

Bitter cold hits village

On a day set aside to honor a man who set the country afire with his civil rights movement, Ohio froze up.

Schools closed in observance of the holiday honoring the late Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., couldn't have opened anyway. And they did not open Tuesday, owing to intense cold, high winds that drifted snow over main and secondary roads and low visibility. State highway patrol ordered please see page 4

The voice of The Advertiser—

If one's efficient, raise his pay!

The question of whether the village should fund around-the-clock police protection is again before the village council. Apparently it will opt for additional funding by adjusting the budget to satisfy what it regards as a need for such service.

Has the need been suitably debated? By the council? By the citizenry? By the taxpayers?

We think not, and we are inclined to go along with the mayor in his objections to the raises for the police department.

Which is not to say that the service of the policemen has been inferior. It is to say that the precept that any employee, whether he be policeman or stenographer or engineer or you-name-it, is ipso facto entitled to an annual raise simply because he reported on time, as required, simply because he reported on time, as required is false, punishing to all in its enforcement. Increases in pay should, indeed, they must, be based upon efficiency. Every effort must be made to prepare a satisfactory means of appraising the performance of every municipal employee, whether policemen or whatever, so that only those that measure up to a relatively rigid standard shall receive additional remuneration.

And the legislative body, which is the village council, should debate at length how much the village can, or should, pay for such efficiency. In fact, those who are more efficient than others should receive a greater pay increase.

Admittedly the lamentable inability of the police chief to serve, owing to a back ailment, is a snag in the works. He is on sick leave and his salary goes on. The fact that workmen's compensation is paying for his inability to work and that these payments are collected by the village for deposit to the general, rather than the police, fund, does not eliminate another important fact: we can afford only so much for a job, and when that amount is reached, he who occupies the assignment must learn to get along with what we can afford to pay him, without any diminution of his effort, diligence or efficiency, or seek other employment.

When inflation increases the cost of living drastically, year-end cost of living allowances (COLA) are sometimes justifiable. When inflation drops to no more than what it was, say, 40 years ago, in lower single digits, public employees must learn to cope with it without the automatic relief of an increased COLA at the end of the year.

Every workman, whether the executive of a big outfit or a plodder for a small one, must be judged upon how much he contributes to the earnings of the employer, to what extent he alone is responsible for the progress, if indeed there was progress, of the past year.

If this seems to be a tall order, so be it. A generation ago, when good men and true sat around the council table, such considerations did not arise. But times have changed. Their successors are obliged to deal with the problem. The mayor's effort was a step in the right direction. It is sad that he has been overruled.

One member of the council, who asked that his name not be mentioned (and by using the masculine adjective, we merely proceed by the rule that when the gender is unclear or in doubt, the masculine is preferred; many may not that one of the councilmen is a woman, who is not necessarily excluded from identification), told us, "I don't think we are capable or qualified to do what you suggest." If this is true, why not ask for help? We have a list of seven persons living here or doing business here with long experience in the procedure.

Hart to succeed Sheely at Shiloh

A 35-year-old junior high school teacher was Thursday night chosen to be the new acting assistant junior high and elementary school principal.

John Hart, for 13 years a staff member in the system, was selected by Plymouth board of Education over three competitors, each of them a teacher in the system. These were Mrs. Charles J. Briggs, nee Ethel Simmons, a fifth grade teacher at Shiloh; C. Michael Follett, a third grade teacher here, and Lawrence J. Root, junior high school athletic director and physical education teacher.

Hart is married to the former Dixie Baker. They have three children, including infant twins. They live in Fenner road.

He is an alumnus of Shelby High school and of Ohio State university now studying toward a master's degree in education in Ashland college.

When Edward Kinsel retires later this month, Mark Sheely, 33, a 1969 alumnus of Plymouth High school, will accede to the post on a probation basis. If Sheely and Hart "prove out," the board said, "they will be offered permanent contracts."

65 attend Peru Center road discussion—

Removal of abutments suggested at crossing

Sound and fury, much thunder, some lightning, not much rain; that's what occurred Thursday afternoon in New Haven township hall when about 65 persons, including seven of the media, crammed the building to hear Rep. Richard Rench (R-Milan) joust with ODOT, PUCO and C&O officials over whether a flasher system should be installed at the Peru Center road crossing.

