

11th grader to vie for Miss Charm

An 11th grader in Plymouth High school will represent Richland county in Ohio's Miss Charm Scholarship pageant.

She is Dianne Hudson, daughter of the W. M. Hudsons, Shiloh, who will travel to Ohio university's Lancaster campus, on Mar. 8-10 for the preliminary to America's Miss Charm Scholarship pageant.

She will compete in the Miss division in hopes of going to Washington, D. C. in July, 1985. Contestants will be judged on scholastic and community achievement, beauty, poise and personality in three categories: private interview, talent and evening gown. Miss Hudson will twist the baton in the talent category.

She is a member of the Louis Bromfield Chapter, National Honor society at Plymouth High school. She is on the basketball team, in the marching band and jazz band and is head majorette and a class officer. She aims to be a school teacher and basketball coach.

The voice of The Advertiser —

To clear the air, is all we ask

Whether the decision of the mayor is sufficient to justify purchase of a new fire pumper may be tested. There is no need to run the risk. If the mayor is as sensible as we think he is, he will insist that the council make up its mind what apparatus it wants and when and how it wants to buy it.

And the mayor, also relying on that good sense, will insist that the council look into charges, spelled out elsewhere here today, that the specifications have been "rigged" to favor one apparatus against the others and that the fire chief may be guilty of conflict of interest by reason of past association with one bidder.

The claims made in writing at least warrant official investigation.

It is no secret, it has been no secret for several weeks, that some firemen are displeased with the decision to buy a new apparatus.

There were several opportunities to do otherwise, a procedure that would have been acceptable to the state and to the insurance rating agencies. Bellevue jumped in where Plymouth feared to or would not tread and snapped up for a pittance — in moderate five figures — an apparatus that, while constructed a few seasons back, carries a brand new warranty.

Nobody expects unanimity of opinion among the firemen. There are good reasons for dissent and that dissent should be vigorously advanced during in house discussions.

But once the decision of the department is taken, every man and woman should pull on the same rope at the same time. Anyone wishing to do otherwise should ask for time during a council meeting and present his difference of opinion there and then, before he spreads it around the village.

Nobody should be in fear of his position because he speaks his mind at the proper time and place.

Purchase of equipment new to the village doesn't necessarily mean purchase of new equipment. Everybody has a stake in the equipment. He who says he won't work unless the equipment is brand, spanning new ought to be compelled to turn in his suit and look for another team. He has every right to insist that the equipment be safe and that it meet established standards. But new? Not on your life!

This is not the first time that specifications for bids have been prepared so as to favor one product as against another. It used to be de rigueur in the purchase of police vehicles, because the police chief took a shine to one particular product and wouldn't have anything but that product. Else he would sit in the corner and pout.

We need to put aside that kind of attitude. Those days are gone. There is no free lunch. The citizenry is entitled to the best deal that its dollar will obtain. Those who don't want to play the game that way can turn in their suits.

Charges against Scott W. Garcia, Willard, for a stop sign violation were dismissed. So was the charge of public indecency against Larry Jones, Willard. Jones pleaded guilty to public intoxication and was fined $100.

Randy Allen Jewell was fined $30 for an inadequate exhaust.

Cass reports $27,590 in black

Cass township starts 1985 with a balance of $27,589.50 in all funds. The township receipts were $93,946.07. Expenditures totaled $66,358.61.

Tax valuation of the township is $8,737,610.

A. I. Lynch dies at 64 at farm home

A heart seizure at his home in Scott road 50, Auburn township, was fatal Saturday to Arthur I. (Bud) Lynch, 64, a Plymouth native who lived his whole life in Plymouth Local School district.

His mother, Mrs. Louisa Lynch, Sr., died Jan. 30. His father, Robert, Eldon (Tarzan), and a sister, Mrs. William Hursh, died earlier.

Born in Plymouth Jan. 31, 1921, he retired in 1983 from Sohlgro Service Co. here.

He is survived by his wife, Vivian; a daughter, Mrs. Linda Stumbo, Norwalk; three sons, Gary, Plymouth, and Larry and Terry, at home; two brothers, Robert and Louis, Jr., Plymouth; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Monn, Shelby, and Betty, Plymouth route 1; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The Rev. Gordon Meyer conducted services from McQueste-Seacor Funeral home Tuesday at 2 p.m. Interment was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven township.

