

Can village pay cemetery sexton's ambulance duty?

No action was forthcoming at the Apr. 9 meeting of village council concerning pay of Kenneth Eichelberry for fire and ambulance runs during a regular working day.

Eichelberry, who has been hired as cemetery sexton, is on an annual salary. Fire Chief Wayne E. Strize contends he cannot be paid twice by the village and has refused to authorize payment for any runs made during the working day.

Meanwhile, James C. Root, village administrator, is being paid for work he does as building inspector during the week.

Councilmen have turned the decision over to the village solicitor, although he has already said Eichelberry can be paid for the emergency runs.

Classically there have been no set hours for the cemetery work and it is virtually impossible to maintain an exact 40-hour week because of weather and what needs to be done during certain seasons.

Councilman Roy Barber said the clerk-treasurer, John Fazzini, is still determining the best and most profitable way to invest the fire pumper money of about $130,000.

No action was taken either on the request of the cemetery board to erect a storage building, estimated to cost about $6,000. The board wants it for storing equipment that cannot be inside now plus an office area and restroom facility. Cemetery workers must go up the street to use a nearby service station.

The council, however, will study the financing, since the cemetery fund cannot fund it alone.

Mayor Dean A. Cline said there is a good chance a small industry that will employ about 40 is interested in locating in the industrial park at the water plant.

The council agreed not to seek a hearing concerning the request of Weber's Cafe for a license to extend its hours.

Shiloh renews pact with county sheriff

Renewal of a police protection contract with the Richland county sheriff for $11,000 a year was approved by village council at Shiloh Apr. 10.

The contract requires a police vehicle and two officers shall be assigned to Shiloh "most of the time."

Kathy Huston was empowered to rent the Scout but for $1 a year for use as a church.

Albert Ferrell will install two 12-inch drain tiles on his land adjoining the sanitary sewage plant. Councilman Delmar Nesbitt reported, if the village will buy the tile. This was acceded to.

A survey team visited the village to inspect property on which the village intends to establish a park if federal funding is approved.

Street committees will list roads to be repaired in order of priority.

Continental Cablevision of Ohio Inc. will install two services. One is from Nashville, the other is the Disney network. Additional fees will be exacted to obtain these channels.

Continental Cablevision will furnish connections at the village hall and at the firehouse at no charge so that emergency announcements can be received.

Lynch's plea causes transfer to Shelby court

A plea of not guilty, resulting in transfer of the case to Shelby Municipal court, and four failures to appear were recorded in mayor's court Apr. 9.

Alvin M. Lynch, Plymouth, pleaded not guilty to a charge of intoxication, was found guilty and fined $40 and costs. His plea of not guilty to a charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his vehicle resulted in transfer to Shelby.

Richard S. Rianer, Willard, accused of criminal trespass and intoxication, failed to appear. He will be summoned.

So did Joseph J. Leach, Plymouth, charged with driving 58 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone. He also will be summoned. And Donald L. Montgomery, Plymouth, accused of speeding 47 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone, will also be summoned.

Charge of improper plates against Lenette R. Peall, Willard, was dismissed.

Plea of guilty were dealt with:

Rick Layne, Willard, speeding, $52 waiver; Linda L. Cochran, Shelby, speeding, $34 waiver; Clayton A. Barton, Willard, speeding, $24 waiver; Donald I. Stone, Plymouth, speeding, $52 waiver; Alvin R. Donald, Doss, Marango, speeding, $40 waiver; Thomas Dean, Sandusky, speeding, $34 waiver; Robert A. Keith, speeding, $28 waiver; Debra Dunn, Toledo, speeding, $22 waiver; Linda A. Richard, Willard, speeding, $26 waiver.

Also, Michael G. Pleschay, Greenwich, hit-and-run driving, $150 and costs; failure to control vehicle, $50 and costs; Brian D. Lenhart, Atchita, speeding, $50 waiver; Cynthia Hall, Plymouth, failure to display plates, $18 waiver.

A suggestion arising from a parley at Willard about tornado control, reported by Nesbitt, will result in his discussing it with the fire chief to determine if it is feasible. It calls for a unit to be assigned to watch the skies during an impending crisis.

Horse-drawn vehicles may park in the north side of Main street, where a hitching post will be established.