Result: No decision on a flasher system, no decision on warning gates, possible installation of stop signs if the commissioners request them, but not at the expense of the railroad, and removal of the old bridge abutments if their present owner, Harold Smith, is satisfied as to the method and result.

Why not more?

ODOT sent a representative with knowledge but no clout. John Zaleski, District 3 liaison agent, admitted he didn't have all the answers and very little authority.

What Zaleski did say wasn't particularly palatable to his listeners. It was that he didn't include the bridge abutments in the description of the crossing that he prepared as the basis for an ODOT ruling that public funds shall be made available to correct a hazardous situation.

Zaleski's report said there is visibility at the crossing of 500 feet.

Rench urged Zaleski to include the abutments in his next report but added he thinks he can get the cooperation of an Ohio

National Guard unit at Norwalk to remove the abutments. If this fails, Huron County Engineer Lawrence Heit said, cost of their removal is likely to be $20,000.

Zaleski said his superiors rate grade crossings each year. That at Peru Center road, he added, has not yet been considered sufficiently dangerous to justify funding for warning signals.

A C&O official from Baltimore said the railroad has 2,526 grade crossings in Ohio, among which this one ranks 110th from the top as most dangerous.

Robin Rice, casualty prevention manager of the C&O, admitted the railroad does not include visual evaluation of a grade crossing in making its list.

C. W. Yenni, Ohio Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said he has himself reported the dangerous overgrowth of weeds, bushes and brush at the crossing to the railroad for a number of years. He said engineers deserve as much protection against collisions at the crossing as pedestrians or motorists.

What will come of the session?

No formal action was taken. Rench openly expressed his disappointment. Heit will pursue his request with the PUCO. The commissioners, who sat in the front row, said they will act to the limit of their capacity and authority. Smith said he will cooperate if it doesn't cost him anything and if the work is done as he wants it done.

Police appropriation to rise

Appropriations for 1985 will be amended to cover additional costs of running the police department, councilmen seemed agreed Jan. 15.

Meeting as a committee, they feel the village needs 24-hour police protection, which means that an additional $9,000 to $10,000 must be added to meet additional payroll costs for the year.

No decision was reached because council wishes to study the January figures of costs.

There is no question that the money is available in the general fund and income tax money. Clerk-Treasurer John Fazzini said, but if it is used for the police department, "that means that some planned expenditures for improvements will have to wait."

Over the protests of Mayor Dean A. Cline, the council raised police salaries for this year more than budgeted for, not realizing that because Police Chief K. Frank Hodge was on sick leave, hiring of part time officers would be required plus the paying of his salary.

Mayor Cline has suggested a levy for the department be placed on the ballot. No mention has been made of which ballot, whether the primary in June or the general election in November.

He would like to see a four mill levy enacted. Lesser levies have been voted down several times in the past.

The feeling among the council seems to be that it will pass if every voter understands the dire need.

Stolen vehicle found at Shiloh

Theft of his snowmobile was reported to Richland county sheriff's deputies by Thomas A. Rook, 33, Shiloh, was said the apparatus was taken between Jan. 16 at 5 p.m. and Jan. 18 at 2:30 p.m.

The house was gutted. Only its skeleton was left. The Manuels and their three children, Jean, 17; Paul, 16, and Willard, Jr., nine, moved in with kin at Shelby.

For threatening witness—

60-day sentence handed to woman

A Plymouth woman who admitted writing a threatening letter to a witness in a robbery trial a week before he was to testify was sentenced Jan. 15 to 60 days in the Richland county jail.

A one year term in the Women's Reformatory at Marysville for Connie Schaub, 20, was suspended. She was put on probation of three years by Judge James Henson.

The woman admitted that she wrote on June 4 a letter to Arvel Buffington threatening him, his family, and another witness, Oscar Barnett. Buffington and Barnett were prospective witnesses in the trial of Anthony E. LaCock, accused of armed robbery of Dean's Superette at Shelby on Jan. 28, 1984. LaCock is now serving eight to 25 years in prison, plus a mandatory sentence of three years for use of a firearm in the felony.

Lena James, an accomplice of the Plymouth woman, who lived with her in West Broadway, pleaded guilty to a charge of intimidation and was earlier sentenced by Judge Henson to the diversion program.

Sweet potatoes? Try 'em thus!

