saturday.

How much all right?

"In our division of the Fierlands conference I think any team can beat another on a given night. Black River and Mapleton will be stronger than they have been. I hear that Bill Lewis at South Central is very pleased with his team after scrimmaging Ontario, for one, and coming out without any injuries. We'll be right in there. I haven't heard so much about Crestview but I'm not about to count them out.

"To north, Edison will be tougher—they're always tough, and we have to play them up there again—and Western Reserve is loaded. Monroeville always has a good team, sometimes a very good team. St. Paul's kicked the tar out of Seneca East last week, that team is vastly improved. New London doesn't have too many first line veterans coming back but they have 12 lettermen, the same as we do, and they have a reputation for hitting that they won't back down from. I look for Edison, Western and maybe Monroeville to settle that division."

What sort of team will Plymouth field?

"What sort it will be only time will tell. I can tell you that at the beginning, anyway. Troy Keene and Steve Hill will share the quarterbacking job. Mike Hawkins and Shawn Moore will be at fullback most of the time. The running back job will be Tim Deskins's to start, with Hall and and I think we will have some pretty good substitutes. I have never seen a squad with so many big, young players. Many of our ninth and 10th grade players are bigger than the 11th and 12th graders. And it's not baby fat, it's muscle!"

Whatever the Tigers offer tomorrow night, it will be augmented by the talents of an outstanding kicker, Lars Johannsen, six feet two inches tall, scaling 175 pounds, who booted field goals of 30, 40 and 50 yards against St. Paul's, which won the scrimmage, 12 to 9. He's an exchange pupil from Denmark.

Plymouth will be hard put to score on Seneca East, which has a formidable defense. How formidable? The Tigers recorded seven shutouts last season, including Girard. They spent a week with the Girard Cashmans, Utica, Mich. before coming to Plymouth. They left yesterday for their home.

Hawkins seeing action there. Eric Rother will be the flanker and Junior Porter, who's a new kid and will do us a lot of good, will be his relief.

"In the line, Dave Burks is the tight end, Jamie Brown the split end, Paul Manuel on the left and Walter Lauer on the right are the tackles. Nobody has better guards than we do, Scott Ryman at left guard and Bill McVey at right. They will be our glue, they'll hold us together. Terry Mansfield is the center.

"On defense, we plan to use the five-two-two and alternate it with the pro set of three, four, two, two. The middle guard will be Mansfield, Rod Beverly and McVey will be the inside down linemen. Hawkins and Dave Burks will be the ends, or if you prefer, the outside linebackers.

"Ryman and Lauer will be the inside linebackers.

"Keene will play safety and Brown the monster or rover back. The corner backs will be Hall, Todd Fenner and Deskins.

"We will substitute as we need to, Game time is 7:30 p. m.

Three co-captains again lead Red

Medals of 1865 await kin

Two men from New Haven who served in the 4th West Virginia Cavalry during the Civil War were awarded medals that they never received.

These are Levi Clark and Benjamin F. Snodgrass.

The medals can be claimed by their descendants from the West Virginia Department of Culture and History, Charleston, W. Va., upon documentation of any heir establishing a line of descent from these two soldiers.

In 1866 the West Virginia legislature had 26,099 medals struck for all Union soldiers who fought in that state's regiments. Today there are approximately 5,200 still unclaimed.

They are stored in small cardboard boxes from the supplier with each soldier's name and unit written in longhand on the side of the box.

VILLAGE OF PLYMOUTH, OHIO:
RELATIVE TO MINOR'S
CURFEW; AND DECLARING
AN EMERGENCY.
BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio, 6 members thereto concurring:

Section 1. That Section 648.10 of the Codified Ordinances of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio, be, and the same is hereby, amended as follows:

648.10 MINOR'S CURFEW.
(a) No minor under the age of eighteen years shall loiter, idle, stroll or play in or upon the public parks, streets, sidewalks, or other facilities of the Village between the hours of 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. of the following day, unless accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

Section 2. That in order for such provisions to become effective at the earliest possible time, this Ordinance is declared to be an

follows:

680.13 EFFECTIVE PERIOD.
This chapter shall continue effective insofar as the levy of taxes is concerned until December 8, 1989, provided, however, that annual returns for the year ending in 1989 shall be filed on or before April 15, 1990. This chapter, insofar as the collection of taxes levied in the aforesaid period and any collection or proceeding for collecting tax so levied or enforcing this chapter are concerned, shall continue effective until all of the taxes levied in the aforesaid period are fully paid and until any and all suits and proceedings for the collection of the taxes or for the punishment of violations of this chapter are fully terminated.

Section 2. That this Ordinance shall take effect and be in force pursuant of this Chapter is valid for a period of one (1) year from the date of issuance.

Section 3. That C. O. Par. 1242.99 is hereby adopted as follows:
1242.99 PENALTY.
Whoever violates any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be fined not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than one hundred dollars ($100.00). A separate offense shall be deemed committed each day during or on which a violation occurs or continues. The owner of any buildings or premises or parts thereof, that are in violation of this ordinance, and any architect, building contractor, agent or person employed in connection therewith and who may have assisted in the commission of any such violation shall be guilty of a separate offense.

Section 4. Any ordinance or part thereof which is in conflict with the provisions of this ordinance is hereby repealed.
Section 5. In order to implement this ordinance at the earliest possible time, this Ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, property, health, safety and welfare of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio.