Five permits, two for houses, issued here

Five building permits have been issued by the village in the last month.

Permits for the new library, for which ground was broken last week are included.

Charles Bland is building a storage garage for about $7,000; Luella Vandervort a garage estimated at $4,000 at 346 Plymouth street; Bill Collins a house in Willard for $55,000, and the Rev. Preston VanDeuren a house at 320 West Broadway for an estimated cost of $50,000.

Police are still investigating a report by Rebecca Handsoke, 53 Mills avenue, that was assaulted Apr. 10 at 6 p.m.

A report by Bert Crans that he was assaulted feloniously by a juvenile and by Timothy Tuttle, 19, at 187 Nichols street, is under investigation.

Beverly suspension reduced to chiding

Public hearing concerning the suspension of Phillip Beverly, an auxiliary police officer, scheduled Apr. 9 at 7 p.m., was set aside in favor of an executive session of the council.

He and his attorney, Gregory McDowell, were present.

Before the meeting Richard Wolfe, 2nd, village solicitor, conferred with McDowell behind closed doors.

Mayor Dean A. Cline, at the opening of the regular council meeting, said an executive session was in order because of impending litigation.

For an hour the council and Wolfe apparently discussed the problem.

Conveniently, Acting Police Chief Bill N. Spognardi was summoned.

Once the council reconvened, not one word was mentioned of the result of the session.

Beverly had been suspended by Spognardi for "behavior unbecoming a police officer" as the result of an altercation with a villager.

Since the so-called hearing, he has been retrained and reprimanded.

Four cars collide in Square

Monday morning started with a bang in the village.

Conveniently, it occurred in front of Plymouth Police station. Charles Harrington at 8:38 a. m. attempted to make a left hand turn from Sandusky street into the parking area behind First National bank.

The car behind him, driven by Karen A. Murray, Bellville, saw his turn signal and slowed to allow him to turn.

As she did so, the car behind her, driven by Rebecca A. Robinson, Shelby, struck the rear of her car. Then a fourth vehicle, driven by Jacques W. Fagen, Shelby, collided with the rear of the Robinson car.

The second, third and fourth cars were slightly damaged and there were no apparent injuries.

Fagen was charged with failure to halt within an assured clear distance.

'Father Conces Hall' - Dedication Apr. 28 to honor priest who built church

What he resisted during his lifetime will be accomplished as his memorial when St. Peter's Roman Catholic parish dedicates its assembly hall to the late Rev. William S. Conces Apr. 28 at 10:15 a. m.

He came here July 1, 1861, and was assigned as pastor of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, Mansfield, before he was tapped by his bishop to come to Plymouth, a mission church established in 1868.

William Conces was a confessed lover of new automobiles. He understood. He pressed his nose against the glass of showrooms in a dozen counties.

And as he surveyed the simple frame structure in Trux street, raised in 1870 by St. Rev. J. M. Putz, pastor of St. Joseph's parish, Monroeville, who came here to say mass and perform the sacraments for up to 10 Roman Catholic families, and completed 90 years later, Father Conces was struck with an idea.

It was that he would collect sales tax stamp receipts issued to purchasers of new cars in Ohio and redeem them at the rate approved by the legisla-

Nine real estate signs were piled in Enderbys' yard Sunday by youth, two juveniles.

Shower Sign 'shower' Sunday harassed Enderbys

A long-standing harassment of the William C. Enderbys by neighbors erupted Sunday in another incident.

Awakened early, Mrs. Enderby watched from an unlighted window while three juveniles placed nine signs belonging to several real estate agents in her front yard.

Later in the day, the juveniles returned, after Mrs. Enderby had been harassed by telephone. A female voice inquired if her house indeed is for sale, and if so, what is the asking price.

She chased them across Route 61 into a cornfield, where they left the signs and fled. Police are investigating.

David Lynch, grandson of Mrs. Marcella Arthur and nephew of Jack Arthur, the Enderbys' neighbor, with whom a feud has continued for some time, signed a statement in the police station admitting that he and two notorious juveniles, one living in the Huron county side of the village, and one on the other side, had watched television at the Arthur home until 3:30 a. m., whereupon they decided to "drive around".

ture. He struck a bargain with another priest, who got 38 counties of the state, leaving 50 to Father Conces.