By AUNT LIZ

After thinking it all over for a while, I have come to one conclusion: anyone who has to plan meals and cook them should stop reading.
Everything you pick up has the do's and don'ts.
What hit me between the eyes was an article before the holidays where two young researchers compared the diet of cancer and non-cancer victims.
Some of it I can readily agree with. Raw vegetables are better than cooked, and frankly, tastier. They say that lettuce, celery, tomatoes, onions and all or most greens are good for you.
But they put asparagus, spinach and Brussels sprouts on the no-no list. This I agree with, I hate all three.
Fresh fruits, we all know, are best, but how are we to get some of them in this weather unless they are frozen or canned? They say apricots, pears and peaches, frozen or canned are for the birds.
They say ham is great for you, but it is pork and I always thought that was high in cholesterol and should be avoided. As far as I am concerned, pork chops do not have one speck of the stuff I love them.
Things we have all been eating all our lives are banned, hamburgers, hot dogs, and a good beef roast. Just what does this leave us poor cooks who have to make the great decision of what everyone will eat each day?
Our pioneer ancestors kind of survived. Sure, they fished, had chickens, but they also were hunters for good, tasty red meat, and raised all sorts of vegetables and fruits.
You can bet your last dollar that most of it was cooked in good pork drippings. These guys say that home fries in bacon grease are ghafter, and can you think of a better, more gourmet way than to do home fries in real bacon grease?
One thing those guys didn't get into was cornflakes with a little milk and sugar, which is my favorite snack. Give them time.
And they did not get into sweet potatoes. This will go great with any healthful chicken dish, the colder it is outside, the better it will taste.

This is the recipe for our selective friend in Cincinnati, who can cook as well as the famous five star restaurant down there.
Start with four pounds of sweet potatoes. Boil them in a little salted water. Drain, peel and mash them. Have ready a bowl of this mixture: a stick of softened margarine, a cup of bourbon, a third of a cup of orange juice, a fourth of a cup of brown sugar, a half of a teaspoon of apple pie spice (if you don't have it, mix up a little nutmeg and cinnamon) and a third of a cup of chopped pecans. Mix it all together with the mashed potatoes, but hold out a half cup of the bourbon.
Beat it until kind of fluffy looking, and put in a greased baking dish with the nuts sprinkled on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.
And this is what says about that left over hooch, "If disposing of it presents a problem to you, won't like the sweet potatoes either."
He is retired now, and I'll bet that police department down there has had to stoop to unhealthful things like a good gooped up cheeseburger or a hot dog with a tasty hot sauce. Those poor guys will never make it.

No calls in cold as 49ers win

Plymouth firemen and ambulance squad count themselves among the very lucky; no calls during the cold, blustery weekend. Everybody got to watch San Francisco demolish Miami.

Rhonda Branham sets new scoring record

Rhonda Branham broke the school scoring record with a 30 point performance in a 74 to 19 rout of winless New London in Firelands conference play here Thursday night.

Miss Branham entered the game needing only six points to break the career scoring record of Renee Taylor, who was graduated in 1982. Miss Taylor amassed 749 points. Miss Branham now has 774.

The record breaking shot came in the middle of the first period, when Plymouth established a 22 to 3 lead over the Wildcats, who are more pussy cat than feral feline this season.

The Big Red led by 25 points at the half, when Coach Mark McDaniel took the microphone and graciously announced that an enthusiastic crowd that his star player had exceeded the previous record.

The 30-point performance was the highest ever by a Plymouth player since the sport was established as a varsity activity 10 years ago.

Kay Niedermeyer scored 14 points and Tammy Tackett 11 in the rout, during which Plymouth put up 66 shots at the basket, making 30, missed half of 28 free throws, took down 37 rebounds, nine of them by Patti Payne, and committed 12 mistakes on offense.

The visitors fired for field goal 31 times and were successful with seven. They missed 13 of 18 free throws, rebounded only 24 times and turned the ball over 22 times.

South Central at Monroeville; Lucas at New London; South Central at Lucas; New London at Monroeville; Black River at Plymouth; Crestview at Mapleton.

Kevin Taylor, 11th grader and letterman, is the tallest of the Big Red. And on Friday night he stood tall by scoring 21 points, most of them rebounds under the basket, and three of them on assists from Steve Hall.

Late Wildcat rally prevails, Plymouth succumbs, 63 to 61

Plymouth led for 29 minutes and 49 seconds of Friday's Firelands conference contest here with a 30 point performance in a 74 to 19 rout of winless New London in Firelands conference play here Thursday night.