No fresh police levy will appear on the primary ballot.

Failure of village council to approve a resolution to forward the measure to the board of elections means no action on new operating money can be taken until November, if then.

Village council was called to a special session Feb. 20 to act on the decision of Feb. 18, taken by vote of four to three, Mayor Dean A. Cline's vote being decisive, to submit a 1.5-mill levy to the electorate.

The vote was three to three, Councilmen Roy Barber, E. Adrian Cole and Bill Taulbee voting nay, Councilmen Keith Hebble, Terry Hopkins and Karen Jump voting yea, on a resolution to suspend the rules. A majority vote is required.

Cline told the council that if he could vote, he would vote yea, even as he did on Feb. 18.

Why did the vote split?

Taulbee, Barber and Cole obviously feel that more in-house search for funds can be done, that appropriations can be adjusted, to provide the funding needed without fresh taxation. Hopkins, who also serves as a fireman and as an auxiliary policeman, voted out of loyalty to his own kind. Hebble and Mrs. Jump have different reasons for supporting the measure.

Prospective seller claims irregularities in pumper bidding

Irregularities in the procedure and conflict of interest by the fire chief are complained of by a prospective bidder on the fire apparatus in a letter to Mayor Dean A. Cline, a copy of which he furnished to The Advertiser.

Edwin L. Ott, president, Warren Fire Equipment, Inc., Warren, says under date of Jan. 7 "an analysis of the specifications clearly details a Grumman pumper."

"To attend the usual two day pre-bid meeting would find FMC (his principal), as well as others, providing a paragraph by paragraph evaluation of 'How we do it' vs. 'How Grumman does it.'"

He asserts "the chief has been patronizing the Grumman representative for a number of years. He would like a Grumman truck. We also hear that there is a strong vote for Am LaFrance."

And he adds, "Knowing these facts, we don't want involved in an argumentative situation. FMC is the world's largest builder of motor fire apparatus. 1983 production exceeded 500 units. 1983 sales were in excess of 3.5 billion."

Ott details other benefits, such as a single warranty on the entire apparatus, which FMC builds, rather than acquire components from another manufacturer and require purchasers to rely upon multiple warranties.

Fackler gets approval of zoning variance

Approval was given Monday night to Todd Fackler to open a second business at the barn adjoining his property at 65 Plymouth street.

Because the barn is located in a zoned residential area, the planning commission had to turn down his request for a permit. Fackler then went to the board of zoning appeals.

Only five members of the board were at the meeting for the public hearing. Mrs. Eugene O. Rosier, C. Joseph Runkle, Bernard A. Garrett, William L. Van Wagner and J. Max Fidler, which was a sufficient number to pass on the request.

Property owners in the area were notified of the hearing and only objected. Mrs. Walter C. Dawson, who lives at the top of the alley that runs from East High street to Mills street, put her objections in writing.

She recalled the past when Fackler's grandfather, the late Henry H. Fackler, used the barn for a fur and seed business that generated much traffic, mostly on Saturday, when farmers would congregate. She said this caused the alley and her sewer line to be broken up and necessitated re-paving.

The board was assured by young Fackler that he would not have a traffic problem, since the proposed Friendly persuasion.

What would it take to persuade you to join the Payroll Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

We could appeal to your patriotism. Or we could point out the dangers of not preparing for the future.

Instead, we'll just point out in a very friendly way that Bonds are one of the easiest ways to save. Even if saving has always been difficult for you. The Payroll Savings Plan sets aside a little from each paycheck toward Savings Bonds. And that's a nice way of saving, because you'll hardly miss it. But if you need it, it'll be there. Just like a friend.

The bride's brother, Mark Heydinger, played the organ and accompanied Jenny Krebs, soloist.

The bride chose a white satin gown with an open neckline with full bishop sleeves and an A-line skirt.

A wreath of flowers held her veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of pink and wine open roses with stephanotis and pink jasmine blossoms.

Board gives approval to variance business would be on a much smaller scale and that most of his customers would come by appointment.

Van Wagner asked if in the future Fackler anticipates having large trucks picking up or delivering seed. He said not. If this happens, he would build something else, since the barn is not large enough to handle that much.