Until the practice of redeeming sales tax stamps was cast aside by the state on Jan. 1, 1962, over a period of 10 years, at an expense of about $300,000, Father Conces raised $800,000.

With the net proceeds, he bought three dwellings in the west side of Sandusky street south of Hoffman street, razed them and erected the church that stands today.

For many years, so that everybody could see, it was designated "The Church That Sales Stamps Built".

It was designed by Edward J. Schulte, Cincinnati, in a triangular form, depicting the Trinity. Each side is 100 feet in length. The altar, of black marble, is erected against a bronze filigree of panels of fishes. Early Christians used fishes as symbols of Jesus Christ.

The colored windows show, on the north side, the hand of Almighty God on the south side, the dove of peace, and the west side the sun shining, completing the Holy Trinity. The 12-foot statue of St. Joseph was carved by Robert Koepnick, Dayton Art academy.

The church was first used on Christmas eve, Dec. 24, 1962. The incumbent pastor, the Rev. Donald Mueller, will be celebrant of the mass. A potluck luncheon will be served in the hall after the service.

Court awards $1.9 million to Wilson boy

A collision at Routes 103 and 224 at the southwest edge of Willard on July 12, 1982, tore the Wilson family apart.

It left Mark, now 13 years old, all but a basket case.

Gravely handicapped, with severe brain damage, Mark will be provided for life by the terms of an agreement negotiated by his attorney, Neil A. McKown, Trux street, who practices in Shelby, that will bring him and his family $1.9 million over 37 years.

Mark was a passenger, together with his brother, Steven, and his sister, Rita Gayle, of his mother, Patricia, wife of Claude Wilson, Opdike road, when their van was struck by a rig owned by Cartian Produce, Inc., Toledo, and operated by Keith M. Lajiness.

The owner of the carrier in the meantime died.

Insurer was American States Insurance Co., a co-defendant with Cartian Produce, Inc., Lajiness and the late owner in a suit filed by McKown in Lucas county common pleas court at Toledo.

It was the insurer that sought the settlement, worked out by young McKown and approved by Judge Richard M. Christiansen, Richland county probate judge.

A lump sum payment of $131,000 will be made to Mark Wilson, of $75,000 to Claude and Patricia Wilson, of $30,000 to Steven Wilson and of $5,000 to Rita Gayle Wilson. Mark Wilson will receive $3,000 a month for life, with a 30-year guarantee of $1,080,000, and seven escalating payments between ages 18 to 50 amounting to $615,000.

The structured settlement will cost $219,000 to establish, Christiansen noted in approving the settlement. The Wilsons have already been paid $8,448 in settlement for the destroyed van and to pay for tutoring for Mark, who is described as having permanent speech impairment, learning and memory disabilities.

Two wins in league

Red defeats Chargers, 8 to 6

Plymouth arose from the dead in the eighth inning here Friday to edge Edison, 7 to 6, because Jeff Laesch drew a walk with the bases loaded after the Big Red had scored three times.

The Chargers broke up a pitching duel between Steve Hall and Doerner by scoring three in the seventh.

Doerner doubled, Flowers singled to score one, Hall singled to score another, and after Hall stole second and third, he scored on a passed ball.

Down by three in his half, Plymouth struck back. Troy Keene reached, Jamie Brown singled and Tim Deskins flied to right. Dave Burks struck a one base blow that scored Keene. Jim Rockford drew a pass and stole second. Jason Robinson's single scored two. Joe Tuttle walked, Hall struck out and when Laesch walked the winning run came home.

Earlier, Edison struck for three runs in the second on two walks, a single and a double.

Plymouth in its half got two back. Brown walked, Deskins walked, Burks went out and Rockford doubled.

The Big Red tied it in the fourth. With one down, Rockford drew a base on balls, stole second, and Robinson flied out to short and ran home when Tuttle hit safely.

Hall fanned 15 and walked only three. His opponent registered eight strikeouts and issued seven passes.

Rally downs Mapleton, 6 to 5

Big Red rallied for one in the fifth and four in the sixth at Folk Monday to defeat Mapleton, 5 to 3, in Firlandas conference play.