The Wildcats won the game, but they were not at the foul line.

Only a frantic, and successful, four quarter surge by the visitors overcame the Big Red. Detamore, who canched 20-point plus scoring average into the game, had been shackled by Plymouth's tight zone defense until he broke loose in the final period. Until the fourth period began, he had thrown it up 12 times and made it five times. With two free throws in the second quarter, he had 12 points.

But he collected six in the final canto, and Jerry Kidd came alive to score eight.

The Big Red was dogged in its defense and successful with its offense.

Going into the final period, it had launched 43 shots, and made 20, while missing only three of 10 free throws. The Wildcats, meanwhile, had put up 56 shots and made just 16. Plymouth led at 45 to 40 with eight minutes left.

New London scored the first five points and Plymouth asked for time out. Steve Hall, who was to foul out for the first time in his career after scoring 20, knocked out after trying. The clock read 6:34. Kevin Taylor, who contributed a career high of 21 to the Red cause, converted a rebound and Plymouth led by four.

New London scored the next six to take a 51 to 49 lead, the first of the night, a jumper by Detamore at 4:43 establishing the advantage. Eric Rath missed two free throws, after his first miss was nullified by a lane violation, and it was tied again. Kidd got one from 15 feet out at 2:11 and Taylor tied it at 1:59.

Detamore's shot broke the tie with 1:14 to go. Kidd knocked one down from 15 feet out at 1:14 and Plymouth was gasping.

Hall converted two free throws at 1:11, then fouled out at 1:03 by hacking Kidd, who after a Red time out designed to confuse him sent two free throws to give the Wildcats a lead of 59 to 55.

Troy Keene fouled Scott Speicher and went to the bench with five minutes. Speicher was successful with both shots, the referee having ruled the foul by Keene to have been deliberate, and New London was in the van by 61 to 55.

Plymouth got time out and regrouped.

Taylor converted a rebound at 24 seconds, New London spent a time out at 22 seconds, Plymouth stole the ball and fed it to Taylor, who threw it in at 11 seconds.

With the score at 61 to 59, Speicher canned two more free throws. New London allowed Plymouth to come up the floor unmolested and Taylor got one underneath with the clock ticking down.

Plymouth shot for field goal 63 times. New London 57. The Wildcats missed five free throws, the Big Red five.

It was no shame for Plymouth to have been beaten. It played well, better than it has played all season, and showed some aggressiveness that has not been characteristic of its defense. It still eschews the fast break, despite a tendency by New London to be victimized by such tactics.

And its transition game, sound in the first half, was weak in the second.

Detamore scored 19, Kidd 17 for the Wildcats.

Plymouth outrebounded New London, 43 to 35, but made more mistakes, 13 to 9.

Rath was in double figures also, with 10.

The effects of an abused childhood are too numerous to mention.

And too devastating to ignore.

Beyond the immediate mental and physical suffering that abused children endure, there is evidence that many children never outgrow the effects of that abuse. Statistics show that an abused childhood can affect a person's entire life.

Many teenage drug addicts and teenage prostitutes report being abused as children.

So do many juvenile delinquents and adult criminals. The fact is, a large percentage of many American social problems stems directly from child abuse.

Yet child abuse can be prevented.

The National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse is a private charitable organization that knows how to prevent child abuse.

But we need your help to do it. We need money. We need volunteers.

Take the first step toward preventing child abuse. Send us your check today. Or write for our booklet.

Because if we don't all start somewhere, we won't get anywhere.

Bitter cold, blowing snow force village to close up

Seneca county roads closed to all save emergency traffic shortly after dusk on Monday.

Most roads in and out of the village were either closed or difficult to traverse.

Ronald Cook, who is employed at Mansfield Lahn airport with the Ohio National Guard, set out for Shelby Tuesday at 5:30 a.m. He reported one lane traffic to that city, Bowman Street road and Plymouth Springmill road "shut tight" and Route 603 "all but closed". He returned to his home at Plymouth street and Mills avenue and took a day of leave.

Some pupils, freed of the Monday village snow removal equipment worked through the night Monday to maintain passage of streets.

No injuries were reported. Scores of householders reported frozen pipes and interruption of water service.

Temperatures Monday dropped to 22 degrees below zero Fahrenheit at one thermometer in the south part of town.

A strong westerly wind that prevailed Tuesday morning reduced the wind chill factor to 15 below zero Fahrenheit.