Another neighbor, Benjamin Kensingler, spoke in favor. He said it is "good for the town and that other businesses have certainly caused more trouble than this would."

Runkle also spoke in favor of it, pointing out that Facklers have put much effort into their home and would maintain the property and that also it would be beneficial to the village to bring more people into it.

Lon Beverly was admitted to Willard Area hospital, Feb. 20.

Mrs. Anna Oney, Shiloh, was admitted at Willard Thursday.

Mary Phillips was released at Willard Friday.

Timothy Deskins, Shiloh, and Gladys Gayheart were admitted at Willard Sunday.

Steve Hall scored 23 points at North Robinson Saturday, and this shot shows how he did it, but only in part.

Defense that failed

Kevin Taylor and Eric Rath set up zone defense in first half Saturday but Plymouth couldn't beat Colonel Crawford with a stick.

Taylor leads Plymouth over Crestview, 54 to 44; Col. Crawford too much Kevin Taylor's scoring and rebounding led Plymouth to a 10-point Firelands conference victory over Crestview at Olivesburg Friday night.

The lanky 11th grader letterman scored 17 points and took down 15 rebounds as Plymouth seized the lead with 7:40 remaining in the third period and steadily pulled away.

Crestview led at the halftime intermission by one at 23 to 22, neither team having set the nets fire in the first 15 minutes. There were adequate signs that the long layoff benefited by bad weather affected both teams.

And there was more than enough evidence to show that lackadastrical rebounding affected both teams. Neither band of fans was satisfied with what it saw. And each one stood from time to time to roar its discontent.

Plymouth shot far field goal 31 times in the first half, making 10. The Cougars got off 52 shots and made nine.

In the last half, the Big Red fired 34 times and converted 10 of them, whereas the Cougars shot only 21 times and made seven.

Where Plymouth was so dominant, particularly in the second half, was off the offensive boards. Here is where Taylor shone. He took 13 shots, all of them from up close, and made eight. Troy Keene and Steve Hall, each of whom was to foul out before it was over, collected 14 and 12, respectively.

Plymouth did not foul up its tents in the third period and that was why it won. It scored 10 of the first 14 points of the second half and never looked back.

Plymouth performed better from the foul line than at any time this season. It was recorded 19 tries and it converted 12 of them. Keene did not miss one of six shots.

Eight Big Red players saw action, six of them scored.

With the victory, Plymouth rises to a record of 7-and-4 in conference play and 9-and-7 overall, certainly a better record than anyone else perhaps its coach figured on at the start of the season.

They got bigger and bigger as the game wore on.

Truth is, Colonel Crawford proved itself big enough in the first 24 seconds of Saturday night's game at North Robinson, when it took a lead that it never gave up in a 77 to 44 thumping of Plymouth. It was the worst defeat of the season for the Big Red, whose record is now nine-and-eight.

The Eagles showed program measurements ranging from six feet five inches at the top to six feet at the bottom. After one period, they grew and grew. Leading by only six after eight minutes, the Eagles stretched it to 15 at the half and 16 after three periods.

Another coach would have summoned his horses to the stable. But not Dave Froedich. He kept Chris Harris and Co. on the floor until the lead was 30 points, then he reentered a bit and sent second line personnel on the floor.

Colonel Crawford shot exceptionally well, which was to be expected on its home floor. The Eagles got off 68 shots and made 32 of them. At the free throw line they were 13-of-21. They made only nine mistakes on offense and they took down 40 rebounds, by their county, 30, by Plymouth's count.

Whichever, it was more than what the Big Red could do. The Eagle statisticians credited Plymouth with 35 rebounds, the Plymouth statisticians with 28.

So you pays your money and you takes your choice.

The visitors did not shoot well, nor often. They fired 30 times and succeeded with 18. And in 18 trips to the line, they were successful eight times. Plymouth was charged with 16 offensive mistakes.

The Eagles tore off successive scores without response on three occasions, five points in the second period, seven in the third and 10 points in the fourth. Plymouth managed seven straight once in the third quarter.

Steve Hall led all scorers with 23. The vaunted Harris collected 21 for the Eagles. Todd Martin had 13, Jay Stuckman 12, Shane Ash 10.

Colonel Crawford's worm has turned with this team. After several seasons as a doormat, Colonel Crawford has come alive.