Troy Keene led off the fifth, when Plymouth scored four times, by grounding out to third. Jeff Laesch singled, Jason Robinson singled and Tim Deskins walked. Dave Burks laced a safety that scored two runs. Deskins scored when the pitcher overthrew first base in a pickoff try. He scored on a passed ball. So did Burks.

The Big Red is now three-and-two on the season.

Deskins gave way to Jamie Brown, who was the winner. Mapleton used three hurlers.

Just because your plants are beginning to peek above ground and you are saying kind words to them, don't forget those little ones who stayed so beautifully green and even bloomed all winter.

You can kind of get out of your winter routine and forget to water them as they should be. They also need to eat. What a large juicy steak is to some people is not for them. They are very happy with a good dash of treated water. Simply dissolve a package of unflavored gelatin in a cup of hot water. When it is dissolved add three cups of cold water, and apply some at least once a month.

If I get up the courage, one day I will try a package of lime gelatin to see what happens. Sugar is supposed to prolong the life of cut flowers, so it should do so for a plant. I wonder if the green coloring might make the leaves greener.

Those little bottles of food coloring have been great for years. Butter cookies look more like they should with a little yellow added, and what would Christmas be without red and green cookies?

Now it turns out that colorings are bad, bad, bad for everyone. This is going to make a lot of meals plain dull.

But before you take them off your shopping list, make one last plunge. Add some green to a jar of pickles. They are beautiful. A friend did so and it works and now her hamburgers are a work of art.

What would we do without people? They come up with some great ideas. Some odd ball ones too. We read about all the hungry we have in this world, and a few weeks ago I met a friend who had to make a big decision: what kind of cookies to buy for her dog. Not dog biscuits, but honest-to-goodness cookies.

We are just as bad. I had whipped up a package of macaroni and cheese to supplement this great diet we have been on for months and I could not eat all of it.

That is when I discovered that one cocker and one cat love the stuff. They are a little spoiled and our neighbors help with that. One came galloping across our backyard the other day with a bag of leftover steak bones and some good looking pieces of meat. I was almost tempted to nibble on them.

Now that strawberries are here, and they are so beautiful, cooking is easier.

You don't have to knock yourself out making fancy desserts out of them. Just clean them up and put them whole in bowl with a little cup of powdered sugar to dip them into. You can slice them, pour a little orange juice and powdered sugar over them and serve them that way.

Still these is nothing like the real thing. Package mixes are great, and we all use them, but there comes a time for something special.

This comes from a friend, long dead now, who got it from her mother, so it goes back four generations.

Mix a cup and a half of flour with two and a fourth teaspoons of baking powder, two tablespoons of sugar and a dash of salt. Cut in a fourth of a cup of shortening. Add somewhere between a third to a half cup of milk so you have a nice dough to roll out.

Bake on a greased cookie sheet at 450. The secret is in the hot oven so it rises in a hurry. Also you should have the berries and whipped cream ready and everyone lined up to eat the shortcake as soon as it comes out of the oven.

We should never look back, but I cannot help remembering the days when we had friends who had cows and we had real whipping cream that was so thick that you had to use a spoon to get it out of a jar.

About Bulls & Bears & Savings Bonds.

According to people in the stock market, bulls are good and bears are bad. But if you're buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, you don't have to worry about missing a ride on the bull or being devoured by the Wall Street bear.

When the bull is dominant in the market and rates are high, you'll share in those higher returns because Bonds now have a variable interest rate.

And that means there's no limit on how much you can earn.

But if the bear takes over and rates decline, you're protected by a guaranteed minimum of 7.5%. And that's only minimum. Chances are you'll do a lot better over time.

All you have to do is hold your Bonds five years or more and you can ride the bull and beat the bear.

Take stock in America.

Friendly persuasion.

What would it take to persuade you to join the Payroll
Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

We could appeal to your patriotism. Or we could point out the dangers of not preparing for the future.

Instead, we'll just point out in a very friendly way that Bonds are one of the easiest ways to save. Even if saving has always been difficult for you. The Payroll Savings Plan sets aside a little from each paycheck toward Savings Bonds. And that's a nice way of saving, because you'll hardly miss it. But if you need it, it'll be there. Just like a friend.