Some workers, freed of the requirement to attend classes, were out banging on doors before sunrise, seeking to earn spending money by shoveling sidewalks. But their number was far short of the community's immediate needs.

Record low temperatures elsewhere in the state were recorded Monday, when householders for the most part remained indoors, thanks to their television sets to watch the proceedings from the Capitol, where Ronald Wilson Reagan of California was sworn for a second term as president in the rotunda, the outdoor ceremonies cancelled because of the cold.

One Plymouth family, the Thomas F. Roots, was on hand to participate in the gala.

As guests of their son, Thomas L., an attorney in the District of Columbia and in its sister city, Arlington, Va., across the Potomac river, they had planned to watch the inaugural parade and to attend one of the 10 inauguration balls.

The parade was cancelled, owing to cold temperatures that would have endangered the health and safety of the participants in the $12 million extravaganza. The balls were carried out and the Roots attended one of them, in formal attire.

One used to making early morning decisions was excused from doing so on Monday. Supt. Douglas Stagg did not need to call off the school buses on Monday because they were not scheduled to run. But on Tuesday he needed only a brief look at conditions to flash the word.

One not so fortunate was the postmaster, Mrs. Ruth Ann Pittenger. She ordered letter carriers not to undertake their routes on Monday, denying for only the fifth time in 30 years the encomium engraved at the cornice of the Post Office building at Washington: "Neither rain, nor snow nor dark of night shall stay these couriers from their appointed rounds". She said the wind chill factor was too low to risk injury to carriers.

Some workers in village establishments telephoned to their homes Monday to say they would be delayed, perhaps overnight, because roads were drifted. Pepperidge Farm, Inc., in Route 103 at the east edge of Willard, called off its work force for Tuesday.

Mrs. Patricia Dent, an employee of Willard Area hospital, struggled to report to work and found only a skeleton staff on hand. She telephoned a colleague who lives in Willard to come to the hospital to assist her in housekeeping duties.

Despite the snow, the James C. Enderby, 106 North street, had a date with destiny. Mrs. Enderby, nee Elaine Burton, was due to be delivered by Caesarian section at Shelby. This took place and the Enderbys are parents of a second child, a girl. Mrs. Ernest Burton, the new grandmother, and the child's father were present in the obstetrical waiting room of Shelby Memorial hospital.

Retail commerce in the village was at a standstill.

Mrs. Robert L. McIntire, proprietor of McIntire's Plymouth Dry Goods, did not open on Monday. She said she learned from a radio broadcast from Mansfield that the largest downtown store in the county seat was closed and she felt less badly about not opening here.

In Huron county, north-south thoroughfares were said to be "the worst".

Mrs. James R. Mitchell, who lives in Walnut road, said Monday "we're snowed in and they say at Norwalk to stay home because all the roads are shut to the north".

No deaths occurred and no burials were required, a fact that caused the new cemetery sexton, Kenneth Echelberry, to breathe

'84 grad victor as weight lifter

A 1984 alumna of Plymouth High school competed in her first powerlifting meet at Norwalk Jan. 12 and came away with first place in her class of competition.

Kim Darn benchedpressed 125 pounds and deadlifted 225 pounds.

She won a first place trophy for these feats, as well as a trophy as best female lifter.

She is a member of Fleet's Fitness center, Shelby, which scored 50, 19 ahead of the nearest competitor, Heath Fitness, Mansfield.

Voter who didn't vote since 1979 can't vote

Registration of each registered voter who has not voted at least once in the four next preceding calendar years or has not registered a change of name or change of address or otherwise updated his registration during that period will be cancelled, Huron county board of elections reports.

Notices of cancellation of registration are being mailed to each such person at his last known address. Upon the return of a completed reinstatement card the applicant's registration is to be updated. If the reinstatement is not returned within the 30 days of the date of mailing, the registration is to be cancelled.

easier. "But if it was necessary, we'd get it done," he promised.

Subscribers to Cleveland's only newspaper and the only morning journal circulating in Plymouth were deprived of their daily news Monday and Tuesday. Rob Beck, the local carrier, notified his customers by telephone Monday night that his principles in Cleveland had told him there would be no delivery Tuesday morning.

Lots 17-19 sold to Thomas Rodmar

Thomas Rodmar has acquired Lots 17-19, East Main street, from John Tucker, Jr., Richland county recorder reports.