This was its 13th victory against

Royals, Cougars defeat girls

Girls completed their regular season on a sad note Saturday, going down before Wynford in a road game. Score was 70 to 58. Plymouth led at the half, 33 to 24, but could not match the Royals in the second half.

The Big Red was heavily out-rebounded, 39 to 16, but made fewer mistakes on offense, 10 to 16.

Where the Royals also excelled was in shooting. Their field goal output was just under 50 per cent, at 26 successes in 53 tries. The Royals missed six of 24 charity throws. Plymouth got off 51 shots and made 22 of them. At the foul line it missed seven of 21.

Edison whips Red, Fidler scoring 11

Edison walloped Plymouth girls, 52 to 23, at Milan Feb. 20. The Chargers took an early lead and never were headed.

Plymouth got off 46 shots at the basket, making just 11. The Big Red missed over half of its free throws, 17 of 33, and took down 26 rebounds.

And why did Edison win? It outshot Plymouth, its record was 22 of 68 from the field, eight of 23 from the free throw line. And it collected 51 rebounds.

Lori Fidler was the only player of the game to break into double figures. She had 11.

It was a piece of cake for Crestview, which led all the way by outshooting the visitors. Crestview got off 56 shots at the basket, making 30, almost 50 per cent, and missed 13 of 27 free throws. The Big Red shot 55 times and made only 17. It missed 14 of 33 from the line.

Crestview out-rebounded Plymouth by plenty, which is why it won so convincingly. The Cougarettes took down 58 rebounds, Plymouth just 22. But the winners made more mistakes on offense, 23 to 21.

Feet cold? Use pepper! Then try a Pink Poodle

By AUNT LIZ

Call me negative, but I do not think winter is completely finished. Next time we have one of those 24 below zero Sundays, we are ready for it.

A thoughtful friend passed this cold weather remedy on from the Sugar Creek Budget. They called it "Health Hints", and it sounds like it would work. Here it is:
Cold hands and feet. On page 32 in 'Amish Folk Remedies' it states many get good circulation by putting cayenne (red pepper) in gloves or stockings to keep warm. So I tried it with a shaker putting some on top of foot and toes before putting my socks on. Also I sprinkled some in my shoes. It worked well for me. If you put too much on, then when you are inside for some time, your feet may get quite warm! Mine did!
"Be careful when putting pepper in your gloves so that your gloves so that you don't rub your nose or eyes before you wash your hands. It won't really do any harm but will burn quite a bit. Not advisable for children's gloves. Health food store pepper is stronger and quicker acting than store bought. Also taking a couple capsules before going out will warm you up. Be sure you don't take it on an empty stomach! If you do, you'll warm up in 2 minutes!"

Sometimes this world amazes me. There is a good use for everything. Salt and pepper kind of go together, and just think of the uses for salt. Once it was for preserving foods, now it softens water, helps to make roads passable by melting ice. The list can go on and on.

During the last blast of winter and no school, a lot of mothers must have run out of ideas for lunch which is the one meal they do not have to think about when school is on.

This has a beautiful name which everyone will love, Pink Poodle.

The best part is that it is made of everything any cupboard has on hand. It actually is a form of Welsh Rarebit with a new twist and can be served on toast, toasted English muffins and is really best mixed up in macaroni.

Cook about a tablespoon of minced onion in margarine until soft, add a tablespoon of flour, and then blended add a can of cream of tomato soup (for the bigger kids like feature, you can throw in two tablespoons of any red wine at this point).

Then stir in a half teaspoon of dry mustard, a dash of salt, a fourth of a teaspoon of pepper (if you have any left have a cold weather remedy), a pinch of powdered cloves, and about a pound or a little less of sharp cheddar cut in small pieces.

Stir over heat until the cheese is melted. Add a beaten egg and a pinch of soda and stir some more until smooth. This is another good cold weather dish that sounds like it is strictly Ohio. It isn't. It's from Chile, way south of here where they also have miserable winters.

Clean the carrots. You guess how many you'll need. Cook them until they are crispy tender, not mushy.

Slice them and toss in lots of honey with a little marjoram or oregano which are almost interchangeable since they are the same family. Arrange them in a baking dish and sprinkle with grated cheese. Brown a little so the cheese melts.

Should you do this in the summer fresh mint is growing, use it for flavoring.