The premises include Plymouth Flea Market.

11th grader chosen all-Ohio band musician

concert and jazz bands. She plays the baritone saxophone.

Daughter of the William Hudsons, Shiloh, she competes in track and field and cross country and in basketball. She is a member of the student council, participates in the talented and gifted program, serves as treasurer of the Class of 1986, is culture chairman of the Foreign Language club, belongs to Louis Bromfield Chapter, National Honor society and was a semifinalist in the spelling bee.

Musically, she has played in the county and conference bands and in the solo and ensemble contest. She took second honors in the national solo contest for her instrument in 1984, having won seventh place in 1983.

Notice of Application of General Telephone Company of Ohio for Increases and Adjustments in Rates and Charges

Pursuant to the requirements of Section 4909.19 of the Ohio Revised Code, General Telephone Company of Ohio hereby gives notice that on October 1, 1984, it filed with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio an application (PUCO Docket No. 84-1026-TP-AIR) for authority to increase and adjust its rates and charges for telecommunications service and to change its regulations and practices affecting the same.

This notice contains the substance and prayer of the application. However, any interested party desiring complete detailed information with respect to all affected rates, charges, regulations and practices should inspect a copy of the application and all attached schedules at the office of the Commission, 180 East Broad Street, Columbus, Ohio. A copy of the application may be inspected by any interested party at the office of the General Telephone Company of Ohio located at 100 Executive Drive, Marion, Ohio. A copy of the application and the proposed tariff sheets are also available for inspection during normal business hours at any Phone Mart of General Telephone Company of Ohio. In addition, the proposed tariffs were mailed to the mayors and legislative authorities of all municipalities served by the Company on August 31, 1984, as part of the Company's notification of its intent to file.

The application affects rates and charges for telecommunications services to all customers of General Telephone Company of Ohio, provided pursuant to its Exchange Rate Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 6, and General Exchange Tariff, P.U.C.O. No. 7.

Any person, firm, corporation or association may file, pursuant to Section 4909.19 of the Ohio Revised Code, objections to the proposed increases and adjustments in rates and charges, and to the proposed changes in regulations and practices affecting the same. The objections may allege that such application contains proposals that are unjust and discriminatory or unreasonable. Recommendations which differ from the application may be made by the staff of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio or by intervening parties and may be adopted by the Commission.

Local Exchange Service

The application proposes to restructure the existing exchange rate charges. A portion of the cost of providing extended area service (EAS) will be funded from the local exchange service rates and applied only to those exchanges benefiting from EAS in the form of an EAS supplemental charge. The EAS supplemental charge will be applied in all exchanges having EAS (EAS is not optional). The extent of existing EAS will determine the amount of the EAS supplemental charge (a maximum of $4.00 for one-party residence service), to be added to the exchange local service and zone rate charges. Zone rates, which some customers pay in addition to their basic rate, with the exception of the Zone C rate for two-party service will increase. Certain base rate areas and zone areas within certain exchanges will be expanded. The average increase in monthly rates for different classes of service are as follows: residence one-party $6.14 or 53.9%; two-party $5.39 or 50.5%; four-party $4.87 or 52.1%; business one-party $12.56 or 52.6%; key trunks $15.17 or 49.4%; PBX trunks $21.06 or 42.0%. The changes in monthly rates for residence one-party, two-party, or four-party exchange service and for one-party business exchange service in representative communities, should the requested increase be granted in full, are shown below. Proposed rates for services in the Company's 232 other exchanges are contained in the proposed tariff sheets which can be inspected as stated previously.

The Company is proposing an introduction of nonoptional Usage Sensitive Service in four Ohio exchanges: Bellevue, Huron, Montrose, and Oak Harbor. Individual line residence and business customers in other exchanges will be regraded to Usage Sensitive Service as equipment to provide the service becomes available. Usage Sensitive Service is a local service billing system that lets the customers pay based on the calls they originate. Under the plan, the customer would pay a substantially lower monthly basic service charge for connection to the local telephone network. As a customer places local calls additional charges would apply based on the elapsed time, time of day, day of the week and the distance of the call if between different exchanges served under the local calling plan. No distance charges would apply on calls within the same exchange. Discounted rates would apply to late evening and Sunday calls. No charge would apply on calls being received. These charges would range from $9.95 for a residence single party, $25.90 for a business single party, as compared to the proposed flat rate average charge of $17.39 residence single party and $36.38 business single party in these four exchanges.

Paystation Telephone Service

The Company proposes to increase the paystation rate from $.20 to $.25.

Late Payment Charge

The Company proposes a late payment charge of 1.5% on amounts carried forward as an unpaid balance on any customer's bill.

Private Line/Interexchange Mileage

The Company is proposing to increase its private line local channel rates as well as the rates for off-premise non-continuous property exchanges.

Touch Call/Custom Calling Charges

The Company proposes to use the multi-element non-recurring charge for service charges associated with Touch Call service and custom calling service.

Repair Visit Charge

The Company is proposing to partially remove the premise visit costs of maintenance from its local service rates. The charge established will recognize the cost of a repairman making a premise visit in connection with a maintenance call associated with single line telephones.

Extended Area Service Supplemental Rates

The Company is proposing two extended area service (EAS) supplemental rate addives; one for EAS points that go into service after August 1, 1985 and one that applies to existing or in-service EAS points as of August 1, 1985.

The EAS supplemental rate additive proposed for current EAS points is discussed in the local service section of this notice.

The proposed EAS supplemental rate additive for EAS points established after August 1, 1985 would more accurately apply the cost of providing EAS to those customers who would benefit from the EAS. Customers receiving new EAS would be charged a supplemental EAS rate additive, but would not experience an increase in the banded rate schedule associated with the increase in main stations in the local calling area. Also, the remaining rate payers in the state would not be required to subsidize the new EAS.

Miscellaneous Products and Services

Increases in rates and charges are proposed for several of the miscellaneous products and services including:

- foreign central office service;
- jack and plug equipment;
- enterprise service;
- multi-element service connections, move and change charges;
- maintenance of service charges;
- non-published and emergency non-published service and;
- directory listings.

Key Telephone and Private Branch Exchange Systems and Equipment

The Company proposes increases in trunk rates for key telephone and private branch exchange systems. Proposed rates and charges may be found in the Company's proposed tariff sheets. Some new key system and PBX equipment items are proposed tariff additions.

Optional Customer Premise Equipment

The Company proposes to increase the rates and charges for some optional customer premise equipment. However, the rates for the standard line of telephones will not be increased.

Customer Provided Inside Wire

The Company proposes tariffs containing the rules and regulations for the installation of inside simplex wire. The Company is also proposing to remove the maintenance cost of inside wire from the local service rate. The rate for maintenance of inside wire will be $23 per month.

Operator Assistance On Local Calls

The Company proposes a tariff which establishes rates for operator assisted coin, Usage Sensitive Service local calls and for busy verification requests.

Instrument Pick-Up Charge

The Company proposes to remove the cost of going to a customer's premise to remove single line telephone equipment provided by the Company from its local service rates.

The prayer of the application requests the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio to do the following:

- Find that the Company's present rates and charges and the regulations and practices affecting the same are unjust, unreasonable and insufficient to yield reasonable compensation for the services rendered;
- Find that the rates and charges and regulations and practices proposed are just and reasonable and will provide not more than a fair and reasonable rate of return on the value of the Company's property actually used and useful for the convenience of the public;
- Approve the filing of the proposed schedule sheets contained in Schedule E-1 of the application, modified to reflect such revisions thereof as may become effective, pursuant to orders of the Commission, during the interim between the filing of the application and the date upon which the schedule sheets become effective;
- Order that the proposed schedule sheets become effective forthwith;
- Approve the withdrawal of the present schedule sheets contained in Schedule E-2 of the application;
- Grant such other and further relief as the Company is reasonably entitled to in the premises.

TODAY'S WOMAN HAS A WILL OF HER OWN

Time was when a woman didn't feel she needed to have a will. Her husband or father or some other male member of the family took care of such things. But today things are different. Many women prefer to handle things themselves—investments, insurance, property—and to make their own decisions. When it comes to their possessions, they want to decide who gets the teaspoons, the stock, the real estate or the antiques. The best way for you to be sure that your wishes will be carried out is to make a will of your own. And the first step is to see your attorney. After you have remembered those close to you, we ask you to remember the American Cancer Society. We promise to use anything you leave us carefully and prudently in research, in public and professional education and to improve the quality of life of cancer patients. If you or your attorney want to know more about the Society and what we do, call your local ACS Unit or write to the American Cancer Society, 4 West 35th Street, New York, NY 10001.
